REMARKABLE CURES

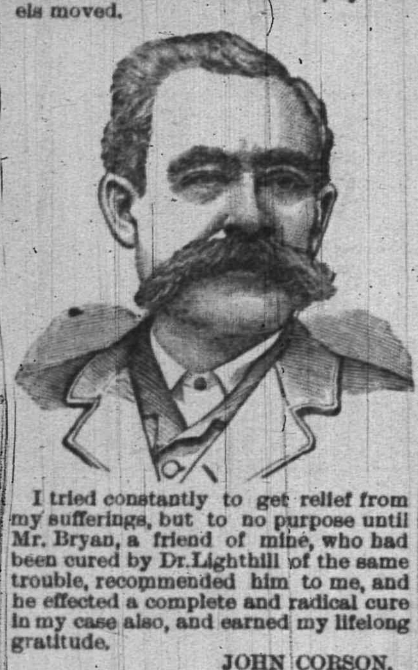
Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

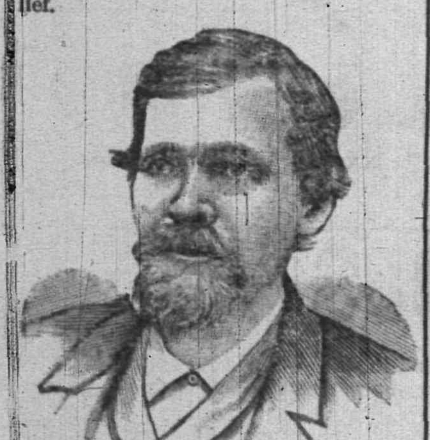
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

ALL IN SCHOOL AGAIN.

NOW FOR ANOTHER WINTER OF HARD BRAIN WORK.

School has been open nearly a month.

The streets are crowded with "shining morning faces," full of eagerness and ambition.

Anxiety of parents begins. Will these young boys and girls stand the nervous strain?

Every year thousands of bright and interesting boys and girls are fatally injured by the indiscriminate and excessive school work.

Pale lips, languor, little eagerness for play, irritability and loss of strength, show that the close application is making sad inroads upon their health. There should be no delay in building up the child's system, and feeding the worn-out nerves with Paine's celery compound. Parents find their children quickly gain strength and color and increased weight from this remarkable nerve food. It is peculiarly suited to the needs of their weakened powers of digestion and assimilation.

During the school year thousands of children pursuing studies with an ambitious eagerness altogether out of keeping with their strength, have been enabled to keep in school and at work and to recover health and nerve strength by a careful use of Paine's celery compound, first prescribed by Dartmouth's great professor, Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D. Parents who have studied the problem of how to build up their children's health while at school have found that Paine's celery compound brought vigor and strength by keeping the blood pure and the nerves and tissues richly nourished.

Physicians in all parts of the country earnestly recommend Paine's celery compound to parents.

THE CZAR IS VERY ILL

One Story Is that He Has Bright's Disease.

And in an Advanced Stage—Said To Have Lost Enormously in Weight in the Last Few Weeks—Anxiety for His Favorite Son George May Have Caused His Illness.

London, Oct. 1.—The Standard's correspondent in Berlin is authority for the statement that Prof. Leyden diagnosticated the Czar's ailment as Bright's disease in an advanced stage. On the other hand, the Vienna Tagblatt maintains on the authority of a Russian diplomat that the Czar is suffering from neurasthenia coupled with anaemia in addition to kidney disease. The czar's condition, it is said, was made worse by a cold which he caught two nights before leaving St. Petersburg. He went to the telegraph office in the winter palace at 1 o'clock in the morning and dictated a message to Abbas Tuman in the Caucasus concerning the health of his favorite son George, and waited an hour and a half in the dark bare office for a reply from the doctor. He was not satisfied with the reply, and returning to his bedroom threw himself into an arm chair and wept. He cried "Oh God, what have I done to be so severely punished."

The czar could not sleep through thinking of his son George. During the first night of his stay in George's residence in Spala the czar arose from his bed, went to his son's room and watched his sleeping son for a long time. When returning to his room he went through a cold passage and was attacked with rheumatism, which made his condition still worse. It is said that he greatly prefers George to the czarewitch.

The Times will publish the following dispatch from its correspondent in St. Petersburg:

"The czar and czarina and Grand Duke George will start immediately for Livadea, where they will pass the winter. The imperial yachts Polar Star and Tsarona will sail on Monday from Cronstadt for the Crimea. The czar has lost enormously in weight in the last few weeks. He now looks very ill."

FROM THEIR MINE PRISON.

The Four Rescued Northwest Colliery Miners Objects of Rejoicing.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 1.—Rescued from what was believed certain death on Thursday when a portion of the workings of the Northwest colliery at Simpson, near Carbondale, caved in; William Mitchell, George Arney, John Fanning and Andrew Klapkowsky, are the objects of demonstrative rejoicing in the village. When the cave-in occurred their death was regarded as certain, but on Thursday night the rescuers at work heard responses to their tappings and it was believed that there was one man to escape the fall. Later when it became a certainty that all four were alive, the agony of Thursday was turned into almost uncontrollable rejoicing. The rescuers pushed their work more vigorously then, and they pierced the black wall that had made the prison almost five hours earlier than expected. The men were faint from lack of food and drink, but these in stimulating quantities were supplied them, and they were shortly after midnight restored to their friends, hundreds of whom stood massed at the mouth to receive them. They were taken to their homes in wagons, with demonstrations of joy greeting them along the way. Their escape from death is regarded almost a miracle, considering the extent of the cave-in and the fact that they were at work right beneath it. They had heard the warning of the cracking roof and fled to a place of safety before the fall reached where they were.

Isinglass' Great Winnings.

London, Oct. 1.—The announcement of the winnings of Isinglass, Mr. McCalmont's four-year-old, has astounded the sporting public. Since the colt appeared on the turf his winnings in stakes alone have reached £56,935, beating the record of the Duk of Portland's Donovan, whose winnings footed up £55,154. Mr. McCalmont also backed his horse heavily and won a large fortune. Since Isinglass' first race as a two-year-old he has won every contest, with one exception, in which he has been engaged, and promises to add to his record the great cup to be run for at Ascot. Horsemen predict that before he bids farewell to the turf he will outdistance every rival.

$80,000 Lost in Duty on Tin Plate.

Baltimore, Oct. 1.—There are over 8,000,000 pounds of tin plate in bond at this port. The importers have allowed the stock to accumulate and remain in bond until the new tariff law, which reduces the duty one cent a pound, should go into effect. Under Secretary Carlisle's ruling the new tariff provision becomes effective to-day and the customs officials expect the greater part of the 8,000,000 pounds of tin plate to be taken out of bond this week. The reduction in the tariff will result in a loss to the government of $80,000.

Eluded Her Chaperon and Married.

New York, Oct. 1.—A special from Baltimore says: The announcement was made yesterday that Miss Marie Zell, one of the wealthiest young misses in her own right in this city, had eluded her chaperon and married the man of her choice, Mr. John A. Reid, a purser of one of the steamers of the Inman line. The news of the marriage did not reach here until a few days ago. The marriage occurred in Antwerp.

For Embezzling County Funds.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 1.—The grand jury has found indictments against County Treasurer William Coe and County Commissioners McAdam, Orr and Fisher, charging them with embezzlement of funds from the county treasury. The shortage is not definitely known, but is said to be about $12,000. The parties will be arrested.

Close of a Very Successful Baseball Season.

The Best Year Since the Palmy Days of 1889—Baltimorians Have Gone Wild Over the Victory of Their Club and a Great Reception Awaits the Return of the Players.

New York, Oct. 1.—The most successful season that the National league has known since the palmy days of 1889 closed yesterday. The Orioles wound up their season by defeating the Colts and took their departure by special train for Baltimore where a great reception awaits them in acknowledgment of their fine work.

The New Yorks played an exhibition game in Toledo before an appreciative crowd. Rusie pitched for four innings, and was safely hit but once. Clark finished the game, and held the home team down to ten scattered hits. After the game the New Yorks left for home on a special car over the Lake Shore road.

The Brooklyns managed to hold fifth place over the Spiders, although the latter came dangerously near to displacing Foutz's men. The standing of the clubs remains the same as has been for several days. The clubs finished in the following order: Baltimore, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Washington, Louisville.

BALTIMORE BASEBALL CRAZY.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 1.—Nothing in recent years has so aroused the enthusiasm of Baltimore's people as the winning of the championship pennant by the Oriole baseball team. Ever since the decisive game was won the city has been in a ferment. The players will be given a glorious reception on their return Tuesday evening. It will be one of the greatest popular demonstrations ever seen here. Music, fireworks, by the mayor's special permission, a parade through the principal streets, a reception at the Fifth regiment armory and a banquet at Rennert's is the programme.

Wednesday afternoon Manager Hanlon and his champion team will occupy boxes at Ford's theatre for the benefit performance tendered by Manager Charles E. Ford. At night Harris' academy of music will be packed with baseball enthusiasts. Manager Dean has arranged a special performance for the benefit of the ball players, in which they will appear in "Living Pictures."

Thousands of dollars have been collected by Rooter-in-chief," ex-Postmaster W. W. Johnson, for the entertainment and benefits. A great deal of money has been put in decorations. The principal stores and business blocks are gorgeously arrayed in yellow and black—Maryland colors. Almost every man, woman and child, regardless of creed, class, condition or occupation, is decorated with something signifying a desire to participate in the "Hallelujah."

Old men and young men, nabob and nondescript, unite in shouting the paeons of victory, and from the preparations now practically completed the reception which will be accorded the club promises to be one of the greatest events ever known in this vicinity.

The Final Games.

At Chicago—Baltimore, 20; Chicago, 9.

At St. Louis—First game—St. Louis, 14; Washington, 2. Second game—St. Louis, 10; Washington, 4.

At Cincinnati—Cincinnati, 16; Cleveland, 16.

Li Hung Will Stick Close to Home.

London, Oct. 1.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News announces that the British steamer Pathan, which was recently seized off Formosa by a Chinese warship, has been released by order of the Tsung-Li-Yamen, the Chinese foreign board. The Pathan will proceed to Shanghai under bond. The same correspondent says that Li-Hung-Chang is not preparing to go to Korea, as has been reported. It is believed that he will not leave Tien-Tsin as long as his enemies have the ear of the emperor.

THE STORM ON COBB'S ISLAND.

The Entire Land Washed and the Beach Melted Away.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 1.—All communication with Cobb's island having been cut off by the storm during the past three days, anxiety existed here regarding Richmond people residing on the island. This feeling was intensified by the reports that the entire island was submerged, and reports were current that many persons were drowned. All fears were allayed yesterday by the arrival on the mainland of the Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., of New York, who was the first to venture across the waves in a small boat. He thus describes the storm:

"The storm on Cobb's island was the severest known since 1878. Only once before in the memory of any one living there did the tide rise so high. On Thursday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the climax was reached. There had been three tremendous tides in succession, each one rising higher under the pressure of the cyclone, blowing steadily from the northwest for forty-eight hours. The fourth great flood tide began to pour in at about 12:30 Thursday. At 7 o'clock the surf was breaking in full fury over the entire island, from Cobb's barn to Hog inlet, six and one half miles, and there was from two to three feet of water around the hotel and all the cottages at high water. Under four successive tides the beach melted at the rate of a foot a minute for about and hour and the beach line was moved westward about 200 feet, reaching within a few feet of the Richmond cottage. The people had ample warning of the approach of the cyclone and were prepared for it."

ANXIETY FOR A STEAMSHIP.

Feared that the Knickerbocker May Have Suffered by the Storm.

New York, Oct. 1.—Advices from New Orleans are to the effect that the passenger steamer Knickerbocker, Captain Halsey, of the Cromwell Steamship line, running between this city and New Orleans, which sailed from this port Sept. 22, had not arrived at her destination and that much anxiety was felt for her safety, there being quite a number of people from New Orleans on board. The Knickerbocker makes the trip between the two points in from six to eight days, and, as she probably encountered the prevailing storm on her trip south, it is possible she may have been compelled to go out of her course, thereby causing some delay. The Knickerbocker has not been reported by any steamers arriving at this port since she left here. This may be accounted for, however, if she was obliged to alter her course on account of the storm which has been raging along the southern coast.

TO MAKE THREE KINGDOMS.

Japan's Scheme Regarding China If Successful in the Present War.

London, Oct. 1.—The Times will publish the following dispatch from its Berlin correspondent:

"The London agent of the Frankfort Zeitung has been informed by a personage intimate with affairs in eastern Asia that the Japanese intend, if their good fortune continues, to divide the Chinese empire into three independent kingdoms to be ruled over by native princes. One kingdom is to be given to Li Hung Chang, who is cognizant of the scheme. If necessary Japan will summon a conference of the European powers to decide as to the division."

The Frankfort Zeitung says: "This scheme is not so wild as it at first appears. Japan's object is to weaken China permanently. Russia will not tolerate the annexing of Korea. The execution of the scheme would be helped by the antagonism between the Chinese and Manchus."

Terrific Seas at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 1.—A favorable wind blowing with the velocity of a gale, forced the tide into the inlet and bays to a depth that inundated the inlet district and flooded the lower floors of the buildings there. The pleasure yachts having an anchorage there put into the creeks for safety. The brigantine flood-beds of the electric railway have been under-mined and washed away in sections. The sea on the coast is breaking with terrific force and near Indiana avenue a large section of an old wreck was thrown upon the strand. So far as is ascertained the beds of the three railroads over the meadows have not been injured but are deep under water.

Damage by a Sea at Coney Island

Coney Island, N. Y., Oct. 1.—A very high sea has been running here and at Manhattan beach since yesterday, causing great damage to hotel property and railway lines. Great damage was done to hotel Brighton and property in the vicinity. The waves dashed over the brakewater, undermining several buildings and washing away part of the marine railway. A number of buildings on the Brighton beach race track were destroyed. It is estimated that the loss will exceed $50,000.

Will Not Speak in Tennessee.

Memphis, Oct. 1.—A dispatch has been received from Indianapolis stating that ex-President Harrison has positively declined to speak in Tennessee. The republican managers requested the ex-president to fill the engagements for addresses originally made out for Governor McKinley, of Ohio. Governor McKinley was billed to speak at Memphis, Nashville, Knoxville and Chattanooga, but will be able to speak only at Nashville on Oct. 29.

Universal Suffrage Demonstration

Vienna, Oct. 1.—A demonstration in behalf of universal suffrage was held in this city yesterday. Fifteen thousand persons took part in the demonstration and marched in procession through the streets. Ten arrests were made, but there was no serious disorder.

PEARY LOSES HIS DOGS

Frozen To Death or Disabled on the Ice Cap.

The Explorer and His Party Forced To Remain in Their Tents on Account of the Severe Weather for Many Days—Determined To Continue His Efforts in Greenland.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—The following letter from Lieut. Peary, dated at Anniversary Lodge, Greenland, Aug. 15, has been received by Gen Isaac J. Wistar, president of the Academy of Natural science:

My Dear General:—I do not think you can appreciate the intensity of my feelings of regret that I am unable as yet to write you of the successful completion of my proposed cessful completion of my proposed mark in this region. I was forced back from my attempt to cross the inland ice to Independence bay this spring by the extraordinary severity of the weather on the ice cap, which not only interfered with my advance by keeping me storm-bound in my tent a large portion of the time, but also practically destroyed my pack of dogs, freezing some of them to death, cutting down the efficiency of others, and finally inducing in my pack the "piblocto," or dog madness of this region. I shall make another attempt with one or two members of my party who decline to desert me and have confidence that I shall yet win. The following figures will give an idea of what my party endured on the ice cap this spring: Average temperature for forty-eight days, 31.5 F; average hourly wind velocity for forty-three days, 15.9 miles. In one storm of three days duration the party was exposed for thirty-two hours to an average temperature of 50 degrees F., with a minimum of 62 degrees F., the average hourly wind velocity for the same time being 48.1 miles. Yet, in spite of this the party survived and came through without permanent injury.

The experience of the journey has shown me that my ideas as to the orography of the inland ice of northern Greenland are correct, and that, on my proposed route, after surmounting the slope of the ice immediately adjacent to Whale sound, I shall have a level road until I begin the descent to Independence bay. I also know that the human animal can be so clothed and fed as to be unaffected by any degree of cold. What I need now is an exhaustive study of the Eskimo dog and his needs under the most trying circumstances. The coming winter will give me the opportunity for such study. In my next year's work I shall utilize my faithful friends and allies, the Eskimo, and with their assistance shall have a strong working force.

You may rest assured that I shall not return until I have done everything that is possible for one who believes in ultimate success, and whose every fibre is in sympathy with and straining for the desired end. Very sincerely,

R. E. PEARY,
Civil Engineer, U. S. N.

WANTED TO FISH IN HEAVEN.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 1.—A week ago Moses H. Katzenberger, one of the leading representatives of the Hebrew race in the south and president of the Mechanics Savings bank of Memphis, died in this city. His will, covering many hundred thousand dollars worth of property, has just been filed for probate, and it proves a remarkable document. The testator displays the utmost liberality in bequests to relatives, servants and public institutions. One bequest is to the new Memphis Jockey club, it being cash for a stake to be contested for each year, to be known as the Katzenberger Memorial stake, to be run for as long as there is a racing association in this county. The will says:

"Should there be a boy born to either of my sisters-in-law, Cora and Lizzie, and I hope there will be, then such male issue is to take share and share alike all my fishing rods and tackle except a line and a few hooks to be buried with me in order that if there is any fishing in the other world I will be provided with tackle to enjoy the sport which has afforded me much delight in the present mode of existence."

The will concludes: "In reference to my own burial I direct that there be no religious rites or ceremonies, but that these be conducted by my loving friends in such a way as they deem proper, and I further direct that the formality of interring a bible with the body be dispensed with in my case."

A Novel Scheme for the Poor.

Detroit Mich., Oct. 1.—Mayor Pingree's famous potato-patch scheme, by which several hundred acres of unimproved property in the suburbs were last summer, planted with potatoes, the crop from which, it was hoped, would help feed the citizens' poor and unemployed during the coming winter, is already an assured success. A rough estimate of the total crop made from digging up a small section of the land planted, shows that it will aggregate fully 15,000 bushels. This would make the Pingree crop worth $9,000. As the total investment for seed, labor in plowing and planting, etc., was but $2,500, there seems to be a good margin of profit for the poor in the scheme.

The Wrong Man Murdered.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—A supposed anarchist murder has been committed in Munich. A watchmaker named Huber was found dead yesterday morning in his house stabbed to the heart and his throat cut. Huber kept lodgers, and among them was a commissary of police named Frohmander. The latter had made himself very obnoxious to anarchists by shadowing and arresting a number of them. Huber was found dead in Frohmander's room, and it is supposed that he was mistaken for the commissary. A number of arrests have been made.

CITY EDITION, 4 O'CLOCK.

THANKED THE DAILY PRESS.

Its Hope Chapel Service Commended.

Just before his farewell sermon last night Evangelist Gillam from the platform told the more than 700 worshipers that he could not leave town without thus publicly thanking The Daily Press for the aid it had given the revival work. This sentiment was repeated to the editor personally by Mr. Gillam, Superintendent Squires, and many others, who commended the excellence of the Daily Press reports, the generosity in giving the meetings such space and publicity, and the spirit in which The Press published the Gospel news. One good sister in Christ said: "We have all cut out your reports to keep in our scrap books. When I get a bit off the track I'll turn to Mr. Gillam's blessed, helpful words as there recorded." Another said: "The Press has proved itself for Hope Chapel, and Hope Chapel's for The Daily Press."

It is gratifying to The Press to be able to engage in so good a work as local evangelism, and The Press is duly and fully grateful to this appreciation by its kind friends.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A GOOD MAN'S GOOD-BYE

PLAINFIELD SORRY HE GOES

GLORIOUS FAREWELL SUNDAY OF EVANGELIST GILLAM.

Leaving a pleasant memory and a shining influence, Rev. Ralph Gillam left Plainfield regretfully today. In his two-weeks ministry in Hope Chapel he brought many souls to Christ, and stirred many of the entire Christian community into renewed activity.

His farewell Sunday was tender with messages to the townspeople sorry to see him go and glorious with Christian achievements. Large congregations filled the chapel, many renewed their faith, and many accepted Christ.

"Consecration" was the morning topic; the plain and practical talk of the preacher was vastly helpful. The afternoon service was devoted to men, and a fine body of stalwart masculinity gathered. Mr. Gillam showed that it did not take much of a man to be a Christian, but it took all there was of him, and it took still less of a man to be an infidel, knocking away the props on which rested faith and future hope. He showed it to be a manly thing to be a Christian; religion was sanctified common-sense.

While the men were in session, a faithful band of women was praying for them at the home of Donald McInnes, under the leadership of Miss Jessie Stewart. As a result of their prayers, and Mr. Gillam's exhortations, many made a complete surrender.

Again at the evening service, when the chapel was packed, many conversions were made, and almost the entire mass of people openly acknowledged by silent rising their desire to lead a Christian life.

Mr. Gillam's farewell talk was on the topic, "How then shall we escape, if we neglect so great a salvation?" He asked that they look beyond his personality and see Jesus crucified for their sins; told of the grace and power to be acquired through pardon; asked the people to pray for him; and urged them to read the Bible, be much in prayer, and get to work.

For all, he had a kind good-bye; and after the benediction the vast congregation crowded about him and shook his hands and told him how much he had helped them and how they regretted his departure. The choir led in hymns of Christian farewell greeting, singing in conclusion "God be with you till we meet again." And thus with joyous song and with fervent hand-clasps the people lingered about in an atmosphere of Christian cheer, even after the evangelist had gone out from their midst, leaving his blessing among them.

His work goes marching on.

The actual practical results of Mr. Gillam's evangelism cannot be estimated. More than 300 have signed cards indicating church-membership desire, and not only Hope Chapel but also Monroe Avenue, Bethel and Warren chapels will gain thereby. The influence of these West-End services has been widespread throughout the city.

Mr. Gillam left by the incomparable Royal Blue Line at 9:38 this morning for Frankfort, Ky., where he joins in the work with Rev. B. Fay Mills. He was bidden godspeed by a gathering of friends at the station. His parting greeting to The Press was: "I know of nothing so glorious as to preach the Gospel."

HAPPY HOMECOMING.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Welcomed Home By Their Parish.

The parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest was the scene of a large gathering, Saturday evening, to give a welcome home reception to Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Lewis, who had been away from Evona nearly three months.

The affair was under the auspices of The Woman's Friendship Society, of which Miss Lewis is president; and the members showed their great taste in the beautiful decorations of the parish house, the masses of flowers and flags, and the Chinese lanterns for lighting the grounds.

The fine hall was filled the whole evening with all the friends, who gave a more than cordial welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis.

A bountiful and handsome supper was served during the evening, and the occasion was one long to be remembered.

Sociable Party.

A sociable party was held at the home of Henry Nischwitz, Manning avenue, Friday night. The happy people began to gather about 8 p. m. Games of various kinds were indulged in and a good time enjoyed by all.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nischwitz, J. A. Stocker, Mr. Moody, Miss T. Smith, Misses Miriam and Bertha Wilcox, and Miss Bauersachs.

—Dodworth's class for dancing will reopen at the Seminary Wednesday, Oct. 31. Miss Kenyon will give full information.

—The music at the Independent Fife and Drum Corps fair Thursday evening will be by the Westfield Band, who will come to town in a big stage.

CURES OTHERS

Mrs. J. H. LANSING, of South Glen's Falls, Saratoga County, N. Y., writes: "After my third child was born, I barely gained strength enough in two year's time, so as to be able to crawl about to accomplish the little house work that I had to do, and that only by lying down to rest many times each day; had sick headache very often, many boils and aches all the time. After I had taken one bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' I could see a great change in my strength and less distress. Continuing the medicine until I had taken seven bottles of the 'Favorite' and one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I am now able to do housework for myself and husband and two children and one aged nine and five. I also take dressmaking, and enjoy walking a mile at a time, when I used to think I could not do so. And I can say it is all due to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as I know I was failing fast before I commenced to take it." Sold by medicine dealers everywhere.

Mayor Gilbert Too Busy to Bother With Congress—Ex-Mayor Place Lacks the Republican Necessity. a B'ar'l—Sidney Flower Acquires a Military Title—Two Johns on the Outs.

The Herald Sunday had gossip gleaned from all political headquarters of the State, and from this section published the following spicy paragraphs:

The fact that Mayor Gilbert, of Plainfield, has not been able to satisfactorily arrange his business engagements as cashier of the Fulton and Market National Bank, New York, and secretary of the Clearing House alone prevent him from being the Union County candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Eighth Congressional district.

Democrats assert that an Assembly ticket composed of William H. Hicks of Elizabeth; D. Robert Sayer of Union, and Sidney E. Flower of Plainfield, would be an invincible one. And it is said that this is the slate agreed upon. The Republicans are talking of running these against it: Joseph Cross of Elizabeth; John N. Berger of Elizabeth, and Charles N. Codding of Westfield.

Ex-Mayor Charles Place of North Plainfield borough is willing to be a candidate for Congress from the Third District on the Republican ticket, but he has no barrel.

Colonel Sidney E. Flower of Plainfield is being urged as a candidate for one of the Assembly nominations in Union county on the Democratic ticket. Col. Flower was put up as a lamb for the slaughter three years ago.

Plainfield Republicans will send down a solid delegation to the County Convention in favor of Cashier Halsey of Elizabeth for County Clerk. Rahway has a candidate for the position in the person of Freeholder Howard.

It is whispered in Plainfield that Judge John Ulrich, State organizer of Republican clubs in the Harrison campaign, has been adjusting lightning rods for the Congressional nomination, but as long as John Kean is in charge of the electricity Ulrich can wait, and wait, and wait.

Political interest is centred in the Republican Convention of the Third Congressional district which meets in New Brunswick Thursday. It is believed that almost all of the Somerset delegation will cast their vote for Charles Place of North Plainfield.

The powers that direct the State campaign are said to have selected another candidate. This is Benjamin Howell of New Brunswick, once Surrogate of Middlesex County and a very popular Republican. The Republicans want him to help pull Charles Herbert through the miry Republican swamps of Cheesequake Creek into the Senatorial chair made vacant by Robert Adrain.

It is said that the Monmouth delegation will join Middlesex in this attempt, and if this should be done there is no chance for Mr. Place.

The Democrats expect to renominate Jacob Augustin Geissenhainer, who has already served three terms—ever since the district was changed. They smile at the Republican enthusiasm and think there is not the least chance for defeat.

John A. Frech, Nelson Y. Dungan and George W. Anderson are three rising lawyers of Somerset. All of them happen to be Democrats. They are rival aspirants for the Assembly nomination.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Sunday evening services in St. Joseph's Church began again last night after having been discontinued during the Summer.

The Y's will hold an important business meeting in their rooms tomorrow afternoon at 4. It is desired that the attendance be large.

Preparatory services will be held in the Trinity Reformed Church Friday evening, and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated Sunday morning.

The Junior Society of Christian Endeavor of the Trinity Reformed Church will resume their meetings for the Fall and Winter months Thursday afternoon at 3.

A meeting of the board of managers of the Plainfield City Union of King's Daughters will be held Thursday afternoon, Oct. 4, at 3, in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church.

The Sunday-school session at the Mt. Olive Church yesterday was unusually interesting. After the review a testimony service was conducted by Superintendent M. C. Dobbins.

All children willing to join the temperance army are invited to join in a Union County rally in Westfield, Saturday afternoon, October 6. Rev. W. H Ruth will address the gathering in Etta Hall at 2:30, and a parade of the children will follow.

The Rally-Day services of the Trinity Reformed Church Sunday-school, yesterday afternoon, were very enjoyable. Every scholar had been notified by the superintendent that he or she was expected to be present, and an increase in the attendance was the result. Short addresses were made by Superintendent E. E. Anthony and the pastor. In the primary department the heart of the superintendent, Mrs. J. M. Tier, was made glad by the attendance of 110 little ones.

Rev. C. H. Patton of Westfield believes in Christian sociability, and will conduct walking parties on the four Saturday afternoons in October, providing they are pleasant. The walks will be about five miles in length, and will be partly on the roads and partly in the woods. Everybody is invited to go. It is hoped that in this way lovers of nature will get the benefit of this superior form of exercise, and by the October cronc, see the woods and fields in their greatest glory, and, perhaps incidentally, get a little knowledge of the geology of the region. The first next Saturday will start sharp at 2, the rendezvous being Mr. Patton's place.

15TH ANNIVERSARY.

CONGREGATIONAL CHEER.

ANOTHER MILESTONE FOR A FLOURISHING CHURCH.

Autumnal Decorations Make A Pretty Setting For The Celebration—Gift Of A Communion Service—A Famous Violin Christened.

The fifteenth anniversary of the Congregational Church, yesterday morning, was very largely attended. The church was very tastefully decorated with wild flowers, foliage plants, ferns, and roses. The programme was as follows:

Voluntary—Instrumental Trio.
Preludo du Deluge—Camille.....St. Saens
Doxology.
Invocation.
Responsive Reading—Selection 36.
Scripture Lesson—I Corinthians, 3.
Prayer.
Offering—Offertory.
"Cavelleria Rusticana"—Intermezzo Sinfonico—Pietro Mascagni.
Singing—Hymn 1158—Our helper, God, We Bless Thy Name.
Anniversary Sermon.
Prayer.
Singing—Hymn 918—"I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord."
Benediction.

The instrumental music was supplied by Mrs. B. T. Barnes, organist; Mrs. M. E. Dwight, pianist; P. Ludwig Conde, violinist; and Firman Farrer, cellist. Mr. Conde has just returned from Europe, where he procured a magnificent Amati violin, with which he made his first appearance before the public yesterday morning. Everyone was delighted with the full rich tones of this splendid old instrument.

In his anniversary sermon, Mr. Goodrich took for his text, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us" I Samuel 7:12. This will be published in full in The Daily Press exclusively tomorrow. Mr. Goodrich presented a handsome communion service to the church. In the afternoon the Sunday-school held a rally service, and a large number of the congregation were present besides an unusually large number of the scholars, completely filling the church.

The service was commenced with an instrumental trio. Adagio, by Alexander Fesca, which was delightfully rendered by Mrs. B. T. Barnes on the organ, Mrs. M. E. Dwight on the piano and P. Ludwig Conde on his new Amati violin. Scripture reading and a prayer by A. C. LaBoyteaux followed and then the graduation of a class consisting of Marion Sheldon, Agnes LaBoyteaux, Edith Robinson, Hattie Messersmith, Caroline Fuller, Elmer Weseman, and Gussie Force, from the primary department occurred.

"Awake and Sing" sung by the school come next and then Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis made a short address. He gave a brief review of the lessons of the quarter in the life of Christ and the lessons to be drawn from them.

Another hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers", was followed by remarks from the two ex-superintendents, G. W. Rockfellow and J. M. Whiton. Mr. Rockfellow spoke very feelingly of the early history of the school, how they came into their new building and his sixteen years experience as superintendent. Mr. Whiton then told his experiences in the Sunday-school as a teacher, then as superintendent. While the class records were being taken another instrumental trio was played, "Serenade" by Charles Gounod.

After the closing hymn "On Our Way Rejoicing", the exercises were concluded with prayer.

Piano Solo.....Miss Nellie Winckler
Opening Words—The Toastmaster.
Poem—An Unknown Poet.

COULD HARDLY BREATHE.

Catarrh of the Nose, Throat, and Stomach—Life Made Miserable by Headaches, Pain and Cough.

Lida McCandless, No. 1230 South Thirtyfifth street, Philadelphia, in conversation with a reporter, said: "I had a very bad case of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach, with frequent headaches, pain under the shoulder blades and a horrible cough. I had to keep my mouth constantly open day and night to breathe, and felt as miserable as one possibly could. I was advised to try Munyon's Catarrh Cure. I am happy to say that from the beginning I felt relieved and continued to grow better until now I am entirely well. I am so thankful that this remarkable remedy was ever discovered, and hope others will take advantage of my experience."

Have you Catarrh? Are you willing to investigate a treatment that cures Catarrh by removing the cause? If so ask your druggist for a 25c bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The Catarrh Cure will eradicate the disease from the system, and the Tablets will cleanse and heal the affected parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO ROB.

After Newspaper Money—Grandview Avenue The Scene of a Bold Operation.

A burglar tried to enter the house of Charles S. Greer, 13 Grandview avenue, about 1 last evening. He made so much noise pushing back the catch and raising the sash in a kitchen window that Frank Taillant, Mrs. Greer's brother, went down stairs with a revolver. The man could not be found.

Mrs. Greer thinks that the burglar knew that Mr. Greer had more money than usual in the house, from the fact that he had been in charge of the News office for two weeks, during the proprietor's absence, and that he had received a payment for correspondence from the New York Times. A similar attempt was made a year ago.

POSTMASTER NOEL'S BAD HURT.

Postmaster C. J. Noel of Netherwood had a narrow escape from death at 7 this morning. He was bound for Cranford on a wheel and kept on the right side of South avenue.

Near Fanwood a milkman who was driving a light wagon ahead of him turned suddenly across the road. Mr. Noel could not stop and struck the horse. He was thrown under a rear wheel which passed over his neck. The man dashed on unheeding.

George Perry came up with his ice-wagon and brought Mr. Noel and his smashed wheel back. Dr. Endicott examined him and found two bad bruises on his throat which injured his windpipe. The wounds are very painful and Mr. Noel may be confined to his house for several weeks.

NEW JERSEY BAPTISTS.

Plainfielders Who Will Entertain the State Representatives.

The sixth-fifth anniversary of this religious denomination will be held in Plainfield with the First Baptist Church on the last two days of this month, October 30 and 31. From their printed minutes of 1893, it is observed that the whole number of Baptist churches in the State is 237, with an enrolled membership of 41,924. Usually a representation of about 300 delegates is in attendance upon these annual gatherings. The First Church has appointed the following committee on entertainment of guests:

Deacon L. W. Serrell and Miss Ella Serrell, Deacon R. K. Case and Mrs. Case, Deacon J. B. Probasco and Mrs. Probasco, Deacon G. F. Brown and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. M. Clark Dobbins, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Serrell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Mrs. William White, Mrs. B. J. Shreve, Mrs. Walter McGee, Miss Anna Bolce, Frank E. Marsh, Pastor Yerkes and Mrs. Yerkes, Church Clerk Leonard and Mrs. Leonard.

Followed Advice and Was Cured.

In speaking of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, Mrs. James E. Beach, of Rosendale, N. Y., says: "About seven years ago I was a sufferer from kidney disease; so sick and helpless I could not walk a step. My physician could do me no good, so I began to use Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and from the very first dose I could see improvement and it entirely cured me. My husband used it for dyspepsia with excellent result. Favorite Remedy dissolves the excess of uric acid in the blood, thus curing disease. Most of the ailments people suffer with come from acid in the blood. For instance, rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney, liver and urinary troubles and the ills peculiar to women, all arise from this cause and are cured by Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

HOPE CHAPEL FIREMEN.

USHERS TO THE RESCUE.

SINGULAR PASSIVENESS OF A CROWD OF BYSTANDERS.

Clothing in a closet on the second floor of 209 Plainfield avenue caught fire last evening and alarmed the neighborhood. The neighborhood neglected to alarm the fire department, however, and for a while the blaze had a great chance to destroy the dwelling.

Charles McCarthy lives there and rents the rest of the house to Mrs. Willibald and John Nelson. Of the three families the only ones that were at home shortly after 8 were Mrs. Willibald and nine-year-old Mary Nelson. The girl was on the first floor in the rear, talking with Fanny Burke, who is older than Mary. Mrs. Willibald was lying on the lounge in front.

The girls discovered that something was wrong upstairs and opened the stair door. The stifling smoke of burning woolen goods rolled down and drove them out. They began to shout and the neighbors collected. Michael Splane and his son Cornelius tried to reach the fire, but the smoke drove them back. Mary Nelson rushed off to Hope Chapel, where her parents were attending services.

The little girl knocked on the door and asked for her papa and mamma. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson went out together with Bert Littell and a few others, ushers of the chapel, and a Press reporter, who learned what the trouble was. By the time they reached the house the crowd about the dwelling had become quite sociable and the neighbors were congratulating each other on having taken the stove and the kitchen furniture out. None of them seemed to remember the existence of the fire-alarm system. Littell and the ushers went to Box 43, and Littell by being first to get there, sent in an alarm with ex-Councilman Gallup's key.

The fire-gong sounded loud. The steam signals did not start off on exact time, however, and many understood the blows. The bell in the box worked all right, but the whistle did not start until two taps had been struck. Then the first two blows went off together and only the firemen were expert enough to count 43 the first round. In Trinity Church 32 was announced at first. Those on the street misunderstood the alarm and different parties went off in search of Boxes 32, 33 and 34.

The firemen had no trouble in finding the fire, however, and two lines of hose were quickly laid. It was then nearly 25 minutes after the blaze had been discovered. The men went up the stairs but the smoke was so dense that the lanterns went out as soon as the second story was reached. Then, in spite of the protests of Charles McCarthy, ladders were raised and the firemen broke windows and cut a hole in the roof. The smoke cleared away and with two extinguishers the firemen stopped the cause. In spite of the delay the damage was trifling. The neighbors have learned now what to do at a fire. They are now discussing the origin of last night's fire. Some think that children started it, as no chimney is near.

Mr. McCarthy thought this morning that the total loss might be $40. He carried no insurance. Mrs. Nelson says she put some of her husband's clothes on the floor of the closet before she went to church. There might have been a match in one of the pockets and perhaps she stepped on it as she left the closet.

FELL THREE STORIES.

But Dr. Clarence Haviland of Plainfield Will Recover.

Dr. Clarence M. Haviland of this city met with an accident in Annapolis at an early hour Saturday morning. He is taking a special course of study in the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and last week went to Annapolis to visit a naval cadet.

He was suffering from hay fever and asthma and arose in the night and went to the window to get a breath of fresh air. In some way he lost his balance during a fit of sneezing and fell 29 feet to the brick sidewalk. He was found unconscious there a short time afterwards. His father went at once to his bedside and reports that the worst injury is a dislocated ankle.

A GREAT TRIO.

If the Assembly ticket presented in these columns last week did not fully meet the wishes of the votrers of Union County, what is the matter with this ticket!—

Charles H. Moore of Elizabeth.
Jasper C. Hunt of Cranford.
Wm. K. McClure of Plainfield.

With such nominees on the Democratic ticket, would the Republicans think it worth while to waste their money on a convention for the nomination of candidates destined to defeat!

FIRE AMONG FURS.

Quick Destruction of a Manufactory—Loss of $75,000.

The six-story brick building and stock of Jonas & Naumburg, cutters of Hatters' furs, 510 and 512 West Thirty-fourth street, New York, were totally destroyed by fire this morning, making a loss of about $75,000.

—Among the converts of the Gillam meetings yesterday was one man who had purposely stayed away from church 14 years.

—Addis, the veteran plumbing expert, keeps up to date, and every householder will hail with delight his latest acquisition, the smoke test, by which he is enabled to detect every flaw in pipes and joints. It will be necessary to have your plumbing put in shape before connection with the sewers, and you'd better have him make this thorough examination now.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY.

MYSTERY OF A VACANT HOUSE.

Another burglary was committed in North Plainfield Saturday. This time the thief operated in broad daylight and obtained but $20.

George W. Little and his family moved from Brooklyn to 132 Grove street a week ago. Next door is house 138, unoccupied. Mr. Little has noticed at night a dim light in the rear of the vacant dwelling, but he thought it must be the agent and did not investigate.

Saturday morning at 11 the family went away. At 5:30 in the afternoon they returned and found that the house had been visited. The thief had arranged a pile of clothing and shoes apparently ready for transportation and then opened a bureau drawer. There he found $20 in cash and evidently concluded to depart with that. Nothing else was missing except three sheets and a small quantity of underwear.

Chief Pangborn was notified at once. He examined the premises and concluded that the thief had watched from No. 138 until the family left and then crossed into the yard. He had climbed up to the sill of a window near the rear on the nearest side of the house, leaving the marks of his feet on the siding, and pushed back the catch with a knife. It is possible that the thief, perhaps along with others, has been lodging in the vacant house for some time and had headquarters there when the seven houses were entered last Tuesday night.

QUICKLY JAILED.

MARY AND JOHN FALL OUT.

Domestic Discord on Hillside Avenue.

An outbreak of the trouble between Lewis J. Denton's Polish domestic Mary and her husband, John, caused Miss Denton to telephone for the police at noon to day and Chief Grant and Sergeant Kiely hurried up to the house on Hillside avenue to arrest the man, but he had disappeared.

John is a one-eyed Pole who has been working for Henry Clay Randolph and tramping about the vicinity for a year. He sent for his wife and she paid her way to this country with the $160 he gave her. They commenced to quarrel again as they had done in the old country and the woman left him and went out to work. He has since been bothering the woman, demanding his money back. This morning he threatened to shoot, and Mrs. Denton summoned the police, but the man escaped before they came.

The policemen afterwards drove across the hill and got on track of the man. They finally found him and brought him to City Judge Coddington. On a statement from the woman that she had been threatened with death and so persecuted that she had not dared to leave the house for months, the judge sent the man to Elizabeth for 60 days. He said his name was John Valinski.

$53 IN HIS NAME.

North Plainfield King's Daughters Accomplishing Practical Results.

A number of the young King's Daughters of North Plainfield held a fair Saturday afternoon at the residence of ex-Councilman J. E. Howell of Willow avenue. The tables were placed upon the piazza, which was very artistically decorated with Japanese hangings and yellow and white trimmings. The candy table was presided over by Miss Eleanor T. Van-Deventer and Miss Grace E. Overton. The fancy table was directed by Miss Dorothea Wells, Miss Sadie Howell, and Miss Katherine. The croquet court was under the superintendency of Miss Edith Peck, and Miss Dorothea Wells was chief angler at the fish pool.

A large number of both young and old visited the fair during the afternoon, and when all was over the promoters found a balance of $53 to their credit, $16 of which was received for admission tickets.

The young ladies were assisted in their decorating and arranging by Mrs. Joseph E. Howell, Mrs. S. St John McCutchen, and Mrs. George E. Rogers.

HELD UP BY NEGROES.

The Train Came Just in Time.

Before daylight Sunday morning a young man was stopped on the road at Rocap's Hill by two Negroes who asked for money. He reached for an imaginary pistol, and when they drew back he ran. They chased him to the Grant Avenue station. The 3:35 a. m. train came in as he got there, and he jumped aboard.

—Ex-Letter-Carrier Peter Flynn bravely stopped the runaway rig of Pearson & Gayle at 2:45 this afternoon as the horse crossed Park avenue after a run down West Second street.

CRESCENT CYCLING.

LIVELY SPORT ON THE OVAL.

LOCAL RIDERS WIN A FAIR PROPORTION OF THE PRIZES.

Full Story of the Gratifying Part Played by the Plainfield Pedallers in the Races—1,500 People See a Good Day's Sport—Great Scott's Mother Hugs Him.

Plainfield's part in the races Saturday afternoon included the exhibition of its cycle track to a representative lot of metropolitan district cyclers, the attendance of 1,500 people, and the capture by Crescent riders of five prizes—three first, a second and a third. Barnett won a $125 bicycle, the $70 shotgun donated by the Pope Manufacturing Company, and a $15 pair of tires. Monte Scott obtained a $50 gold stopwatch. His brother Henry kept the $30 silver teaset in town.

The rest of the $885 worth of prizes went to speedy visitors who joined with the Crescent riders in making the meet the most successful of the season. Fair riding, but few falls and an increased enthusiasm among the spectators were noticeable features of the races.

Of course the value of the Times $50 medal made the one-mile novice interesting to all. A desire to keep it in Plainfield brought out the entries of William J. Dodd and William E. Havens, unattached, and R. D. Williams, E. T. Hand, C. S. Gotthell and A. V. Rockwell, Crescent Wheelmen. Williams and Dodd were in the first heat with the final winner, Colin Kay. Williams promptly dropped out when he found that the heat was to be ridden in 2:35 1-5. Dodd came into prominence on the back where he obtained a lead of a length. Kay had hard work to pass him on the stretch and won by only half a length.

Havens and Hand were down for the second heat. Hand was unfortunate, a rear tire exploding just before the race was called, and preventing him from starting. Havens was unable to get to the front and did not qualify. He luckily escaped crashing into W. L. Walls of New York when he fell on the back and smashed his wheel.

Gotthell and Rockwell were Plainfield's pair in the third preliminary. Rockwell held fourth place for two laps, the first a loafing match, the second a warm sprint. Gotthell kept the lead for a while on the second lap, but both the Plainfielders fell back in the unqualified bunch in the finishing spurt. William G. Ayres of West Orange went down on the back and cut his face.

Dodd was the only local rider in the final of the novice. He kept in the thickest part of the bunch and was sixth behind Kay on the last lap. He was unable to follow Kay when the Brooklyn boy shot out on the big turn and won the race. Charles K. Stevens of New York, the third man, looked back as he crossed the tape, wobbled and sat down suddenly through the remains of his rear wheel.

Monte Scott and Nate Titsworth lost their chances with the rest in the first heat of the mile Class A scratch. They loafed around and finished in 2:48 in this order: Barbeau, Scott, Titsworth. All were disqualified for not riding in 2:40 and the second heat became the final. The fight among the remaining one was a pretty one. Granger jumped out on the back and seemed to own the race. Harrison left the pocket, however, and hurried ahead to the tape.

Barnett came out in the ⅔-mile Class B with W. H. Wells as the only representatives of the Spalding team, Titus and Helfert being ill. He set the pace for Brandt and Silvie of the Ramblers and then fell in with the bunch. On the back Barnett went up again, but Silvie passed him and brought his companion up to second place.

By this time Hand had borrowed a wheel, and he appeared to represent Plainfield in the first heat of the mile handicap, Class A. He won the heat from the 120 yard mark in 2:16, in spite of the fact that good men started in front of him. His riding then and later in the day confirmed the opinion of Crescent experts that this unpracticed novice has a great future.

In the second heat Henry Scott (100 yards) barely qualified in fourth place. Havens and Titsworth, (both 130 yards) could not reach the front of the bunch in the final spurt. The third heat saw four outsiders take places, Rydell and Gotthell not qualifying. Henry Scott won the final heat by a length from Knecht. Hand seemed to lose at every turn in the track and got no place.

The Class B mile scratch was captured by Barnett, time 2:29 1-5. He had a runaway on the last quarter and finished five lengths in front of Silvie.

The first of the two-mile trial heats of the five-mile handicaps brought glory to Monte Scott (20 yards) and Hand (210 yards), who finished first and second respectively. Titsworth worked up well with Hand at first, but neither he nor Williams qualified. In the second heat Henry Scott (120 yards) rode with the limit bunch until the last lap, when he dropped out. In the next heat Gotthell (230 yards) hung on well with the rest but did not show up among the qualified ones. E. H. Smith of the Crescents was second.

The race next run was the two-mile Class B handicap. The finish was made with a hot spurt. Brandt had the lead. Silvie was hard pressed by Barnett and looked back at him. Barnett passed ahead and reached second place. Ten yards beyond the tape Silvie ran into him. Barnett's rear wheel was smashed and he was severely shocked. His foot was slightly cut. The grand-stand rose, frightened, in a body; when they saw their long distance favorite fall. They were reassured when he rose.

The great race of the day was the final five-mile handicap. For 15 laps the excitement ran high. E. A. Bofinger and Monte Scott joined in pacing from the scratch, each taking a lap alternately. Hand (410 yards) and Smith (220 yards) hung on well, the formerly falling in behind the four Riversides. The two scratch men found their field quickly, only to be pocketed by the famous tactics of the Riversides. Again and again they went out and fell in again. Goodman spurted on the eleventh lap and then Hand took a second position behind the solid front of Orange men. On the last third Monte and Bofinger rushed away in magnificent style, the Riversides working their best to beat them. Monte held his lead, but Bofinger tired and Granger and Barbeau passed him.

The grand-stand and the bleachers went wild over Monte then. They cheered and shouted while he slowed up round the track and a crowd rushed out to greet him. They wheeled him up to the grand-stand with an ovation worthy of the holder of the five-mile competition record. Monte had won the position of Plainfield's first favorite long ago, but this was the first time the people showed to the full extent their admiration and enthusiasm. Monte's happiness was complete when his mother leaned from front of the grand-stand and hugged him. And thus the meet ended with rejoicing over the victory of Plainfield's greatest, Plainfield's most popular cycler.

NOT A ROBBERY.

Only a Scare by the Family Joker.

The Worth family was much alarmed last evening on returning from church to their home, 87 Grove street, to find that there was every evidence that the house had been entered by burglars during their absence.

The rooms had been ransacked and silverware and other valuable goods were neatly piled about as if the intruders had been frightened away. Marshal Wilson was notified and great excitement prevailed until a joking member of the family confessed that he had arranged the whole affair to scare the rest of the household.

Pole Stole Planks.

Policeman Frederickson last night discovered that a number of scaffold planks had been taken from the new Y. M. C. A. Building and stored away by the house of Joseph Comeki, a Pole who lives on the raceway.

This morning Contractor Isaac Pangborn swore out a petty-larceny warrant against Comeki in Justice Nash's Court. The Pole was arrested and committed to the County Jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Firemen's Festivity.

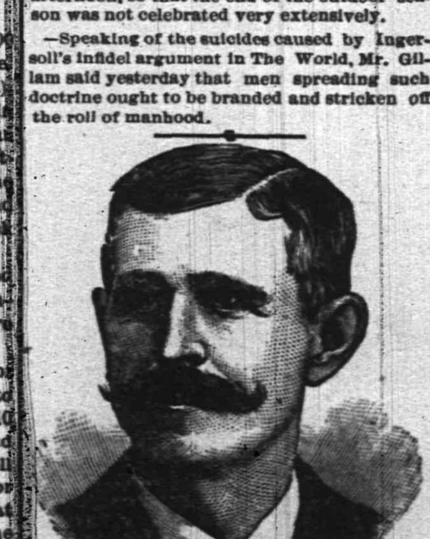
Millinery Opening.

Miss E. Gayton, manager of Edsall's millinery department at the Commercial Palace, extends a special invitation to the public to visit the Fall opening, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, when the latest New York styles in this line will be on exhibition.

—The cool weather kept all but a few of the Germans away from the mountain yesterday afternoon, so that the end of the outdoor season was not celebrated very extensively.

—Speaking of the suicides caused by Ingersoll's infidel argument in The World, Mr. Gillam said yesterday that men spreading such doctrine ought to be branded and stricken off the roll of manhood.



A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recommendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

WAS THE BANK IN DANGER?

Three Men Climb the Back Fence, But Are Scared Away.

A rumor was current Saturday night of an attempt to rob the First National Bank.

The foundation of it was that John Schorb, Sr., seated at a back window, saw three men climb the fence back of the bank. He shouted to them, and they climbed back again and went away.

—Thieves have robbed J. K. Lane's cellar of several cans of preserves.

A consecration meeting of the young people's society of the Trinity Reformed Church will be held tonight at 8. All are welcome.

A meeting of much importance is expected by John Hand Camp, No. 28, S. of V., this evening, and every member is urged to be present.

Rain Puts Out Forest Fires.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 1.—A heavy rain has set in and fear from forest fires has now passed. Friday night was a night of terror. The fires had eaten their way into the city limits and a fierce gale was blowing the flame directly towards the residence portion of the city. Hundreds were fighting the flames all night and every one was awake and anxious. The smoke was dense and the red glare of the angry flames forcibly reminded the residents of the Hinckley disaster. Scores of farmers have been burned out in this district. Many coming into the city have lost all but the clothing on their backs.

An A. P. A. Orator's Charge.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—J. K. Gosper, a republican politician and an A. P. A. man, was invited to address the Unity club. In the course of his remarks he charged that under the Catholic cathedral, in this city, were 500 stands of arms. D. F. Donegan, a prominent contractor, arose in the audience and, displaying a $1,000 certificate, declared the statement was a lie and that he would give the check to the A. P. A. if it were true. Excitement followed. The chairman said Gosper had violated the courtesy of the club. Gosper then said he had been told that the arms were there.

Hearing Postponed.

Albany, Oct. 1.—The meeting of the committee appointed to investigate the management of the state reformatory at Elmira, which was to take place on October 2 at the Mott Memorial hall, has been postponed to October 11 and the place of meeting changed to the Park Avenue hotel, Park avenue and Thirty-third street.

Incendiary Fire at New Brunswick.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 1.—An incendiary fire destroyed the hay press, coal sheds, flour and feed warehouse and stables of P. P. and D. F. R. Runyon & Co., at Burnett and Richmond streets. Eight horses perished.

THERE is Health in the Wheel.

Firm muscles, good complexion, and cheerful spirits are the result of plenty of out-door exercise and sunshine. Cycling is the popular sport of the day.

The 1894 Columbias are a realization of the ideal in bicycle construction — a triumph of American skill and enterprise. Constantly advancing in the line of progress, Columbias still maintain their proud position as the standard bicycles of the world — unequalled, unapproached.

FLYING JIB IN 1:59 1-2

The Famous Pacer's Feat at Chillicothe.

Last Half Made in 0:58 1-2—Hitched to a Running Mate and Paced on a Kite-Shaped Track—The Record Means Nothing Except To Pull Off 2 1-4 Sec. from Westmont's Time.

Chillicothe, O., Oct. 1.—The name of Flying Jib is on the tongue of every horseman here on account of the wonderful mile paced by this celebrated gelding at the kite-shaped track yesterday. Flying Jib hitched to a running mate paced a mile in the phenomenal time of 1:59 1-2, lowering the record of 2:01 3-4 made by Westmont in Chicago in 1884 at this style of racing by 2 1-4 seconds. The performance does not constitute a record, as this method of pace-making is not recognized as legal, and has no bearing on Robert J's valid record of 2:01 1-2.

At 10 o'clock the "Jib" was brought on the track and in the presence of 1,000 people was sent a warming up heat in 2:15. He soon again appeared on the track driven by Andy McDowell, and after scoring once his driver nodded for the word "Go." Up the track the fleet-footed animal went without a skip, while the spectators held their breath in amazement.

In he came to the home stretch, apparently going faster every step. When the time of 1:59 1-2 was announced, the spectators could scarcely believe it, and still more dumbfounded were they when the last half of the mile was announced as being made in 58 1-2 seconds. This demonstrates very clearly that the Chillicothe track is undoubtedly the fastest in the country, it being as smooth as a table. All the visiting horsemen here, and the city is full of them, say if the weather is favorable this week more records will be smashed at this meeting than at any meeting held this year.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

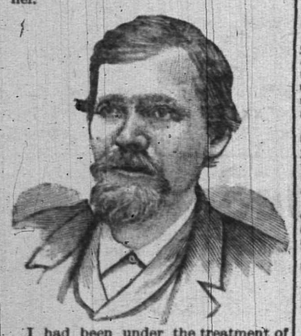
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

A PLUCKY WOMAN.

AND WHAT SHE WAS ABLE TO ACCOMPLISH.

She and Her Daughter Have a Remarkable Experience—She Was a Hard Working Person and This Will Interest All Workers.

All kinds of diseases and weaknesses leave their marks on the system. It is very easy for the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys to become deranged, and when they do, the person soon feels tired, languid, weak, low spirited and gloomy.

The nerves become weak and insanity or paralysis may follow. The blood gets bad, there is coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, constipation, the complexion grows sallow and life looks dark. All persons complaining of any of these troubles will read with wonder the following letter from Mrs. James Roake, a well-known lady living at 145 Washington st., Peekskill, N. Y:

"About fifteen years ago I was taken very sick. After seven months I got over that, but have never been well since. I have suffered terribly with pains in the chest, back, kidneys and head. There was a disagreeable feeling in the eyes and I would be very sick in the morning.

"My mind was always gloomy and I felt very low spirited. I had terrible numb spells and would have to be rubbed some time before I could get around. Some of these numb spells were so severe my friends thought I would not recover from them.

"I tried doctors and medicines but got no better. Finally I began the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, as my husband had been most miraculously cured by it. After using it a short time there was a most wonderful improvement.

MRS. JAMES ROAKE.

"I continued to steadily gain in every respect until I was cured of all these terrible ailings. This wonder medicine had now cured my husband and myself of the most fearful suffering, but this was not all. I now want to tell about my little girl.

"She has never been well since she has been born. No doctors have known just what ailed her. She was out of her mind most of the time and had constant pain in her side. She has had spasms continually, from six to seven a month.

"She is the smallest child for her age that can be found. All medicines could do nothing for her until I gave her Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and then she was cured in a short time. I cannot say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine, it has done so much for me and my family. I heartily advise everybody to take it."

If you have any of these complaints or for any reason don't feel just as well as you want to, take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and you will be made well and strong. It positively cures all such complaints.

All physicians recommend it, as it is the discovery and prescription of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

NO PROSPECT OF FIGHT

More of the Corbett-Fitz Letter-Writing Contest.

Jim To Fight One More Battle and Then Retire—Bob Will Claim the Championship and the Olympic Club Makes a Demand on Corbett—Managers Wrathy.

New York, Oct. 2.—William Brady, the representative of James J. Corbett, and the champion middleweight, Bob Fitzsimmons, and his representative, met in the office of a morning newspaper, Fitzsimmons being there for the purpose of depositing $1,000 as a guarantee of good faith in his intention to fight James J. Corbett for a purse and a side bet of $10,000. Brady was there to deposit $1,000 in behalf of Steve O'Donnel, whom he was anxious Fitzsimmons should meet.

Fitzsimmons declined, however, to consider Steve O'Donnel in the matter at all. Fitzsimmons said he wanted to fight for the championship of the world, and Corbett was the man he wanted to fight to get that title.

The men could come to no terms, but a fight on the spot was narrowly averted. Addressing Fitzsimmons in angry and excited tones, Brady said:

"What a nice man you are to go around the country saying that you'll plant your gloves on Corbett's face."

"I never said such an ungentlemanly thing, I deny it, explained Fitz. Every one was on his feet, the talk was loud and a sporting man did his best to get the men to moderate their tones.

"It's all over. You must retire from the place if you don't keep quiet," said another man, and then Brady, who was getting more and more excited, shouted to Arthur Lumley: "Corbett is the greatest fighter in the world, and no man can say he is a cur."

"Yes he is," said Lumley, as cool as an icicle.

"You can't prove it," yelled Brady at the top of his shrill soprano.

"Yes I can," and Lumley rose to his feet and moved in Brady's direction, and everyone looked for a row.

"You're a cur," roared Brady.

"You're another," said Lumley, and then Charley White stepped in between them and Capt. Glori apologized to the newspaper folks for such an unpleasant scene. As Brady moved off to the front door in order to get out on Broadway, he was heard to say:

"I won't let any gang do me."

Lumley asked him what kind of a pipe he was smoking to lose his head in such a fashion, but he disappeared through the door and another chapter was added to the Fitzsimmons-Corbett controversy. After leaving Manager Brady, Bob Fitzsimmons journeyed down town and issued a statement explaining his position. He said that he expected to become the champion by default, and in that event would defend it against one Steve O'Donnel, bantam and heavyweights, and that his theatrical engagements would never interfere with his defence of the title.

AGAIN SAYS NO.

Corbett's Latest Reply to Fitz's Challenge for a Fight.

Boston, Oct. 2.—The following letter to Robert Fitzsimmons has just been mailed here by Champion Corbett:

Dear Sir:—In reply to your communication of to-day, I desire to state that I am the champion heavyweight of the world. I won that title, not by defeating middleweights, but by battling with every heavyweight that stood between myself and John L. Sullivan. I dispute your right to claim a battle with me at the present time, because, while you are undoubtedly the best middleweight in the world, your record gives you no right to a place in my class. I propose to enter the prize ring once more, and then retire, whether I win or loose. I want my next contest to be with the best man in the world. I do not consider you that man, and I do not propose to meet you, and then after having defeated you, be told by your friends that you are only a middleweight, after all. I care nothing for the past history of the ring, or its obsolete rules. My future is in my own hands, and I do not propose to be told by you, or any other man living, what I am to do. I consider Steve O'Donnel a better man than you are, and he will prove it when he meets you. If you accept his challenge and defeat him, then you will not have to worry much about securing a contest with me. You say that Steve O'Donnel is a fourth-rater, and that you are sincere in your desire to become champion of the world. Then you should remove the only obstace that stands between you and me, especially when he is so easy. I am prepared to post $5,000 with any reputable man or newspaper in this country, to be paid to you in case I refuse to fight you after you have defeated O'Donnel. Mr. Brady has posted $1,000 with the New York Herald as an evidence of O'Donnel's good faith. You do not need to wait thirty days for me to pay any attention to you, for I do not propose to do so, and, if you are sincere, then you had better arrange a match with O'Donnel at once, for, the sooner you do, the sooner you will open up the chance you seem to desire so much (?), a meeting with me.

JAS. J. CORBETT.

OLYMPIC CLUB TAKES A HAND.

Corbett Must Fight or the Championship Goes to Fitz.

New York, Oct. 2.—The following telegram was sent to Corbett by President Scholl, of the Olympic club, New Orleans:

"The subterfuge you are resorting to in causing O'Donnel to challenge Fitzsimmons is not worthy of consideration. It was in the Olympic club that the heavyweight championship was lost and won. It was in the Olympic club that both you and Fitzsimmons won your greatest honors, and it is now within the province and the duty of the Olympic club to declare Robert Fitzsimmons the champion heavyweight of the world, should you persist in refusing to accept his challenge, which is backed up with a side bet of $10,000. As far as the Olympic club is concerned, it is immaterial to us with whom the side bet is placed. We don't want to hold it. We offer a $25,000 purse, the winner to take all. Fitzsimmons has complied with every requirement. If you will not defend the title, Fitzsimmons will, and will meet the best man that can be found in the world in February, 1895. In the event that you do not answer and accept the challenge of Robert Fitzsimmons by Thursday, Oct. 4, we will declare Robert Fitzsimmons the champion heavyweight of the world.

WILLIAM A. SCHOLL,
President Olympic Club.

SUGAR TRUST INDICTMENTS.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The grand jury has returned indictments against Henry O. Havemeyer and John E. Searles, of the sugar trust, and Allan L. Seymour, of the stock brokerage firm of Seymour & Young, for refusing to answer questions put to them by the senate sugar trust investigating committee. The grand jury also brought in an indictment against Mr. Macartney, of the firm of Macartney & Carson, this last, however, merely being to perfect a previous report.

The case of Messrs. Havemeyer and Searles had been before the grand jury since the early part of last August, and were expected to be brought into court when Messrs. Shriver and Edwards, the newspaper correspondents, were indicted. For some unaccountable reason, however, their presentation were delayed. The persons indicted will be notified in a few days to come into court and plead, but no further action will be taken until after the demurrers filed by Messrs. Macartney and Chapman, nearly two months ago, have been disposed of. The arguments on these demurrers will come up on the 12th inst., and will be on constitutional grounds—that is, the contention will be that the senate committee had no power to compel witnesses to answer questions. In case the demurrers are sustained, no further action will be taken in the matter, as the government has no appeal in a criminal case. Should the decision of the court be against the defendants, the case will be carried to the court of appeals, and if that court decides against them the matter will go to the supreme court of the United States. Should the indictments against Messrs. Chapman and Macartney be quashed, the cases of Messrs. Shriver, Edwards and Havemeyer, Searles and Seymour may never come to trial.

Divorce for a Clubman's Wife.

New York, Oct. 2.—Justice Ingraham, of the supreme court, has granted Mrs. Florence A. Johnson an absolute divorce from her husband, Wilmot Johnson, jr. Mr. Johnson is wealthy and a member of several prominent clubs. Mrs. Johnson charged her husband with improper conduct in London and Paris. The decree gives Mrs. Johnson the custody of their two children, and directs that Mr. Johnson shall pay her $1,200 a year alimony. It also gives Mr. Johnson the privilege of visiting the children.

An Old Potash Kiln Unearthed.

Little Falls, N. Y., Oct. 2.—A potash kiln, such as was used by people 100 years ago, was found while men were digging a cellar on the Philip Yoker estate, in Dolgeville. It was 6 feet square and 3 1-2 feet high, with an opening at one side. It was formed of a substantial stone wall, inside of which was a lining of slate rock, plastered with clay. At the bottom of the kiln was found large chunks of molten rocks, sand and other substances.

Y., Oct. 2.—The first medal given in this city by the Volunteer Life Savers association of the inland waters of New York state, was presented to Edwin Carr Chamberlain, a son of an old friend of ex-Secretary of State General Joseph B. SEPTEMBER REVENUES

Receipts During the First Month of New Tariff.

A Decrease of About Two Million Dollars as Compared With the Corresponding Month Last Year—No Revenue from Sugar or Income Tax Yet.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The first month's receipts of the treasury department namely, for the month of September, under the operation of the new tariff law, have just been made public. The aggregate receipts for the month were $22,621,288, as compared with $24,582,756 for the month of September, 1893. As compared with the month of August, 1894, when the receipts from internal revenue assumed abnormal proportions, because of the large withdrawals of whiskey, in anticipation of the increased tax of 20 cents per gallon, they are in round figures $18,000,000 less.

According to the estimates upon which the new tariff bill was based, it was to produce, exclusive of postal revenue, from sugar $43,000,000 a year, and from the income tax placed at a minimum figure, $15,000,000 per year. No revenue from either of these sources is shown in the current receipts of the month of September for the reason that the income tax does not become operative until January 1, 1895, and three or four months supply of sugar was imported prior to the new law, in anticipation of the ad valorem tax placed upon it. Upon the basis of the estimates submitted and upon which the tariff bill was framed the revenue from the two principal sources—customs and internal revenue—each was put down at $179,000,000 per year. For the three months of the present fiscal year the total receipts have been $97,848,174 as against $79,379,417 for the corresponding months of 1893. Of the receipts, current fiscal year to date, $35,797,243 have been from customs, or at the rate of $140,000,000 a year and internal revenue $58,944,916 or at the rate of $232,000,000 a year, slightly in excess of the total estimate of $179,000,000 upon which the tariff bill was based from these two items alone, leaving miscellaneous revenue of $20,000,000 as a surplus. From present indications, when revenue from sugar and the income tax begin to be received and customs and internal revenue receipts assume their normal conditions, as they are now gradually doing, a surplus for the fiscal year of between fifty and sixty million at the present ratio existing between receipts and expenditures, is indicated. Even as the situation is now shown for the current year to date expenditures exceed receipts less than a million dollars.

Farmers' National Congress.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 2.—Delegates and visitors to the Farmers' National congress are arriving and it is expected that 1,300 regular delegates from Maine to California will be here. A telegram was received stating that Mrs. M. M. Coad, of Freemont, Neb., the orater who was to have addressed the congress on the subject "Corn is King" died very suddenly at her home of pneumonia. Her place on the programme has not been filled. The session of the congress will be held on historical Blennerhassett island, where arrangements have been made for the accommodation of several thousand people.

Moving Troops East.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The general movement of troops to strengthen the department of the east has begun. Dispatches received by the general of the army show that Col. Poland and five companies of the 17th infantry reached Collumbus barracks, Ohio; that the new post, Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., was garrisoned by the arrival of Major Morris with four troops of the Third cavalry and the cavalry troops for Fort Meyer, Va., left Chicago by special train. The troops now at Fort Meyer will leave for the far west.

A Negro's Terrible Revenge.

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—George Thomas, a negro is under arrest for sending a poisoned lunch to St. Peter's Episcopal church last Saturday, which caused the death of James Cunningham and the almost fatal illness of Franklin S. Beckett, the church organist. Thomas was supplanted as janitor of the church by Cunningham six months ago and it is thought he sent the poisoned lunch to the church.

Fatally Injured in a Rolling Mill.

Pittsburg, Oct. 2.—Joseph Tritt, a machinist employed by the Carnegie Steel company at Homestead, was fatally injured while changing rolls in the new forty-inch mill. His hands were caught between the rolls and before they could be stopped, Tritt was drawn through to his neck. His arms and shoulders were slowly crushed flat.

JAPS OCCUPY WIJU NOW

And Reported To Be Advancing on Moukden.

Disorder in the Chinese Army Rampant—Officials Appropriate Money Advanced for Munitions—Soldiers Without Guns and Poorly Clothed—Executions Take Place Daily.

London, Oct. 2.—A dispatch from Shanghai to the Central News says the Japanese have occupied Wiju without meeting with any opposition on the part of the Chinese troops. Friction between Prince Kung, the emperor's avuncular appointee to the presidency of the tsungli-yamen (the foreign board), and Li-Hung-Chang, the dispatch says, is inevitable. The viceroy is certain to be hampered in his conduct of operations against the Japanese. The imperial council is completely disorganized, and the corruption which has prevailed in the commissary department for years, has left the troops with no suitable clothing and a scant supply of food. Cannons, rifles and other munitions of war, which from time to time were alleged to have been bought and paid for, cannot be found and presumably the money represented to have been expended for them was appropriated by the officials into whose hands it was intrusted. The immense camp between Tien-Tsin and Taku is filled with raw levies of troops, who are without arms and in many cases without sufficient clothing to cover them. Disorder in the camp is rampant, there being not the slightest degree of discipline. Executions take place daily, the merest infraction of rule or law being punishable by the loss of the offender's head.

European residents of China are taking refuge in the treaty ports under the protection of the warships of their respective countries. A large number of Chinese merchants are also seeking safety in flight. Their goods are being seized, and in many cases men of large means have been plundered of every vestige of property they possessed, and beaten and otherwise maltreated if they protested. Most of these have also made their way to the treaty ports.

Th troops stationed at Canton have been ordered to Formosa.

London, Oct. 2.—A British naval officer attached to the Chinese naval fight squadron which was engaged in the fight off the mouth of the Yalu river has written a letter to the Graphic, which is published in that paper. In that letter the writer gives additional details of the fighting and says: "On board the warship the Chen-Yuen the fighting was awful. The decks and the space around the guns were strewn with human fragments, and three of five men working a fourton gun were blown up by a shell from the Japanese warship Naniwa. A fourth gunner was shot while trying to escape from the turret and the fifth stuck to his post. This man fired three rounds at the Naniwa, one shell entering the engine room of the Japanese ship and another smashing her forebridge. The Naniwa then hauled off. The Chinese admiral rewarded the gunner with a present of 1,000 taels. A shell glanced from the steel deck of the Chen-Yuen and went through her tower, shattering everything therein. A lieutenant, who was in the act of speaking through the tube leading to the engine room, was blown into atoms and his head was left hanging to the speaking pipe. Huge fragments of armor, and the teak backing thereof, were carried inboard by the shot, crushing a large number of sailors into a shapeless mass. A European engineer who was in the act of groping about in an endeavor to repair a steam-pipe was drenched from head to foot with the blood of an assistant who was disemboweled by his side by a shot from the enemy's ship. The Chen-Yuen arrived at Wei-Hai-Wei the day after the fight in the same condition in which she left the battle. No attempt has been made to wash the blood from her or to remove the corpses which strew the decks."

The writer expresses the opinion that if the European rulers could have seen the decks of the Chen-Yuen they would have foresworn war henceforth and forever.

Foreigners Unsafe in Pekin.

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Dearborn, for many years in the employ of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, writes from Pekin that since the war with Japan began, native residents of the capital city have been filled with especial animosity towards foreigners. Mrs. Dearborn says it is unsafe for any foreign resident to go out unattended. Even when they have attendants, they are hooted at, called all sorts of names in Chinese and not infrequently pelted with mud or stones. The writer says that hordes of half-barbarians are crowding into the city from all sides and the authorities seem to exercise little or no restraint in protecting foreigners from abuse or assault.

Japs Advancing on Moukden.

London, Oct. 2.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a dispatch from Shanghai stating that the Japanese troops are reported to be rapidly nearing Moukden.

Gov. McKinley Speaks in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—Five thousand men and women assembled in Suburban hall to participate in the opening of the republican state campaign and as a part of the exercises to listen to an address by Governor McKinley upon the political issues of the day. It was the most remarkable republican demonstration that the Mound City has ever witnessed. The Ohio governor confined his remarks to the tariff subject, and the benefits derived from protection.

Customs' Receipts at New York.

New York, Oct. 2.—The receipts from customs at the New York custom house for September were $1,602,222.93 in excess of the payments for the corresponding period in 1893. The increase is the result of the heavy withdrawals of goods from bond on account of the passage of the new tariff bill.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The engagement is announced of Miss Edith Harold and Wm. Chapman.

Representative John T. Dunn was a distinguished caller on The Press today.

Mrs. and Miss Rodman of LaGrande avenue have returned from their stay in Asbury Park.

J. J. H. Poillon and family have gone to their Winter home, 459 West End avenue, New York.

A. W. Haviland and family have returned to their home on Rockview avenue after a Summer spent at Garrisons on the Hudson.

Harold, the 3½-years-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Adams of 607 Washington street who has been very ill with diphtheria, is much better, under the care of Dr. W. C. Boone and the tender motherly nursing of Mrs. Adams.

Plainfield is represented at Bryn Mawr College this year by Miss Harriet R. Shreve, daughter of B. J. Shreve, in the Senior class, and Miss Martha S. Tracy, daughter of J. Evarts Tracy, in the Freshman class. The college opened yesterday.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Theodore VanNest has returned to work in Hedden's stables.

—Your good looks depend on your headgear, and you profit in every way by getting suited at E. M. Laing's, 105 Park avenue.

—Forty-one indictments were brought in by the Somerset County Grand Jury yesterday, but not one from moral North Plainfield.

—Classes in dancing and Delsarte are being formed by H. B. Walsh of Brooklyn to open the Olympia next week Tuesday evening.

—Home is easily adorned today at little expense, and the writing desk is quickly stocked with stationery, by means of the assignee's sale of S. E. Flower's stock.

—C. J. Noel of Netherwood suffers intensely from the effects of his bicycle accident of yesterday. He was able to swallow liquid nourishment today, and the prospects of rapid recovery are considered good.

—The first case on the Supreme Court Calendar to be tried in Elizabeth tomorrow morning is the case of Augustus M. Frazee against George Frazee on contract for $1,000. Craig A. Marsh represents the plaintiff, and George W. DeMeza the defendant.

—Through a misconstruction of Pastor Goodrich's sermon Sunday it was inferred that the Congregational Church was presented with a new Communion service. Mr. Goodrich merely quoted the gift letter accompanying the service already in use.

—There's no better house in New Jersey at which new and stylish Fall clothing may be purchased than that of MacGregor & Co., of 850 Broad street, near the Central Railroad station, Newark. MacGregor & Co. have sold clothing to several generations of Jerseymen, and their present tremendous business attests the satisfaction enjoyed by their patrons. The new tariff prices are up to date.

ANOTHER!

Where Is This Burglary Business Going to Stop?

If Expressman A. E. Hoagland had got home a little sooner last night he would have caught a burglar in the house. While the young man stopped to talk art with Col. Scott, the women at home heard a man walking about in the house. They called out, and he ran through the door which he had purposely left ajar. Nothing was missing.

ON TO PLAINFIELD!

Trolley Traction Seeks Entrance Through Scotch Plains.

TOWN COMMITTEE READY TO ACT.

The Matter Discussed at Length, and Final Decision Postponed Till Later in the Month—Routine Business Receives Attention—The Daily Press Made Official Township Paper.

The first steps towards allowing the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company to pass through Fanwood were taken at the meeting of the township committee last evening. When President Terry called the meeting to order about 25 interested men were present. The regular business was laid over until after the petition had been considered.

J. U. Bethell of Philadelphia, representing the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, then handed the clerk the following petition:

To the Township Committee of Fanwood, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey:

The petition of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company respectfully represents that it desires to construct, operate and maintain a railroad, with one or more tracks and necessary turnouts, to be operated by electricity or other motive power except steam, and to erect necessary poles, conduits and wires, power plant and necessary buildings, along and upon the following named streets, avenues, lanes, roads, highways and public places in the Township of Fanwood, to wit:

Beginning in the division line between the City of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood, where Midway avenue crosses said division line and running thence in an easterly direction along Midway avenue to its connection with North avenue; thence still easterly along North avenue to the division line between the townships of Fanwood and Westfield.

And for that purpose prays that the permission of your honorable body may be granted to it, to construct, operate and maintain such railway to be operated by electricity or other motive power, except steam, upon and along the above named streets, avenues, lanes, roads, highways and public places within the said Township of Fanwood.

New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, FRANK A. MAGOWAN, Pres't.

After the reading of the petition Mr. Bethell, in answer to questions, explained clearly the various details of passing franchise ordinances. Township Counsel William R. Codington being absent. He said the company had not applied to the Plainfield authorities for permission to operate in the city. The consideration of the minor matters concerning the road was not to come up at the first meeting. The proposition to pass an ordinance should first be advertised for 14 days. Then the committee could meet and take action.

Mr. Downer asked if the introduction of power from an underground conduit had been considered. Mr. Bethell said that this system was not a practical one. It was probable that a petition for a road on Mountain avenue would be presented. The only route now being considered was the one described, the plan being to make this a through line, connecting with the road which Senator Voorhees is to build from Elizabeth to Westfield. He had just been instructed to present a petition to North Plainfield with the plan of entering Plainfield by the back way. The Dunellen and Raritan authorities were considering similar petitions the same night.

In regard to tearing up the county road Mr. Bethell said that if the road to Springfield was used the Township Committee would have the right to let the line run there, while the Board of Freeholders would decide whether the track should be laid in the middle or at the side.

Committeeman Miller moved that the petition be received and the matter advertised for 14 days as required by law, the date of the meeting when the business would come up being fixed at October 19. Mr. Bethell asking which paper had been selected for the advertising. Mr. Miller said that The Daily Press of Plainfield had the largest circulation in the township, and, Mr. Downer seconding the motion, the clerk was authorized to advertise the proposal in The Press.

An informal discussion followed, William Stanbery being the principal speaker. He alone opposed the coming of the trolley, supporting his views by references to the past history of the township in connection with so-called improvements. It was evident that all the others present took the other side of the question, although no one entered into regular debate. John Cook, one of the extensive land owners of Scotch Plains, told The Press reporter that the road was bound to go through. Scotch Plains had suffered too long from the lack of easy access to the cities. He would, in a few days, present a petition to the company signed by 175 of the 200 property holders who favored the improvement.

The regular order of business was then taken up. Clerk Hand read the minutes and Treasurer Miller presented the following report:

Balance last meeting	$350 91
Paid out " "	240 75
Received for delinquent taxes	152 78
Balance	$271 94

On motion of Mr. Downer a loan of $500 was ordered negotiated for the general fund. A letter from A. D. Shepard in answer to a notice of the tree trimming ordinance was read. After commending the act and agreeing to trim his trees as necessary, Mr. Shepard went on and called attention to the fact that he had been told that the Sunday-selling clause of the liquor law was being violated at licensed places in the township. He called upon the Committee to put a stop the practice. He also asked that the Board of Health investigate nuisances which he said existed in certain boarding-houses and tenements.

On motion of Mr. Miller, the clerk was instructed to tell Mr. Shepard that the Committee had no power in the liquor-selling matter and to ask him for particulars of the other matter alluded to. Mr. Downer was given power to appoint Clarence Vandeventer a special officer to serve without pay. The meeting was then adjourned till Friday evening, October 19.

—The regular meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held in the Public Library tomorrow morning at 11.

AFTER THE RED MEN.

JUDGE VAN SYCKEL SAYS THEY RAN A LOTTERY.

Asks the Grand Jury to Indict Them—Prosecutor Marsh Rislands the Court.

Elizabeth, Oct. 2.—Judge Van Syckel in Union County Court this morning charged the Grand Jury that a grand chance strawberry festival and gift or raffle enterprise had taken place June 28 and 29 in Plainfield, in which a number of articles had been raffled for.

Among the articles was a commutation ticket to New York. This the Court charged was clearly illegal, just as much so as selling pools at race tracks.

The Court was here interrupted by Prosecutor Marsh, who whispered that North Plainfield was in Somerset County. Judge VanSyckel replied that he supposed his informant knew the county lines, but, however, the Grand Jury should look up the matter in Union County and suppress the evil.

[The fair Judge VanSyckel referred to was that of Paugh-Caugh-Waugh-Sinque Tribe, Red Men, held in Plainfield city.]

INDEPENDENT HALL.

FIFE AND DRUM CORPS CONDUCTS A MERRY FAIR.

Their Feminine Friends Make the Opening Night a Scene of Beauty and Gayety.

Central Hall was christened Independent Hall last evening when the Independent Fife and Drum Corps held their second fair, the first affair in the hall since they leased it. It continues all this week and probably next Monday night.

The red, white and blue decorations were the features of the fair noticed on entering. Their color scheme and arrangement were the admiration of all. From the centre of the ceiling hung a liberty bell of the three colors from which radiated thick ropes of tissue paper which stretched across to the walls. Between them hung Chinese lanterns. On the wall to the right was a large shield with the initials of the Corp inscribed upon it. Numerous small flags hung about the room. They were loaned by Mrs. Emory Robinson and were those which decorated the prize engine of the Central Railroad in the Centennial year.

A dozen members of the Hudson Flute and Drum Corps of Jersey City were present and played several selections. N. H. Guttman's band also rendered a number of tunes. Music for the dancing which the crowd enjoyed in the middle of the room was furnished by Whitney Frazee.

The departments represented at the tables were: grocery, cigar, fancy and dry goods, candy, fancy contributions, cake, lunch and soda water. The groceries were received through V. L. Frazee, who donated a barrel of flour and made every drummer who entered his store for a month previous to the fair give the Corps a present before receiving an order.

Two contests excite much interest. Miss Minnie Kiely and Miss Sadie Taylor are rivals for the ownership of a watch which is displayed in J. Hervey Doane's window. Miss Haberle and Miss Chamberlain are both trying for a handsome ring. Among the articles on sale are a large Axminster rug from the Vandeventer Carpet Mills which was woven by Albert Allen, a member of the Corps. John Bodine of North Plainfield contributed a large birdhouse.

The young women who managed the table and performed other duties connected with the fair were the Misses Gussie Newman, Belle Bowman, Tillie Terry, Jennie Brokaw, Rose Adams, Maggie Shepherd, Mabel Wilson, Minnie Smith, Anna and Sadie Searing, Nettie Kreitling, Belle Newman, Etta Sebring, Etta Thorne and Fannie Spencer, and Mrs. F. L. Manchester, the Misses Force, the Misses Mills and Miss Cortwright. The Committee of the Corps included: Chairman W. C. Force, Secretary H. G. Adams, Treasurer F. C. Carver, D. C. Bodine, L. B. Bodine, F. L. Manchester, F. J. Blatz, Augustus Woolston, John Bolsterle, E. E. Vail, J. H. Adams, J. B. Beekman.

THE CLERGY IN SESSION.

Annual Meeting of the New Brunswick Convocation.

Forty clergymen of the Episcopal convocation of New Brunswick met in annual session in Grace Church this morning. Bishop Johnston of western Texas conducted early Communion at 7:30 and later at 10:30. Rev. H. L. Phillips of Hightstown preached a sermon on church unity.

A short business session was held between 12 and 1. Reports were presented by the treasurer, Rev. Benjamin Smith of Elizabeth and Secretary Lightbipe of Woodbridge. Bishop Johnston made an address. A resolution of sympathy to Bishop Scarborough, who is ill at his home, was passed.

Luncheon was then served in the chapel under the management of Mrs. J. B. Dumont, Mrs. O. T. Waring, Mrs. George VanBoskerck, Mrs. Bowland Cox, Mrs. S. A. Crulkshank, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, Jr., Mrs. Howard Tracy, Mrs. L. G. Timpson and the Misses Waring, VanBoskerck, Reinhart, Holly, Morgan, Betts, Dryden and Depew.

Scotch Plains was defeated Saturday by Rahway, 12 to 7. The winning team was composed of three of the Arlingtons. The rest were from the Elizabeth Athletic Club and the Independents. The features the game were Scotch Plains' timely batting in the seventh inning when they tied the score, only to lose it again in the eighth inning by the catcher's being unable to see the ball because of the sun.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reid of Diamond Hill. Mr. Reid was formerly employed in the paper mill and is well-known in town. His two young sons died within the last few days of diphtheria, and his two daughters are also ill. Dr. Wescott believes that the girls will recover. The survivors are in want, Mr. Reid being unable to work because of blindness brought on by cataracts in his eyes. The affliction has been coming on for a year but did not reach a climax until a few weeks ago. He was stricken with blindness so suddenly that he had to be led home from his work in the mills. The workmen there raised $18 for the family Saturday night.

Dr. Wescott is attending Fred. Burroughs, the son of Milkman James Burroughs of Terrill road, who fell from a wagon and broke an arm Saturday.

Sheriff Kyte, assisted by E. L. Hand, commenced a Sheriff's sale of property in Berkley Heights yesterday afternoon. The land consisted of 20 blocks of about 40 lots each which a man named MacNamee claimed to have a good deed for when he sold lots to the 200 Italians who have settled in the vicinity to work in the brickyard and elsewhere. A mortgage is held by a New Yorker named McCracken, and under this the sale was instituted. The lots brought from $5 to $15. The Italians were all excited, and probably would have made trouble had not their New York counsel explained. One man was rushing wildly around with a shotgun, fearing he would lose his property. The sale will be continued next Monday afternoon.

Still Patching the Wadsworth House.

The Board of Education held their regular October meeting in the Stillman building last evening. The session was a short one, the principal business being the payment of bills.

The Building Committee reported progress in the arranging of the house on the Wadsworth property for an overflow school. Delay in receiving furniture retarded the completion. The supports had not been placed beneath the first floor of the High School building, but this would soon be done.

NEW JERSEY BILLS VETOED.

Among Them That to Abolish the County Courts and the Naturalization Bill.

STATE HOUSE, TRENTON, Oct. 2.—The special feature of interest in connection with the reassembling of the New Jersey Legislature today was the action of the Governor in vetoing a batch of bills which were left on his hands when the Legislature entered upon its long recess last May.

Most important of these bills was that to abolish the county courts as at present constituted and establish in their place elective courts, removing the lay judges from office altogether.

The second of the vetoed bills was the Naturalization Act, which was fought so stubbornly by the Democrats of the House and Senate last winter.

The following cycle races are announced by the Middlesex Athletic Club to take place at South River Oct. 6: Mile novice, mile handicap, mile open, half-mile open, half-mile handicap, 5 mile open, half mile open boys under 16. Secretary J. Hodapp, Spotswood, receives entries.

CHURCH THAT PAYS CASH

STURDY GROWTH OF THE 15 YEARS.

Reviewing the Record, the Preacher Finds Much Cause to Congratulate His People—Memories Revived, and a Legend Brought Up to Date.

The sermon preached by Rev. C. L. Goodrich in the Congregational Church Sunday morning on the occasion of the fifteenth anniversary celebration is herewith published complete:

The years go. All too much is swallowed up in the past. Forgetfulness gathers round like a mist, hiding much that it were well to see—landmarks that the eye should rest on, now and then, to note the way by which we have come, and have the landmarks clear by which to make our further course; sunny places, where the smile of God rested on us; smooth seas over which we sailed in peace; troubled waters and days of storm, in which courage rose with danger, and strength leaped to the emergency; for in the darkness, as in the light, God was.

For a church, as for an individual, it is not well to let the years go unheeded, never to look back. There is no prohibition for us like that to Lot's wife. It is no city of destruction behind us, but years of the goodness of God. The retrospect may tend to make us not pillars of salt, but more truly such "salt of the earth", as was the Master's ideal for the people; and no New Testament word about forgetting the things which are behind ever meant failing to carry in mind the blessings and lessons of the past.

Lot's ancient people in Old Testament times were often gathering together to thank God for mercies past, and setting up memorial stones. In our anniversary today we are but in our way following the example of Samuel, setting up our stone of memorial, and saying "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us"—only, acting in the line of the Psalmist's words, "They shall abundantly utter the memory of Thy goodness".

Fifteen years ago today a company of people who had been members of that which was—but, as far as I have had any glimpses into that previous cloudy region which I never cared to explore, ought not to have been—the First Congregational Church, driven by the stress of earnest conviction, entered into a new organization, accepted the confession and covenant and rules of, not the "First Congregational Church of Plainfield", which had ceased to exist, but of The Congregational Church of Plainfield, which, God grant, shall exist so long as the queenly city of homes dwells on the fair plain, guarded by her rampart of hills; or, indeed, until men grow wise enough and loving enough to sink all denominational differences.

And just as in Paul's time there was only the church at Colosse, the church at Rome, there shall be only the church at Plainfield, and when all the different denominations give up their peculiarities and come together, by whatever name it be called, it will be in the nature of things a Congregational church, you know!

To recall those early meetings will set many thoughts stirring in some minds here; for many of you were of that first company. The one who presided at that meeting I see before me now. If it were not for his modesty I would say that it was Brother Kirkner. The first deacons chosen, the records show, were Dr. Titsworth, J. S. Powlison, A. J. Clarkson, Theo. Mace. The first clerk, E. R. Force. The first trustees, S. C. Roney, J. Kirkner, G. W. Rockfellow.

This company of people went out from their former church home, like Abraham and his household going forth they knew not whither, seeking a country, but believing, like Abraham that God called them, that God's promises were for them; that God had a place for them. For a time they were wanderers and strangers in the land, had no abiding-place. They went down and tarried in Egypt for a while, shall we say; that is, for a year they met in the abandoned Second Baptist Church, what is now Reform Hall; and even when the more hospitable land of the Seventh-Day Baptists received them for two years, they still felt like pilgrims and sojourners, until at last they entered into the beautiful and convenient home of their own, and felt that their wanderings were over and that in their own place they could settle down and worship God in their own way, and do the Lord's work.

It has been interesting to me to read over in the past week the church records of those early days. I had never done it before, and to read between the lines, as I readily could, and make out a fuller history than the brief business-like reports, gave some things I must not fail to recall.

I came at the very outset, in the call of the meeting to organize the church, upon something striking; that is, that the call was for all who were interested to come together and form a new church (I quote the records) "upon a cash basis". I think that is something unique in the history of church organizations. The more common way has been to organize on a trust basis. Far be it from me to say that these organizers were not organizing the church with trust in God, or that any church, however solid were its financial foundation, could ever prosper which was not founded on and built up in trust in God's faith. But too many church people have seemed to feel that faith in God allowed carelessness in the business matters, and have crippled a church's usefulness and burdened following generations, who always have burdens and work enough of their own, by carelessness of financial management and unwisely assumed debts.

I noted, too, that the envelope system of weekly offerings was adopted at the very start. We have never had any other system. It is a foundation principle of the church, the weekly voluntary offering for the support of the church. I was glad to note that. I believe it is the best system. I should be sorry to see anything assail it, any other plan take its place.

I found also in the records of one of the preliminary meetings, the following significant line: "The whole meeting was so enthusiastic over the matter that all volunteered to work as canvassers." There is a secret of whatever of life and progress and good work this church has attained, "Earnest, united, willing effort". I can fancy that early enthusiasm. I can fancy how willingly they worked, what an all-together movement it was, for I knew some of these people. I have been working with them for ten years and more, I have that spirit of union and willingness. I have thanked God for it.

I can build up, too, from the brief records of those early days a story of self sacrifice. I know that men have put their hands down deep into their pockets in those days—not the richer only, but all; not the men only—women's names appear on the list of contributors, and children's, and Sunday-school classes. I know people gave more than they could well afford. They denied themselves, and they gave their time and brains, and worked, the ladies no less than the men. How the ladies worked, how much money they raised, what self-denying and toilsome efforts they put forth, some of you know. I can well imagine it from what I have seen in the years I have been here.

Down at the foundation of this church was laid at the very start the precious stone of sacrifice.

As I read on in the minutes, such indications as were given of the successive additions and steps in the church's progress, I could fancy with what feelings they would be met, such as some of you can recall. I can imagine how cordially new members were welcomed, how thankfully for example if certain Brooklyn accession in the first year was received, that has been like a pillar in the temple ever since. I can imagine the pleasure with which the following letter and its accompanying gift was received:

Plainfield, June 30, 1880.

To the members of the Congregational Church of Plainfield—

Dear Brethren: It gives me great pleasure to present to our church the accompanying Communion service, consisting of one flagon, four cups, and two plates, together with a baptismal bowl. In doing so, I ask its acceptance on this condition, that if the church through any misfortune or from any cause whatever should be dissolved or cease to exist as a Congregational church, this service and bowl be returned to me or my heirs. My wish is to see Congregationalism established in Plainfield, and I make this gift distinctly in furtherance of this desire. Praying that God may abundantly prosper all our efforts for His glory, I am, dear brethren,

Yours truly,
ELIZA POOLER.

Both the generous gift and the strong interest in Congregational principles must have been encouraging. We who were not present then, have had occasion for similar feelings, in the reception of a later gift of table and additional silver from one equally generous and equally strong in her love for the faith of the Pilgrim Fathers.

But I fear I cannot adequately picture the feelings of thankfulness and enthusiasm that pervaded the meeting when, after all felt that they must have a building of their own, (in the year 1865), Bro. Kirkner made his munificent gift of a parsonage and a lot for a church on one of the finest sites in the city. All felt sure then, I am certain, that the future of the church was assured; and with what generosity others made their contributions, and how all went to work, and how even the poorest gave out of their slender means, some of you well recall.

As I went on, it was with peculiar sensations, you may well believe, that I came upon the name of the present pastor in the records. There came rushing upon me the remembrance of a day when a half dozen or more formidable-looking men fell in a body upon a terrified and verdant theological student in the classic halls of Yale, shut him up in a hotel parlor, and pictured New Jersey as the most desirable State in the Union, Plainfield as the most desirable city of New Jersey, the Congregational Church thereof as the place of all others for him to take up his pastoral labors. What could a young man do against such odds! He must needs come and see; and when he had come, some bonds seemed to be upon him; and though the prospect seemed rather dubious, his own fitness to build up a church, all untried, although on looking over the ground, and learning the circumstances, he could not have the sanguine hopes of any such rapid growth as others pictured, yet a constraint was upon him which to him seemed from above, that he could not choose but follow.

Certainly with peculiar sensations I read the minutes of the meeting in which the call was voted. I learned for the first time who it was that made the motion that a call be extended to the present pastor. I know his name. He is responsible! He must look after his man and watch him every Sunday. That man and that formidable attacking committee—I know their names. They are responsible. Let them watch their preacher every Sunday, lest he utter some heresy! Perhaps I should not say the responsibility was wholly theirs, for everyone present voted, and not only voted but spoke in favor of the call. For this, is it too late to thank you?

Step by step the church has gone forward. It was a long step, we thought, when, thanks primarily to our great-hearted friend, Bro. Brower, our sweet-toned organ filled the waiting niche. New pews needed were added from time to time, until all available space was filled. The bare white walls were tinted, the church home made more homelike within, while the ivy grew on the walls without. There were visible signs of progress. The church register records continuous additions to the membership, so that instead of the 90 or 100 members whom the present pastor found here, some 250 are on the roll now. There have been seasons of refreshing, when the Holy Spirit blessed the labors and conversions were apparent. The largest accessions to the church on confession of faith at the same time were ten in June of '82, ten in May of '85, ten in July of '86, and 26 in January of '91. Each year has brought new members, and never a year without some on confession of faith.

Now this is but a scanty recounting of the history of the fifteen years. It is mainly meant to set your memories at work, bringing back former days and zeal and labors and blessings. But fifteen years of a church's life—who can really give its history? It is only the Recording Angel's pen that can write it. Who else can tell the influence of the church in these years? Who can tell the burdens lifted, the peace given in the place of worship? Who can tell of all the changes in lives, of the growth in character? Who can tell from what the tempted have been saved, from what the young have been kept, by the efforts and influences and teachings of the church in fifteen years? And who has eye so keen that it can detect all the outward working results of the Christian work here? Who can so stretch a hand through time to gather the future fruits of the labors of those who have received their Christian nurture and training here? From out of the fields of the blessed above, are those who look back to this little church, hold it still dear to their hearts, and thank God for it, because here their feet were first set in the Heavenly way; and their prayers go up to God continually for us.

Oh! men and brethren, it is a good thing you do when you give and labor and deny self in a church and its work! "Be not weary in well doing, for in due season ye shall reap if ye faint not."

A church is of slow growth. Fifteen years is but its infancy. To plant a church is as it is to plant an oak. It grows slowly, but it is to endure long after you are gone. Generations of men pass, but the oak lives, grows on. Your children and your children's children will come and go, but the Church of God endures, and it is not only as the oak but as the tree of life; its leaves are for the healing of the nation. In truth, it is only as the tree of life is here that the church can live.

So it is not backward only, but forward also, that we must look today. And out of the past rise the landmarks by which we are to guide our future course. That which has proved itself good in the past, let us hold fast to for the future.

These characteristics which I have recalled, let them continue to be characteristic of the church. I have recalled how you started out upon a "cash basis". So far as the business part goes, let us get on to no other. Let all obligations be promptly met; whatever personal economy we have to practise, let the money be forthcoming to meet the church's needs.

Let the voluntary system of weekly offerings for the support of the church continue. It is the best there is provided if it is lived up to. But it forces the responsibility of the church back upon each of you. Are you living up to this voluntary system? Are you, honestly, really giving all that you can for the support of the church? Do you make up for the weeks when you are absent? I have n't consulted with the trustees, but if I should do so I wonder whether I should find that each one had made up for the weeks of the vacation, when not present! It is so much a week for every week of the year; let us not forget. And let us remember that it should come from each spontaneously, without being asked and dunned. I repeat, the responsibility for the support of the church is upon each one. I often hear one and another say, "Why does n't the church do this, or why do n't the trustees do that?" I will tell you you why they do not. It is because we do not put money enough into our weekly offering. We have not yet reached the point where the people voluntarily would put enough into the weekly offering to enable the trustees to do what they would like, what we should all like, by the church. I suggest that this fifteenth anniversary would be a good time for each one to add something to his weekly offering, as a thank offering to God for his past mercies. It is hard times, but that is no reason why we should not make material testimonial of our gratitude to God. And if it can only be at a sacrifice, so much the more to the glory of Christ will it be, and so much the richer your reward. I pray you let the treasurer find in your envelope, beginning next Sunday, an expression of your gratitude which shall continue throughout the year; I shall ask the treasurer whether any have done so.

I come to a second characteristic. I have recalled how generous men and women were in the early day, what sacrifices they made. That sacrifice is a foundation stone upon which the church was built. With sacrifice must every stone of the building be laid. Let us not think that a church can be reared on any more than it can be founded without it. I do not ask you to do what you can afford to do this year. I ask you to do the heroic thing, and do more than you can afford to. I ask you to sacrifice your time, sacrifice your inclinations, often sacrifice selfish ease, and give and labor in this work of the Lord.

I call again to your mind also that clause from the early record. "All the meetings were so enthusiastic that they all volunteered to work". By that spirit of willing service, and of united service, has all been achieved at the start. If we wish to go forward we must have that spirit now. We need it now as truly as then. Sometimes the early days of a movement, the days of struggle and difficulty, are the best days; because then the people rouse themselves, and throw themselves into the work, and meet the difficulties and make the sacrifices which are needed. But in quieter days, when things go more easily, are established, enthusiasm wanes, time and another slackens his efforts.

But, brethren, it should never be so with a church. There must be no slacking of interest or zeal. "All at it, and always at it" must be our motto still. Then shall we repeat the history of Nehemiah. The walls of Zion will rise, the work will prosper, because "the people have a mind to work"; and let the spirit of union live on and increase. "Keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace". Let brotherly love be manifest here. Let all class distinctions vanish here, all pride and prejudice be laid aside. Let every member of this church feel that every other man is a friend. Let everyone who comes in here feel that he is welcome.

But with all our efforts and our best wisdom, we must not forget that it is not by might but by my spirit, saith the Lord, that a church prospers and accomplishes its mission.

An old legend which Dr. Miller relates will bring this truth to us:

In an old city, long ago, some zealous men determined to build a minster for their master. The building was to be reared with great magnificence, and they brought costly wood and marble from distant lands, and employed the best artists to make elegant figures for them. All the Summer long they labored at it, but the towers of that minster never rose, its walls never grew. The people said that what men did in the daytime a band of angels undid at night. The grain was just planted when they began, and when it was waving like gold they came together to talk about it. And they looked deep into their own hearts, and saw that they had been building that the men might see and admire; they had been working for their own glory, not for God alone. Then they set to work again; they thought not of a structure that men might admire, but they thought of the needs of men, of a church where the poor, the lame, the old, the women, the children, the sinner, might come and worship and find the help of God and the comforts and the blessings of love.

And now as they labored a strange workman came and helped them. He was clad in pure white garments, whose brightness dazzled their eyes. Like magic the walls arose, till they grew to be a wondrous pile. As the men wrought day by day, no one heard the sound of strife, for they knew that this strange fellow-workman was Jesus Christ the Lord.

Let us take that lesson deep into our hearts. Let us never forget that unless the Lord builds the house, they labor in vain that build it. And if we want the Lord to be with us, we must think not of self, but have an eye single for His glory; labor not for our own pleasure, nor for praise of men, but to do good unto our fellow men.

LOST IN A HOUSE AFIRE.

ASSISTANT CHIEF JOHN MURRAY WAS ALMOST OVERCOME.

Braving the Dense and Scorching Smoke of a Shut-in Fire, His Life Is Almost Sacrificed.

The fire on Plainfield avenue Sunday night seemed so trivial to the bystanders that it will be a matter of surprise to them to learn that the life of a valued city official was in deadly peril in the building before the flames were quenched.

The fire, confined but burning briskly, generated a volume of smoke that was both dense and intensely hot. The firemen were unable to breathe, and their lights went out, when they attempted to brave this stifling and parching smoke.

Provided with a respirator, however, Second Assistant Chief John W. Murray, Jr., was able to enter. He started in bravely at the work of opening windows so the smoke could escape, but feeling that he was being overcome he attempted to leave. He was on the top floor in the thickest and hottest of the smoke, which was now in a highly explosive condition, and liable to explode at any instant. Meaning to go downstairs, he felt his way about, but got bewildered and wandered into other rooms. Just as he felt he could not possibly struggle any longer, and must succumb to suffocation, he made one wild rush through the hall and luckily stumbled upon the head of the stairway, down which with one final effort he rushed, and reached the fresher air. Had he not found the stairs at that critical moment he must have fallen to the floor in an unconsciousness which would have been fatal before his comrades would take the alarm and search for him.

GOOD SPORT EXPECTED.

Athletes Getting Ready for the Daily Press Medal Events.

The semi-annual field day of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association will be held next Saturday afternoon at the Crescent Oval. There will be no charge for admittance to the grounds or grand stand, and all are invited to witness the games of the High School boys. The list of events, entries and handicaps will be published exclusively in next Thursday's Daily Press, and as there will be no programmes distributed during the games those interested should be sure to secure a copy of The Press of that date.

The silver medal offered by The Daily Press for the all-round championship will also be contested for. Points will count as follows: First in an event, five points; second in an event, three points; third in an event, one point. The contestant scoring the greatest number of points will receive the medal.

SPEEDY SEWER WORK.

CONTRACTORS COOK & CO. ARE PUSHING THE WORK.

As Soon as the Big Shipment of Pipe Arrives There'll Be Some Lively Hustling.

A dozen Plainfield men are now employed on the sewer job. The gang is now as large as Mr. Prout deems necessary at present, as he does not wish to use up all the pipe at hand before the other arrives and thereby be compelled to lay off the men. He finds that many of those recommended by the Relief Association are better fitted for receiving charity than for work in the trenches.

The section of East Ninth street between Park avenue and Third place will be finished tomorrow. The work will be continued across Third place to the end of the line. Many leaks in the gas mains are found in digging the deep trenches through the centre. The remarkable character of Plainfield's subsoil excites the wonder of all strangers and those Plainfielders who have not previously examined excavations in the vicinity.

—The noise made by timid people pounding nails into shutter fastenings is the most noticeable sound in North Plainfield at bedtime.

Marsh moved for dismissal on the ground of a defect in the papers. No affidavit had been filed by the defendant's counsel. The motion was granted and the fine for keeping a gambling house must be paid by Schneiderwind.

In the Plainfield Court, Now.

Lawrence Wallace of Terrill road, who has been connected with the Shay-Adams affairs, was arrested last night by Policeman Frederickson because he was drunk and disorderly on Front street. The city judge this morning fixed a punishment of $5 or 30 days, and Wallace went back to his cell to await the coming of a friend.

Equine Diversion.

N. W. French's horse ran away from the freight-house last evening at 9:30 with a load of empty barrels. The barrels were scattered along the lane and on Park avenue through which the horse ran up to Eighth street. Here a young man who had given chase on a wheel went ahead of the rig, jumped off and stopped the runaway.

THERE is Health in the Wheel.

Firm muscles, good complexion, and cheerful spirits are the result of plenty of out-door exercise and sunshine. Cycling is the popular sport of the day.

The 1894 Columbias are a realization of the ideal in bicycle construction—a triumph of American skill and enterprise. Constantly advancing in the line of progress, Columbias still maintain their proud position as the standard bicycles of the world—unequalled, unapproached.

VICTORY FOR BOWMAN

End of the Long Evangelical Church War.

Decision Handed Down by the Supreme Court Yesterday—About 210 Churches and 460 Preachers Involved—The Legality of the Indianapolis Conference Sustained.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 2.—A victory for the Bowmanites in the long Evangelical church war has been scored by Bishops Esher and Bowman in the supreme court. This decision ousts the Dubs' faction from not only the Reading church, which brought the test case, but from the 210 or more Evangelical churches in eastern Pennsylvania alone. This is a final decision and involves church property worth about $1,000,000 and 460 preachers. The case was argued before the supreme court at Philadelphia, but the decision was made at Pittsburg. These fights have gone on in the lower courts of Pennsylvania for several years, and now all are ended as all involved the legality of the Indianapolis conference. Bishops Bowman and Esher were leagued against Bishop Dubs. The whole question which has caused a split in the Evangelical church all over the United States hinges upon the legality of the Indianapolis conference.

The Evangelical association is a religious society existing in the United States, Canada and part of Europe. It consists of twenty-five annual conferences and a general conference meeting every four years, and is governed by an organic law, entitled the discipline. In 1887 the general conference met in Buffalo, N. Y., and passed a resolution, referring the place of the next meeting to the board of publication of the association. The defendants alleged that this was contrary to a provision in the discipline which provided that the time and place of the general conference should be appointed by the bishops and provisionally by the general conference of the oldest annual conference. The board of publication appointed Indianapolis as the place of meeting, and October 1, 1891, as the time. Meanwhile, Bishop Dubs, one of the dignitaries of the church, was tried for immoral conduct and suspended. As a matter of retaliation the friends of Bishop Dubs commenced proceedings against Bishops Esher and Bowman and they were suspended. Eighteen of the twenty-eight annual conferences forming the society repudiated such suspension, and went over to Bishop Bowman. The Bowmanites held their conference in Indianapolis according to programme. Then their opponents held another conference. Each faction alleged that the conference held by the other was illegal and hence the appointment of preachers made were alleged to be illegal. Each conference appointed preachers for all the churches in the land, making just twice as many preachers as were required. The supreme court decides that the Indianapolis conference was regularly and legally held.

Buried treasures may be very pleasing in fiction, but in real life the treasure most prized is that which is most plainly visible, as for instance Wall Paper, which the genius of the artist has developed to such an extent of late for the adornment of our homes. We keep the best styles and largest stock and our prices cannot be beaten. Come and see us.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

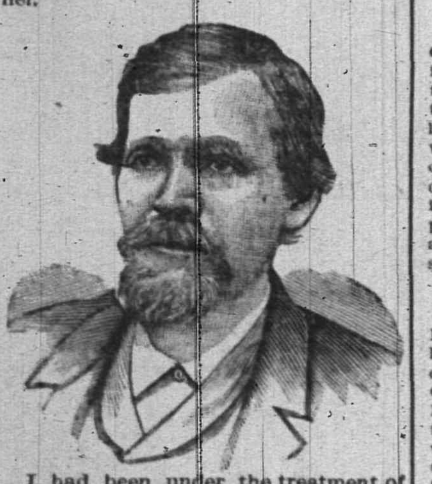
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks' time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

HOW TO CLOTHE CHILDREN.

A PROBLEM THAT MAKES MOTHERS STUDY.

A Minister's Wife Who Dresses Her Family in Excellent Taste—How a Small Income Went a Long Way.

The puckers in many a mother's forehead are deepened as she studies how to dress her boys and girls in a respectable manner on the small amount that is available.

A minister's wife in a small town near this city was confronted by this discouraging situation, but her woman's wit and a few ten cent packages of diamond dyes solved the promblem, and handsome clothes were soon evolved from a pile of odds and ends.

The Home, Housekeeper, Ladies' Home Companion, and other household papers have published many articles telling how to use diamond dyes in making new clothing out of old. Pretty dresses, handsome cloaks, serviceable stockings and gay hat ribbons and feathers are obtained at but little expense, not only for the children, but for the mothers as well.

The ease with which diamond dyes are used is really surprising. They make beautiful colors that never crock and are non-fading. "While there are other package dyes, there are none so easily used, nor such fast colors," says Jean Hunt in a recent number of The Home. "I have tried other dyes but the diamond color the most goods. Their fast stocking black is the only black dye for cotton I have ever found that makes a fast black which never turns gray when washed."

Li's Power Not Waning.

London, Oct. 3.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Cental News telegraphs: "There is no sign in Tien-Tsin that Li Hung Chang's power is waning. His audiences are as well attended as they ever were. He has several thousand well-armed and regularly paid troops who protect visiting Europeans. Much anxiety is felt for foreign residents, as the populace is behaving insolently and becoming unusually threatening. The removal of the treasure and archives from Moukden has made a bad impression, being regarded as a dispay of weakness."

EVANGELICAL CHURCH MATTER

The Dubs' Faction Will Accept Their Defeat as Final.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 3.—When asked whether the Evangelical church case would be taken to the United States supreme court George F. Baer, who was the leading attorney for the Dubs' faction, said: "Oh, no; the decision of the state supreme court will be taken as final."

"How soon will the Esher-Bowman party take possession?" was asked.

"As soon as the defeated party can conveniently get out," was the reply.

It is probable that a general meeting of the Dubs' faction will be held when a plan of action will be decided upon. It is altogether probable that they will unite and erect a new church. Some Esher people fearing that the South Sixth Street church and Sunday school organs and other property might be carried away, as was done in the west, officers have been employed to watch the property. A number of persons signed a paper to stand by the Rev. Sampsel as their pastor and to go with him to another place to worship if necessary and also to recognize Rev. S. S. Chubb as their presiding elder.

Mr. Robert's Condition Serious.

Albany, Oct. 3.—The friends of State Comptroller Roberts, who is still confined to his summer residence at Saratoga, remain alarmed over his condition. Mr. Roberts passed a bad night last night. He was first, for three weeks, confined to his house from nervous prostration. As he was about recovered intermittent malarial fever set in, which was followed by an attack of pleurisy. On Saturday last he suffered a severe attack of neuralgia of the stomach.

CYCLONE IN THE SOUTH

Great Destruction at Little Rock and Many Persons Injured.

Buildings in the City Completely Demolished and Others Damaged—Insane Asylum and Penitentiary in the Path of the Storm—Call for Doctors Received from Both of These Institutions—Reported That Some of the Injured Cannot Recover.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 3.—A terrible cyclone swept over the business portion of this city at 7:30 o'clock last night, carrying death and destruction in its path. Shortly after dark a heavy storm came from the west, accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder. The sky suddenly cleared and the storm was thought to be over when suddenly a heavy gale from the southwest appeared and for three minutes the city was in the throes of death and destruction. The wind was terrific in the extreme. Trees, telegraph, telephone and electric light poles were uprooted and carried a distance of 200 yards. The roofs of about thirty of the largest buildings in the city were torn from the houses and hurled against buildings on the opposite side of the street, leaving the occupants and property within to the mercy of the descending rain which began to fall in torrents shortly afterwards. When the cyclone had ceased, it was discovered that the residence portion of the city had entirely escaped but Main ... Third, Markham street from Centre to Cumberland, and Second from Cumberland was almost total wrecks. The territory covers the principal business portion of the town. The Western Union telegraph office is located in the centre of this district. The building was wrecked beyond recognition. The operators, who were at work at their keys, had narrow escapes. Operator Culbert, in particular, who was at work only twelve feet from the large two story brick building recently vacated by the T. H. Jones company, escaped miraculously from instant death. When the cyclone struck that building it blew it over on the Western Union building. The bricks and timbers came crashing through the latter building, one of the bricks striking Culbert on the hip, inflicted a serious wound. He is at work, however, without a scratch other than above mentioned. None of the other operators were injured.

At 11 o'clock a message was received from the insane asylum, situated two miles from the city, and the State penitentiary, just west of the Union depot, calling for a corps of physicians and other assistance. A number of patients at the asylum are fatally injured and great damage was done to the buildings. Reports from the penitentiary say six convicts were badly injured by falling timbers, two of whom will die.

Mayor Hall, as soon as possible, caled out the entire fire and police departments and sent ten hackloads of physicians and citizens to the insane asylum and penitentiary. Intense excitement prevails and it is utterly impossible to learn the names of the killed and injured. All kinds of exaggerated reports are in circulation. Through the heroic services of Mayor Hall and his efficient chief of police, Frank McMahon, the injured and helpless are receiving the best of attention.

The loss to property alone will amount to at least one million dollars. Almost every building situated in the district was more or less damaged by the wind and water. The damage to the insane asylum will reach $100,000, that at the penitentiary, $60,000, and the Capitol and Richelieu hotels were badly damaged. Every window in both buildings were either broken to pieces or cracked, the business houses on east Markham and Main streets from Markham and Third are damaged to a great extent.

The roofs on a majority of the buildings were torn away and stocks of goods entirely ruined.

The dead and injured, so far as known at this hour, are:

Representative-elect T. C. Monroe, badly cut on the head and body by falling timbers, physicians say he will probably die.

John Easton, an employe at the Martin block, received internal injuries from the effect of which he cannot live over a few hours.

Captain Sam O. Smith, prominent citizen, was in his office writing letters when he heard the noise on the outside. Just as he reached the sidewalk a portion of a brick wall from a falling building on the opposite side of the street struck him on the head and back. Four fingers on his right hand were broken. He will recover, though terribly cut and bruised.

John Edwards, with his baby in his arms was found dead on Second street.

An aged negro couple was found dead in a room of a roofless cabin.

The ill-fated streets are covered with all manner of debris from the wrecked houses. Six electric street car motors are pinioned on the track on Main street with heavy rafters and poles.

Gov. Fishback's quarters in the Martin block are a mass of ruins.

The United Press correspondent visited the ruins at the penitentiary this morning. The office of the main building was torn away and lodged on several frame cottages in the neighborhood, completely demolishing them. A stampede took place among the convicts, but the superintendent and his assistants soon succeeded in quieting them down. Fortunately only about ... convicts were inside the walls. The other 450 were taken to Sunnyside plantation some days ago. At the insane asylum were found the greatest wreck. The roofs of the main buildings were completely demolished and several wards caved in completely, destroying everything in sight. The male ward is a total wreck. Several insane patients made their escape, but were recaptured. It is not known how many inmates were killed and injured. Many are supposed to be buried in the ruins. Dr. Ingate was killed.

BALTIMORE WENT WILD

Pennant Winners Given a Grand Welcome Home.

Governor and City Officials Take Part in the Demonstration—Rooters in Line, Fireworks and Banquet Constituted the Programme—Sad Accident Mars the Proceedings.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 3.—The reception which the Baltimore Baseball club, champions of the United States, received on its return home surpassed anything of the kind ever attempted in this city. And not alone to the city of Baltimore was the enthusiasm confined, but adjoining cities and states were largely represented in the enormous throng. The trip from early morning, when the train entered the domain of Maryland, until it arrived at Camden station, was one triumphal march. It closed in a blaze of glory. At Cumberland thousands greeted the pennant winners and cheered them to the echo. At Martinsburg, Harper's Ferry and Washington the scenes of enthusiasm were repeated. At the capital a committee from Baltimore took charge of the champions and escorted them to this city. As the special train rolled into Camden station hundreds of track torpedoes were exploded and thousands of throats emitted yells of welcome. It is safe to say that half of the population of Baltimore was crowded as close to the station as they could well get. Those who could not get within sight of the station exit, were scattered along the line of march.

The players and the committee of three hundred representing the largest business interests of the city, took carriages and led a procession of enthusiasts and "rooters" through the business districts of the city, ending at the Fifth Regiment armory. The line was divided into eight divisions with floats and decorated wagons distributed throughout. Fireworks were discharged from an enormous platform wagon in advance of the procession. Mounted police and a band of music preceded the marshal and his aides, mounted on horseback. In the rear of the committee of three hundred came the main group in the show—Manager Hanlon and the champion baseball club of the United States. The remaining divisions were composed of patriotic "rooters." Along the route of the parade the houses were gorgeously decorated and illuminated. A terrible jam of humanity was on the streets from start to finish.

When the armory was reached there was another special discharge of fireworks. Inside of the building the committee on comfort received the club and lined them up for the great handshaking ordeal. Governor Brown, Mayor Latrobe and other state and city officials were on the platform and made appropriate addresses. Thousands who were anxious to shake hands with the men who won the pennant for Baltimore pressed through the doors. The reception lasted for nearly two hours. The club and its officers were then escorted to the hotel Rennert, where a banquet was given beginning at 10 o'clock.

Among the three hundred guests were the governor, the mayor, several judges, many clergymen and other men prominent in commercial and financial circles. The floral decorations were very beautiful, among the special pieces being an enormous ball and bat. The menu card was elaborate and original. The frontispiece was in gold and black and represented a picture of a ball field and grand stand. The picture was surmounted by a fluttering pennant. Beneath the picture were the words:

"Complimentary dinner tendered to the Baltimore Baseball club by citizens of Baltimore, Oct. 2, 1894."

The first page represented King Oriole. The bird has Manager Hanlon's head, and is placing the championship baseball in the oriole's nest. Through an opening near the bottom of the nest, amid the heap of balls won by the Baltimores, can be seen those lost by Boston, New York and the nine other clubs. On the following pages is the menu, surrounded by portraits of all the members of the Baltimore team, after which come the names of the subscribers to the banquet and finally the set toasts. The toasts were as follows:

"Our Orioles," by William Shepard Bryan, jr.; "Baltimore City," William H. Love, secretary to Mayor Latrobe; "National League of Professional Baseball Clubs," P. J. Campbell; "The Rooters," Thomas R. Clendenin.

A distressingly sad accident occurred during the demonstration that cast a pall of gloom over the multitude of enthusiastists. A large eight-horse bus, loaded with "rooters" was descending a steep decline at Lexington and Howard streets when the brake became dislodged. The horses became unmanageable and swerved to the sidewalk, where hundreds were assembled watching the parade. Eleven persons were trampled by the frightened animals, one of whom was seriously if not fatally injured. Miss Florence Ingle, 18 years old, was crushed about the chest and limbs, and was unconscious at a late hour. Henry Kruchhan, aged 15, had both arms broken. The injuries to the other unfortunates were not so serious.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Since July last, when the coinage of standard silver dollars was resumed, up to Oct. 1, $1,-343,651 of standard silver dollars have been minted and the silver seigniorage accruing from the coinage, amounting to $595,000, has been paid into the treasurer's cash.

COLORED ODD FELLOWS.

Opening of Their Grand United Order Convention at Boston.

Boston, Oct. 3.—Not for a long time have the colored people of Boston been so generally interested in a public convention as they are in the forty-first general meeting of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows in America, which has opened its five-days' session in Faneuil hall. The cradle of liberty was filled with interested delegates when Most Worshipful Grand Master William M. T. Forrester, of Richmond, Va., called the gathering to order. It is twelve years since the national body has met in Boston. There are delegates present from every state in the union with the exception of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, where there are very few colored people. Andrew B. Lattimore, chairman of the general committee of arrangements, made a speech of welcome. He spoke eloquently of Boston's part in the elevation of the colored race, of Faneuil hall's memories, and of the lives of Crispus Attucks, Garrison, Sumner, Phillips and Louis Hayden. Mr. Lattimore closed by introducing Gov. Greenhalge, who expressed sincere pleasure in extending the welcome of the commonwealth to the convention, and said that there was a profound appropriateness in holding the session in old Faneuil hall, where the portraits of such men as Lincoln, Sumner, Phillips and Andrew looked down upon the gathering. "Is their work a failure?" asked his excellency, and when he continued, "It depends on you to say," there was a thunder of applause and cheers which lasted for several seconds. "You are banded together," continued the speaker, "in the interests of good fellowship, uprightness and honor, and in such matters there is no color line; all men are equal." The remainder of the governor's remarks were in the nature of a plea for the recognition of good citizenship and manliness in the human race without distinction as to color.

Most Worshipful Grand Master Forrester made a fitting reply to the governor's speech, after which his excellency took his departure amidst renewed cheering.

On motion of Brother S. D. Gibson, of Philadelphia, a vote of thanks to the governor was carried with enthusiasm.

STUBBORN DEADLOCK BROKEN.

Leonard Nominated at Williamsport for Congress on the 573d Ballot.

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 3.—The longest, hottest and most stubborn republican congressional deadlock that the Sixteenth district ever knew came to an end when Frederick C. Leonard, Potter county, received the unanimous vote of the conference and was declared the nominee. There were 573 ballots taken during the month that the conference was off and on in session. During all that time, with the exception of the last session, Tioga and Lycoming voted for Horace B. Packer, and Potter and Clinton for W. L. Lewis and Congressman Hopkins. The latter was the first to withdraw, followed by the other two and the names of Leonard and David Cameron were then presented, resulting in the nomination of the Potter county man.

Defeated Candidate Paralyzed.

Norwich, Conn., Oct. 3.—William Caruthers, the republican candidate for town clerk, who was the only republican defeated on Monday, had a shock of poralysis while at the table yesterday, and has since been but partially conscious. He was a brave soldier in the war of the rebellion; was for several years postmaster, and once elected town clerk by the republicans. He has been a constant sufferer from wounds and over-exerted himself for the success of the republican ticket.

SUNK OFF BARNEGAT

The Maverick Runs Down the Etta Lister.

The Crew's Narrow Escape—Two of Them Climbed Aboard the Colliding Boat—The Schooner Sank Almost Immediately After Being Struck by the Steamer's Prow.

New York, Oct. 3.—The oil tank steamer, Captain Rubelli, of Baltimore, bound from Philadelphia for Portland, Me., with oil, came into port here damaged about her bow from being in collision with a schooner which she sank off Barnegat, and bringing the captain and crew of the ill-fated craft. The schooner was the Etta H. Lister, three master, laden with salt and cotton bagging, from New York bound for Wilmington, N. C.

Captain Mason tells this story of the accident: When approaching Barnegat, at 6 o'clock on Monday evening, Lookout Johnson noticed the steamer to the south towing a steel barge. The steamer was some distance away and the schooner was held to her course. About 7:15 o'clock, there being at the time a heavy ground swell and a brisk wind, the lookout noticed that the steamer was bearing directly down upon them. He ran aft and told the mate, Frank Sharp. The man at the wheel was ordered to put the helm hard up, so as to sheer off. The schooner's nose swung off to the east, but it was too late. The high prow of the steamer, surging through the water, was upon them. She struck the schooner on the starboard side at about the mizzen rigging. Captain Mason had run forward to warn the steamer off, but his cry was not heard. It was a glancing blow that cut into the side planking of the schooner and ripped out her entire starboard quarter. All hands on the schooner rushed forward to escape flying timbers, except the cook, John Hall, and one seaman, who clambered into the main starboard rigging. These two jumped on to the deck of the steamer as she dragged the schooner back.

Captain Mason was suprised a moment later to hear his name yelled from the deck of the strange steamer, he having failed to observe the hasty escape of the cook, who was now shouting to him. As the vessels became separated all hands jumped into the boat and swung it off the davits at the stern. The steamer came to a standstill as soon as her momentum was overcome by the reversed engines, and the schooner's boat coming alongside, all hands were taken aboard. The schooner sank before her crew reached the steamer.

The captain rushed into the cabin before he left the sinking ship and secured his vest, which contained all his money and his watch. The mate went into the cabin also to get his belongings, but only succeeded in getting his oilskin coat and a pair of boots. No one else saved anything.

The Maverick stopped at this port to be surveyed. It is understood that she will proceed to her destination at once. The barge she had in tow carried 15,000 barrels of oil in bulk. The Lister was valued at $13,000. The captain of the steamer says he did not see the schooner's lights.

MR. WILSON'S CAMPAIGN.

Big Effort To Defeat the Author of the New Tariff Law.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The election in the Second West Virginia district, in which Mr. Wilson is the candidate, is attracting a great deal of attention at the headquarters of the democratic campaign committee. Mr. Faulkner, chairman of the committee, said to-day that Mr. Wilson would at once plunge into the work of the campaign immediately upon his arrival and that when he reached his district he would find things well advanced and the interest growing day by day. Mr. Faulkner admits that a very strong fight is being put up against the chairman of the ways and means committee, but he says there can be no doubt as to the success of the author of the new tariff law. The republicans are making a big effort to throw the mining vote to the republican candidate, the argument made against Mr. Wilson being that if he should be elected he will make another effort to place coal on the free list.

Encouraging reports were said by Mr. Faulkner to have been received today from Mr. Enloe's district (the Eighth Tennessee), against whom a most determined and vigorous fight is being waged. Mr. Faulkner predicts the return of Mr. Enloe, although his majority, he thought, might be cut down.

McKinley in the West.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 3.—Governor McKinley's reception in Kansas City was in the nature of a continuous ovation. From the hour of his arrival at the Union depot until he retired after witnessing the priests of Pallas parade that marked the inauguration of carnival week, his every appearance in public was the signal for enthusiastic demonstrations. While at the hotel his rooms were besieged by representative persons from all over the state as well as from Kansas. In the afternoon he spoke to three immense meetings. He goes from here to Topeka and Hutchinson.

Special Rate for Baseball Rooters.

New York, Oct. 3.—The general passenger agents of the trunk lines have authorized a special rate of one fare for the round trip for the New York Baseball club and their friends on the occasion of the games beginning Thursday in the Temple cup series, between the New Yorks and the Baltimores. A single fare for the round trip within the trunk lines' territory has also been granted to voters in Washington.

Boston, 6; Pottsville, 5.

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 3.—The Pottsville team gave the Bostons quite a scare. With the score five to two in favor of Pottsville, on the last inning it looked like a sure thing. But a home run by Duffy and two base hits by Long, after a chance had been given to retire the side, did the business. It was one of the most exciting games ever seen on the home grounds. Score: Boston, 6; Pottsville, 5.

Congressman Dunn in The Daily Press today says much of interest and information concerning the times. He traces results back to causes, and shows that the causes for business depression were fostered by the Republican party, and that the Democracy has steadily progressed towards alleviation of the evils.

Judge Van Syckel seems to have had both the Red Men and St. Joseph's Church in mind when he charged the Grand Jury yesterday against fair lotteries. He read from The Daily Press extracts telling of the awarding of prizes "by chance" at both the Plainfield and North Plainfield bazars.

CHURCH FESTIVITY.

Congregationalists Have a Social Celebration.

MR. MORGAN PROVES A POET.

The Church's First Pastor Presents His Congratulations in Person—Toasts, Songs and Feasting Make a Joyful Anniversary.

The social celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the Congregational Church was held in the church last evening, and was attended by a merry gathering that filled the church and parlors to overflowing.

The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with flowers and foliage plants; and the parlors, in which were placed the refreshment tables, were trimmed in red, the flowers and other decorations being of that color. The tables presented a beautiful picture, lighted by candelabra and lamps shaded with red, which threw a rich glow upon the china and silver artisticly arranged. Roses and carnations emphasized the prevailing color.

Owing to the forced absence of Rev. C. L. Goodrich, who was confined to his room suffering from ivy poisoning, the position of toastmaster was filled by Mr. Goodrich's brother, Rev. Lincoln B. Goodrich of Bound Brook. The pastor's absence was a great disappointment to all, as he had arranged the programme and had been working his hardest to make it a success. But his brother was a satisfactory substitute.

The evening's entertainment commenced with a piano solo by Miss Nellie Winckler, and then the toastmaster introduced himself and after a few remarks read letters to the church by E P. Curtis and J. R. France, two of the original workers in the church, who, though unable to be present in person, were certainly there in thought, and sent their heartiest geetings to their comrades.

A poem written for the occasion was read by its author, Mr. Morgan. At its conclusion he read another poem treating more especially of the church and its congregation, and it was very enthusiastically received by his hearers, as he made reference to several of the important people of the church. Rev. Wm. Manchee, former pastor of the church, followed the poet with a short address. He congratulated the church on its success and spoke of the times when they had worked together in God's service, of the hard times, and of the joyful times. Mr. Manchee is now residing at Guttenberg where he is forming a church close to the race-track to fight the gamblers on their own ground.

A violin solo, Largo by Handel, was very finely rendered by Miss Nella Whiton, with Miss Mary Whiton as accompanist.

Toastmaster Goodrich then introduced Mrs. Miller as "our youngest member", and announced her subject "The Young People". Mrs. Miller declared that Mr. Goodrich had mistaken eighty years for eight years and two months, but said that although old in years she was young in heart. After her short talk, full of sound advice to all, Rev. C. H. Patton of Westfield answered his toast, "The Church from Without", and after touching on several subjects said that the Congregational churches of Westfield and Plainfield should a have a closer companionship, should see more of one another, become better acquainted.

Rev. M. E. Dwight answered his toast, "Congregational Omnivorousness", with a characteristic speech full of bright sayings and witticisms that completely brought down the house. A vocal solo by Elmer Runyon, with an encore, followed, and E. L. Suffern concluded the toasts with that famous one "The Ladies".

After the speechmaking was over the audience remained seated while Mrs. Louis Van Alstyne, Miss Mary E Robinson, and Miss Adeline Parsons, assisted by Miss Elsie Suffern, Miss Elfreda V. Whiting, Miss Edna Howell, Miss Minnie G. Morse, Miss Clara Force, Miss Nellie Rockfellow, Miss Julia Belknap, Miss Nellie Winkler, Miss Margaret Winkler, Miss Clara Shepherd, and Miss Capitola Conover as waitresses, served oysters, ice cream, cake, tea and coffee to all the guests.

The success of the festival was due in a great measure to the women of the Aid Society.

Favorites Tomorrow Night.

"The Dazzler" will appear in Music Hall tomorrow night, presented by Cosgrove & Grant's comedians. The play has been entirely rewritten, with a bright story tersely and humorously told, and with a neat plot and some very clever situations. A glance at the names, including Florrie West, Charley Wayne, Luella Wagner, Mason and Rolston, the Dewitt Sisters, Billie West, Grace Rutter, and a dozen pretty girls, shows that the company is made up of some of the brightest people.

Let There Be Light.

Two more North Avenue merchants have heeded the warning of The Press. One has started to keep a lamp burning in his store at night, and the second has replaced a tiny toy light with a big bright one. There are other storekeepers who must follow their example before the police have a fair opportunity to guard their merchandise.

CAPTURED THE TOWN.

PLAINFIELD'S GENTLE CYCLERS HAVE A GREAT DAY.

New Brunswick Feasts Its Eyes on Their Beauty, and Is Astonished at Their Prowess.

Seventeen of the Plainfield Lady Cyclers went on a run to New Brunswick yesterday. They were entertained by Mrs. Hugh Boyd, wife of the proprietor of The Home News, and spent the afternoon seeing the sights at Rutgers College.

The start was made at 8:30 from the home of the captain, Miss Fritts, on Park avenue. New Brunswick was reached at 10:30. The club assembled before a soda-water fountain and were met by Arthur Boyd, City Editor of The Home News, who escorted the members to his home on Livingston avenue.

Here the cyclers arrived just in time to see the firemen's parade pass. Then the tennis players of the club went to the courts and defeated a band of New Brunswick girls. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Boyd, and at 2:30 the party went to the college.

Prof. E. W. McGann met them and took them through all the different buildings, showing them the principal halls, the museum and the gymnasium. In the building of one of the Greek letter societies a number of students joined the visitors in a dance. The afternoon passed away so pleasantly that the party remained late and some did not reach home till after dusk.

The cyclers who went were: Mrs. David W. Pond, president; Miss Fritts, captain; Miss Mary French, first lieutenant; Miss Arleen Crane and Miss Langdon, sergeants; and Mrs. Colles Pond, Mrs. Fred S. Green, Miss Ethel Green, Miss Mary Fritts, Mrs. W. S. Lowrie, Miss Eleanor T. Morrison, Miss Maud Saltzman, Miss Anna Nevin, Mrs. E. P. Williams, Miss Luella French, Miss Jessie Utter and Miss Marguerite Yerkes. The New Brunswick people expressed great admiration for their fine appearance, their neat costumes and erect carriage.

A Make-Believe Horse Theft.

John E. Townsend of Prospect place attended the social anniversary celebration in the Congregational Church last night with Mrs. Townsend, Miss Squires and Miss Stowe.

About 10 Mr. Townsend went out to the church sheds and found that someone had taken his bay mare and sidebar buggy which he had left tied there. He walked down town and notified the police.

A search had been made about Mr. Townsend's stables and residence to make sure that the horse had not broken loose and strayed home.

Chief Grant, who had been summoned from his home, then gave a description of the rig to the police departments of all the neighboring cities by telephone from The Daily Press office.

He went again with Mr. Townsend to the church to see if anything had been heard of the stolen outfit. They found the horse and carriage in the shed, the animal's condition showing that someone had taken a drive at a fast pace.

Mr. Townsend is very grateful to Chief Grant for his prompt action in the matter and feels that had his horse and carriage been stolen in earnest they would have been recovered before getting many miles away.

The "joke" was a mean one, not only annoying the church-attending party but causing unnecessary trouble to the police from Somerville's small force to the four precincts of Newark.

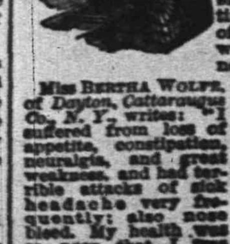
THE SCHOOL BOY



—is often a sufferer from headache. The seat of sick headache is not in the brain, for if you regulate the stomach and bowels you'll cure it. Too much brain-work and brain-tire brings on a rush of blood to the head with headache, dizziness or "nose-bleed."

Miss BERTHA WOLFE, of Dayton, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., writes: "I suffered from loss of appetite, constipation, neuralgia, and great weakness, and had terrible attacks of sick headache very frequently; also nose bleed. My health was so poor that I was not able to go to school for two years. I took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and in a short time I was strong and well. Many friends are taking your medicines, seeing what they have done for me."

REPUBLICANS WHOLLY TO BLAME.

How Mr. Cleveland and Other Representative Democrats Kept Faith with the People—Light Let in on the Figures that Were Juggled to Deceive—Injurious Influences of Harrison's Administration that Precipitated the Business Depression.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—"Democratic times! Democratic times!" The above is the cry of the protectionist and his tools all over the country. The subsidized journals of the protectionists and trust-mongers, ring the changes upon this cry with a view to impress "Democratic times" as the cause of the business depression upon the minds of the American people, and especially upon the minds of the unemployed workingmen of the country. It is "Democratic times", morning, noon and night, and later into the night with them, because the protectionists are ever on the alert to discredit Democrats, in the interest of the Republican party, which has become their willing amanuensis, registering their will in the laws of the land, and enabling them to wax fat upon the robbery of their fellow-citizens through the taxing power of the government.

They are aware that the Democratic party will not permit this thing to go on, if it can prevent it, and none is more earnest than those who believe with Mr. Cleveland and share in his policy.

It is certain that those people who have been "coralling" the wealth of the country, and are, therefore, well equipped with financial means, and with the Republican party as their willing tool, will lose no opportunity to strike at the party of the people; and to charge it with all sorts of shortcomings, on the principle of the thief, who in order to distract the minds of his pursuers, by running and crying "stop thief", will point at some innocent person in the distance. I am sorry to say that the unlearned and the unthinking, or those who do not take the trouble to think, are often misled by this cry of "Democratic times", as the honest people in pursuit of the thief are diverted from the true object of pursuit by the cry of the thief himself.

The voters of the country elected Mr. Cleveland by the largest majority ever before given to any man for President. He was elected, and a Congress with him, charged by the American people with a certain duty, representing a policy of retrenchment in expenditures and reform of the tariff. He and this Congress of his party did all in their power to carry out that policy, and to perform that duty. The action of a few Senators who entertained ideas different from Mr. Cleveland, as well as from the vast majority of the party which the people entrusted with power, cramped and in a measure dwarfed the result sought for. Unfortunately, the votes of those Senators were necessary to carry out the full measure of the reforms contemplated, especially in the reduction of the burdens on labor through tariff reform.

The lower House of Congress discussed and passed in about thirty days a proper measure of reform, which would have been endorsed by Mr. Cleveland, had it passed the Senate. That body took nearly five months in discussion, and filibustering by the Republican Senators, behind whom the protectionists, who had been furnishing their party with campaign funds, were entrenched. The body had no rules, and could not enforce cloture so as to bring the measure to a vote, nor could a vote be had, unless compromise was made with special private interests favored by all the Republicans and some few Democratic Senators. The consequence was that the bill was changed in many of its features and the country was obliged to take less than was expected.

The result, however, cannot be fairly charged to the Democrats, but rather to the private interests of a few Democrats, and all the Republicans, every one in the Senate, who were swayed by the trusts, and sought party advantage rather than the good of the country and desired the defeat of any measure of reform whatever.

Had patriotism ruled instead of the desire to aggrandize a class, the bill should have passed the Senate by the middle of March and the business interest of the country would, by this time, have been, as it will certainly be in the near future, in a most prosperous condition.

The measure as it passed is not all that could have been desired; indeed no measure of the kind has ever filled the expectations of its advocates, first, because of the conflict of private interests affected, and second, because of the natural differences existing in the minds of different men upon subjects of legislation.

Those causes often compel the honest and most earnest legislator, to make a selection between measures, neither of which meets his approval, in order to get the best measure of relief attainable, and in no legislation is this more forcibly exhibited than in that which imposes taxes upon imports.

The measure that was passed is a much better bill, (bad as are some of the features—the sugar trust interest especially—engrafted upon it by the protectionist interest in the Senate) than the Mills Bill, with which the country would have been well satisfied at the time of its agitation.

The results of the law will be wonderful nevertheless; the trust evil can be remedied later on and the country will in a short time forget the delay which was one of the worst features of the debates in the Senate, and for which the Republican Senators and their plutocratic backers are mainly responsible.

Mr. McKinley, in a late speech, "The Keynote", in Maine, rung the changes on "Democratic times", and sneered at the promises of Mr. Cleveland, the chosen head of the country, because he was not able to carry out to the full extent the reforms for which he was elected. If Mr. Cleveland and his party were not able in one year to undo the legislative crimes of thirty, it has been mainly because Mr. McKinley and his party created, aggrandized and enriched through the taxing power of the government, the trusts which became powerful enough through corruption—for private gain—to menace and in a measure to delay and defy the enactment of legislation that would restore to the people the rights which by little and by little the protectionists and trusts have wrested from them. But the monsters have been crippled, by the tariff legislation already enacted, and will in a short time, before the awakened sense and determination of the American people, disappear forever. Their boasts that "legislation could not be enacted" which would be just to the people, "unless their interests were conserved", is a challenge that will finally result in their disintegration. The people now understand why delay entered into the counsels of the Republican Senate as a party policy. They cared not how much the country suffered for want of the desired legislation, so that they could gain partisan advantage and so protect the pets from whom they fried the fat with which to organize "blocks of five".

I am amazed when I think that so many of the American people, who are perfectly honest, still adhere to such a party. Oh! not to the old party. The Republican party exists no more as a party. Its members cling to the memory of a once great party, controlled by well defined principles, but the name and power have been stolen from them, by a little ring of plutocrats, to forward their own schemes of aggrandizement, by the robbery of the rest of the people under the cover of law. Ever since they got control of the Republican party, now nearly thirty years ago, they have been promising better times and a more prosperous country, as a consequence of protection. Where is the fulfillment? It is a wonder to me that honest Republicans will continue to be deceived.

The people in the great commercial and financial centres of the country endorsed Mr. Cleveland in such a decisive manner as to demonstrate, beyond controversy, the supreme confidence they had in the wisdom of the policies he represented. Even if this had not been the case, if the Democratic party had not succeeded to power under the leadership of an untried captain, and the great business interests of the country had harbored forebodings as to the future, does anyone believe that a collapse from a sound, stable and healthy prosperity could for that reason have come upon the country so suddenly, and with such terrible force. Oh, no! Common-sense will not admit it, and Republican falsehood about "Democratic times" will not be believed by anyone who thinks for himself, in the presence of the facts.

The disaster which so soon followed upon the advent to power of the Democratic administration, was the direct result of the preceding four years of McKinleyism, Republican rule and extravagance, and it can be demonstrated as clearly as any fact in govermental affairs can be established, and I intend to give further and undisputable proof of that fact.

Now, follow the tables below very carefully, and you will, I think, be satisfied that we suffered from Republican instead of from "Democratic times".

By a comparison of the receipts and expenditures of Mr. Harrison's with Mr. Cleveland's first term, you will see many striking contrasts, which tell the entire story, and prove beyond doubt that we have been suffering from Republican "times":

Comparison of receipts and expenditures, exclusive of postal, for four years beginning June 30, 1885, and ending June 30, 1893.

CLEVELAND'S.

Years.	Receipts.	Expenditures.	Surplus
1886......	$336,439,727	$242,483,138	$93,956,589
1887......	371,403,277	315,835,428	55,567,849
1888	379,266,074	259,653,958	119,612,116
Total..	$1,474,159,132	$1,099,969,139	$374,189,997

HARRISON'S.

Years.	Receipts.	Expenditures.	Surplus
1890......	$403,080,982	$297,736,484	$105,344,498
1891......	392,612,448	355,372,685	37,239,763
1892	354,937,785	345,023,331	9,914,454

It will be seen from the foregoing table that for the four years of Mr. Cleveland's administration, the total receipts were $62,291,711 less; and the total expenditures $281,641,258 less, while the surplus was $219,349,548 more than during Mr. Harrison's. Still more important facts may be noted by a further examination. The revenues increased every year during Mr Cleveland's term, beginning with $336,439,723 in 1886, and ending with $387,050,058 in 1889, while the reverse with the exception of a single year, is true of Mr. Harrison's. During the latter's term the revenue fell from $403,080,982 in 1890, a difference of $49,000,000, to $354,937,785 in 1892, and $385,819,626, in 1893, and the surplus revenues which Mr. Cleveland left from $105,344,496 in 1890, to $2,344,674, the last year of his term. And had Mr. Harrison been re-elected, and the same policy pursued, the country would have suffered immeasurably more than it did, bad as that was.

It is an unquestioned fact that an increase in the revenues of the government is the highest evidence of the prosperity of its people, while a diminution of the same is a sure indication of depression, and the signal always for a financial storm.

A table of the imports and exports of gold coin and bullion during the respective terms is equally significant, and again tells the story of Republican instead of Democratic times, and proves that it was the Republicans and not the Democrats who were responsible for the condition of the country:

Statement of the imports and exports of gold coin and bullion by fiscal years from March 1, 1885, to March 1, 1889, and from March 1, 1889, to March 1, 1893, and from March 1, 1893, to June 30, 1894.

Fiscal Years.	Imports.	Exports.

1893, March to June....	$19,120,661	[illegible]
1893-4........................	72,453,066	[illegible]

Mint Bureau, July 19, 1894.

It will be seen from the foregoing table that the net imports of gold during Mr. Cleveland's administration was $[illegible]537. Only during two of the years of his term did the exports exceed the imports, and then not to the extent of the domestic production. During Mr. Harrison's administration there was not a single year that the exports did not exceed the imports; the total reaching the sum of $157,989,803. Stop here and think about "Democratic times". During the last three months, December, January and February, of the latter's term, the net exports were over $36,0000,00, being at the rate of more than $12,000,000 a month, or $140,000,000 a year; while during the first four months of Mr. Cleveland's present term it was a little over $32,000,000 and during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, only $4,534,663. To the intelligent mind these figures speak volumes. The whole administration of Mr. Harrison, (with the exception of the first year, which was in some respects prosperous, as a result of the great impetus given to it by the four preceding years of the sound financial economical administration of Mr. Cleveland,) was that of falling revenues, increasing expenditures, and a heavy flow of gold from the country. Any of these causes was calculated to excite apprehension, but the three combined were sufficient to and did destroy private confidence as well as the credit of the government, so far, at least, as its power of redemption of the debased silver currency was concerned. At all events sufficient to cause financial alarm.

The sound financial condition of the Treasury at the time Mr. Cleveland delivered his great trust to Mr. Harrison, enabled the latter to glide smoothly through the first year of his administration, but when he returned it to the hands whence he received it, there was nothing but an impaired credit and an empty Treasury, with the conditions of distrust referred to above spreading itself as a pall over the land.

Is it not, therefore, apparent that the great depression of last year was born, gathered its strength and started upon its course of devastation and ruin during the Republican administration, and gained such a velocity that Mr. Carlisle was unable, at once, to stay its progress. Indeed, it is a wonder of financiering that he has done so well. Is it not, therefore, the basest mendacity for the Republicans to charge the business depression to "Democratic times"?

FALSE STATEMENT OF ACCOUNT.

At the very beginning of Mr. Harrison's administration a feeling of unrest and insecurity began to show itself in financial centres and continued, with slight intervals, to the end of his term. During the year 1890 the financial stringency became so great that Secretary Windom was compelled to purchase Government bonds to the amount of $73,694,850 for which he paid premiums amounting to $21,222,8[illegible] out of the public treasury. Just think of this sacrifice to ward off the impending crisis. During the last months of Mr. Harrison's administration all sorts of rumors were in circulation. The report was current that an issue of bonds had been contracted for by Secretary Foster in order to protect the gold reserve in the treasury, and, but for the assistance of New York bankers, such a transaction would certainly have been necessary. He had, in fact, given orders for the preparation of the plates with which the bonds were to be printed.

It was only by a change in the forms of the statements and a juggling with the funds that Secretary Foster was able to show an apparent balance at the end of his term. Under the provisions of an act passed by the last Republican Congress then in power, the fund in the treasury for redemption of the national bank notes was made an asset instead of a liability, an act hitherto unheard of. The surplus of the treasury was in this way inflated by the transfer of $54,207,975 from one side of the ledger to another. Not a single cent was by this change added to the assets nor a single penny taken from the liabilities of the Government, yet there was by this means an apparent increase of the surplus of more than fifty millions of dollars. There could be no other purpose in this jugglery with figures than to deceive the people.

The subsidiary silver coin, being a legal tender for sums not exceeding five dollars, had been considered, prior to Mr. Harrison's administration, as unavailable for the payment of the obligations of the Government, and, therefore, had never before been counted as a available asset. This was likewise transferred from the column of unavailable to that of the available assets, and the surplus was again augmented without the addition of a single farthing. Had this system of stating the accounts been in use at the end of Mr. Cleveland's administration, the surplus in the Treasury, including the reserve, would have been $183,827,190 instead of $148,896,158. Whatever, therefore, of these two funds were on hand at the end of Mr. Harrison's administration would have been deducted from the surplus as stated in order to have arrived at the true balance. The amount of the National Bank Redemption Fund on hand March 1 1893, was $22,272,061, and of fractional silver, $10,971,875, the aggregate of the two being $33,243,936. Deducting these sums from the balances stated March 1, 1893, to wit: $24,128,087, and there was a real deficiency of $9,115,819; another and an indisputable proof that it was Republican maladministration and Republican extravagance that was responsible for the depression of business.

This was the condition when Secretary Carilsle took charge. The surplus had been squandered; our gold was being transported to Europe at the rate of $12,000,000 a month; the expenditures had been increased more than $60,000,000 a year, while the revenues had fallen off $18,000,000, and yet he was expected, and Republicans affected to be surprised, that, he was not, able to at once fully restore public confidence and give prosperity and financial stability to every industry and enterprise throughout the country.

INJURIOUS INFLUENCES.

What, the question may be asked, brought about this collapse during Mr. Harrison's administration? No one will dispute the fact that the financial disturbances in South America, which resulted in the failure of the great banking firm of Baring Brothers, had a depressing influence upon our credit and our commerce. The capitalists of Great Britain have for many years been large holders of American stocks and securities. They have furnished the money to build and equip our railroads, to develop our mines, to carry forward our great improvements, and hence we are and have been largely in their debt. Having large investments in South America when the stress in the Argentine Government began to be felt, it was natural that they should throw upon the markets our stocks and securities, which were the best in the world, and that our people who were interested in upholding their values should be forced to become heavy purchasers. No doubt the effort to fill this sink first started the large exports of gold to Europe in 1890. The effects of this, however, would have been but temporary had it not been for the harmful and extravagant legislation of the Fifty-first Congress, which so closely followed it. That Republican Congress, owned body and soul by the protectionists from whom the fat had been fried to pay for the "blocks of five", assembled with a determination to squander and waste the surplus in the treasury and so modify our revenue laws that no surplus should remain at the end of the year as a protest against a high tariff. A tariff which the protectionists who owned the Congress meant to and did compel it to enact.

The House immediately entered upon its unbridled course of extravagance, and within less than four months members began to ask of each other, when some measure requiring an expenditure was under consideration, "Where is the money to come from?" The McKinley act, which increased the taxes of the people but reduced the revenue of the government, was rushed through under cloture. The Sherman law, which stopped the coinage of silver and required the government to purchase 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion each month and to pay for the same in Treasury notes redeemable in gold, was likewise forced through. By the McKinley act the burdens of the people were increased, while the receipts of the government were diminished; importation, from which revenue is mainly derived ceased at once as the act was prohibitive in its character. By the Sherman law, silver was reduced to the level of a commodity and the government forced to purchase large quantities of it every month and pay for it out of a depleted Treasury, with gold obligations. No other people in the whole world would have submitted to such legislation.

The effect of these two measures was to so impair the credit and cripple the commerce of the country as to augment instead of allay the fears of the people. Under the Sherman law $156,000,000 in Treasury notes were issued at once and immediately became a charge against the gold reserve in the Treasury. This constantly and rapidly increasing menace, with a promising deficiency, was more than the credit of the Nation could stand, and hence during the last year of Mr. Harrison's administration there was an actual deficiency of $9,115,849, while the balance of trade, which, under reasonable conditions, should always be in our favor, (as an export more than an import), at the end of the fiscal year, was $18,735,728 against us. The Sherman act, in compliance with the Chicago platform, was repealed, but not until serious damage had been done to both public and private credit. The repeal of this measure, while it may not have had the immediate beneficial effects that were predicted, was certainly an important factor in allaying the fears of the people and staying the course of the panic. The net exports of gold during the last fiscal year was only $4,585 6.3, as against $86,897,275 the year previous.

The repeal of this measure, although an imperative necessity, left the country without any means of increasing its volume of money by additions to its stock of gold or an increase of national bank currency. The disturbed condition of affairs has made it impossible for the Democratic Government to mature a satisfactory plan for the reformation of our financial system, but after the settlement of other questions, now pressing for solution, this great desideratum will unquestionably be successfully accomplished.

And now having set before your readers the true facts in relation to the causes which produced the unfortunate business depression of our country, I leave it to the candid judgment whether I have not satisfied them that the Republican protectionists, trusts and monoplies are responsible for the business disasters through which the country has passed in consequence of Republican times.

Democratic times have not reached their advent, and the prosperity of the country in the immediate future will give evidence of what the Democratic Congress has done towards bringing this happy condition about. If it did nothing but what I am about to write in conclusion of this statement of facts, that Congress desires the confidence and the lasting gratitude of the American people. It has made all money equal. It has restored confidence in our currency. It has given our people the opportunity of living cheaper and better by striking a very large percentage from the cost of the necessaries of life. It has shattered McKinleyism and its protected trusts. It has restored the freedom of election and wiped out the threat of centralized power operating within the States for the purpose of controlling elections, and making the people pay for a horde of so-called marshals, who were chosen, not for their character, but for their want of it.

It has placed the transactions of the Government and its methods of accounting upon a business basis, so that it will be impossible in the future to juggle with figures as Mr. Foster did when he was about to retire in order to cover up an existing difficulty, and make a favorable balance appear where none existed.

It has greatly reduced the expenditures of the Government.

For one solid year, surrounded by every temptation that the protectionists and trusts with a horde of well-trained and experienced lobbyists could place before them, the lower House of Congress on the Democratic side stood up, and, as one man, waged an unrelenting war upon them, and though we did not succeed in bringing them to the full and proper measure of defeat, we shattered them and will in time drive the robbers away from their booty.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d. N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies." —Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

A DARLING TEAM.

Plainfield Athletes Set Their Goal on Football.

A dozen young men interested in football met in the Crescent Wheelmen's rooms last evening. L. S. Darling, who issued the call for the meeting, presided. It was decided to form a club to be called the Plainfield Crescent team.

L. S. Darling was elected captain and R. D. Williams manager and treasurer. N. R. Titsworth, R. D. Williams and Walter Stewart were chosen a managing committee. The colors selected for the team were red and blue.

It is expected that the team will do good work after practising together under Captain Darling's direction. A series of games will be arranged with the Elizabeth Athletic Club, the Union County Roadsters and other neighboring football players. As the members cannot meet for practice in the daytime very often, it is proposed to hire the Crescent Rink for exercise at night.

KUNG IS A PEACEMAKER

A Chinaman of Good Ability and Large Experience.

Not at All Likely To Prove Disloyal to the Young Emperor—Will Probably Work in Harmony With Li Hung Chang—Ex-Minister Seward's Views on the Situation.

New York, Oct. 3.—Geo. F. Seward, ex-minister to China, was asked what may be expected in China from the return of Prince Kung to the presidency of the tsung-li-yumen. He answered that it must be considered an excellent move of that government. The prince is a man of good ability and large experience in foreign affairs. He is not at all revolutionary in his ideas. Any intimation that he is likely to prove disloyal to the young emperor is absurd. He is a peacemaker rather than a disturber. He was one of the regents of the empire from 1860 for ten or twelve years. During that period he had occasion to know Li Hung Chang, and there is every reason to think that the two are not only appreciative of each other, but earnestly disposed to co-operate for the good of the empire. His appointment indicates that no reasonable opportunity of making an honorable peace will be lost sight of, and that, meanwhile, the prosecution of the war is likely to be left largely to Li Hung Chang. The appointment of a new military commander at the front probably indicates that Li Hung Chang's inability to take the field in person on account of his advanced age is recognized and that not less, but greater vigor is to be expected. The new commander is a man of known ability and energy.

Mr. Seward was asked how he estimated the military situation, and he replied that too much importance, in his judgment, has been attached to the victories of Japan. It was fully expected that the first battles by sea or land would be won by Japan and particularly that her superiority in naval warfare would become evident from the outset. So far, the engagements on land have been in Korea. It remains to be seen what will happen when Japan attempts an invasion of the territory of China. Not less than 200,000 men are at this moment afield on the Chinese side. In physique their troops are equal to the Japanese, but in drill and organization they are inferior. Granted this inferiority, their advantage in numbers and position must tell heavily. Then the winters of North China are rigorous and the cold season is close at hand. Military operations cannot go on there sixty days hence. Whatever makes the delay brings opportunity to China to gather strength and prepare for the struggle next year. There is no reason why the Chinese should be discouraged. With Prince Kung largely in control of the cabinet at Pekin and Li Hung Chang, with an able lieutenant, largely in control in the field, a distinct advantage has been made by the government, whether the object be the prosecution of war or the making of peace at any right opportunity.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

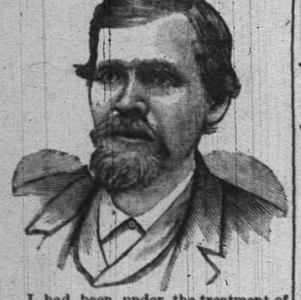
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

WORK OF THE CYCLONE

Property Valued at $1,000,000 Destroyed—A Scene of Vast Ruin Presented in the City—One Doctor Killed at the Insane Asylum and Another Has a Miraculous Escape.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 4.—The scene of the cyclone here is being viewed by thousands of people. Retail business is suspended and the merchants are lending their assistance to their less fortunate fellow-tradesmen, who were heavy losers by the catastrophe.

The list of the killed and injured continues to grow. The total loss will reach $1,000,000.

The killed—Dr. J. T. Ingate, Jackson Boyd, son of Jackson Boyd, J. F. Griffith.

The injured—C. T. Monroe, John Eatton, Jerry Donahue, S. O. Smith, Will Ward, John Brown, Fritz Reis, Mrs. L. Volmer, Mrs. J. Janka, Mrs. Lulu Prewitt, Joe Halloway, Joe Swift, John Fontereaus, W. D. Trotter, Miss Lucille West, John Ballau, Tom Forbes, —— Houser, George B. Cross, C. Prater, J. M. Ryan, J. C. Biggs, J. D. Bowlin, Dr. Lakeland, A. Henry, Will Harvey, convict; Tom Mitchell, convict, probably fatally; G. Baker, convict; G. S. Jenks, convict; Lee Hinson, convict; Will Singleton, convict; J. J. Smith, guard; John Witt, guard.

Never in the history of Little Rock was there such a scene of wrecked and ruined buildings as is presented on the streets of this city. The streets are almost impassible and great yawning chasms in brick fronts tell of the fury of the storm. The damage will aggregate almost $1,000,000. The only insurance held by the sufferers amounts to about $2,500. Of that amount a plate glass insurance company of New York holds policies amounting to $1,800. The remaining $600 was against losses by cyclone. Almost every building between Markham and Third streets on Main was unroofed and in numerous instances entire fronts were levelled. On East Markham street the destruction of property was greater than elsewhere. Several large buildings were demolished and not one escaped injury. Windows and doors were blown out, tin roofs carried away, telephone and electric light wires blown to the ground and poles twisted off at the curbing.

It was the insane asylum where the most complete wreck was to be seen. The buildings built by the state at a cost of $300,000 are located on a prominence three miles west of the business portion of the city, and offered a splendid target for the fury of the storm. The ruin was not complete, but the damage is estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000. There was one death here, Dr. J. T. Ingate, second assistant physician. He and Dr. Robinson, the superintendent, were standing in hall talking just before the storm struck and as they separated to go to their rooms, the two towers which crowned the main office portion crashed through the three stories, burying Ingate under the debris of one of them. Dr. Robinson had a narrow escape but by pressing up against the wall while bricks and heavy timbers were flying about his head in the dark, the lights having been at once extinguished, he succeeded in getting out without injury. A heavy force of men worked all night in removing the debris to find the body of the unfortunate physician. He was found under a mass of brick and timbers in the vestibule of the main building, lying on his face and mangled beyond recognition. His remains were forwarded to his parents at Mobile, Ala.

Besides the destruction wrought in the main building, the east wall of the male ward was completely torn away. Wards 1, 3 and 5 are a total wreck. The roof is blown off and debris has been found half a mile east. Pandemonium reigned after the fury of the storm had been spent. The cells in the south wing were occupied by inmates at the time. About fifteen escaped but all but seven were recaptured.

The following are still missing and it is not known whether they were killed or at large:

Quincy Jones, Dennis Callahan, Jas. McPeters, William M. Miller, William Surratt, Joseph W. Johnson and Geo. Wackerman.

The storm did damage at the state penitentiary aggregating $30,000. The south half of the roof of the cell house was completely torn away and carried outside of the walls.

The windows were all broken out, but very little damage was done to the interior. Many of the convicts were in their cells at the time and were not hurt. The new workhouse, chapel and kitchen were badly wrecked. The third story and the east wall of the second story were blown down and are lying between it and the house a vast mass of brick and mortar. The west wall was cracked at the floor and inclined to the east about 45 degrees. In this building where the only death occurred, J. F. Griffith, a white man, sent up from Clay county for incest, was descending the stairway from the third story when the wall caved in and buried him under the debris. His remains, badly mangled, were removed from the debris this morning. The hospital building was uninjured except for the wrecking of several chimneys and a portion of the roof. The two-story stable, blacksmith shop and woodshed, that stood in the centre of the yard were badly wrecked. vSeeral head of stock was killed.

Several hundred people sustained losses in this city ranging from $15,000 to $500.

Fully two hundred citizens escaped death in a most miraculous manner.

Telegrams from all sections of the country offering assistance were received by Mayor Hall. All the injured, with few exceptions, are doing nicely.

PROF. SWING DEAD

The Great Preacher Passes Away at Chicago.

In a Comatose State for Thirty-six Hours Before the End Came—Acute Jaundice His Fatal Illness—Brief Sketch of a Most Interesting Career.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Prof. David Swing died at his home on the Lake Shore drive last night. He was taken ill about a week ago with gastric fever which developed in a few days into acute jaundice. He had been in a comatose state for thirty-six hours before his death and the end was momentarily expected since that time. Mrs. Ricker and Mrs. Starving, the professor's two married daughters and the immediate members of his family were at the bedside when Dr. Davis pronounced life extinct.

Prof. Swing's ancestry is German, coming to this country before the thirteen states had been established. David, the youngest son was born in Cincinnati, Aug. 23, 1830, his father dying two years later. When David was seven years of age his mother removed to Reedsburg, Ohio, which was the family residence for three years. A settlement was then made on a farm near Williamsburg where during the following eight years David was a farm boy and a scholar in the public school. On this farm was laid the foundation for that sturdy manhood and remarkable self-poise so noticeable in after years. He studied and taught himself so perfectly that at the age of eighteen he entered Miami university at Oxford, Ohio. At this same school were Benjamin Harrison and Whitelaw Reid. Young Swing supported himself by working and teaching school during vacations. His intention was to be a lawyer, but the religious element of his mind predominated and he studied for the Presbyterian ministry. In 1866 Prof. Swing accepted the pastorate of the Westminster Presbyterian church in this city. This service was interrupted by the great fire of 1871, which not only swept away his church but all his personal belongings leaving him with nothing but the clothes on his back. Within a year his church was rebuilt on the old site. About this time occured the most important event in the great minister's career—his trial before the Chicago presbytery on the charge of heresy preferred by the Dr. Francis L. Patton, then editor of the Interior and now president of Princeton college. These charges of which there were twenty-eight, specifications of lapses from Presbyterian doctrine, were not sustained, there being sixty-one members in the presbytery and only thirtee voted against him. But the subsequent feeling was so bitter that Prof. Swing brought matters to a close by resigning his pastorate, a large number of his friends going with him and forming the Central church, in which Prof. Swing has since labored with great success. Prof. Swing was a man of broad culture and extensive learning and his library is one of the best in the west.

CAPT. DAVIS DID RIGHT.

Not Necessary for Him To Call on Baltimore's Mayor.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Secretary Herbert's attention was called to the conversation stated to have taken place in Baltimore between Mayor Latrobe and Captain Charles H. Davis, of the United States cruiser Montgomery, and which the mayor is represented as using very sharp language reflecting on Captain Davis and the navy department. The secretary authorized the statement that he was away from Washington when the Montgomery was ordered to Baltimore but said he had thoroughly looked into the matter and found that a request had been made by the citizens of Baltimore, signed by the mayor, postmaster and others for the ship to go to Baltimore in order to be seen by the people there.

Acting Secretary McAdoo had sent an order to Captain Davis directing him to go there Sept. 11 without further details. The vessel was delayed by repairs and could not obey the order until now. Captain Davis, Secretary Herbert said, was not compelled to make any official visit to the mayor and there was certainly no necessity for him to wear a uniform to see the mayor. He probably called on the mayor to tell him that the ship was there, but there was nothing official about his visit. The Montgomery has been ordered to return to Norfolk by the 17th inst., and the secretary hopes she will be ready to go to Mobile by Nov. 1, when the citizens of Montgomery, Ala., will present the ship with a set of silver.

GREAT STALLION RACE.

Nelson Convinces All That Directum Is No Match for Him.

Portland, Me., Oct. 4.—At Rigby Park all admirers of Nelson were forced to admit that he is no match for Directum. The contest settled all doubts as to their relative superiority. The weather was cold and cloudy, making the attendance rather small for so great a race. There were less than 3,000 people at the park. Among those present were Hon. Thos. B. Reed, who occupied a private box. At a little after 2 o'clock the two great stallions came on the track together. Both had been warming up around the track at intervals since noon, when Nelson's blanket was removed and he appeared on the track, there was great applause from the spectators, who wanted to see the famous Maine horse do his best. Directum was in prime condition and ready to do great things on a track in so beautiful a condition. Directum was driven by Hickok, and Horace Nelson held the reins over his horse, named after him. Nelson drew the pole, and after scoring twice got the word on the third trial. In spite of the breeze, the race was fast from the very first. Nelson led at the first quarter in 31 1-2, also at the half-mile in 1:03 1-2, and three-quarters in 1:35 3-4, with Directum at his wheel all the way. Then the little black stallion began to creep up, and down the home-stretch gained faster and faster, passing under the wire a length ahead of Nelson in 2:10. This was the result looked for, it being conceded that Directum would gain on the home stretch.

The second heat was slower, but rather better than the first as a spectacle. Nelson closed up at the first quarter and headed Directum on the second quarter. From there to the home-stretch the two handsome horses came around as if they were unharnessed abreast, so near even were they. Near the wire Directum shot ahead and won the heat by half a length in 2:12.

By this time, any lingering hope that Nelson coud win the race had fled. It was too evident that Directum was not even hurrying and that he was completely out-classing his opponent. Excuses were made for Nelson's eleven years and remarks that Directum's youth was telling was heard. In the third heat, Directum was allowed to show what he could do. It was whispered about that he would be sent for all he was worth. Nelson was at his wheel the first half of the heat, but then Directum drew a length ahead. At the third quarter, Directum led by four lengths and when the wire was reached, Nelson was so far behind that his driver had slowed him down and he trotted in on a mere amble, as thoroughly beaten as possible. When Directum's time for this last heat was announced as 2:08 1-4, there was great cheering, for it was the most wonderful race ever seen in this part of the country, breaking all records for stallion trotting in a race.

FOR HIS ACTION ON TARIFF.

Congressman Cadmus Fails of Renomination and Is Denounced.

The following resolution was adopted: "That Congressman Cadmus, because of his traitorous action and votes on the tariff bill is not only not entitled to our support, but deserves to be, and we hereby brand him as a traitor to his party, and repudiate him as a democrat. And it is the further sense of this convention that we had better have an open political enemy than one in disguise."

Fell Overboard and Drowned.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Oct. 4.—The British schooner Gazelle, from Edgewater, N. Y., for Halifax, N. S., at this port, reports Oct. 1, at 5 p. m., when three miles off Stratford shoal, Long Island sound, with moderate wind, seaman Edward Flemming, a native of New Foundland, aged 31 years, while drawing a pail of water from alongside, fell from the vessel's rail and was drowned. The vessel's yawl boat was immediately lowered and every effort made to rescue him, but his body sank immediately upon striking the water and was not seen afterwards.

TROUBLE OR RUMOR

The Madagascar Blockade Story Denied.

Significant Summoning of the French and English Cabinets—London Papers Generally Deny That There Is Any Likelihood of Trouble With France.

London, Oct. 4.—Reuter's agency virtually denies the report it circulated yesterday that the Madagascar ports had been blockaded. It expresses the opinion that the report arose from the fact that French warships had been ordered to exercise increased surveillance over the Madagascar coast to prevent the landing of munitions of war.

The Daily News deprecates the scare which was produced on the stock exchange by alarming reports in regard to the relations between France and England. It characterizes the alleged anxiety concerning them as a mere flurry. The paper admits, however, that the business for whose discussion the cabinet was summoned is of a most urgent nature, but says that a glance at the political horizon suggests reason for wonder why cabinet councils are not held more frequently. The war between China and Japan, the state of the czar's health, the situation in Madagascar, and several other minor questions affecting France and England supply topics concerning which the cabinet may well be summoned.

The Chronicle after its quivering terror over the situation in its issue of yesterday, reads a lecture to the alarmists and trusts that they are ashamed of their story of strained relations with France and of the wholly unjustifiable report of a blockade of Madigascar—a report which was an invetion on the face of it. The Chronicleicle professes to state upon authority that the cabinet was summoned in connection with the reports of maltreatment of British subjects in China.

The Telegraph says it cannot be pretended that the circumstances which caused the summoning of a cabinet council are otherwise than alarming. The paper declines to even guess at the cause, but says the weight of opinion is in favor of attributing it to the French question, inasmuch as the matter of reinforcing the garrison at Hong Kong for the purpose of furnishing protective escorts to Tien-Tsin and elsewhere could not require cabinet authority.

A dispatch to the Daily News from Berlin says the German foreign office sees no cause for alarm and ascribes the French and English cabinet meetings to be held to-day to the situation of eastern affairs.

SHOT HIS FRIEND.

Mistook Him for a Burglar and Blazed Away.

Oceanport, N. J., Oct. 4.—John Wainright shot and badly injured Lewis Smith about 3 a. m. The latter was in Wainright's yard and was mistaken for a thief. At the hour mentioned Mrs. Wainright went out into the yard. She saw Smith and back she ran into the house badly frightened, and told her husband there was a burglar outside. The husband got his shot gun, filled it with a big load of No. 2 buckshot and then went into the yard. When he stepped outside, he saw the man about thirty paces from him. He called, but there was no reply. Wainright then took a few steps towards him, saying: "If you don't speak I'll blow your brains out." This had not the desired effect. The intruder made a move backward until he reached the barn. Wainright for the last time demanded: who are you?" No response coming he lifted his gun to his shoulder and fired. The man fell with a groan. Wainright went to him and to his surprise found that the unfortunate fellow was Lewis Smith, a son of a wealthy oysterman hereabouts, and an old friend of Wainright.

The shot took effect in the man's face and body. Dr. Beach was called and said the man was not dangerously wounded. Wainright, however, was taken to jail to await the results of Smith's injuries.

CORBETT LOSES BY DEFAULT.

Olympic Club Declares Fitzsimmous Champion of the World.

New Orleans, Oct. 4.—The following telegram was sent by the Olympic club:

To James J. Corbett, Boston, Mass.—At a regular meeting of the board of directors of the Olympic club held Tuesday, Oct. 2, 1894, a resolution was passed unanimously declaring Robert Fitzsimmons the champion heavyweight of the world and he will be compelled to defend the title against the best man that can be found in the world. The board of directors was compelled to take this action on account of your persistent refusal to meet Robert Fitzsimmons, who had complied with every requirement, and the subterfuge you resorted to in causing O'Donnell to challenge Fitzsimmons is not worthy of consideratoin. It was in the Olympic club that the heavyweight championship of the world was lost by John L. Sullivan and won by you and it is now within the province and the duty of the Olympic club to declare Robert Fitzsimmons the champion heavyweight of the world. WILLIAM A. SCHOLL, President of the Olympic Club.

A similar message has been sent to Robert Fitzsimmons at Newark, N. J., notifying him of the club's action and that he will have to defend the champion heavyweight title in the month of February, 1895, against the best man that can be found in the world.

LIKE A DREAM.

SHE COULD HARDLY BELIEVE IT AT FIRST.

But Now It Is a Very Pleasant and Lasting Reality—A Popular Person Gives Some Interesting Information.

No dream could be more pleasant than the experience which Ellen C. A. Mitchell, of 297 Mineral Spring ave., Pawtucket, R. I., has had. She has been a fearful sufferer and had abandoned hope, but suddenly her sorrows all left her and she was a well woman. She writes the following most fascinating account:

"Four years ago I was taken sick with typhoid fever which left me entirely undone. My nerves were completely unstrung and I could not bear the least noise. The slightest sound would make start and tremble all over. When these trembling spells came on my only relief was to lie down and try to obtain rest.

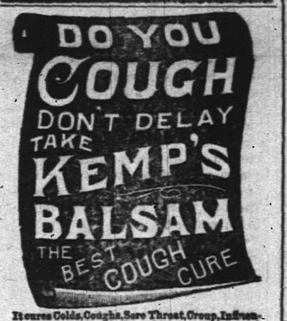
"Almost every day I was attacked with severe nervous headache. If I attempted to walk across the floor the pain would be frightful, as if my head would split open. The palpitation of my heart was something dreadful. I could not go up or down stairs without having these spells.

"The least excitement caused a continual fluttering which was horrible in its suffocating sensations. In fact, life was unbearable. A lady friend who had been greatly benefited by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, advised me to try it.

"The relief which I obtained can only be understood by other sufferers, who, after many years of suffering, have at last found health. My headaches, which had made my life so full of torture, as well as all my other troubles, have been entirely cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"Now I can go through life free from all suffering. I can honestly say that I have a new life before me. I urge all sufferers to use this great medicine if they wish to be well."

No sufferer can possibly hesitate after reading of so wonder a cure, to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is a certain cure for disease. It is purely vegetable and harmless, and is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City, who has for many years used it in his practice. He is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and can be consulted by all, free of charge, personally or by letter.



It cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

All that's Yellow is not Cottolene

There's hardly a housekeeper in the country but has heard of Cottolene the new vegetable shortening. It is a strictly natural product; composed only of clarified cotton seed oil, thickened for convenience in use, with refined beef suet, pure and sweet. So composed,

COTTOLENE

Was bound to win, and to drive out lard from the kitchens of the world. When housekeepers wish to get rid of the unpleasant features and results of lard, they should get Cottolene, taking care that they are not given cheap imitations with vegetable names, spuriously compounded to sell in the place of Cottolene.

CIRCULATION EXCEEDS THAT OF ALL OTHER PLAINFIELD DAILIES COMBINED.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., OCT. 4, 1894

CITY EDITION, 4 O'CLOCK.

The local ring organ continues to fling itself in the face of fate, and is doing all in its power to prevent Plainfield from using for sewage disposal land in the uninhabited tail-end of the city. It will not succeed.

That virulently Republican organ, the Newark Advertiser, admits the mistakes of the Republican Legislature, but tries to palliate them by saying they "accomplished little harm". The old excuse—"such a little one"!

Editor McBride of the Elizabeth Journal is madly in love with C. N. Codding of Westfield, and writes in raptures of his gold eye-glasses and pure white smile. Ever since McBride, Codding and Voorhees had that camping party in the Maine woods, the editorial columns of The Journal have been girlishly gushing, and the cream of the poesy has been directed at the gentleman with "the pure white smile".

Out of its own mouth the ring organ convicts itself. In its issue of Tuesday, Oct. 2, it said concerning a fair now in progress "Raffles were a part of the evening's amusement and afforded much fun to the onlookers. The fair will continue all this week". After this unblushing advertisement of a series of lotteries, the ring organ said in its issue of Wednesday, Oct. 3, that a paper "was as much a violator of the law as anyone, in publishing such raffles". As much a violator of the law as anyone!

A tinge of bitterness pervades the reply of Senator Voorhees to the question whether or not he is a candidate for Governor or United States Senator. The Union County statesman no doubt had in mind the despatch with which the managers of his party have forgotten all about the promise of the great things they would do for him politically if he would only make the sacrifice of declining the high and worthy honor paid him by Governor Werts in nominating him for the practically life position of Circuit Judge. Mr. Voorhees evidently realizes that he has been duncoed, and he gives vent to his indignation in these words:

> I am not a candidate for any office, and especially not for those you name (United States Senator and Governor). As you know, I am without the potent and all-essential influence, financial and otherwise, so necessary to secure the nominations to these high offices. My observation has led me to conclude that they come not in accordance with sentiment. Why, therefore, should I fret myself and seek to obtain that which is out of my reach? If any ambition I had, it has burned itself out, and I am content if I serve out my term as Senator with credit to myself and my constituency. I have given a fair share of my time to the discharge of public duties, and can welcome the time when I shall be free from public burdens, cares and annoyances.

The fact that the Plainfield fairs continually being held in Plainfield are guilty of the practices complained of, and that even now one of these same "chance" lotteries is in progress here, with another in near prospect, makes particularly interesting the charge of Judge VanSyckel to the Grand Jury now in session. On this topic the Newark Daily Advertiser remarks:

> Judge VanSyckel's charge to the Grand Jury yesterday at Elizabeth was a distinct surprise, but a very healthy one. He read to the jurors two newspaper accounts of a church fair at North Plainfield in which it was reported that a piano and silver articles were chanced off and drawn for in public.
>
> Although the reported violations had occurred in Somerset County, the Judge warned the jury that it would be their duty to inquire if such offenses were practiced in their own jurisdiction, and to take action for their suppression. This decisive charge should be a wholesome warning to church fairs. The practice of taking chances and drawing lots is a violation of the State statutes against lotteries, as much so indeed, as selling pools on a race-track, and it is unfortunate that churches are less moral than the court in this regard. To raise money by such means for church charities, reminds one of the Mississippi gambler who boasted that his luck was due to the fact that he regularly gave the tithe of his winnings to the Lord. Gambling is gambling, and when the law has specifically stamped certain forms of money-raising as illegal, it behooves the churches to remember that they are just as amenable to the law as the race-tracks. Consistency is indeed a jewel.

A CARPENTER'S FALL.

RICHARD MARTINDALE TUMBLES FROM A SCAFFOLD.

His Injuries Not Fatal, But Bad Enough to Lay Him Up For a Time.

Richard Martindale, a carpenter employed by Walter Pound, fell 18 feet from a scaffold shortly after 9 this morning. He was working on the new bay window which is being built on Wilson Fiske's house, 218 LaGrande avenue.

The scaffolding on which Martindale stood was at the second story in the rear of the building. One of the supports, a 2x3 strip, broke, and the carpenter fell to the cellar steps below. His fall was broken by the boards, but he struck heavily on the edge of one of the stone steps.

The man was carried into the house and Dr. T. H. Tomlinson was summoned from his home next door. He said Martindale's injuries were not very serious. The worst was an ugly cut on his thigh where he struck the step. One ankle was sprained and he was badly bruised. The man is 55 years of age and came from Trenton to work here. He was sent to his home in that city later in the day.

"There is Danger in Delay."

Since 1861 I have been a great sufferer from catarrh. I tried Ely's Cream Balm and to all appearances am cured. Terrible headaches from which I had long suffered are gone.—W. J. Hitchcock, late Major U. S. Vol. and A. A. Gen., Buffalo, N. Y.

Ely's Cream Balm has completely cured me of catarrh when everything else failed. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Alfred W. Stevens, Caldwell, Ohio.

TWO GIRLS ROW FOR LOVE.

A Remarkable Boat Race With a Dude For the Winner's Prize.

Once in a while one hears of a contest of some sort between men for the possession of a woman, but very seldom a contest between two young women for the possession of a young man who could evidently be very "happy with either, were t'other charmer away."

There was such a contest, however, in Brooklyn, the other day. Two girls, named respectively, Mamie and Nellie, rowed a race on Prospect Park lake, with one certain dude of the name of Frederick, as the prize. Both girls loved Fred, and he loved both girls with such unpartiality that when they proposed to race for him he not only did not object, but offered his services as referee.

The match, the Standard-Union says in its report of the event, was well contested, and Mamie won, but by less than a half a boat's length. As she stepped from the frail vessel upon the "float," she was met by Fred who congratulated her on her victory. With a look of pride she passed her right arm through his left and disappeared through the arch leading to the Willink entrance. A few minutes later Nellie and her friend followed. The tears were trickling down Nellie's cheeks.

A reporter afterward called at the home of Nellie, where she resides with her brother and his wife. Her sister-in-law said that Nellie had gone to work after the race as usual. She came home the night before and had a crying spell. She said that she had been beaten in a boat race at Prospect Park.

Her sister-in-law said that she thought Nellie's brother would be very angry with her for three reasons. First, because she was foolish to do anything of the kind; second, because she talked about the match, and third, because she allowed herself to be beaten, as he was an expert oarsman, and had taught Nellie how to row.

Latest Fad in Cushions.

Not only fashion, but common sense and experience, too, have decreed that the safest and most luxurious filling for a sofa cushion is the down of milkweed pods. The farmers will no longer be troubled with the multiplying of this one-time troublesome weed if the pastures and country highways over a large part of the country are as thoroughly gleaned for it this season as a few were last autumn. The pods should be gathered just before they are ready to split open. The green husk must be stripped off the pods and the seeds pinched off carefully with the fingers. Have ready some bags of coarse net, and strip the down from the cores into them. Every seed and bit of core must be removed, as their oily matter might become disagreeable. The bags should hang in a warm, dry place for two weeks or more, after which they are ready for use. As every one knows, the down is very light, and it will take a half barrel of pods to fill a cushion 20 inches square. To fully appreciate this dainty filling, the softest silk or brocade should be used for the cover. Besides the advantage of its lightness and softness, some persons claim that this vegetable down is much cooler to the head than the down of feathers.—Demorest's Magazine.

A Twenty-four Inch Waist is Right.

No doubt it will be a relief to some girls with athletic proclivities to know the extreme limit of the size of a waist. A recent article from the pen of an eminent authority on the subject says it is not the proper thing to lace or even to have the appearance of lacing. No waist should be smaller than twenty-four inches. The proper measurement for the chest of a girl whose waist is that size is thirty-eight inches. Thus it will be seen that the modern beauty must be solid, and nearly approach the proportions of the heroic age. The present age is an athletic one, and as long as the young women continue their healthy exercise—lawn tennis, croquet, rowing, riding, bicycling, fencing and vaulting, jumping and turning in the gymnasiums, bright eyes, good complexions and firm, well-knit and muscular figures will be found.

Luxurious Finger Bowls.

Some finger bowls are veritable articles of luxury. They are of opalescent or rainbow glass, fine colored Bohemian or delicately ornamented in gold. Solid colors in turquoise and Limoges blue, rich dark green with a wide rim of gold, du Barri pink and apple green are also fashionable. Ornamental bands are delicately engraved with small designs.

Love often goes where it's sent,
Like the messenger boy, we know,
And loses its message often
And often is just as slow.
—Field's Washington.

"The angels are beautiful," said the mother to her youngest boy.

"Yes, mamma, he murmured, "they are out of sight."

Miss Helen Gould has always devoted her charitable gifts to children's hospitals and to day nurseries. Her pet charity now is the home she has founded at Tarrytown for children. Woody Crest she calls the place.

When Mrs. John Jacob Astor wants anything novel in the furniture line she gets her husband to design it, and he is quite an inventive genius—no less than a dozen mantels having been designed by him for the different houses occupied by him.

—Edward Everett was in the City Court today for striking Robert Deems. Sentence was suspended.

WILD INDIAN, HE.

But When He Ran Against Plain-field Pallistines He Landed in the Cooler.

A stranger claiming to be an Indian came to town at 6 this morning. It was evident that he had been drinking before he arrived. He was ejected from John Rafferty's saloon and then over the brook.

He had a fight with the bartender in the Crescent Hotel and then went on. At 10 he entered the Arlington Hotel and asked for a drink. He became angry when he was refused and started a row. Proprietor Windham threw him out and kept him from returning until Chief Marshal Pangborn arrived and arrested him.

Trouble with His Landlord.

Justice Mosher had a jury ready to try the Scotch Plains case of David Rose against Edwin A. Doward yesterday afternoon, but he granted a non-suit before the trial went very far. The case was a continuation of the troubles between Tenant Rose and Landlord Doward.

Doward had Rose evicted through Justice Newcorn's Court. An attempt was made to have the case tried over before Justice Mosher. The Justice said he had no jurisdiction. Each was bent on getting satisfaction by litigation, so the lawyers agreed to proceed, confining the case to the dispute over a chicken coop.

This coop was on the property in question, and Rose claimed he had been denied the right to take it away. On the other side Doward was to prove that he was willing to let the coop go. The defendant's lawyer went too far and took up the old question, so ex-Judge W. B. Codington, who represented the plaintiff, obtained a non-suit.

Progress of the Kirmess.

The arrangements for the Y. M. C. A. Fair to be held Thanksgiving week are in progress and much enthusiastic interest is evinced. Miss Margaret M. L. Eager of New York, well-known for her marked success in conducting Y. M. C. A. Fairs and similar organizations in other cities, is in town interesting the young people who are to take part in the entertainments. Owing to previous engagements, Miss Eager will not be present at the time of the fair, but is spending this week drilling ladies, to whom will be delegated the training of those who will participate in the entertainments.

—The case on contract of the Central Railroad against Frank E. Miller will be tried by Justice Moore next Tuesday.

The short runs are likely to be very exciting, as there is a number of new contestants who have no records. E. I. Serrell, Fish, and W. Serrell, will make a strong fight from the short marks. H. Crane with 2½ yards in the 100-yards dash will have a very good show, and Cornwell from the 3-yard mark will be right up in the front.

Bicycle races sometimes have surprising finishes and the ½ and 2-mile are both likely to have them. Green, E. I. Serrell, Douglass, and W. Serrell are back mark men, but they deserve to be. Whether the rest deserve their handicaps will be seen Saturday afternoon.

The jumps and throwing the baseball are all likely to be exciting, but who will be in the lead none can say.

The pole vault is a new event, untried among the High School boys, so, under the circumstances, the handicaps were arranged according to general work in that line, but some new man may suddenly turn up and win easily.

There will be no programmes given away or for sale at the field, so those interested should save this list of handicaps for reference Saturday afternoon.

ROBBERS RAMPANT.

A PARK AVENUE PHYSICIAN THE LATEST VICTIM.

The Thieves Got Nothing, However, But Eatables From the Cellar.

Dr. M. B. Long's house, 415 Park avenue, was entered by thieves last night. They went into the yard from the front and pried open a cellar window on the south side near the rear. They were satisfied with searching the cellar.

The intruders were evidently hungry Plainfield people, for all that was taken was a number of cans of fruit, a few glasses of jelly and a basket of potatoes. The affair was not discovered until this morning when the potatoes and a few of the cans were found in the yard where the thieves had dropped them in their flight. Dr. Long says that the cellar door was locked for the first time in six-months last night.

Locusts in All Stages.

Stephen Krom has generously loaned his perfect collection of 17-year locusts to the Library for public exhibition, temporarily, before sending it to New York for exhibition there. The case of specimens shows the various stages in the life of the insect from the eggs to the full-grown locust, and explanatory plates accompany the collection.

Jersey Central Changes.

The 7:10 morning and 2:08 Sunday afternoon trains for Lake Hopatoong have been discontinued. The Mauch Chunk buffet parlor car has been transferred from the 6:38 evening train to the 2:08 afternoon.

CAROLINE WEEKLEY.

MRS. CAROLINE WEEKLEY, of Corney, Baldwin Co., Ala., writes: "I suffered for one quarter of a century with "fever-sore" (ulcer) on my leg and eczematous eruptions and gave up all hope of ever being well again. But I am happy to say that your Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery made a complete cure of my ailments, although I had tried different doctors and almost all known remedies without effect.

UNDER A FLORAL BELL.

CITY JUDGE CODDINGTON TIES THE NUPTIAL KNOT.

Alliance Hall in Berkley Heights the Scene of a Glad Alliance—A Plymouth Brethren Ceremony.

A very pretty rural wedding took place yesterday afternoon, when Miss Emily Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Simmons of Berkley Heights, was married to John Crowe of New York. The ceremony was performed by City Judge William A. Coddington, after the custom of the Plymouth Brethren.

Alliance Hall, near Berkley Heights, was the scene of the marriage. It had been beautifully decorated by friends of the bride. At the far end was a large arch of evergreens, from the centre of which hung a floral wedding bell. The hall was nearly filled with friends from the vicinity, and New York, Brooklyn and Newark, at 3, the time set for the affair.

The bride entered with two friends as bridemaids. She was gowned in steel-colored silk and carried a large bouquet of tea roses. The best man was a brother of the groom, and two brothers of the bride acted as ushers. The party proceeded up the aisle and stopped beneath the arch, in front of the Judge and partly facing the spectators.

Judge Coddington united the young couple in matrimony with an impressive ceremony which he had prepared for the occasion. As soon as the pair were pronounced man and wife the usual osculatory greetings followed. Devotional exercises were then held in the hall.

In the evening a social celebration of the marriage was enjoyed at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Crowe left on a short wedding tour to return to New York to take up their residence. Mr. Crowe is connected with the New York postoffice.

VACATION ADVENTURES.

Plainfield Young Men Enjoy One Another's Experiences.

The Young Men's Auxiliary, at their meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, required of each member a talk on personal adventures that had happened during the Summer. Henry Brower spoke of a narrow escape from drowning on the Raritan river. Alva Davis told of a thrilling experience with an old ram. Edward Kline had for his adventure a chase by police on the Raritan river. Vincent Rittenhouse related vividly an experience among the mountains. James Stafford made the deck of a boat the scene of his excitement. Waldron Miller gave an account of an episode in a water-melon patch. Wilbur Cornwell concluded the evening's programme with an interesting tale of life on the ocean.

A "spots" talk will be the programme for next Tuesday evening.

FOLLOWS DUTY STRICTLY.

No Impartiality in the Court of 'Squire Chas. Moore.

The sanctum of The Daily Press, always at public service, was transformed into a justice's court room last night for the accommodation of Judge C. K. Moore of Fanwood and a Plainfield young man who had been arrested on a charge of false pretenses. The prisoner gave bond to appear before the Court in Fanwood tonight, and promised to settle the matter without publicity. Judge Moore was complimented for his just impartiality. Though as a man he was a personal friend of the accused, as a magistrate he bestowed no favor but followed the strict line of his duty.

GOOD TIME TONIGHT.

Rare Entertainment Offered by the C. Y. M. L.

The attraction at the C. Y. M. L. Hall this evening will be an entertainment under the management of Chas. Ward. Several local amateurs of note have promised to lend their assistance for the occasion. John Carney, so favorably known for his comic sketches, will be on hand with some of his best delineation of character and dialect. Mr. Ward and Miss Passmore will render a comic Irish duet. A musical recitation by a number of young women will be given its initial performance. Good entertainment is promised, and a large attendance is expected.

By Any Name, an Astral Star.

By Madame Isa Lezem's return to her stage name of Helene Menzell, the professional world is reminded of a personality that won honored prominence a few years ago. In the palmy days of Booth's Theatre, and in the big cities across the water, Mlle Menzell was a premiere without whom no opera was complete. The papers were full of her praise; poets wrote acrostic sonnets; managers were eager to secure this star. The Press has a bulky book of criticisms in her praise. By marriage she retired from the boards, but she today retains the agility and grace which were once the charm of two continents. Plainfield votaries of the dance are fortunate in being able to obtain her instruction. She will open her class Oct. 11, at 8 p. m., in the new and convenient hall, 405 Park avenue, near Fourth street.

Saved Another from Injury.

Manager Charles Runyon of the telephone company has made several brave stops of runaways in Plainfield, and just before his accident Monday morning he made another athletic capture of a fast-traveling horse. The runaway turned from Front street into Grove, and the harness being broken the driver was unable to control the animal. Mr. Runyon sprang into the roadway, seized the bridle, and after being carried considerable distance brought the horse to a standstill.

No Indictment Against Kelly.

Charles Kelley, formerly employed by T. B. Penton, Jr., of Rockview avenue, has been released from the Somerset County Jail. The Grand Jury found no indictment against him for assisting Thomas Boohan to escape arrest. Kelly has gone to Cranford to begin keeping house with his bride.

SUES PLAINFIELD CITY.

Householder Peck Complains of Sewage Nuisance.

WHAT CESSPOOLS HAVE COST HIM.

Not Only Wants Damages for the Expense He Is Put to, But Satisfaction for the Contamination of Green Brook.

If Landlord Peck fulfils his threat, Plainfield will find herself in a peck of trouble over the sewage matter.

While the city is putting in a system of public piping, Mr. Peck on his property on Grove street is building a disposal plant to care for the sewage from his row of brick flats.

In the time of the general cholera scare, when everybody was looking about for germs, the Plainfield authorities decided that Mr. Peck's cesspools were contaminating Green brook, by the sewage oozing through the soil. He was compelled to remedy this at considerable expense. Walling in his cesspools limited their capacity so that much of his rent-money was continually going for the services of cesspool-cleaners. This cost became so burdensome that now he is providing the flats with the Waring filtration system of sewage disposal. The liquid of the sewage is conveyed through a series of cesspools which hold the solids in bulk to a section of the land specially prepared, broken tile, gravel and other material being laid in layers underground, where the purified fluid escapes into the earth. The final disposal filter is similar to that of the city, on a smaller scale, and is calculated to lessen materially the inconvenience and cost of the disposal of sewage from the flats.

But Mr. Peck's antagonism has been aroused by so much harrassment over the sewage problem, and he has determined on satisfaction. He threatens to demand of the authorities recompense for his enforced outlay, and will insist of the Grand Jury now in session in Elizabeth that it present the city for maintaining a nuisance in permitting the pollution of Green brook. He says that the offensive deposits of that open sewer accumulate on his land, and he holds that if the city can make him stop that sort of thing he can make the city stop it too.

TO MONTE SCOTT.

Ah, Monte Scott, aren't you just too divine!
Too sweet, too great, too fine and superfine!
Adonis and Mercury both in one,
You've captured my heart, dear—that's what you've done!

Oh, it must be such loads and loads of fun
And scoop in the watches and diamond rings,
The silver and gold and the other things!

But I suppose winning is all you care,
With never a thought or a smile to spare
For one who can't eat as she ought to do
Thro' wasting her life in the love of you.

Ah, Monte, if you for a moment knew
How awfully much we are gone on you,
I think you would give us just half a show;
For I'm not the only one—oh, dear, no!

THE GIRL.

At Rest.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Catherine Buxton, widow of Captain C. S. Buxton, were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30. Many friends gathered at the house, 452 West Sixth street, and there were many floral tributes. Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman conducted the Episcopal service in Grace Church. The interment was in Evergreen Cemetery, Plainfield avenue.

A Good Firm's Hustler.

Larry Burns left a pleasant impression in Plainfield by his visit yesterday. Larry flits about as a shining representative of Stoutenburg & Co., for whom he is special advertising manager, and whose honorable dealings are know to all men who like to dress well at moderate expense.

A Prodigy.

Little Miss Wiertz of West Front street is only a week old, but she is learning to pronounce the big French words on her papa's handsome wagon, and knows that they mean he's refreshment-provider for fastidious palates.

Plainfield's Loss.

Alexander Lusardi has sold his interest in the fruit stores to his brother Julius and cousin Tony Lusardi, and intends returning to his former home in Italy, some time during this month. He does not expect to return to Plainfield.

—In the Elizabeth Court yesterday the contract case of George Frazee against Augustus Frazee was postponed for the term, the defendant's lawyer not having witnesses ready.

"I OWE MY LIFE TO YOU."

A Wilton, N. J., Girl's Experience With a Noted Massachusetts Woman.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Life is never more precious than in the heyday of youth, when every dream is a promise, and every thought an inspiration.

It is natural that Miss Gertrude Sickler, a young lady who lives at Wilton, N.J., is grateful for the great boon of life.

She suffered terribly with suppressed and painful menstruations. The doctors could only prevent her from having fits each month by dosing her with morphine.

At last, when she was completely prostrated, her father got her a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which at once gave her relief.

That did what the doctors could not do. It cured her. She has no trouble now, and no dread of the coming month. "I owe my life to you," she writes to Mrs. Pinkham. "Oh, if other suffering women could try your valuable medicine they would bless you as I do."

ROW OVER TEMPLE CUP

Manager Hanlon's Action Causes Trouble.

Mr. Temple Protests, Too—The Orioles Will Stick to the "Divide" and Play the Series, Cup or No Cup—Many Tickets Sold for the Game To-day.

Baltimore, Oct. 4.—The controversy between baseball magnates regarding the Temple Cup games, scheduled to begin to-day, is causing great uneasiness in Baltimore. Manager Hanlon, when shown Messrs. Young and Temple's statement to the effect that the original plan of a 65 and 35 per cent. division of receipts must be adhered to, said:

"I have just received a telegram from Manager Ward expressing a desire to rescind the agreement arrived at between Mr. Ward and myself last week to divide the gate receipts equally and abide by the committee's decision.

"You may say," said Manager Hanlon, "that the Baltimore players refuse positively to play the series except on the plan agreed between Mr. Ward and myself."

At this juncture Secretary Harry Von Der Horst, who was present, broke in: "You may quote me as saying that Mr. Temple can present the cup to the New York club if he desires, and we will play the series without it. As for the interest falling off in the games in case of the divide basis being carried out, that is all bosh. We have already sold 8,000 tickets for the game here and will have the greatest crowd ever seen on a ball field anywhere."

Manager Hanlon added that the men would play these games with even greater spirit than they have hitherto exhibited, as they all realize that their honor and reputation are at stake.

Manager Hanlon sent John Ward the following:

"Interest never greater here. Will play you the games, according to last agreement, Temple cup or no Temple cup."

Washington, Oct. 4.—"The Baltimore and New York baseball clubs will play for the Temple cup according to the rules and regulations prepared by the committee appointed by the league last spring, or they will not play at all."

Such was the decision of Nick Young, of the league, after receiving a letter from the other member of the committee, President C. H. Byrne.

Mr. Young decided that as the National league had given him and Mr. Byrne full authority to provide the regulations governing a contest for the Temple cup, the regulations must stand.

He decides that the agreement made by Capts. Hanlon and Ward to divide the receipts equally was in conflict with the regulations, and any games played under the agreement would be simpy exhibition games, and not for the cup.

Mr. Young thinks, however, that the decision of the committee will not interfere with the series of games scheduled to begin to-day. He said the captains of the two teams will simply be forced to agree to the 65 and 35 per centage arrangement.

Mr. Young has received many letters and telegrams from lovers of baseball all over the country scouting the "equal division" agreement between Hanlon and Ward.

Pittsburg, Oct. 4.—W. C. Temple, donor of the Temple cup, is greatly displeased by the proposed action of the Baltimore and New York clubs to divide the gate receipts of the games to be played for the trophy. He says he understood that last week Hanlon and Ward agreed upon a 65 and 35 per cent. division, but have since decided upon sharing equally.

Mr. Temple says this will detract from the baseball public's interest in the games, as it suggests a scheme to merely make money. He says, however, that the matter rests entirely with President Byrne, of Brooklyn, who is chairman of the committee having the trophy in charge.

He understands that Mr. Byrne proposed to take immediate action to prevent the games from being played under the present agreement.

CORBETT GIVES IN.

Said Now That He Has Decided To Fight Fitzsimmons.

New York, Oct. 4.—It is reported that James J. Corbett has changed his mind about fighting Fitzsimmons for the championship of the world. He has overcome his objection to meeting a middleweight and has announced his intention of covering Fitzsimmon's money, now held by the sporting editor of a morning paper in this city. He will be in the city to make the match next week. Corbett communicated this information to a prominent sporting man. This man said: "Corbett will go into this match against my judgment. I furnished part of the stake money for his fight with Sullivan, but I deplore his action in meeting a middleweight. It will add nothing to his prestige if he beats Fitzsimmons, and it is a big chance. However, he knows best what he wishes to do."

Congressional Convention Deadlock.

Saratoga, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The republican congressional district convention reconvened. The St. Lawrence delegation had, in the interval of the adjournment, visited Mount McGregor, and, in the death chamber of General Grant, had pledged to General Curtis, their candidate, that they will support him till he is nominated and re-elected, if it takes until Nov. 6 to determine it. Three ballots were then taken, with the old result—16 for Curtis, 9 for French and 6 for Baker.

Motorman Held Accountable.

Pittsburg, Oct. 4.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. W. L. Jones, killed on Ellsworth avenue by a Duquesne electric car, were unable to agree and rendered two verdicts. The majority verdict was accepted by the coroner, and holds C. A. Cornman, the motorman, for criminal negligence. This is the first similar case in Pittsburg where the motorman of a traction car has not been exonerated.

REMARKABLE CURES

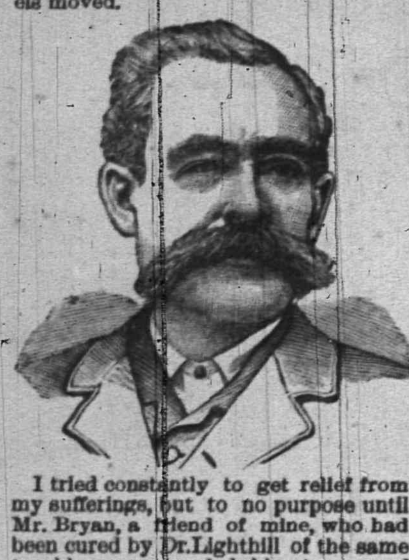
Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

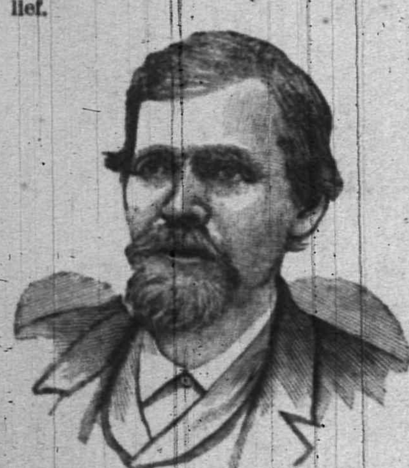
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

TORTURED THIRTY YEARS.

His Suffering Ended After Using Munyon's Rheumatism Cure.

Mr. George Smith, of Tacony, Pa., says: "I suffered from rheumatism for 30 years, and had so many severe attacks that some of my joints were twisted out of shape. At times I suffered terrible pain, and, although I tried many remedies, I never obtained any permanent relief until I procured Munyon's Rheumatism Cure. The action of this remedy was wonderfully quick, and although I have only taken a small quantity, I consider myself permanently cured."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. FLYING JIB IN 1:58 1-4.

With Running Mate the Great Pacer Beats All Mile Records.

Chillicothe, O., Oct. 5.—Ten thousand people covered with overcoats and wraps witnessed the fastest mile ever made in harness by Flying Jib yesterday. The day was cold and a stiff wind was blowing from the north, making fast time apparently impossible. Flying Jib, however, was equal to the occasion. The great pacer was advertised to go against the record of Robert J., when in reality he went hitched to a running mate to beat the record of Westmont—2:01 3-4, made at this style of racing in Chicago in 1884. At 4:30 the great gelding was brought on the track and was given a warming up heat by his owner, Monroe Salisbury. His driver, Andy McDowell, then took the lines and before the audience realized what was going on he came up and nodded for the word. Swift as the strong north wind was blowing in his face, the great horse seemed to go pacing without a skip, in an easy manner, while his running mate seemed to lag behind. The time was only caught at the half-mile post, which was done in 0:59 flat.

Down the homestretch he came like a western cyclone, and the 20,000 eyes that were fixed on the great horse could scarcely believe it was a living animal they were looking at. When the wire was reached the audience yelled itself hoarse, for they knew the record was broken. Starter Hooper then addressed the multitude as follows: "This audience has witnessed something that no other audience has ever seen. Flying Jib has paced a mile in 1:58¼, making the first half in 0:59, and the last half in 59¼ seconds."

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT

Mail Advices Regarding the War Situation.

China Has Numerous Troubles—Forced To Make Reparation to the French Government—A Chinese Priest Beheaded—Japan Confident of Victory.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—News from the Orient by the steamer Gaelic is as follows:

A private letter from Shanghai received at Yokohama says: "The Chinese government, while on the one hand at war with Japan, has been brought to task by the French government for the murder of a Frenchman, a missionary. According to China's reply to France she may possibly have additional troubles upon her. At home the secret societies, such as Kotai-Hay, Peleon-Hay and Tiente-Hay, are on the point of rising. Details of these internal dissensions have been communicated to me by a foreigner who has recently returned from Che Foo. The Chinese at Kwang-Tung are said to be secretly rejoicing at these troubles as they believe they presage the downfall of the Tsing dynasty and the restoration of the Han rule."

A Shanghai telegram states that the Chinese government has declared to the French minister at Pekin that the French missionary had been murdered by a remnant of the Japanese who had been defeated, and not by Chinese troops. The Chinese government, therefore, disclaims all responsibility for the murder. The government of Pekin sent to the foreign minister a dispatch in which it expressed its fear that Japanese men-of-war sailing under foreign flags might attack China and requested the ministers to allow China to stop foreign men-of-war by firing blank cartridges at them and to examine them before they proceeded on their way. The foreign ministers all refused their consent.

The government recently ordered the local officials to seize Japanese ships wherever found. The government believes that there are eight or nine hundred Japanese who are disguised as Chinese and traveling in the interior of the country. A Japanese gentleman who was traveling in Chinese dress was seized ther othr day at Shanghai and thrown into prison. He assured the Chinese that he was not a spy, and asked them to examine a certain Chinese priest, as he was a personal friend of his. The priest was summoned, but before he came, the Japanese effected his escape. The officers were so angry that when the priest arrived at their court they threw him into prison and beheaded him in the other's stead.

"The Chinese government," states the North China Daily News, "has promised every possible reparation for the brutal and unprovoked murder of Mr. Wylie, the Scotch missionary. So serious does the government recognize the situation to be, that an imperial edict, expressing the sorrow of the throne at the news, has already been issued, and the grand secretary and viceroy, Li Hung Chang, is commanded to punish the officer responsible for the infamous conduct of his men.

"The actual assailant of Mr. Wilie are to be executed, and proclamations sternly forbidding insults to or assaults on foreigners are to be issued. The chapel at Liaoyang is to be restored and the family of Mr. Wylie is to be compensated."

The Japanese Gazette says Japanese journalists are taking alarm at the prospect of an alliance between England, France, Germany and Russia. The ground of alarm, from the tenor of the native newspaper comments, may be readily guessed. They fear that after Japan has demolished the Chinese fleet and driven the Chinese army out of Korea, that the four European powers will intervene and prevent Japan from inflicting any further injuries on China, so that an indemnity will not be attainable.

Cholera is said to be raging at Tien-Tsin and a French naval officer is reported to have fallen a victim to the disease.

The Japanese papers devoted considerable space to reports on the preparation for the battle of Ping Yang, but as the Gaelic sailed from Yokohoma only a few days after the great conflict had taken place no definite particulars had been obtainable. The news of the Yalu river fight had been also received, but nothing more than short dispatches indicating victory for the Japanese fleet.

The following will serve to illustrate the confidence felt in Japanese success:

"All our loyal and valiant military men," says the Shin Choya, "are confident that by the third of November the Japanese army will have taken Ping Yang, crossed the Yalu and stormed Moukden, and, in that treasury of China, the Japanese flag will be unfurled and the emperor's birthday and the Japanese victories celebrated there on that day."

The victory at Ping Yang followed almost immediately the arrival of the Japanese emperor at Hiroshima where he is directing the war operations. His majesty issued the following rescript to the troops:

"We are rejoicing to receive the intelligence immediately after our arrival at headquarters that our army has gained a great victory at Ping Yang. We appreciate the ability shown by our officers and soldiers and applaud the signal success they have achieved."

This rescript together with a congratulatory message from the empress was at once telegraphed to Korea. The rescript of the news at Tokio and Yokohoma, meagre as it was, caused intense rejoicing and both cities were profusely decorated.

The district about Tien-Tsin is inundated and the calamity is said to be hailed in Pekin as a blessing since it offers an effectual impediment to the Japanese invasion. Rumor says that orders have been issued forbidding any attempt to lower the waters, despite the ruin and famine entailed upon the unfortunate peasantry.

Concerning the reported landing of Japanese troops on an island in Society bay which was to be made a base of operations, no information has been received by the Japanese government.

The steamship Chean was recently wrecked in Shetung pass with a loss of several hundred Chinese soldiers.

ARMOR-PLATE TEST.

Proved that Surface Cracks Do Not Lessen Resistance Power.

Washington, Oct. 5.—A Carnegie Harveyized nickel steel plate, four inches thick, representing the barbettes of the cruisers Brooklyn and Iowa was tested at the naval proving grounds, Indian Head. Three four-inch Carpenter shells were fired at the plate. The first shot was fired at a portion of the plate free from surface cracks which were very pronounced in some places. Velocity 1,491 feet per second. The head of the shell perforated the plate lodging six inches in the decking. The next shot was fired on the outer side of the plate and in the centre of the group of numerous cracks. Velocity 1,595 feet per second. The shell was smashed against the plate, there being no penetration, showing that surface cracks do not lessen the resistance power of the plate. The third shot was for experimental purposes at a velocity of 1,676 feet per second. The shell broke up, but perforated the plate and backing. The plate was excepted.

DESERTED THE POSTMASTER.

No Help Was Needed, So the Department Did Not Worry.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Some temporary excitement was caused at the postoffice department by the receipt of the following telegram from the postmaster at New Haven, Conn:

"Entire force employed at the Mystic, Conn., postoffice left with late republican postmaster, Eben B. Couch, leaving new postmaster, David B. Denison, without instructions. Can you send inspector to instruct him on this application or may he personally apply. Please wire me."

It was at first feared at the department that several employes had summarily left the Mystic office without any force to run it, but upon investigation it was found that Mystic was but a third-class presidential postoffice, and as such was not entitled to any clerical hire, beyond a meagre appropriation of $100 for this fiscal year. Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Maxwell later in the day detailed a postoffice inspector to instruct Mr. Denison.

MOBBED THE UMPIRE

Everybody Excited at the First Temple Cup Game.

Not Until the Last Moment Did All Hands Agree To Abide by the Rules and Play for 65 to the Winner—The Orioles Barely Escaped a Shut-Out.

Baltimore, Oct. 5.—No deeper nor more intense feeling of rivalry ever characterized a game of baseball in Baltimore than was felt and displayed in the first day's contest for the Temple cup. Trouble was averted at different stages of the game by the few cooler headed players and a riot at the conclusion of the game was prevented only by the large police force which escorted Umpire Emslie off the field. The excitement was at fever heat from start to finish and it is remarkable that even the few blows that were exchanged by the players did not furnish a cause for serious consequences. For two or three hours it looked certain that there would be an exhibition game only; that the Temple trophy would be thrown aside and the Orioles would forfeit whatever interest it might have in it as pennant winners. It was not until the game was called that a decision in regard to the cup was reached. McGraw, of the Orioles, steadfastly refused to agree to the 65-35 per cent. distribution of the receipts to accrue from the series and the other members of the team would not play unless the little third baseman consented and played his regular position. McGraw contended that the only proper thing to do was to play for even stakes, as had been agreed by Messrs. Hanlon and Ward, representing the views of their respective teams. The obstinate young man was won over at the last minute when it was made clear to him that the contests for the Temple cup would be cancelled unless the wishes of Messrs. Temple, Young and Byrne were respected.

Filled with bitterness owing to the controversy over the cup affair, and each club accusing the other of trickery and unsportsmanlike conduct, the teams took their positions on the field. Rusie's delivery was a puzzle to the Oriole batsmen throughout the game. The New Yorks fared a little better. They pushed three balls into the crowd beyond the ropes and out of reach of the fielders and these, under the ground rules were good for three bases each. They all reached home. One other run was scored. The Orioles did not make a long hit in the game. Burke led the batters. He rapped out four singles in succession. The fielding on both sides was very brilliant and every run was earned. Things looked squally when McGraw ran into Ward at second base in the seventh inning and again when he accidentally struck Farrell at the home plate. Again in the ninth inning when Emslie declared Jennings out at first, there was a terrible row. Brodie, who was on the coaching line, in his excitement, struck Doyle and the players all flocked in. Quiet was restored until the innings ended. Then the crowd back of the ropes rushed at Emslie and the police went to his assistance. He was safely escorted to the club house amid groans and yells of derision.

The uncertainty surrounding the contest and the miserable weather held the attendance down to 11,720.

RELICS BOUND FOR HOME.

They Were Loaned by the Pope for the Columbian Exposition.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The Columbian relics loaned to this government for display at the Chicago fair by the pope, the king of Spain and the duke of Tallyrand have just commenced their homeward journey. They were taken from the basement of the state department and placed on board the Norfolk steamer under the supervision of Horace L. Washington, who represents the government, and a strong guard of naval marines.

They will be delivered on board the Detroit at the Norfolk navy yard.

There were nine large boxes. They will be delivered at Naples for return to the pope with an autograph letter of thanks from President Cleveland.

The original portrait of Columbus, belonging to the duke of Tallyrand, will be landed at Cadiz with the Spanish loans, and returned through the American embassy at Paris. One of the packages Mr. Washington took under his arm in a cab, and it will share his state-room on the steamer. It weighed less than five pounds, but it contained the famous codicil to Queen Elizabeth's will, and is regarded as absolutely priceless.

Howgate Again Locked Up at Washington.

Greeted By His Daughter, a Young Lady Now, on His Arrival at the Marshall's Office—He Seems Cheerful and Relieved in Mind—Refuses To Talk for Publication.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Captain H. W. Howgate the defaulting disbursing officer of the weather bureau, who was arrested in New York last week, arrived in Washington last night in the custody of ex-Chief Drummond, of the United States marshal's office at New York. A number of persons were in the station, but they were principally suburban residents awaiting the departure of their several trains. Captain Howgate wore a suit of dark gray over which he drew as he alighted from the car, a light overcoat. In his hand he carried a rusty, well-worn traveling bag. The trio walked rapidly through the station to a carriage in waiting and were driven at once to the United States marshal's office. Upon their arrival there Deputy Bostwick formally surrendered his prisoner to Deputy Marshal Robinson, taking a receipt therefor.

When Captain Howgate stepped into the adjoining room, a tall, stately young lady arose and stepped toward him.

"Well, papa;" she said, smiling pleasantly, "I am glad to see you again."

Captain Howgate shook the outstretched hand warmly and seated himself beside the young lady, who was his daughter, Miss Ida. The two chatted informally for a period of twenty minutes, when Captain Howgate was taken to the jail.

During the conversation with his daughter, Captain Howgate was the coolest and most self-possessed man in the room. He was apparently oblivious of the reporters and others standing near, and chatted as unconcernedly with Miss Howgate as though their presence there was an accidental circumstance. He looked bright and cheerful and his appearance did not in any way accord with the descriptions which represented him as being bent with age and bowed and broken by disgrace. When told that the prison van was waiting, he arose, kissed his daughter tenderly, and strode quietly out of the room. He was taken in the prison van to the United States jail by deputy warden Jas. F. Springman. He was deeply impressed by the changes in the city's appearance since his hurried exit from Washington more than a dozen years ago. He inquired curiously the name of the huge oblong brick building near the marshal's office and was told that it was the United States pension office. He spoke of the Washington monument and said that when he left Washington it was in an unfinished condition. Its simple but massive dignity seemed to impress him favorably, and he referred to it several times. Springman asked him if he was glad to get back to Washington. He replied that he was and added that he was sorry he had ever left it.

His reception at the jail was that which would be accorded to a prisoner of the most common place character. He was taken in charge by Captain Crocker, of the jail guard. He was permitted to remain in the outer office long enough to say to the little group of newspaper men that he was not ready as yet to talk for publication. He intimated that a few days later he might do so, but politely begged to be excused from being interviewed at this time.

Captain Howgate was placed in cell No. 2, in what is known as murderers' row. It is the cell occupied by Guiteau, the assassin of President Garfield, at the time that Sergeant Mason, who was one of the soldiers on duty at the jail, shot at him. It was explained that Captain Howgate was placed in this cell inasmuch as it is directly under the eye of the prison officials and more convenient for visitors than those beyond. From the moment of his arrival in Washington until the prison doors hid him from view, Captain Howgate was in a singularly happy, almost joyous mood. He looked like a man who felt that he had nothing further to conceal, and who could sleep soundly at night without the ever-present fear of arrest. This cheerful composure manifested itself in parting from the two officers who brought him to Washington. Turning to Deputy Marshal Bostwick, he said pleasantly, at the same time extending his hand, "good-bye, Mr. Bostwick; I want to thank you for your courtesy." Then addressing Drummond, who had made the arrest, he said: "I have no reason to feel grateful to you for what you have done, but I have no hard feeling against you; good-bye."

At the jail, he greeted Captain Crocker with the easy familiarity of an old friend, and the gray walls of the gloomy old prison had not apparently the slightest terror for him.

Fought Against the Sultan.

Paris, Oct 5.—The Journal says that a plot was discovered early in September to assassinate the sultan of Turkey, but the affair was kept quiet. The Turks embarked on the steamer Djemmah at Salonica, having in their possession cartridges and materials for making bombs. The men were arrested and confessed, and were handed over to the authorities.

Results of Sunday's Gale.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 5.—The disastrous results of the gale on Sunday last are now becoming known. The American fishing vessel Robert C. MacDonald is a total loss in the Bay islands. The crew were saved with great difficulty. The steamer Diana, on her way from Labrador, encountered the full force of the gale and had her decks swept clean. Vessels arriving from Grand Banks report great havoc among the fishing fleet.

That discerning newspaper, the Westfield Leader, says:

The Plainfield Daily Press deserves praise for being up to time every day. On Wednesday it was the only daily to announce Hill's nomination for Governor of New York.

It further praises The Press for its faithfulness to the Gillam evangelistic meetings.

For all of which, thanks!

That letter of John T. Dunn's is waking 'em up. It has already shaken Elizabeth. The Journal (redhot Republican) is unable to answer it, and can only say:

Hon John T. Dunn has written a letter to the Plainfield Press (Dem.) to prove that the Republican party is wholly to blame for what are commonly known as "Democratic times". The article is over four columns long, set solid, in nice, small type. Those who wish to read it may send to the Plainfield Press for copies.

The Herald republishes the letter, and says:

Mr. Dunn tears the veil of hypocrisy from the faces of the plutocrats, exhibits the robberies perpetrated by McKinleyism, and shows that the tariff act, though not all the people desired, will produce better times in the near future than would be possible under the thieving system of the protectionists. Mr. Dunn is now in good shape and the Republicans must look out for "grape".

E.R. POPE FOR CONGRESS

Republicans Massing Forces in His Favor.

HIS OWN DESIRE, NOT TO RUN.

But He May Sacrifice Self for the Sake of His Party—Plainfield Anxious to Have a Candidate, and Sounding the Available Timber.

The news that James L. Anthony was being urged by influential friends to accept the Republican nomination for Congress, published exclusively in The Daily Press last night, caused much talk among Republicans through the town. There will still be more talk tonight, over the announcement now made, that pressure is being brought to bear on Elias R. Pope, ex-Postmaster, ex-Assemblyman, and leaders of the local Republicans, to stand as a candidate. Mr. Pope's strength in his party is known to all, but his announced determination never again to run for office has kept campaign managers from asking him to run hitherto. He is still averse to running, but may be induced to sink his personal inclination for the sake of the Plainfield Republicans anxious to present a candidate to the convention which has assured Plainfield the nomination if she can present a candidate.

It is stated that the Union County Grand Jury has several of such cases under consideration and that one complaint has been made to the Somerset County authorities.

AWOKE TO DEATH.

TICKET FOR EUROPE IN POCKET.

The Victim a Workingman Homeward-Bound for Sunny Italy—Had Missed His Steamer, and Was Resting in Plainfield.

A laborer who was just about to return to his home and family in Italy met a terrible death on the Central Railroad by the Pond Tool Works last night. The cars evidently moved down upon him while he slept, awaking him to die.

Coal-trains often leave cars on the switch by the works at night. The crew that did this last night pushed the cars which were already standing on the switch further along and left them there, not knowing they had killed a man.

Foreman Owen Mohan of Section 13 at 7 this morning saw the boby beneath one of the cars and sent word to the North Avenue station. The remains were taken to Casey's morgue in a wagon which Manager Mills of the United States Express Company kindly furnished with Driver Runyon.

The man had been frightfully crushed about the head. The right arm was broken. A bolt projecting from one of the trucks which struck him had pierced his back. It is supposed that the man sat on the ground at the end of the line of cars, leaning against the end of Chicago and Illinois box-car 4,084. He was dragged along about 30 feet from where an extra coat, cap and loaf of bread were found. His neck may have been broken.

Detective Corsa examined the papers in the man's pockets. From a passport he learned that the man was Giuseppe Feeroglio, aged 56, a native of Torenio, Italy. He came to this country in February, 1892. He had been employed in iron mines in Pennsylvania as his account book showed. His wife had sent him, with a loving letter, a ticket to come home on the Germania, sailing September 22 last. He had come from Chicago and missed the steamer.

The county physician was notified and said he would come to Plainfield this afternoon.

A TRIP TO VENICE.

WALTER M'GEE CONDUCTS A PLAINFIELD EXCURSION.

Comfortably Seated in Vincent Chapel, a Large Gathering Is Transported to the Dreamland City.

The first of a series of six talks on popular subjects, by well-known Plainfield men, was given by Walter McGee in Vincent Chapel last evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League. His talk was interesting and edifying, on "What I Saw in Venice".

Mr. McGee was introduced by President Joy. In part, he spoke as follows:

If I only had a reasonable excuse for not being here I think I would like it better. I expressed a feeling of hesitation to my wife before I came, but she consoled me with the fact that perhaps there would n't be very many present. However, I will endeavor to tell you something of what I saw in Venice.

The city stands today as it has for ages, and is one of the finest cities in the world. It is unique in construction, position, antique treasures, and historic fame, and in the gay temperament of the people.

There are 80 islands, intersected by 147 canals, which are crossed by hundreds of bridges, and the whole is divided by one grand canal. The treasures of Venice are very valuable. It has been said that if all her treasures were sold, a sufficient revenue would be received to pay the national debt of Italy.

I arrived in Venice about 6:30 in the evening, just as the sun was sinking behind the towering white buildings, and the beautiful glow over the entire city produced an indescribable effect; the scene was certainly all that it was ever painted. I was told by friends it was a rare day.

A woman who had visited Venice was asked how she liked it. She replied that it was a beautiful city, but when she was there the city was all flooded with water.

The strange condition of things makes life in Venice a very interesting one. It is an excellent place for nervous people, for one never hears the rattle of wagons, and, there being no dust, no watering carts are needed.

The tolling of the bells in St. Mark's Cathedral, the soft, sweet strains of music by the minstrels on the canals in the early evening, are soothing, and lull one to sleep.

I saw the city by moonlight, and the beautiful effect of the blue sky and sea has never been exaggerated.

Everyone lives in a palace, however humble it may be, and each home has an entrance on a canal.

There are a very few steamers on the grand canal, but gondolas are used principally. The question why gondolas are painted black has an interesting answer. At one time the owners vied with one another in the elaborate painting of the boat until the rivalry became so bitter that the Council found it necessary to make it compulsory that all should be painted alike.

Venice has a Coney Island and a Bowery, but on a more refined scale than ours.

The grand services on St. Marks Day are impressive. Every husband and sweetheart is compelled to send his wife and girl a bunch of moss roses.

Tapped the Underground River.

The sewer excavation has opened an active spring at the corner of Watchung avenue and Ninth street. Pumping will be necessary while the pipe is being laid.

After Plainfield Constructs Her Disposal Beds, If They Are a Nuisance, Dunellen Will Fight.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CALL:—The Plainfield Courier takes up the cudgel against Dunellen on the sewerage question. Its editorials of last Friday and Saturday gave us some good advice from its point of view. The editor of the Courier knows very well that if the beds are built so near Dunellen there will be no more sales or renting of property in our borough north of the railroad; and in fact the name of being the cesspool of Plainfield of itself, will at once prevent strangers locating in our town. Since Plainfield is so regardless of the wishes of its neighbors as the editorials of the Courier and the actions of the Council indicate, I believe it will be no more than fair to let them go ahead and spend their money building the beds before entering any objections.

We all know that we cannot prevent them from building the beds, but as for using them afterwards that is another question. The editor of the Courier can build a fertilizer factory in his back yard and his neighbors cannot prevent his completing the building, but let him grind one or two dead and putrid animals and he will find out how quickly, how easily and how cheaply they can stop him.

We will not be obliged to go to South Farmington, Mass., or Pullman, Ill., or other places where they maintain an open cesspool covering acres for our witnesses. The beds will witness for themselves, even as the ones at South Farmington did to the editor of the Courier when he visited them, for he says in his Saturday's editorial: "The odor arising from the beds is almost imperceptible." Then there was an odor Mr. Editor? Its s'ze depending I suppose on the condition one's olfactory nerves, or the direction of the wind, or one's nearness.

Further, "the effluent, or water which filters away from the beds, is purer than the water supply of any city in the country." Here is a chance for Plainfield to secure a large revenue by bottling the fluid and selling it for domestic use. Does the editor of the Courier think the people of Dunellen so "thick" as to believe that? If he believes what he writes we shall expect him to buy a lot bordering on the beds and use the effluent in his home instead of the water provided by the water supply company. In fact it will be for him a spring of eternal health and pleasure.

He speaks of the "affluent" (I suppose he means effluent) as being pure Webster in defining "affluent" says, "abounding in goods or riches." The Courier must have had in mind all the good things that will flow through the sewer pipes to us in Dunellen, and if I had never seen a sewer I would picture in my mind the outlet constantly surrounded by pushing eager crowds of Dunellenites fishing for those good things. But in the sewers I have seen the "affluent" which entered from the closets of the houses, the excrements, etc., of the many inhabitants was effluvium when it reached the outlet, and I always hastened away to avoid the "almost imperceptible odor."

We will take the Courier's advice as to "posting ourselves thoroughly regarding the matter before hurrying to the courts," but when the proper time come we will be on hand. NO SEWER RAT.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The cycling girls are all framing the Daily Press verse about Monte Scott.

Everyone doesn't know Plainfield's favorite's nationality. Monte is of Scotch-English parentage and came from Scotland to this country 15 years ago. He was the champion runner of Rhode Island for eight years. He graduated to the high wheel and made his mark as an ordinary rider. Road riding on a safety came next and now he's in the front on both the track and road.

Water from Smitten Rock.

The "Feast in the Wilderness" entertainment in Bethel Chapel last night was largely attended.

Rev. Dr. Richards ably presided, and stiring addresses were made by Rev. W. A. Alexander, S. F. Gibson and H. G. Miller.

The decorations were beautiful, the effects novel. In the story of Moses a painted canvas "rock" was smitten, and an artificial fountain gushed forth real water with pretty effect.

Wrecked the Trolley.

Mr. Hammond of Bound Brook drove to Plainfield this morning and when nearing Madison avenue on Front street he attempted to turn, when Car No. 6 of the Street Railway ran into his wagon, taking a rear wheel off and dumping his load of vegetables into the street. He secured a wheel from a blacksmith shop, and intends suing the officials of the company looking for a settlement.

Denies Kaerth's Statements.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Please correct in justice to Dr. Boone the statement in your paper of last evening that Carl Kaerth had offered to compromise with him before suit was brought for $200. On the contrary it was Dr. Boone who sought the compromise. My instructions were not to bring the suit if Mr. Kaerth would compensate the doctor only for loss of time and practice during the 18 days of his illness. This they refused and said they were not liable at all. It was only when no other course was left open that we began suit and then we advised the doctor to sue for injuries to his person and for his sufferings as well as for his pecuniary loss.

A Complete Surprise.

Mrs. Gustave Sutterlein was agreeably surprised last evening by a large number of her friends, including members of the German Reformed Church and the Ladies Singing Society of the Saengerbund. The evening was pleasantly passed with listening to several choice musical selections and to excellent addresses by Gustave and Michael Sutterlein. The younger people enjoyed dancing later in the evening after which refreshments were served.

The affair was a complete surprise, notwithstanding the fact that it was previously announced by a stupid newspaper, so-called.

SPRINGFIELD'S BANNER.

Her Christian Endeavor Society Scored 100 Per Cent.

ROUSING COUNTY CONVENTION.

Dr. Lewis Shows that Good Government Follows Christianity—Helpful Advice to Young Men and Young Women.

Christian Endeavorers crowded the new Seventh-Day Baptist Church last evening. They came from all parts of Union county to meet in a Fall conference under the auspices of the county union. Visitors and Plainfield people began to fill the church at 7:45, when D. E. Titsworth opened a song service. For 15 minutes selections from the Christian Endeavor Edition of Gospel Hymns were sung, Mrs. B. T. Barnes was the organist.

The conference began at 8 with prayer by Rev. I. Martine of Dunellen. Miss Alice B. Spangenberg of Netherwood was the first speaker. She told of what is to be done at the State Convention in New Brunswick next Thursday and Friday. No one could attend without becoming a more enthusiastic member of the society and better fitted for the work of the coming year. Miss Spangenberg concluded with the hope that Union county would be well represented at the convention. Her address was followed by the excellent rendering of the hymn "O Hear Our Prayer" by a quartette composed of E. E. Runyon, F. S. Knight, C. L. Titsworth and D. E. Titsworth.

Charles T. Bingham of Cranford, Superintendent of the Lookout and Prayer Meeting Department, led an open parliament on "Lookout Work". After a short prayer he spoke of the importance of the Lookout Committee. Upon the results of this work depends the prosperity of the whole society. In response to Mr. Bingham's questions the following statements were brought out: Three or five members should be in the committee. The size of the society governs the size of the committee. It is advisable to have the oldest and most efficient Endeavorers working there. New members would perhaps receive good training there, but their presence would be apt to put all the work upon the older members.

Some committees hold meetings every week. Others meet once a month, a week after the consecration meeting. It is well to divide the field into districts, each committee member taking a district. The rule which drops from the list the name of a member who is absent from three consecutive consecration meetings should not be enforced too strictly. In Cranford the Lookout Committee and the Prayer Meeting Committee have a joint prayer meeting before each regular meeting of that kind.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis was introduced as the speaker on "Christian Endeavor and Good Citizenship". Dr. Lewis said that he could but touch upon a few topics in the ten minutes allowed him. He said in short: The Christian Endeavor was founded at the time when it was most needed. Nothing goes by chance in God's affairs, and there was a cause for the foundation of the Society. The country was at a crisis. It was being filled with men of no character or education. God raised the Christian Endeavor movement to teach men of His existence and make them acknowledge their obligations to Him.

Christian Endeavor is meant to bring about better government by raising the masses in the way the gospel was spread, by individual effort. Good government can only come by Christians making others better. The Christian Endeavor emphasizes the idea of personal responsibility and upon this good government depends. Every voter must realize his duty in taking part in the governing of the country.

Christian Endeavor will help up us attain good government as soon as it realizes that it must work by gathering the people in its organization and elevating them, not by attacks on the outside. It will die as soon as it enters the political field. Evil hates individual influence, it likes party manipulations. Organization as a political factor means death to the Christian Endeavor movement.

Every man and woman should feel that good citizenship is a part of Christianity. The women have a wonderfully powerful voice in politics through their silent influence. Let the Endeavorers keep close to the throne of God and send out the power of right throughout the people. Then they will obtain for Christianity the control of every line of thought and action.

Elmer E. Runyon sang a beautiful solo, "The Pilgrim", a collection was taken up, and then Fred S. Williams of Rahway began a discussion of "Bible Study for Endeavorers". He said that the subject was referred to in the first part of the pledge. Systematic reading was a great factor in the work. A number of Endeavorers expressed their views on the matter. They thought that the example of the Y. M. C. A. was well worth following and reported that several plans were being prepared in different societies.

The congregation sang "Onward, Christian Soldier" at the close of the discussion. The transaction of business was then taken up. President Teller reported that the Executive Committee had appointed heads for all the departments. The treasurer's figures were as follows:

Balance on hand May 28	$ 24
Collection in Westfield	25.00
Total with contributions	$55.24
Disbursements	32.62
Balance, October 4	$22.62

Hope Chapel, 49 members, 28 present, 55 per cent.

South Plainfield, 23 members, 14 present, 60 per cent.

Trinity Reformed Church, 112 active members, 70 present, 62 per cent.

Marcouniar, 7 members, 7 present, 100 per cent.

Juniors of Springfield, 9 members, 9 present, 100 per cent.

As the Springfield Juniors had the greatest percentage of active members present the prize banner was awarded to that society. Miss Josie Stiles, the superintendent, made a short speech on behalf of the members. With the pronouncing of the benediction Dr. Lewis then closed the meeting.

PLAINFIELD PARADISE.

ALL THE WORLD LOOKS HERE FOR MODEL HOMES.

This Elegant New Residence is Already Being Duplicated by Admiring Outsiders.

Good service is done Plainfield by the repeated publication in the Architects and Builders Edition of The Scientific American, of pictures and descriptions of Plainfield homes. The latest issue gives exterior and interior views, in colors, of the residence of ex Councilman and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., together with the following technical description:

"The subject of one of our plates in colors in this issue is a Colonial residence, recently erected for B. A. Hegeman, Jr., at Plainfield, N. J. An additional view is given on page 49, an interior view on page 51. The design is appropriate to its surroundings, simple in its outlines, which are broken to give it a picturesque appearance, and is roomy and thoroughly comfortable. The foundations are built of brick. The first story is covered with beveled siding, and elsewhere shingle-work. It is painted Colonial yellow, with ivory white trimmings. The roof is shingled and left to weather finish. Blinds painted bottle green. Dimensions: Front 36 ft.; side, 51 ft. 6 in., not including rear porch. Height of ceilings: Cellar, 7 ft. 6 in.; first story, 9 ft. 6 in.; second, 9 ft.; third, 8 ft., 6 in. The rooms on the first floor, consisting of a large hall, parlor, library, and dining-room, are thrown together, the vista from the several rooms being effective.

"The hall is a very unique apartment, and is trimmed with ash. It has a hard-wood polished floor, a paneled wainscoting, and an ornamental staircase, with a low rise, broad landings, and newel post extending to ceiling. This hall is lighted effectively by several stained glass windows. The parlor and library are trimmed with whitewood, and treated in white enamel. The fireplaces in these apartments are furnished with tiles and Colonial mantels, with columns and mirrors. The library has a paneled divan, and a window opening out upon rear porch. Dining-room is trimmed with ash. It has a wainscot in panels, and a fireplace, trimmed with tiles and provided with a hardwood mantel. The floors are laid with North Carolina pine in narrow widths and polished.

"Kitchen and pantries are trimmed and wainscoted with yellow pine, and they are furnished with all the usual fixtures of the modern type in the best possible manner. The second floor contains a spacious hall, five large bedrooms, ten good-sized closets and bath. These rooms are trimmed with whitewood, finished natural. Bathroom is wainscoted and paved with white enameled tiles, and is fitted up complete, with exposed plumbing. There are one bedroom and ample storage on third floor. Cemented cellar contains furnaces, laundry, and other apartments. This house has been duplicated at Jamaica, L. I., for $6,000, Frank W. Beall, architect, 318 Broadway, New York.

OUR MODEL SCHOOLS.

Principal Maxson Tells the State Their Merits.

SUGGESTS A GREAT INNOVATION.

Hopes to Divide Grades into Half-Year Intervals, Instead of Having Each Class a Whole Year Long—Popular Confidence and Pride in the Schools.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson of the Plainfield Public Schools has sent to Addison B. Poland, State Superintendent, the following report:

During his first year a superintendent can do little more than get acquainted with his schools. In forming this acquaintance I have been much pleased to find the Plainfield schools generally doing excellent work and the teachers earnest and well prepared for their duties.

Discipline.—With but one or two exceptions the schools have been under excellent discipline. It is very seldom that a case is referred to the superintendent by either teacher or parent. We aim to make all discipline a means of moral growth in the pupil. While we wish to avoid all feeling of unnatural restraint, we, at the same time, try to secure such self-control on the part of the children that there shall be nothing to prevent close attention to work. In the discipline of individuals we have secured, to an unusual degree, the co-operation and support of the parents.

Accommodations.—While it is less than two years since an addition was made to the Bryant building, we are again beginning to be pressed for room, nearly all of our first-year rooms being much overcrowded.

It is proposed to afford relief by the erection of a new high school building. When the high school vacates the present building its rooms will be turned over to the grammar schools, allowing the primaries to expand into the rooms now occupied by the grammar grades. A lot has been selected for this purpose, that will give the new high school a quiet, beautiful and healthful location. It is the policy of our board to keep the buildings in perfect repair, and to watch with greatest care the sanitary condition of the schools.

High School.—This school was never more prosperous. The graduating class this year is the largest in the history of the school. The same may be said of the entering class. It has been found necessary to fit up class-rooms in the assembly hall and employ an additional teacher to care for the increased attendance.

The course of study which bore quite hard on the classical portion of the school has been revised so as to relieve this pressure, and some other changes have been made, to the end that the school might give either a good, thorough preparation for the colleges and universities or a strong, general academic training for those who do not aspire to a college course, and do this without endangering the health of any of its pupils. As a further convenience for the large number that come from a distance we have adopted the one-session plan, the school being in session from 8:20 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Our weakest department is that of Natural Science, our present accommodations making it impossible to follow the best modern lines of work. In the new building it is proposed to give this department such fittings as shall make it what it should be, one of the strongest in the school.

Grammar and Primary.—In the lower schools the work has been conducted upon the same general plan as in former years. The grading is now so well perfected that it seems wise to pay particular attention to the question of how to shorten the time required to complete the course, in the case of the brighter pupils. Statistics seem to indicate the consumption of too much time in the case of a large proportion of the children. Special efforts have been made during the year to ascertain the causes of the retarding and to advance the pupils more rapidly.

Attention has also been given to reducing routine work for the teacher and worry by the pupils to the smallest degree possible. To this end, examinations have been reduced in number, in length and in importance, and they are now given without previous notice to the pupil, so that there can be no cramming nor worry in anticipation. Pupils that had maintained a satisfactory standing during the year were excused entirely from this final examination.

The plan of individual promotion and irregular promotion of small groups during the year has been tried more largely than ever before, and, in the main, successfully.

To do full justice to the children I believe the grades will eventually have to be reduced to half-year intervals, since it is too near to an outrage upon nature to attempt to keep the forty or fifty children in one room exactly abreast mentally for a whole year. With half-year intervals more attention could be paid to individual capacities, since it would be possible to change children from grade to grade with much less loss from the skipping.

Library.—Quite a number of books, suitable to the lower grade, have been added to the school library by purchase during the year, but no effort has been made to raise money by public entertainments. The year has had many interruptions and extra demands, and it seemed wise not to further divert the energies of teachers and pupils from their legitimate work.

We have looked rather to the Free Public Library to meet our needs and have obtained the privilege for each teacher to draw an extra number of books for school use, also a reduction of the age limit for obtaining cards and the granting of special privileges to pupils, indorsed by their teachers. These enlarged privileges and the cordiality shown by our library athorities will enable us to make much use of the public library and to train the pupils both to like good books and to frequent the library. The latter point I consider of no small importance, since a child that is accustomed to visit the library as a pupil is quite likely to continue his visits when his school life is finished.

Plainfield schools are fortunate in possessing the confidence and pride of the majority of the parents. This, with a School Board of an unusually high grade, affords the teachers most excellent conditions for good work, with an eye single to the good of the children.

LADD-NEXSEN.

A BRILLIANT OCTOBER WEDDING ON PUTNAM AVENUE.

'Mid Autumn's Floral Treasures Tender Vows are Plighted—Society People Who Were There.

Rev. C. E. Herring of the First Presbyterian Church officiated at a pretty home wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Nexsen, 11 Putnam avenue, last evening, uniting in marriage Miss M. Evelyn Nexsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nexsen, and William J. Ladd of Willow avenue. About 60 friends of the families interested attended.

The ceremony was performed at 8 at the end of the double parlors, which had been beautifully decorated with flowers by Mrs. E. M. Johnston of Brooklyn and Mrs. W. F. Pellitier. The bride was gowned in gray faille silk, trimmed with old point lace. She carried a handsome bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor, Miss Louise De Golyer, wore a gown of white corded bengaline. Her bouquet matched the bride's. The bridal marched was played by Mrs. W. F. Pellitier as the party entered.

The bride received many handsome gifts. After a wedding supper had been partaken of, Mr. and Mrs. Ladd left by the 9:37 train for Philadelphia. They will spend two weeks visiting relatives in New York State and New England and then return to take up their residence at 20 Willow avenue.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Arkman, Hugh Arkman, George C. Blanke, the Misses Katherine and Alice Blanke, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnston, Mrs. Fowler and the Misses Fowler, Miss Ella Fowler, Miss May L. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Nexsen, Miss Adelaide Nexsen, Mr. and Mrs. Nexsen, and Randolph Nexsen, all of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Butler, Miss Blanche Butler, and J. H. Butler of New York; Mrs. Edward Boddy of Bath Beach, L. I; John Keating and Mrs. Mary Tait of Mt. Kisco, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sexton, Jr., Charles and Herbert Sexton, and Miss May Sexton of Staten Island; Maynard Evans, Miss Madeline Evans, Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, Miss Minnie E. Ladd, Miss Mabel Ladd and others from Plainfield and North Plainfield.

MUSIC AND LITERATURE.

Last night's session of the C. Y. M. L. was made especially enjoyable by the rendering of the following excellent programme:

Recitation—"The Slave".....Miss Lizzie Day
Recitation—"The Engineer's Story",

All of the numbers were well rendered and greatly appreciated. As usual, Mr. Ward made the hit of the evening. Wm. O'Connor announced the programme. The Misses Kittie Quinn, Alice Keeley and May Flanagan were accompanists.

Establishing in Plainfield.

Saturday of this week the Grand Union Tea Co. will open a branch store in this city at 138 West Front street, in the room formerly occupied by Doane & Edsall's shoe store. This company opens here under auspicious circumstances. They are not strangers here. They have been doing business in this city and vicinity through their agents with wagons from their Newark store for several years. Their goods and method of doing business are familiar to many of our readers, and it is believed that their opening here will be a good move and will be appreciated by their friends and customers. Give them a call Saturday.

May Is the Girl for Hugh.

A young woman of temerity and candor, signing herself "May E., Plainfield, N. J.", contributes the following straight tip to the New York Evening World:

TO THE EDITOR:

In answer to letter signed "Hugh", would say that if it is impossible for him to make the acquaintance of the young lady desired by an introduction, I think it would be right (and I am a young lady modest and refined, as you term her) to write her a letter and ask for her acquaintance. If she is desirous of an introduction she will help "Hugh" out by a favorable reply.

Never mind, May; Leap Year comes along again in fifteen months or so.

MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the spinal cord, near the base of the brain, and so sensitive is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.

Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of these nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great majority of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

Dr. FRANKLIN MILES, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with it, chief among them being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion, pressure, blues, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how they may manifest themselves. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by Dr. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle. Six bottles for $5. Express prepaid. It contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

THIS REPUBLICAN DISSATISFIED.

Does n't Intend to Have Worthy Candidates Summarily Choked Off.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In the Elizabeth Herald of Wednesday I read that ex-Sheriff Gisaby was a prominent candidate for the office of County Clerk. I have failed to see his name mentioned in any manner in the Elizabeth Journal up to date. But in its issue of Tuesday last The Journal assumes to name the candidates for both Congress and County Clerk, and gives the party to understand that it must take the Journal selection or suffer the consequences, as it says that "Mr. Fowler and Mr. Halsey are working in perfect harmony". Is it possible that the bosses have not heard that Mr. Gisaby was a candidate for County Clerk and Mr. Griffin for Congress? Or do they propose to choke them off and force their candidates on their party, whether it suits the voters or not? ONE WHO READS.

TO PROTECT PEKIN

England Decides To Send Troops to China.

May Also Dispatch Ships To Strengthen Her Fleet in Chinese Waters—Protection of British Interests the Ostensible Object—Result of the Cabinet Council.

London, Oct. 5.—The Star prints a dispatch received by a London news agency to the effect that the married foreign customs officials resident in Pekin are hastily leaving the city with their families. The Manchester Guardian makes the suggestion that the ministerial council shall consider the demand of Russia that the powers collectively interfere with the view of effecting a settlement of the trouble between China and Japan. Lord Rosebery fears that if England refuses to agree to Russia's demand the latter will act alone in the matter and that such action will result to the detriment of Great Britain.

The council of ministers for which a call was issued two days ago met in Downing street at noon. When the meeting opened Sir William Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer, and Right Hon. Henry Campbell-Bannerman, secretary of state for war, had not arrived. Right Hon. Henry Fowler, secretary of state for India, was also absent. The council closed at 1:40 p. m.

It was announced afterwards, upon authority, that the council, after discussing the state of affairs in China, decided to send troops to that country, in order to protect British interests. It is probable that additional ships will be sent to strengthen the fleet in Chinese waters under the command of Admiral Freemantle. It is also said that in consequence of the meeting the British legation at Pekin will soon be guarded by British blue jackets and native Indian soldiers. The St. James' Gazette says Lord Dufferin, the British ambassador to France, has been summoned to London.

A dispatch from Port Louis to a news agency here repeats the denial previously made that a blockade of the ports of Madagascar had been proclaimed. The dispatch adds that the report arose through the misconstruction of the steps taken by the French war ships along the coast to prevent the landing of arms and amunition for the Hovas. The same dispatch states that the French resident general in Madagascar warned the settlers in the island to repair to the coast in view of the possibility that hostilities might occur. Many of them followed his advice and went to the coast towns, but Bishop Cazet and the Catholic missionaries on the island remained at their posts.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The Figaro, Gaulois and Journal des Debats are inclined to attribute the calling of the cabinet meeting to complications which are likely to arise and may result in the total overthrow of China through continued Japanese victories.

The French ministerial council met in the Palace of the Elysee. After some discussion it was decided to institute proceedings against the Parti Ouvrier (newspaper) for its recent pun regarding the French army manouevres, which is looked upon as an insult to the army. The decree appointing Baron de Courcel ambassador to Great Britain, to succeed M. Decrais, recalled, was signed by President Casimir-Perrier.

Brussels, Oct. 5.—The Independence Belge says the time has not yet come for England to interfere in Chinese affairs. England's differences, with France are grave, but it ought not to be difficult to arrange a settlement of them through diplomatic channels if negotiations be prudently conducted.

McKinley at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5.—The republicans of Kansas bade adieu to Governor McKinley, and, crossing the line into the Coyote state, the chief executive of Ohio, as the guest of the state central committee, continued his campaign in behalf of a republican majority in the next house of representatives and incidentally in the interest of the candidates of that party on the state ticket. Fifty thousand people welcomed him on the streets of Lincoln and in and about the Coliseum 15,000 people applauded his arraignment of the democratic party and a plea for the return of republican supremacy. It was a trying day for the man from the Buckeye state especially after his thirteen speeches of the day before.

Smith's Wounds May Prove Fatal.

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 5.—Louis Smith, who was mistaken for a burglar Tuesday night and shot by John Wainright, is a little better and the attending physicians say he may recover unless complications set in. Smith's throat is in a bad condition. It was torn open by the shot, and this may prove fatal. Wainright is confined in the county jail at Freehold. His wife and two small children are with him. The opinion is that Wainright was a little hasty in shooting as investigation shows that Smith did speak when ordered to by Wainright.

Killed by a Chicken-bone.

Bridgeton, N. J., Oct. 5.—Charles Bramford, of Fairton, who on last Wednesday week, while eating his dinner got a piece of chicken fast in his throat, is dead. Mr. Bramford's case is a peculiar one and a post-mortem examination will be held. In trying to extract the substance Mr. Bramford put a catheter down his throat, which punctured the heart and lung. Deceased leaves a widow and three small children.

Crispi's Seventy-fifth Birthday.

STARTLING G. A. R. STORY.

Capt. Geo. H. Davenport, the Popular and Well-known G. A. R. Veteran, Relates an Experience—A Leader and Power in Grand Army Circles.

CAPT. GEO. H. DAVENPORT.

Capt. George H. Davenport of Bernardston, Mass., is a most popular and widely known man, especially in Grand Army circles. He is Pension Agent and everybody knows him. He is best known to the whole country through his discovery of "Davenport's Silver Pomade," probably the best article of its kind in the world.

Capt. Davenport is a most entertaining speaker, and his relation of the following incident will be interesting to everybody.

"I had been troubled severely for years with heart disease, and the effects of malarial poison contracted in the army. I was so nervous and weak that I was unable to do any hard work for years.

"I consulted many doctors but have found no good results from them. I finally used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and can say that it has done great things for me.

"I have been helped in the heart trouble more than from any and all other things I ever used. I find that for weakness and nervous excitement it is a great help. For instance, on Memorial Day I addressed the G. A. R. at Northfield, and on the following day at Whateley, I gave an address before their G. A. R., without any apparent fatigue, which I could not have done before I used Dr. Greene's Nervura.

"I have often recommended this wonderful cure for disease to my friends, and shall be happy to answer any further inquiries from anyone."

The experience of the gallant captain is the experience of everybody. All who use this great curer of disease, this restorer of health and strength, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, report that it invariably makes them well.

The weak, nervous and ailing should try it on the strength of what everybody who has used it says of its wonderful curative powers. It will cure you.

Why waste time in trying uncertain and untried remedies, when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City. If you take this medicine you can consider yourself under Dr. Greene's direct professional care, and you can consult him or write to him about your case, freely and without charge. This is a guarantee that this remedy will cure, possessed by no other medicine in the world.

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANS.

Speedy Work Expected by the Convention To-day.

Boston, Oct. 6.—The republican state convention will meet in Music hall today. The session bids fair to be short and sharp. Congressman Wm. Cogswell, of Salem, will preside and in his address will denounce the democratic party for passing a tariff bill for which David B. Hill would not vote, which the president would not sign and which Senator Mills declares does not reflect the sentiment of 1,000 people; which reduced revenues only $19,000,000, mostly on luxuries, and to do this enacted a sugar tax of $43,000,000 and an odious income tax. He will also condemn it for increasing the bonded debt, spoliating the gold reserve, attacking the pension system, repealing the federal election laws, looting the consular service and in the Lilinokalani matter. He will also declare that the action of Gorman, Brice, et al., in killing the Wilson bill, was the only glimmer of statesmanship manifested by the democrats since they assumed power.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge will present the name of Gov. Greenhalge to the convention and move his renomination by acclamation. Ex-Senator Henry L. Dawes is to present the name of Secretary Olin, of the state department. Gen. Wm. Osborne will move the renomination of State Treasurer Phillips. Senator Hoar will be chairman of the committee on resolutions and will read the platform which will contain less than 600 words. It will reiterate well-known republican principles, and will make no illusion to the A. P. A., simply demanding a public school at common charge, free from partisan or sectarian control, better immigration and naturalization laws and no distinction of birth or creed in the rights of American citizenship.

Georgia Populists Claim Fraud.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 6.—The official returns are not all in, but Atkinson, democrat, runs behind his ticket by about 10,000. The rest of the ticket is elected by 25,000 to 30,000. The populists will have seven senators and forty members of the house. This will leave the democrats in full control, however. The populists claim fraud and that they have carried the state.

Encountered a Hurricane at Sea.

London, Oct. 6.—The Hamburg-American steamer Normannia, just arrived at Southampton, reports having experienced a violent hurricane and tremendouse seas on Oct. 1 and 2. The boatswain's legs were broken and seven of the crew were injured. The hatches were battened and the passengers were compelled to stay below for three days. None of the passengers was injured.

GAYNOR HAS DECLINED

Does Not Wish To Injure Hill's Chances.

And Does Not Believe His Action Will Do So—The Judge's Reasons for Declining the Honor Somewhat Vague—New York Democracy Must Look Out for Another Candidate.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 6.—William J. Gaynor has declined the nomination conferred on him by the democratic party to run on their ticket for judge of the court of appeals. Mr. Gaynor wrote a letter declining the nomination. The letter was addressed to Hon. J. W. Hinckley, chairman of the state committee, and reads as follows:

Dear sir—The reasons which I publicly assigned for not wishing to become the nominee for governor preclude me from accepting another place on the ticket, as may be seen by recurring to them, and I am therefore constrained to decline the nomination for judge of the court of appeals, as grateful as I feel for it, and as much as I should like to hold a place of so much usefulness. This would suffice; but I feel impelled to say more. The voice of the plain, every-day people is to-day for cause, an actual, living voice, yea, is it, or it never was in the history of the world; and in a contest in which it should be summed up, I could not be a candidate for office and sit silent, as usage and etiquette would require me to do in my present case. The centre of thought has passed from the few to the many, and a great, peaceful, political struggle is now impending in this country which is to decide whether the centre of power shall be and remain there also. It has more than once seemed to me that I should have some part in that great contest when it came; but if that is not to be, I still hope I may be able to feel that I have done, not much, it is true, but yet something to move my day and generation forward at least a little, and to better the condition of the community in which my lot has been cast. I might stop here, but if I did it would seem to me that I had left something appropriate unsaid in view of recent events. I am not without feeling and cannot refrain from acknowledging a vibration of pain that organizations avowedly working unselfishly for high political methods and for better government should affirmatively refuse to endorse my nomination in advance of my acceptance or refusal. On the other hand, the wholly spontaneous manifestations of the general democracy of the state toward me, which I never expected to see, and which I can only interpret as a full approval of my past public conduct, has made upon me an impression too profound to be ever effaced. Circumstances do not permit me to accept the nomination they have tendered to me, but my head and my heart go out to them all the same. It is now nearly five years ago that I openly objected as an individual citizen to political methods which I deemed low, base and unmanly, and to official acts which I deemed heartless crimes, involving as they did spoliation of the people's hard-earned money for the enrichment of a few who followed politics as a trade and made public officials their mere tools. I felt that I had a right to speak, for in the face of gross wrongs to the people among whom I lived, I had sat silent for fifteen years, and silence often gives the right to speak; but furthermore from an impulse which I cannot define, or a reason which is too inscrutable to assign, I found myself unable to sit silent longer. The history of the four years of effort which ensued, by appeal to courts and to public opinion, I cannot now even summarize; but in this hour in which my name is being tossed back and forth by contending political factions, and in which I have broken asunder the bonds of my perplexity, and seen my duty clear, I beg to say in justice to myself, and I trust with due mildness, and without any egotism, that throughout it all I was never helped in money or otherwise by any politician or political organization or faction whatever; and that if in the end I prevailed it was solely because the people, honest and unselfish, understood me and recognized that at all events I was trying to do my duty. Owing nothing, therefore, to politicians or political organizations, and remembering that whatever little I have done to lift government up was done as a private citizen, I do not value any office so high as to wish to achieve it against the opposition of those whom I had supposed would be my friends.

If I thought that the withdrawal of my name would injure Senator Hill's canvass, I would try to see some way to allow it to remain, for his recent development in the national senate places him with the foremost public men of his day. Between him and his opponent he should, and I trust will, prevail.

Though this letter takes me away from a promotion in the line of my taste, I write it without regret, for it keeps me in line with my past. I write it without regret, for it keeps me in line with my past. I write it to the hurt of no man, to truth and to myself.

"To thine own self be true; and it must follow, as the night the day, thou canst be false to any man."

W. J. GAYNOR.

Chinese in Retreat.

London, Oct. 6.—The Central News correspondent at Shanghai telegraphs: "Seventy Japanese transports passed the north-east promontory near Che-Foo on the morning of October 2. New Chwang reports are to the effect that the Chinese are in full retreat from Moukdan. Ten thousand armed Koreans are receiving Japanese pay."

CONDITION OF TRADE

Signs of Continued Improvement Visible.

No Radical Change, However, During the Week Just Closing—Improved Tone in the Speculative Market—Heavy Available Stock of Wheat—Business Failures.

New York, Oct. 6.—While no radical change has appeared this week, there are features of the situation pointing to continued progress in the direction of improvement. This is true of the country at large. Thus, in eastern and middle states, while the larger cities do not report noteworthy changes, Providence announces that all industrial lines, notably manufacturing jewelers, have received liberal orders, with the exception of manufacturers of machinery. Baltimore, too, reports larger sales in a few directions. In the west corresponding reports come from Omaha, where a better feeling is reported throughout the tributary region, and there is more buying of dry-goods, clothing, shoes and groceries. Duluth also finds business improved, and jobbers in several lines have been encouraged. St. Louis and Kansas City report stimulation in wholesale as well as retail lines, due in part to an influx of visitors to the carnivals. From the south the most favorable report comes from Jacksonville, where wholesale trade is good and retail trade improving. Merchandise is moving satisfactorily from Savannah, and from Charleston and Chatanooga. The previously reported large volume of business of Chicago jobbers is maintained. At a number of points east and west demand for money has increased, and changes in the character of mercantile collections, as a rule, are in the direction of improvement.

Rallies in the manipulated industrials have given a strong tone to the New York speculative stock market and caused covering of short contracts in the railroad list. The market, however, is dull and professional, and interest centers in sugar refineries and one or two other stocks in which artificial influences predominate. It is evident that actual stocks are not pressed for sale, and the market becomes quickly oversold. London has not been seller of our securities to any extent in spite of the alleged threatening European complications. The bond market is dull, with prices for prime investments well maintained, while speculation in low grade issues has slackened and their prices have weakened. Foreign exchange is firm and advancing on the scarcity of bills, demand sterling being up to 4.87.

The price movement has improved little. Wheat, corn and oats have advanced from previous lowest levels. Some varieties of lumber, naval stores, tin-plate and a few other staples have remained steady in price, but refined sugar is lower for reasons which may or may not be similar to those governing prices in other lines. Concessions in prices also have been made for pig iron, steel billets, lumber, lard, coffee, cotton, print cloths and live hogs. The total number of business failures in the United States this week is 215, against 204 last week, 365 in the week a year ago, and 198 two years ago.

Exports of wheat, including flour as wheat, from both coasts of the United States and Canada for six business days ending with Thursday of this week aggregate 3,243,000 bushels, which is compared with 2,562,000 bushels sent abroad the week before, with 3,189,000 bushels in the first week of October last year, 4,017,000 bushels in the like week of 1892, and with 3,958,000 bushels in 1891.

Cable and telegraphic advices show the heaviest total of available stocks of wheat in the United States and Canada, both coasts, afloat for and in Europe, on record for Oct. 1, 162,206,000 bushels, notwithstanding a sharp decrease in European stocks of late. September's world's wheat increase is 10,584,000 bushels, which is moderate contrasted with 1890-'91-'92, but heavier than in 1889 and 1893. Australia carries 5,500,000 bushels of wheat in sight at this time, as compared with 7,300,000 bushels on July 1 last and with 2,900,000 bushels on October 1, 1893.

Reading Presidency.

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—If ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker can be induced to become a candidate for the presidency of the Reading Railroad company, there will probably be three tickets in the field at the annual meeting in January, next. President Harris will be a candidate for re-election and Isaac L. Rice has already announced that he will head a ticket. Already there is a demand for proxies on the part of friends of the various candidates.

Ex-Gov. Curtin's Condition.

Bellefont, Pa., Oct. 6.—Ex-Governor Curtin's condition is about as it was yesterday, a little improved, although the change is probably due to the stimulants administered. Though he has rested fairly well he has taken very little nourishment. He has been conscious all the time and can converse with the members of his family, but no strangers are permitted to see him.

Prince Yamashina Coming.

London, Oct. 6.—The Japanese Prince Yamashina, who was recently recalled to Japan to assume an important command, is a passenger on the Hamburg-American steamer Augusta Victoria, just sailed from Southampton for New York. Prince Yamashina has been serving in the German navy.

DRAYTON DIVORCE CASE.

Another Delay Obtained by Counsel for Mrs. Drayton.

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 6.—There is another postponement in the J. Coleman Drayton divorce proceedings, and now no one knows when issue will be joined. The answer by Mrs. Drayton to her husband's petition for divorce has not been filed, nor will it be filed to-day, which, until this morning, was supposed to be the last day for the filing of the same. The Hon. Alva A. Clark said that Mr. Shipman, counsel for Mrs. Drayton, had made another application for an extension of time beyond in which to file her answer. Mr. Shipman asked for only a few days, but, as a matter of professional courtesy, Mr. Clark has agreed to extend the day for filing the answer to Nov. 1. This is the second time that counsel for Mrs. Drayton has asked for a postponement, and while Mr. Clark is perfectly willing to be fair and honorable, he says positively that he will not submit to any further delay. Mr. Shipman's reasons for delay is not known, but, it is thought, he expected Mrs. Drayton to arrive from Europe on October 1, and her failure to do so and the improbability of counsel seeing her are the reasons assigned for his asking a second extension of time.

WANTS TO BE HANGED.

Genz Insists That His Plea of Guilty Be Accepted.

Jersey City, Oct. 6.—Paul Genz, who killed Clara Arnim in Hoboken two months ago, and whose trial was set for next Thursday, will not be tried on that day. The prisoner refuses to allow the court to set aside his plea of guilty, or to hold any conference with the lawyers assigned to defend him. He says he is guilty and wants to be hanged as soon as possible. Under a law passed last winter the court cannot accept a plea of guilty in a capital case, and Judge Lippincott has decided to postpone the case until the constitutionality of the new law can be decided. Prosecuter Winfield says the right of a person accused of crime to plead guilty is a constitutional right and cannot be impaired by statute.

WILL NOT AFFECT BUSINESS.

Abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty Between Brazil and United States.

Washington, Oct. 6.—The notification of the abrogation of the reciprocity agreement between Brazil and the United States under the McKinley law, which has just been officially received by the state department, is not wanting in expressions of cordiality and esteem. Minister Mendonca, in transmitting the document says:

"I am sure that the cessation of our reciprocity agreement will in no wise affect the commercial relations of our countries, considering that their mutual interests and spirit of cordial friendship now rest on a firmer basis than on a written contract."

America's First School of Sociology.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 6.—The new school of sociology, the first professional institution of the kind in America, opened here under favorable auspices. The school is under the care of the education extension society of this city and Dr. C. D. Hartranft is the president. Many eminent specialists from the different educational institutions of the country will deliver lecture courses at the school during the year. The attendance at the opening lecture by the president exceeded the expectations of the organizers of the school.

Wilkesbarre Shut Out.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 6.—Wilkesbarre and Boston played a fine game here, the only score being a home run drive by Bannon in the seventh inning. Betts, the centre fielder of the home team, was in the box and only gave Boston six hits while Nichols also pitched a superb game. Both teams played without an error. Score: Wilkesbarre, 0; Boston, 1.

New Yorks Capture Second Game of Temple Series.

Baltimore Rooters Become Disheartened and Disgusted and Discard Their Orange and Black Decorations—Third Game of the Series To Be Played in New York To-day.

Baltimore, Oct. 6.—Hundreds of Baltimore enthusiasts who had arranged to go to New York to see the Orioles and Giants play ball to-day cancelled their engagements. Many of them discarded their orange and black neckties and other Oriole decorations and donned plain black as better representing their state of mind. The New Yorks won the second game of the Temple series much as they won the first game—by outbatting the home club—and the rooters were mad in consequence. It was not alone the loss of the game, however, that caused so many heartaches. More properly should the dissatisfaction and disaffection be attributed to the faults of the players while off the field.

In the morning the Orioles were in as uncertain a frame of mind over the playing of the Temple series as they were the first day. Some of the players were sulking and wrangling and McGraw openly asserted that he would not play in another game. The outlook was not encouraging for a continuation of the sport and it was then the people of Baltimore, as they became acquainted with the facts, began to criticise the pennant winners. Recalling that they had shown their appreciation of the ball team in a way which bordered on the princely, the citizens insisted that the players show a like appreciation of favors extended and defend the city's fair name for sportsmanlike conduct.

They argued that the series had been created and that the majority of the games must be won or lost in a manly way if the good name of the team and city was to be preserved. Thursday's haggling and quibbling was forgiven but no more wrangling would be condoned. Manager Hanlon presented the condition to the players and they were all on the field in the afternoon, but their minds were in a chaotic state and their nerves not of the steadiest. The boys put up a good game of ball, however, and partially redeemed themselves in the opinions of their friends. The teams left for New York last night where the third game of the series will be played to-day. A crowd of nearly 11,000 persons were on the grounds when game was called. It was an ideal day for baseball. New York earned four runs in the third inning. Baltimore tied the score in their half of the same inning and took the lead in the seventh. The Giants tied the score in the eighth and won out in the ninth through Jenning's error. The side would have been retired had Jennings made what would ordinarily have been an easy play. Tiernan's triple cleared the bases. The Orioles scored one and had three men left on bases in the ninth. The score:

MARRIED DIS DE BAR'S PAL.

Now Minerva Merrick Orchardson's Will Is Contested.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 6.—Amelia T. Cofield and Eliza A. Solomon, who live in Chicago and Denver respectively, have brought suit to set aside the will of Minerva Merrick Orchardson, who was a spiritualist of national reputation and a woman of wealth, refinement and intelligence. In April, 1893, when over 80 years of age, she was married to Prof. Charles Orchardson, who came to Quincy with Vera Ava or Dis de Bar.

Shortly after their arrival here an officer came down from Elgin, Ill., taking both to Elgin, where Vera Ava was sent to the penitentiary for two years for stealing $800. The complainants represent in their bill of complaint that Minerva Merrick Orchardson was of unsound mind at the time of making the will.

Opposition for the Steel Trust.

Pittsburg, Oct. 6.—Powerful competition to the steel rail trust is coming from the Mahoning valley. At Youngstown, O., an immense plant has been erected by the Ohio Steel company at a cost of $1,500,000. In January next it will be placed in operation, day and night, with a carefully selected crew of experienced workmen. The plant will have a capacity of 1,000 tons of steel rails every day, and by reason of the many modern improvements employed will do the work at a great saving in cost over present methods.

Japan's Warships Near Wei-Hai-Wei

London, Oct. 6.—A dispatch to the Morning Post from Shanghai says that several Japanese warships are patrolling the sea near Wei-Hai-Wei with the object of preventing the Chinese from leaving Wei-Hai-Wei or Port Arthur. The warships approach the coast at nightfall and steam away again at dawn.

Paris, Oct. 6.—The French cruiser Isly will sail from Brest for China on Monday next.

Anarchist Queen Fined.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Lizzie Loftus, a middle-aged woman, who styles herself "Queen of the Anarchists," appeared before Justice Doyle to answer to the charge of disorderly conduct, her particular offense being the distribution of a large bundle of red-colored circulars among the Union depot passengers which read: "I desire the city of Chicago destroyed by fire on or about Oct. 6, 1894." She was fined $25.

Goff; president of the board of aldermen, John Jeroloman; judge of the superior court, Henry R. Beekman; sheriff, Otto Kempner; coroners, Dr. William O'Meagher and Dr. Emil W. Hosber.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—The Youngstown Vindicator, one of the best newspapers in northeastern Ohio, has just begun to take the full leased wire service of the United Press.

BAD FOR KEEGAN.

Confronted By a Woman Who says He Tried To Murder Her.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 6.—The most sensational developments in the whole case against Lawrence Keegan has come to light. In the Warren woods between 9 and 10 o'clock a week ago last Tuesday night he attempted to murder a woman with whom he had planned an elopement and whose money he desired to secure. This woman was Mrs. Rebecca Laird, about 40 years of age. Keegan proposed to her that she go with him to Australia where he said he had considerable property. They were to sail Wednesday and on Tuesday they started to drive over the Warren road. Mrs. Laird disposed of her furniture and gave Keegan the money. Before they started for Fall River Mrs. Laird placed the money in a little bag attached to her belt. There was about $100 in all. The couple drove on until it grew dark and at about 9 o'clock Keegan proposed that they get out and walk for a rest. Mrs. Laird stepped out and Keegan followed her with a knife in his hand. She struggled fiercely and beat him off. They then returned to Providence. Keegan was confronted at Cranston jail by Deputy Sheriff Johnson and Mrs. Laird in the afternoon.

Situation at Fall River.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 6.—Developments the past few days have given much hope to operatives and business men not directly connected with the management of the mills. The sales of the week will amount to 175,000 pieces, or more than in any week of the past seven. These transactions would mean a production of the mills of ten to twenty per cent. per year. If the surface conditions could be regarded as likely to remain for any reasonable length of time there is little doubt that manufacturers would willingly open Monday morning under the old rates, but manufacturers do not feel satisfied that the present market will last long.

Sentenced for Murder.

Newport, Vt., Oct. 6.—The jury returned a verdict in the Miles' murder case, finding Abner G. Cram guilty of manslaughter, and James Bowe not guilty. Judge Tyler sentenced Cram to hard labor in state prison for life. Cram received his sentence without much visible emotion, expressing, through counsel, his belief that a sentence even for the shortest legal term, seven years, would doubtless prove a life sentence, owing to his age, he being 71 years old.

Will Start a Bismarck Annual.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—Dr. Kohl, of Berlin, who is editing Bismarck's speeches, is about to start a "Bismarck annual." The first volume will appear in November and will contain certain letters that passed between Prince Bismarck and the late Emperor William, King Victor Emanuel, Prince Gortchakoff and others, besides a selection of letters in which Prince Bismarck is threatened with violence.

THE CZAR NOT DEAD

Reported, However, To Be Dangerously Ill.

Unusual Secrecy at the Royal Palace Causes Alarm—One Report Said the Russian Ruler Had an Attack of Apoplexy—Effect of the News on Bourses.

St. Peteraburg, Oct. 6.—Nothing official concerning the condition of the czar has been published in this city in the last four days. The newspapers are forbidden to publish any unofficial reports, and the members of the imperial family and household are forbidden to hold any communication on the subject.

It is the general belief, in view of the extreme secrecy maintained, that the czar is a very sick man.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—The Lokalanzeiger publishes a dispatch from St. Petersburg which says that the czar suffered a renewed attack of apoplexy last evening.

The Russian embassy in Berlin have heard nothing to confirm this statement.

London, Oct. 6.—The Russian embassy here have no news to warrant the rumors of the czar's death.

His majesty was at Yolta, in the Crimea, yesterday, and reports from there stated that his condition was unchanged.

The London stock exchange and the Berlin and Paris bourses showed much weakness in the afternoon in consequence of the circulation of rumors that the czar was dying. Denials of these reports, however, have already been made.

Advices from Paris and Berlin state that prices on the bourses in those cities have generally fallen in consequence of reports that the condition of the czar is critical. The London stock market was slightly unsettled at the close.

Big Works Ready To Resume.

Pittsburg, Oct. 6.—The Totten & Hoag Iron and Steel Foundry company, of Pittsburg, manufacturers of rolling mill and tin plate machinery, have received an order from the American Tin Plate company, of Edywood, Ind., for a train of 20-inch cold rolls, complete with rolls. The Indiana concern is ready to resume next Monday.

Conference on Immigration.

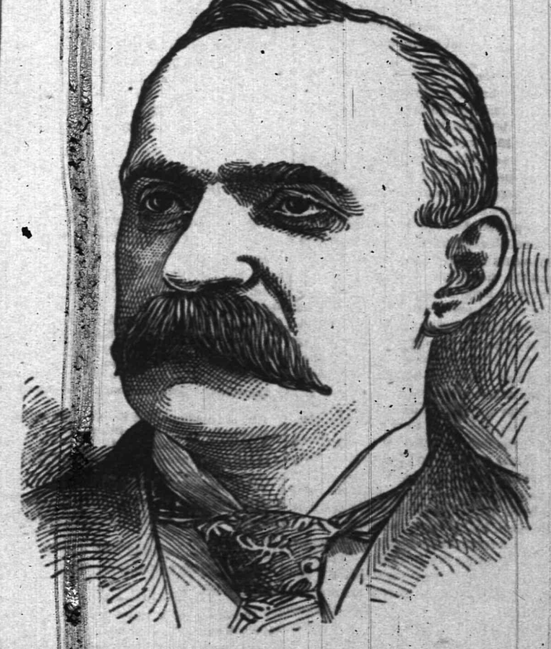
Rome, Oct. 6.—Mr. Hermann Stump, United States superintendent of immigration, held conferences here with Baron Blanc, foreign minister, and the United States consul-general on the immigration question.

Price of Whiskey Reduced.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 6.—The price of whiskey has been lowered ten cents as a result of the abolishment of the rebate tax. The quotation is now made on a basis of $1.23.

AND PRESIDENT COOK.

President of the National Teachers' Association—Paine's Celery Compound!



E. H. Cook, A. M., Ph. D., ex-head master of the Rutgers college preparatory school, New Brunswick, N. J., and president of the National education, graduated at Bowdoin in 1866. He organized the West Chester, Penn., State Normal School and was the first principal; was principal of the Columbus, O., high school. From 1884 to 1889 he was principal of the Normal School at Potsdam, N. Y., spending $80,000 in the erection of new buildings and renovation of old.

Says the Journal of Education: Mr. Cook is widely known and highly appreciated for his genuine boom that every institution which he has been connected has enjoyed, and from the prominence given by the State Association of Ohio, New York and New Jersey. He has the tact to take advantage of circumstances, the ability to decide promptly, and the energy to execute. He has accomplished enough to satisfy any man's professional ambition, and yet the best work and highest honors ought to be ahead of him.

Dr. Cook has been sick.

Paine's celery compound has made him well!

As it has made thousands of others well.

"Last winter I had a severe attack of the grip, which was followed by complete nervous prostration. I lost 40 pounds of flesh in as many days. After trying change of climate and various remedies without any apparent benefit, at the suggestion of a friend I began to take Paine's celery compound. Its effects were very marvelous. My appetite returned, my digestion was improved and I began to sleep regularly, which I had not done for weeks. I am still taking the compound, but regard myself as a well man. I have recommended it to many of my friends, and they are all loud in its praise."

Can anything be plainer?

Paine's celery compound makes people well. Just try it.

Chairman County Ex. Com.

After days of scrutiny over the letter of Representative John T. Dunn in The Daily Press, and pondering over its utterances, the Republican Elizabeth Journal is still unable to refute its arguments or explain away its statistics, and is forced to stifle its political conscience, so sharply awakened by Mr. Dunn's convincing showing, with this hollow humor:

Our jolly neighbor, the Herald, which recently declared that Congressman Dunn was "kicking against impending fate" and that "late or soon he can practice the tactics of the mighty Muldoon", is now engaged in printing Mr. Dunn's tariff utterances as a serial story. The first two and a half solid columns, which appeared yesterday, deal with "Democratic times", and seem to be very similar to the story which recently appeared in The Plainfield Press. The Bayonne Times has not yet begun the serial, from which it would appear that it is not in the syndicate.

The arrest and imprisonment of W. B. Capps, in Dresden, Tennessee, for working on Sunday, after having observed the seventh day as the Sabbath, has been noticed several times in The Daily Press.

This man was fined and declined to pay the fine, as it was to his mind a sort of acknowledgement that he was guilty of some offence; and the result was that he was sentenced to 442 days at hard labor.

Subscriptions for the support of the family of Mr. Capps were asked for in The Press, and small sums were received and forwarded.

A subscription was asked for in The American Hebrew, a Jewish paper, (although the imprisoned man was a Christian of the Seventh-Day sect), and something like $65 was received. Then the question was raised as to how the money was to be used, and it was deemed to be best to liberate the man, and let him care for his family in his own good way. As it was reported that the imprisoned man did not relish surrendering his conscience by paying an unjust fine, it was decided to send the money direct to the clerk of the court at Dresden, and, without consulting the prisoner, pay the fine. This was done, and the man had no alternative but to go free, and he gladly did so under the circumstances, feeling much the same as though an angel had opened the door of the prison.

This was not all. The same mail which transmitted the check to the clerk in payment of the fine, carried another check for a liberal amount, to the released man, to start him anew in life, and to return him to his wife and four children who were being punished the same as the convicted man, by his imprisonment.

This is a remarkable instance of the extending of aid by the Jews to a Christian, in trouble for religious persecution, and has many pleasant features growing out of the liberal and the kindly expressions that were contained in the letters remitting the sums of money that went to make up the contributions, and in the correspondence relative to the releasing of the man. Not among the least was the letter of thanks from the released man to the editor of The American Hebrew, for the great act of kindness so Christianly done.

Surely it is a good thing to see brethren of varying faith united in the common cause of humanity and doing these broad-minded and manly deeds.

CALLED STOP AND GOT HIS GUN.

One Way of Dealing with Midnight Prowlers.

Roger Lawrence reached his home in the outskirts near Cedar brook and Park avenue last night at 11:30. He went into the pantry and while there heard the noise of someone breaking into the cellar. He ran outside and warned the intruder to stop. Then he went upstairs, got his revolver, went outdoors and shot in the direction whence he heard the noise. No one was hit.

RANKIN'S CANDIDATE.

Coming to Plainfield on a Lively Hustle.

FOWLER HIS FAVORITE.

Will Try His Boom at the Country Club-House Tonight — Influential County Men Favor Anthony of Plainfield.

Mayor Rankin of Elizabeth expects to come to Plainfield this evening to visit the Union County Country Club to introduce his friend Lawyer Fowler of Elizabeth, for whom Mr. Rankin wants to secure the nomination to Congress for this district.

He hopes by feasting prominent gentlemen tonight to head off the nomination of James L. Anthony of Plainfield, as well as Mr. Griffith of Elizabeth.

Mayor Rankin thinks if he can succeed tonight in capturing the Plainfield delegation he will have plainer sailing for his candidate.

Since the sugges tion made by The Daily Press, a large number of friends of Mr. Anthony residing in Westfield, Scotch Plains, Bayonne and Elizabeth have signified their wish that he should permit his name to come before the Convention.

The movement of nominating Mr. Anthony is growing in town, and local Republicans will think it decidedly presumptuous for Elizabeth to seek to capture the nomination from the city which owns the nomination by acknowledged right.

Architect Charles H. Smith called this morning to identify his as the man who visited his house. Killeen was then left in the main room of the lockup with two other prisoners and Policeman Cooney. He went out to the pump on the plea of thirst and then made his way upstairs and escaped.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL SYMPHONY.

Delightful Evening in the First Presbyterian Church.

An excellent entertainment interested a large audience in the Sunday-school room of the First Presbyterian Church last evening. It was given under the auspices of Class 12 of the Sunday-school. Miss Peck, the teacher of the class, arranged the symphony concert with which the evening's programme ended.

Miss Pansy Herring and William E. MacClymont began the entertainment with a well rendered piano duet. Miss Kittie Glenn sang a solo very sweetly. John Petrie afforded much amusement with a comic song. Mr. MacClymont rendered a selection on the piano next. Miss Peck gave a recitation very effectively. Then Master MacKillop closed the first part of the programme by playing a violin solo. He wore an odd Mother Goose costume.

In the symphony were 25 young people who were supposed to be enjoying a sleigh ride. All were attired in Mother Goose costumes and the party presented a very pretty appearance. The music was produced on all sorts of instruments, ranging from a violin to a paper-covered comb.

Participants in the symphony were Miss Blair, the Misses MacKillop, Miss Ladd, Charles Hazeltine, William Coriell, Frank Flannery, the Misses Margaret and Violet Cave, Miss Nora, Miss Van-Winkle, Mr. Haven, Garfield Pike and Fred Bettman.

LOSSES IN CUBA.

Further Details of the Destructive Work of the Cyclone.

New York Oct. 6.—Incoming vessels continue to bring details of the destruction wrought by the great cyclone which originated in the West Indies, laying waste vast tracts of land and playing havoc with everything afloat. The steamer Tyrian, which arrived in the harbor last night, brought an account of results of the visitation. She came from Gibara, whither she had gone for a cargo of bananas. None were to be had, however. The plantations for miles in the eastern end of Cuba had been devastated. About Banes 500,000 bunches of the fruit, it was estimated, had been ruined. The vessel managed to secure a small cargo of sugar and tobacco.

The steamer Panama, from Havana, Sept. 30, brought further particulars of the work of the cyclone at Saguala-Grande. Though the town is twenty miles from the ocean, the high tides caused the river Sagua to rise so high that a third of the town's population were driven from their homes, while many sought safety on the slanting tops of their houses. The flood lasted forty-eight hours. Rain poured in torrents for three days, having commenced Sept. 28. From such reports as were at hand when the Panama sailed, it was believed that the loss of life in Cuba would reach as high as 200, while the property damage is estimated at between two and three millions of dollars.

Accussed of Fraudulent Insolvency.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Oct. 6.—The wall paper trust, known as the National Wall Paper company, figured in the Blair county courts as the prosecutor of Lyon & Co., of Altoona, for fraudulent insolvency. The company alleged that the defendants placed orders for $25,000 in New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and after receiving the merchandise, were sold out by the sheriff on executions in favor of their relatives. The jury acquitted the defendants and the trust was mulcted in the costs.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic for the Week Beginning Oct. 7. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—The duty and rewards of churchgoing.—Heb. x, 25. Meeting led by the pastor.

Two extreme views are often held upon the subject of churchgoing. Some people overestimate it. They make their religion to consist simply in the attendance upon the public services on the Sabbath day. The other view is the opposite of that. It underrates the importance and value of the social worship of God. Many take the position that if the heart is right with God the attendance upon the public services in God's houses is a small matter. Both views are extreme. Both are wrong. Mere churchgoing is not religion. No personal perfection of heart and mind can compensate for the neglect of public duties. Let us notice:

1. The duty of churchgoing (Heb. x, 25). "Not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together." There may be in these words no direct command, and yet it is practically a command. Churchgoing is a duty, then: (1) Because God demands it of us. God always demanded of his people of old that they pay strict attention to the public services in the temple. When Christ was upon earth, he allowed neither pleasure nor business to interfere with His attendance upon the great feast of the passover during the years of His public ministry. Paul exhorts us not to forsake this important duty. It is a duty, then, because demanded of God. It is a duty (2) because man needs social worship. We are so constituted that we not only need worship, but social worship. We are social beings, and our nature demands the social worship. It is a duty for us to do what our natures demand.

2. The rewards of churchgoing. These are perhaps many and varied—different in different cases. Some of the general rewards are as follows: 1. A clear conscience. Churchgoing is a duty. The performance of any duty makes us at peace with God concerning this particular thing, and this, then, is our blessing or reward of churchgoing. 2. Spiritual blessings derived by the presence of Christ. Christ has promised to be in the assemblies of His people. Is it not a great blessing to have Him with us? 3. Spiritual blessings derived from the service. Those who habitually absent themselves from God's house never realize what they miss by it. The weak are helped, the timid are encouraged, the fallen are unlifted, the saints are comforted and built up, and all are spiritually blessed, all are brought nearer to God by worshiping Him in His holy temple.

Bible Readings—Ex. xx, 1; Deut. v, 7; II Kings xvii, 36; I Chron. xvi, 29; Ps. xxvii, 4; lxxxiv, 1-8; xcix, 5; Isa. lvi, 7; Mal. iii, 13-17; Math. xviii, 17-20; Luke iv, 16; John xii, 2; Acts i, 14; ii, 1, 42-46; Col. ii, 18; Rev. xix, 10.

Freedom to Do Right.

The C. E. society is a voluntary organization, and it secures liberty to all of its members. Rather it should be said that all the members retain the freedom that they enjoyed before they became Endeavorers. But Christian liberty, whether in a C. E. society or out of it, is simply the freedom of doing right. No Christian is free to do wrong. In a sense we are at liberty to use our money or our influence to sustain an undenominational enterprise or the work of another denomination. But this is not a Christian nor a consistent use of our liberty. In becoming a member of any denomination we pledge ourselves to its support. Practically we bind ourselves to work for Christ through that instrumentality. If our profession has any significance, this is what it means. If it does not mean this, it was an idle ceremony, a profane trifling with sacred things. But we are bound to this by our C. E. pledge. No one can doubt that Christ would have him sustain his own branch of the church. If he thinks it unworthy of his support, he has no right to be a member of it. If it is worthy of his support, there can be no doubt of his obligation to render it.—National Presbyterian.

Work of Reformed Endeavorers.

Reformed Christian Endeavorers have during the past year sustained a Christian Endeavor missionary at Chittoor, India, and built Christian Endeavor churches Nos. 1 and 2 at Edgerton, Minn., and Wakonda, S. D. During the coming year it is proposed that these societies continue to sustain the Chittoor station, build Christian Endeavor church No. 3, which will be located at Johnstown, N. Y., and furnish funds for the erection of Christian Endeavor church No. 4.—Golden Rule.

Education of the Colored People.

Congregationalists have given $12,000,000 toward the education of the colored people of the south. Methodists have given $6,000,000, Baptists $3,000,000 and Presbyterians $1,250,000.

To a Far Country.

Some time we shall stand on a strange dim shore,
With fluttering pulses and trembling feet,
And wait and listen as through the dusk
The muffled rhythm of swift oars beat,
For over the sea so lonely and wide,
Whose waves on the shores of life beat chill,
A ferryman crosses back and forth
And carries whome'er he will.

And if he sail in the morning hours,
At noon or twilight or midnight dim
His shallop is always laden full,
For all must voyage with him.
The aged ones and the strong and fair,
The children pure as the angels be—
All, all must answer the boatman's call
And sail on the unknown sea.

And so some time he will hail us where
Our path leads close to the fateful shore.
We shall straightway turn from our dearest ones
And journey with them no more.
But outward borne by the strong, swift oars,
And lulled by the waves 'gainst the vessel's side,
We shall sink to sleep and drift away
With the going out of tide.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The women of the Church of the Holy Cross during the past week pleasantly surprised their rector, Rev. T. Logan Murphy, by making him a presentation of a beautiful new set of church vestments, the cassock of which is made of heavy corded black silk. The committee presented them last evening. Mr. Murphy was quite overcome by this mark of love and esteem and expressed his gratification and happiness in a few well chosen remarks to the committee.

The play "My Partner" in Music Hall tonight presents a pretty domestic story in the pure gold of a rough mining habitation. There are no pistols or bowie knives in "My Partner". The merits of the play are its sustained interest, its strong climaxes, its beautiful language, its coherence as a play, and the poetic atmosphere in which it is enveloped. In the stellar role appears Louis Aldrich, shown in this picture in his part of the original "Joe Saunders", a sterling actor of national fame, supported by an exceptionally strong cast of players.

THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

LIKE FROSTWORK TRACERIES RISE WHITE WOOLS, FURS AND BOAS

Out-of-door Costumes Are Features of the Season. Hats, Handsome Fur-trimmed Street Gowns and the Eton Jacket. Furs Are Expensive But Durable.

One hates to give up altogether the refreshing light colors of summer for the darker winter shades; and the white wools that come for the fall and winter home wear, trimmed with the exquisite heavy lace and worn with a touch of bright, warm color, but nothing is prettier.

Very stylish for a young girl of 14 is the pelisse, made of dark red melton, tight fitting in the back and brought over to the left side in front in loose pleats, and fastened with a buckle. The twelve-inch ruffle about the shoulders gradually narrows toward the fastening, the coat is finished with rows of stitching, while the wide, turned-down collar is of velvet, a trifle darker in shade.

Hats trimmed with yellow ribbons and ostrich tips and chiffon veiled bodices are all the rage, and very illusive and misty the effect of the color seems through the filmy texture. One for a light mourning toilet was of silver gray satin draped with black chiffon, the waist puffed, and each puff caught down with jet trimming, collar and ends of sash heavily jetted. Another was of hortensia blue chiffon, on a geranium red, the chiffon of the bodice all drawn up into a large breast knot, big puffed sleeves all covered with the chiffon, and a drapery at the shoulder of accordion-pleated chiffon. Of course the whole effect is a purple hue, but is extremely becoming.

A very artistic and statuesque evening gown is made of shell-pink brocade with gold and silver tracing, cut in princess shape with a Watteau back, the foot of the skirt edged with tiny pink gauze quilling, the bodice bordered with pink velvet, embroidered in gold, long, flowing sleeves with open pouf showing top of arm, the sash of gauze tied across the breast. A dainty head wrap, to insure the curls and braid against confusion, is a scarf of gauze caught in a knot in the centre, with both ends brought carelessly under the chin.

Though most of us are so interested just now in the autumn fabrics that for the time being we have almost forgotten the existence of furs there are certain wise folks who bear in mind the time which is not far off, and are fashioning beautiful luxurious combinations of furs, satins and velvets. Fur will play a very prominent part in dress as well as cloak decorations this winter. One beautiful street gown of black crepon had large rows of ermine turned away from a velvet underbodice; a narrow edge of ermine on the upper skirt of crepon was slightly looped over a velvet underskirt; a metallic green cloth gown was very beautiful with plentiful trimmings of chinchilla. Caracula will hold its own with other furs for close-fitting coats. One beautiful cape of a becoming shade of green lined with caracula and forming flat revers continued in two long ends to the bottom of the gown, was a new importation. Another was of Alaska seal faced with sable tails and lined with copper and pink brocade. The capes are very many of them trimmed with collar and long ends of contrasting fur. A long coat of brown box cloth lined with Russian sable and fastened with ornaments of brown silk and had a rolling collar of the sable. The muffs will be larger.—N.Y. Sun.

The Boy and the Man.

The boy, evidently from the country, applied to the boss for a job.

"I have no use for a boy," he said discouragingly.

"You're just like I am, ain't you?" asked the boy.

"How's that?"

"Got no use for a boy. Neither have I. That's why I'm looking around for somebody that has. Me and you ain't the only people in town, though. I s'pose there's about 200,000 more here and likely some of 'em's different from us. Anyhow I'm going to try, sir. Good morning, sir," and the boy started out, but the boss reconsidered and took him at $2 a week as a starter.—Detroit Free Press.

A Precocious Youngster.

"Charles, you must do what I tell you. When I was a little child like you I was always good and obedient."

"I'm glad to know that, mamma, and you may be sure that I'll say the same to my children when I have any."—Fliegende Blaetter.

HE IMPRESSED NAPOLEON DEEPLY.

An American Citizen to Whom the French Emperor Bowed.

In an old field near Lexington, Ga., repose the ashes of William H. Crawford.

No monument of any kind points to the passer-by the grave of this immortal Georgian, who came within an ace of being President, and who was regarded by Napoleon, the great Emperor, as the most distinguished looking man of his day, says the Atlanta Constitution.

This brings up an interesting story. In his writings Mr. Crawford tells of his first appearance in the French court and of the bow which he made on that occasion. He was too modest, however, to describe the scene, or rather the effect, which his personality produced. When he entered the court, with his lofty bearing and his tall, impressive figure, decorated for the first time with the apparel of his high commission as the American Minister to that court, he was received with the utmost demonstration. The Emperor was deeply impressed. He avowed that Mr. Crawford was the only man to whom he had ever been constrained to bow, and on that occasion he overstepped the custom and made a repetition of his courtesy.

Fashioned in a gigantic mold Mr. Crawford was one of the handsomest men that ever lived. He was a man of great talent and of intellectual superiority. He was recognized as the equal of any of his adversaries in the highest councils of the land, and as a candidate for the highest office in the nation's gift he was defeated by only a small majority.

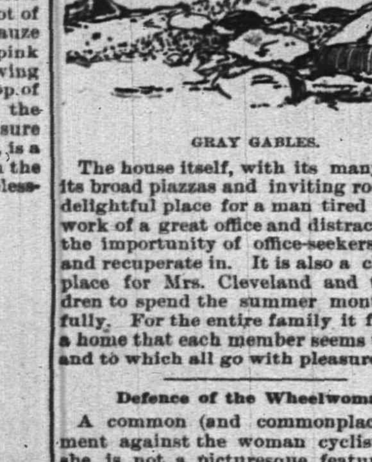
And yet Georgians have such little veneration for the dead as to ignore the ashes of this great man and to leave them unrecorded in an old field. The man who was once the envy of all Europe and the pride of his fellowmen, thus shamefully an outcast in his death, when Georgia is a millionaire in the glory which he alone has contributed.

GRAY GABLES.

The Handsome Summer Home of President Cleveland.

President Cleveland has been fortunate in his real estate investments. His fine home in Washington has greatly appreciated in value since his purchase, the advance making a handsome fortune, and other investments have also been lucky.

Whether he will be as fortunate in his later summer home on Buzzard's Bay remains to be seen, but he has a beautiful place on one of the finest bays in Massachusetts, and one of the best for fishing, an amusement that the President greatly enjoys.



GRAY GABLES.

The house itself, with its many gables, its broad piazzas and inviting rooms, is a delightful place for a man tired with the work of a great office and distracted with the importunity of office-seekers to rest and recuperate in. It is also a charming place for Mrs. Cleveland and the children to spend the summer months restfully. For the entire family it furnishes a home that each member seems to enjoy, and to which all go with pleasure.

Defence of the Wheelwoman.

A common (and commonplace) argument against the woman cyclist is that she is not a picturesque feature of the landscape. I doubt whether an unprejudiced observer, who had never before seen either, would not say that a woman on a well-adjusted wheel looked as well, if not better, than a woman sitting in a bunch on a side saddle. The difference is largely in the fact that the women who ride horses usually belong to the class that can afford to make the most of themselves under any circumstances, while heretofore the majority of women cyclists have been of the class that must consider time and money so carefully that they could not always be well dressed. Society women are beginning to find out that in some respects the bicycle is a more convenient and trustworthy steed than a horse, and when good tailors learn to make wheeling costumes as well as they now make riding habits—and at the same exorbitant prices—we may begin to think a pretty girl shows to as much advantage on a wheel as on a horse.—Kate Field's Washington.

MCALLISTER DOES LONDON.

The Leader of American Aristocracy Little Pleased With What He Sees.

In drawing comparisons between London, Paris and New York, I am compelled to say, to use a slang term, that New York "takes the cake." Our mother country feels her age. She is a thing of the past, and she is now very jealous of her grown-up daughter. I have not hesitated to tell Europeans that they are far behind us in the cheeriness of life. Everything with them is dingy and well worn; their climate is dull; they are so contented with themselves and their surroundings that the incentives of ambition for social advancement are wanting in them, which, to an American, is depressing. Aristocracy is the keystone of their whole social structure. 'Tis not the worship of money, but of rank and birth. This pervades their whole atmosphere and is the principle that governs their lives. There is always some one above them to whom, as a matter of course, they yield place. This, with them, is hereditary. The privileged class in England lives on its privileges. As an American, I have seen all this, and I have further seen how they feel towards all Americans. To them we are always colonists, and they treat us as such.

On landing in the United States I felt that even in the air there was a charming elasticity; that I had slipped off old age. I returned to the prime of life. I had never before realized fully the benefits of American citizenship. All looked bright and cheerful, after two months incessant semi-dull weather, fog and sitting over fires, and, welcomed in the heat of an early September day, I luxuriated in a drawing-room car lined with cherry, vastly superior to any first-class railroad cars in Europe.

As to American morals, as human nature is the same everywhere, I can only say our country is not old enough to have been tainted by centuries of gross immorality, and our women are the purest and handsomest in the world.

CROCODILE ROMANCE

THE STORY OF ITS BIRD SENTINEL IS LARGELY HUMBUG.

The Apparent Friendship of the Bird and the Crocodile is not Based on Romantic Affection; But Has a Sound Utilitarian Reason.

The crocodile and the small bird, a species of mino, which attends on him when he is ashore, have been credited with a very poetic attachment for each other; it appears, however, to be an attachment of the utilitarian order only. The crocodile is infested with insects, and the bird, in ridding him of them, gratifies his own appetite. The following account of this mutual benefit arrangement is translated in the Literary Digest from Schorer's Familienblatt.

The apparent friendship between the crocodile and his so-called "sentinel" was observed by the ancients. Pliny narrates that "when the crocodile with gaping jaws lies on the sand, the trochilus bird comes flying by, goes into his mouth and cleans it. This relieves the crocodile, and he protects the bird; indeed, he opens his jaws wider, that he may not crush the bird when it wants to get out. It is a small bird, not bigger than a thrush, remains in the neighborhood of the water, and warns the crocodile of the approach of the ichneumon, waking him partly by its voice, partly by pecking at his snout."

The facts are approximately true as may be attested by any one who has enjoyed the opportunity of a lengthened stay on the Nile; but the critical modern naturalist interprets them with more reserve. The crocodile's sentinel does not impose implicit trust in his host. He ventures within the jaws because there is always a supply of edible water creatures to be found there. He is moreover perfectly familiar with all the habits of his host, and appears to place implicit confidence in his forbearance while he picks the parasites out from between the teeth; but the sly rascal always has his weather eye lifted, and knows how to absent himself at the moment the crocodile snaps his jaws. But his heart throbs are not for the crocodile.

The bird has the habit of screaming at the approach of a man or any other animal. He does so whether there are any crocodiles around or not. If at such a moment he is sitting on a sleeping crocodile, the animal naturally awakes, but this interchange of good offices is decidedly utilitarian in its character.—The Literary Digest.

LESSONS OF PATRIOTISM.

A New League That is Swiftly Growing Whose Object it is to Extol America.

The preparations for the service proposed by the Patriotic League, founded Oct. 7, 1891, will be shown complete on the third anniversary of the organization. The exponent of the work is "My Country," to be very soon issued in magazine form, which is to teach in several general divisions the principles of American citizenship. A multitude of youthful readers probably will be ready for its interesting lessons, as, added to informations of what is going on in National, State and City Governments, the new publication is to tell many stories of inventions, discoveries and enterprises of different kinds. The young people also will have an opportunity to take a thorough course of prescribed reading, for which, if satisfactorily completed at the end of three years, they will receive diplomas.

The officers of the Patriotic League consider that the 20,000,000 young people in the United States will soon represent the American Nation. They believe that definite preparation for the responsibility in National life is needed for the success of popular government.

THE BUTTERFLY GOWN.

A New Fall Fancy Which is Striking and Becoming.

The butterfly bodice is a fanciful creation for evening wear. It is made of a delicate shade of chiffon over a silk lining with a large jet butterfly covering the entire corsage.

A charming butterfly costume seen recently showed the bodice fashioned of yellow chiffon over yellow silk. The body of the butterfly was of solid jet and was fastened at the centre of the corsage; the wonderfully wrought jet wings spreading out until they shadowed the soft puff of the sleeve. The collar had the appearance of a crown of jet surrounded by a swarm of butterflies.

The skirt of this unique costume was of yellow moire draped with chiffon, which was caught up at the side by a jet butterfly. When the moire petticoat was visible other butterflies of jetted black lace were seen. The sleeves were short, filmy puffs of chiffon joined by long black gloves.

Foreboding.

The hauteur of the girl made him frantic.

"Smile upon my suit," he pleaded.

"I cannot," she answered, not without evidences of agitation.

Yet he urged her.

"It is an awful risk," she mused, aside.

His impetuous words burned into her very soul. She wavered.

"I'm afraid," she faltered.

"Fear not," he cried.

She yielded, smiled, and broke the enamel on both sides of her nose, just as she thought she would all the time.—Detroit Tribune.

FATHERS OF THE REPUBLIC.

Popular Belief to the Contrary, They Were Young Men.

No fallacy is more firmly fixed in the public mind than that which represents the establishment of our government as the work of old men. The delusion is imbibed in childhood, and unconsciously cultivated by the text-books used in school. The "Fathers of the Republic" are depicted in all the histories with wigs, queues and other accessories of dress that apparently betoken age, and the pupil naturally concludes that they must have been old when the nation was born.

In point of fact, they were an uncommonly young set of men. George Washington, senior in age as well as in authority and in influence, was but 43 when the revolution broke out, and 57 when he became first President. Thomas Jefferson was only 33 when he wrote the Declaration of Independence; Alexander Hamilton but 32 when he became Secretary of the Treasury; James Madison only 23 when he was made member of the Virginia Committee of Safety, and 36 when he was Hamilton's collaborator in the production of that political classic, "The Federalist."

Nor were the leaders in the great enterprise exceptional in this matter of age. Forty names were signed to the Constitution of the United States on the 17th of September, 1787. Leaving out of account four whose birthdays are not given by the books of reference, only five of the remaining thirty-six had reached the age of 60; twenty of the number were less than 45 years old; and twelve were under 40, among the latter being one (Hamilton) of 30, another of 29, a third of 28, and a fourth who lacked some months of 27 when the Convention met. The average age of all the members did not quite reach 45 years. The most important committee to which the instrument was referred for final revision consisted of five members, four of whom were between 30 and 36 years of age, the fifth and least prominent being 60.—The Century Magazine.

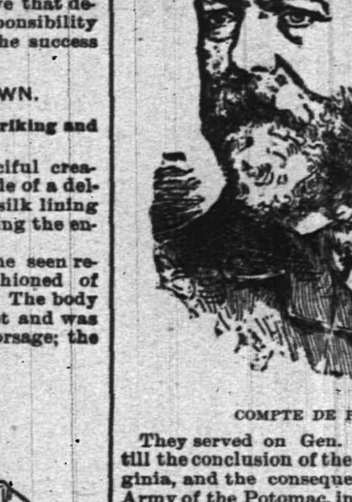
THE COMPTE DE PARIS.

The Late Head of the Bourbon Family an Ex-American Officer,

The Compte de Paris, who died in London recently at the age of fifty-six years, had a life of many vicissitudes and disappointments.

He was the son of the late Duc d'Orleans and grandson of Louis-Philippe, King of the French. He was born at Paris, August 24, 1838, and was only ten years of age when the revolution of February, 1848 broke out. Accompanied by his heroic mother, the late Duchess of Orleans, he witnessed the stormy scenes in the French Chambers which followed that event. He was educated at Claremont, England, by his mother, who died there may 18, 1858.

In the Autumn of 1861 the young Comte de Paris and his brother the Duc de Chartres, accompanied by their uncle, the Prince de Joinville, came to the United States, and, on arriving at Washington, were cordially welcomed by the Federal Government and by Gen. McClellan, who proposed that the young princes should serve on his staff. The two brothers entered the service with the ranks of captains of volunteers, stipulating that they were to receive no pay and that they should be free to resign their appointments whenever they might wish to do so.



COMPTE DE PARIS.

They served on Gen. McClellan's staff till the conclusion of the campaign in Virginia, and the consequent retreat of the Army of the Potomac, in June, 1862, when they returned to Europe.

Upon the death of the Compte di Chambora, in 1883, the Compte de Paris was recognized by the great majority of Legitimists as the head of the royal house of France, but this recognition was of no service to him, the stability of the republic rendering his pretensions to the crown valueless. He was compelled to live abroad, to prevent any possible complications through the action of royalist, although he lacked the force of character that might have made him dangerous.

The Comte was a prolific writer, and among other remarkable works he published a "History of the American Civil War," in six volumes, the last of which appeared in 1883.

Prince Philippe, who now succeeds to his father's title and the leadership of the Royalist party, is a dashing young fellow who, unknown to his father, crossed over to Feance a few years ago and boldly claimed the right to serve as a conscript in the army of his country. For this exploit he was imprisoned for a time, but he was released upon his promise to leave the country.

He otherwise distinguished himself by an intrigue with Mme. Melba, and was for a time hunted by the latter's husband, Capt. Armstrong, who threatened to horsewhip him, but for some reason or other did not do so.

IN THE THEATRES.

FAVORABLE CRITICISMS FOR THE LEADING DRAMATIC VENTURES.

The Gaiety Girls and What is Said of Them. A Fierce Row Over a Speculator's Ticket. A Bunch of News About Scores of Players.

It is noteworthy that all of the leading dramatic productions this season have been received with unusual favor by the critics. Indeed there has been an almost universal chorus of commendation from the newspapers, and the consequence has been that the theatres are unusually well patronized.

An entertainment that has been received with unusual favor is that of the Gaiety Girls, who came from the Prince of Wales' Theatre in London. The critics have commended their performance as lively and entertaining, without the coarseness that often marks entertainment of this class, and that they are about the best performers in this line that Europe has sent to New York seems to be admitted.

A GAIETY GIRL.

The gay critic of the Herald, on the morning after their initial performance said of them: "It is a pleasure—distinctly sweet and precious—to turn from the serious playwrights, with their burdens of artistic and moral responsibility, and take refuge in the shallow and vulgar. It is a good thing to forsake the world and the devil now and again and lean somewhat toward the flesh. Last night at Daly's Theater "The Gaiety Girl" of London danced in her vari-colored stockings and shimmering laces; she posed in all the opulence of her nicely-colored flesh; she sang a little—a very, very little; and was so naughty and gay and sentimental that she whistled the hearts out of men."

TWO OF THE GAIETIES.

Mr. Daly has the reputation of getting the best when he undertakes anything new in the theatrical line, and so it was naturally expected that the Gaiety Girls would be good, and would furnish the best article of gaiety that the British Isles afford. There is a practical consensus of opinion that they have done this. And then, they are so gaily and divinely beautiful in feature and form, that they have fairly set the chappies wild, and made all the critics smile—even those who cling to the better traditions of the stage and want something for the mind as well as the eye. From every point of view, and conspicuously from the viewpoint of the bald-headed man of front-row notoriety, the Gaiety girl is a charming, sunshiny and spirit-raising personage, whose visit cannot be too long.

J. R. Fenche, a Philadelphian who wanted a good up-front seat in Daly's the other night, couldn't get it at the box-office, so he bought one of a speculator. At Daly's such tickets are refused, and that was his fate. He was offered his money back, but refused it, and, dropping his ticket in the box, he crowded past the ticket-taker. Then the fun began. Arthur Rehan, a brother of the gifted Ada, Mr. Daly himself and two or three ushers set upon Mr. Fenche, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest kind of a time. When it was ended, the whole party was mussed up by tumbling down a flight of steps, and Mr. Fenche was a bruised and weary wreck. To add to his trouble, Mr. Rehan had him arrested for disorderly conduct. At the hearing he was discharged, and it is hinted that Mr. Daly applied a handsome gold salve to his wounded feelings.

If you want, in brief space, the news of most of the leading actors, here you have it. John Drew seems to be fitted out with a play for the whole season in "The Bauble Shop," as people are being turned away from the Empire every night. E. H. Sothern is doing well at the Lyceum with "The Victoria Cross" revised. Denman Thompson has devised an entertainment of song, lecture and tableau to be given on Sunday evenings in cities where he is giving "The Old Homestead" on week days. Robert Downing will introduce genuine wrestling bouts in the arena scene of "The Gladiator," an athletic actor being pitted against a local strong man in each city. Fanny Davenport has received "Gismonda" from Sardou, and will produce it at about the same time that Sarah Bernhardt brings it out in French. Marie Wainwright has ready "A Daughter of Eve," by Lancaster and Magnus. Ada Rehan will go starring in several plays. Rhea has a new drama by Elwyn A. Barron. Eleanor Mayo will not retire from the stage upon her marriage. Louis James is to play Falstaff along with Frederick Warde's Henry IV. Chauncey Olcott is using "The Irish Minstrel," a new piece by Pitou and Alfriend. N. C. Goodwin will revive "David Garrick" and retain plays already in his repertory. Sadie Martinot's latest news of herself is that she and Max Figman will travel in a piece called "The Passport."

LINWARD.

ALEXANDER'S FAMOUS CHARGER.

Bucephalus Would Allow Only Alexander to Mount Him.

Of course, every child who goes to school has heard of Alexander the Great. And one can hardly think of him without thinking also of his horse, Bucephalus. Perhaps no horse in the world is so well known, and no other horse's name is so familiar.

Plutarch, who has told us so many interesting things about people, says that he received his name because his head resembled that of an ox or because he had the mark of an ox's head on his flank or because he had a black mark on his head shaped like an ox's head, the rest of his body being white.

Alexander obtained him in this way: When he was at home with his father, Philip, King of Macedon, a Thessalian brought the horse to the king in hopes to sell him. They tried to show him off to advantage, but he was so wild and unmanageable that, although he was a magnificent looking animal, the king was disgusted with his conduct and ordered him to be taken away. Alexander had taken a great fancy to the horse, so he objected to this. Finally his father offered to buy Bucephalus if Alexander could ride him.

So Alexander, who was not afraid of anything and was used to having his own way, managed to get on to the rearing, kicking horse, and found that he could manage him. He suited Bucephalus as well as Bucephalus suited him, and from that time the two were inseparable. Bucephalus would allow no one but Alexander to mount him. He went with him in all his campaigns, and what a number of things and places that horse saw in Persia and India.

He had plenty of grooms to rub him down at night and to wait upon him, and Alexander no doubt often fed him with his own hands. There are different accounts of his death. Plutarch says that in a great battle with Porus, king of a part of Northern India, he received the wounds of which he died. Others say that he died not long after of fatigue, worn out by the cruel marches and hard work, and that at his death he was thirty years old. That is very old for a horse. At any rate, he died in that region, for Alexander built a city near the river Hydaspes, which he called Bucephala in honor of his faithful horse.

The city was in ruins long ago, but Bucephalus is still remembered, and always will be as long as history lasts.—N. Y. World.

TOMMY GIVES SOME POINTS.

He Tells an Old Sailor that Napoleon is Really Dead.

"Yes," said old Jack, in response to Tommy's question—"yes, I know considerabal 'bout Napoleon Bonyparte, though I never knowed him personally. He was a great man, though. The way he useter get in musses with everybody an' come out on top is a caution. I recollec', like as though it was only yesterday, when the story come 'bout how Brutus an' those fellers killed him there in the Senate house. I says to my wife, I don't believe it's him they killed, an' by Joe! later on it turned out just as I said. The feller they killed was named Julius Cæsar, and not Napoleon Bonyparte at all—which just shows the differences 'tween the two men, though there be folks as crack Cæsar up for bein' a very much bigger man than Napoleon.

'Nevertheless, my p'int remains. Them fellers succeeded in killin' Cæsar, an' Napoleon wasn't killed at all, which it takes a mighty smart soldier not to be. What? Yes, he did get licked oncet, up at a place named Waterloo, but he deserved what he got for bein' careless. Then he made another mistake goin to Moscow, out in Roosher. He'd never hearn o' blizzids an' snowballs, an' so of course, he sort o' thought Roosher was nothin' but a summer resort, like France, an' by Joe, when he got there it was so cold he had to set the town afire to keep him an' his army from freezin'. Nevertheless, he was a great man, an' 'twouldn't s'prise me to hear at any minnit that he'd come up ag'in an' wolloped Europe oncet more. Eh? What's that you say? He's dead? Why, Tommy, you s'prise me. Well, well, well! Too bad. He was a great man."—Harper's Young People.

THE NEW COMMANDER.

Thomas G. Lawler Chosen Head of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Thomas G. Lawler was born in Liverpool, England, in 1844. He came to this country with his parents when a child, and he received his education in the public schools of Rockford, Ill. His army service began when he enlisted as a three months' man in the Nineteenth Illinois Infantry in 1861. On September 17 following he re-enlisted for three years as a private in Company E, of the Nineteenth, and he was with that regiment in the army of the Cumberland. On September 17, 1864, he was honorably discharged.

His rank at that time was sergeant. On his discharge he returned to Rockford, and has ever since made that city his home. For a time he was in charge of the Rockford Bolt Company, but afterward was the head of the planing mill of his father-in-law, Joseph Rodd. After that he engaged in the lumber business, and was for twelve years postmaster of Rockford. He has repeatedly declined the nomination for the Mayoralty. He was made captain in 1877 of the Rockford Rifles. In 1886 he was elected colonel of the Third Illinois Regiment, National Guard, and served six years. He has been commander of Nevins Post, No. 1, G. A. R., for twenty-six years.

PEARY AND THE POLE

HE DIDN'T DISCOVER MUCH THIS SEASON, BUT WILL TRY AGAIN.

Mrs. Peary, With Miss Ahnigato Peary, Her Year-Old Daughter, Return to Civilization. Lieutenant Peary Remains in the North.

There is something fascinating about Arctic explorations, and ever since the late George W. Childs brought out Dr. Kane's book people have been greatly interested in them. Lieutenant Peary has added to the interest in his pole hunt by taking his wife north with him, and added interest attaches to this feature from the fact that during her latest trip with her husband a daughter was born—the only white child, it is said—that was born so near the pole. The baby is now a year old, is named Ahnigato, and has an Eskimo nurse.

It was not known what success had attended Lieutenant Peary's last expedition, nor was there any information concerning Miss Ahnigato Peary, until the recent return to civilization of the Peary party, except the Lieutenant and Lee and Henson, who remain at Falcon harbor ready for next season's explorations.

The work of the exloring party last season was not very successful, at least, nothing in the way of record breaking in pole hunting was done. The weather, Lieutenant Peary says, was very bad, and he tells of a storm which continued for four days, the temperature averaging from 45 to 55 degrees below zero, and reaching 60 degrees, and the wind for 34 consecutive hours blowing 48 miles per hour.

It is believed that this combination of temperature and wind is the most severe ever encountered by an Arctic exploring party. All of the explorers escaped serious injury except Davidson, whose left foot was frozen, but has since fully recovered. Many of the dogs were frozen solid, and others had to be chopped out of the ice.

The weather was such that the attempt to go as far north as Independence Bay, was given up, and the party decided to return to the quarters where Mrs. Peary and the rest of the party were. Many dogs had died on the northward trip, and so many died during the return trip that the sledge had to be abandoned. The burros, taken as an experiment, were useless, all dying.

Messrs. Peary and Lee are the first white men to see, locate and measure the historic iron meteorite near Cape York, which they will bring home next year, provided, of course, they are lucky enough to get back.

General A. W. Greely, the well-known Arctic explorer, commenting on the news from Peary, says that the failure of the party to reach Independence Bay results from untoward circumstances which no men could have possibly overcome.

The extraordinary success of Peary's journey in 1892, was saved from disaster only by the chance herd of musk oxen found at Independence Bay, without which the party would have perished. Favorable outcome beyond Independence Bay cannot reasonably be expected in 1895. These experiences teach that favorable conditions of weather, ice, and health rarely obtain, especially in the very northern latitude.

The Gain of Sunday Rest.

Of course I do not mean that a man will not produce more in a week by working seven days than by working six days. But I very much doubt whether, at the end of a year, he will generally have produced more by working seven days a week than by working six days a week. Therefore, it is that we are not poorer, but richer, because we have, through many ages, rested from our labor one day in seven. The day is not lost. Man, the machine of machines—the machine compared with which all the contrivances of the Watts and Arkwrights are worthless—is repairing and winding up, so that he returns to his labors on the Monday with clearer intellect, with livelier spirits, with renewed bodily vigor.—Lord Macaulay.

Saved By a Bad Reputation.

In a Washington county town, a little while ago, the local champion liar was brought up before the justice for stealing hens. It was a pretty plain case, and by the advice of his lawyer the prisoner said: "I plead guilty." This surprising answer in place of the string of lies expected staggered the justice. He rubbed his head. "I guess—I'm afraid—well, Hiram," he said, after a thoughtful pause, "I guess I'll have to have more evidence before I sentence you."—Central Law Journal.

First Boy—You're afraid to fight, that's what.

Second Boy—No, I ain't; but if I fight you, my mother will lick me.

First Boy—How will she find it out?

Second Boy—She'll see the doctor goin' to your house."

JUNO'S FAMOUS GEESE.

How their Timely Cackling Saved Rome from Capture.

Perhaps the goose is not so silly as people think. The Romans, at any rate, had a great respect for geese, and treated them much better than people do now. They had good reason to do so, because some geese once saved Rome.

The Gauls were besieging the city, and wanted especially to take the capitol. The capitol was built on top of a high, rocky hill, and they could not by any means get hold of it, it was so steep and so well guarded. They were almost in despair, when one day they noticed that there were marks on the front of the cliff as if some one had been climbing up. It was plain that a bush here and there had been torn up or crushed under foot. No wall was at the top of this place. The Gauls waited until night. It was bright moonlight just then, and they began silently and carefully to climb the hill. They got along very well until they were nearly at the top. All the Romans were asleep. No alarm was given, and the Gauls were confident of the success of their plan.

But there was a Temple of Juno near where they had to pass, and in it were kept a number of geese which were sacred to her, and which the Romans had spared, though they were in great want of food. Now their self-denial was to be rewarded. The geese heard the Gauls clambering up the rocks. They began to make a terrible noise, and they woke up Marcus Manlius, who threw on his armor and rushed out to the edge of the cliff just in time to push over the first Gaul who showed his head above the rocks. Other soldiers now woke up, the Gauls were driven back, and Rome was saved, for that time.—New York World.

THE INTRODUCTION.

Now, Fido, this is my new doll,
Stand up, sir, right away.
And say bow-wow, because, of course,
You cannot say good-day;
But you can be polite to her—
Her name is Baby Blue.
Keep quiet, Fido, till you hear
What I shall say to you!

You tore Loretta's pretty dress,
And pulled off Susie's hair,
And chewed up both of Mamie's hands
You know you did, so, there!
Now, if you touch my nice, new doll
You'll see what I shall do—
I'll love her, that is, if I can,
Better'n I'll love you!

Messages by Sunlight.

A dispatch from Denver, received the first week in September, has the following which will interest boys and girls who want to know things: The sun yesterday carried a message from the top of the Equitable Building to the summit of Pike's Peak, sixty miles in an air line. It was a remarkable feat in heliographic signaling.

Several days ago Sergeants McGlone, McLaughlin and Bissell left Denver for Pike's Peak to make the experiment. This was the message which was flashed from the top of the snow-covered peak:

Pike's Peak, Sept. 3.—To Captain Glassford, Denver:

We greet you via sunbeam. Arrived at 4 P. M. yesterday; snow storms prevented our opening station. M'GLONE.

Next week the signal men will start for their attempt to flash a message from Mount Uncompahgre to Mount Ellen, 183 miles. The flashes of the mirrors on Pike's Peak could be distinctly seen by the naked eye during the transmission of the message. Telescopes are used in focusing the flash, but after the field operations are located the work is done by the use of the mirror and screen.

He Was Honest.

Mme. "Albani," who, before her marriage to Mr. Gye, son of the London impresario, was Miss Emma Cecilia La Junnesse of Albany, N. Y., tells the following story of her little son: "Yes, he is bright, is Ernest, but he is also most honest, which pleases me even more, I think. Once he came home from school and told me with great glee how he had that day outstripped all the others and stood at the head of his class. Of course, I praised and petted him for it, when presently, looking straight into my eyes, he said: 'But I ought to tell you, mamma, that the best boy wasn't there!'"

A Colossal Canal Projected.

A canal of colossal dimensions is projected in Russia. It is intended to connect the rivers Dnieper and Dwina and thus to form a waterway from the Baltic to the Black Sea. At present the only route from Odessa to Cronstadt is by way of the Bay of Biscay and the Straits of Gibraltar, and as international treaties prevent men-of-war from passing the Dardanelles, the Muscovite Government has been forced, at an immense cost, to duplicate at Sebastopol the naval arsenal, shipyards and docks which it already possesses at Cronstadt. The survey and practical examination of the route are complete, and the work is likely to begin soon.

A Great Cycling Capital.

Paris has become second only to London in her devotion to cycling. The use of the wheel is so general there that the French Academy of Medicine has been seriously discussing the habit this week. There are more than 100,000 bicycles in Paris, and they are ridden by young and old, fat and thin. A prominent physician drew the attention of the academy to the death of three persons from heart disease recently while riding bicycles. He said that not less than one per cent. of the riders are suffering from cardiac affections and are in danger of the same fate. He argued that no one should use the machines without submitting to medical tests.

REMARKABLE CURES Of Recent Date.

To the Public:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

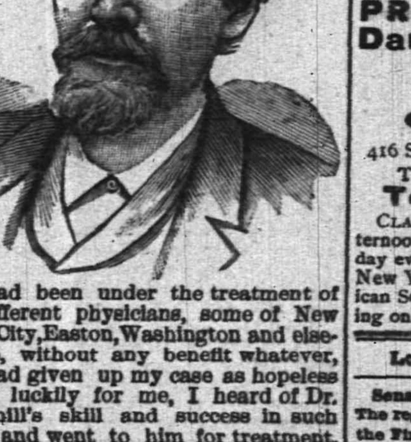
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

To the Sick, Suffering and Afflicted:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

QUEER LEGISLATION.

Borough Council Adopts a Singular Ordinance.

IT DEPENDS ON A CORPORATE "IF".

Edison Electric Light Company Required to Set Back Its Poles When It Agrees to Do So—Adjusting Vacation Salary—City Light Demanded.

A short session for the transaction of routine business was the regular meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council held last evening. All the councilmen except Mr. Neal attended. The ordering of a survey of the borough and the passage of the electric-light pole ordinance were the only unusual actions taken.

The minutes were read and approved and then Clerk Arnold made the following financial report of balances:

Borough account	$ 725.94
Fire "	300.00
Light "	408.03
Road "	212.26
Total balance	$1,646.44

The clerk's receipts were:

Fines from Mayor Needham	$ 20.00
" " Magistrate Crosley	29.00
Dirt sold	3.60
Subscription Linden Avenue macadamizing	303.00
Total receipts	$ 355.60

Warren Engine Company extended an invitation to the mayor, the council and the borough counsel to attend and take part in the moonlight parade and inspection of the new hose wagon next Wednesday night. The invitation was received.

Councilman Valiant reported for the committee appointed to estimate the cost of having a survey made of the borough. He alone had met Civil Engineer F. A. Dunham and discussed the matter. The engineer had offered to survey all of the borough except Bullfrog City and an uninhabited portion for $200. The committee did not feel authorized to order the survey made at such an expense. In regard to the work of the Street Committee, Mr. Valiant said that Myrtle avenue had been finished, but that the surface was not in good condition. The last dressing of stone was of too coarse stone and did not pack firmly.

On motion of Mr. Peck the ordinance on the placing of electric-light poles on the streets of the borough was taken up for final passage. A clause was inserted making the ordinance take effect Oct. 25 next, dependent on the acceptance by the company. Mr. Peck said that Mr. Reed considered the proposed ordinance a beneficial one for the borough, as it gave no more privileges to the company and provided for the moving of the poles which were not put in their proper places at first. Mr. Winckler remarked that the ordinance did not apply to any company except the Edison and its successors.

Mayor Needham resigned the chair to Mr. Howell and entered the discussion. He said he had never heard of such a regulation's depending on the action of a second party. If the Council had the right to pass such an ordinance it had the right to make the company comply with a pole-placing ordinance; there was no need for any special action. Mr. Lounsbury explained that when the company started rights were granted which the Council had no power to give. The law had since been changed so that the authorities could now take action in the matter, and it was for their purpose that the ordinance was introduced.

The ordinance was adopted as a whole without further reading.

Among the bills which were next ordered paid was that of Assistant Marshal Line for $30.68 for services during September at the rate of $50 per month or $1.61 per night. A discussion arose over the payment of this. Mr. Lounsbury stated that the marshal had been given four days leave of absence and had remained away 12 days. The special marshals were to be paid $2 per night, leaving a 39 cent gap between what Line deducted for each night and what it cost the borough. After a long talk Line's bill and those of the two specials were all ordered paid.

Mr. Valiant moved and it was carried that a crosswalk be laid on the southwest side of Westervelt avenue at Jackson avenue and another on the southwest side of Fairview avenue at Watchung avenue. His action in sanctioning the payment of $145 39 on the pay rolls for July 20 and 27 and Aug. 3 was recognized by the council. For Sept. 14, 21 and 28 and Oct. 5, the council ordered the payment of $199 73. A balance of $116.14 was ordered paid to A. I. and N. B Smalley.

A loan of $500 for the road account and one of $1,000 for the fire account were ordered negotiated. On motion of Mr. Winckler the clerk was instructed to notify the Plainfield council that the borough council had done its share towards lighting the dangerous Elm Place bridge and to request the city to place a light on its side of the brook.

Mr. Peck's motion that Warren Engine Company's invitation be accepted was carried. Mr. Winckler said he had noticed a number of street lights which were obscured by the branches of trees, and the matter of having the street commissioner attend to the trimming was discussed. Mr. Valiant brought up the surveying of the streets again. Mr. Lounsbury said he understood that a grade map must be made before a petition for sewerage could be presented. He thought that $100 was enough to pay for the work. After further talk the matter was laid over until the next meeting. Councilmen Peck and Lounsbury voted against the postponement.

That Dollar.

There has never been a time when a dollar had more purchasing power than the present. The new tariff bill has lowered prices on certain lines of goods from 25 to 30 per cent., particularly on woolen goods. Although the bill does not take effect until January 1, manufacturers are anxious to sell their goods for what they will bring, and one of the quickest to take advantage of the break in prices is White of Plainfield. He is offering exceptionally good values in wool dress goods and throughout other departments of his store. He says it is not a question of profit. It's any price to sell, and that price the lowest.

BEATING THE TROLLEY.

LOTS MORE FUN, AND PROFIT TO THE TREASURY.

Epworth Leaguers Will Run Their Own Stage Line to Carry Their Members as Passengers.

The Epworth League of Grace M. E Church, noted for the delightful features of its monthly socials, inaugurated another session last night. It has been agreed that the social meetings of the League will be held this Winter at the homes of different members, so last evening the residence of Jacob Voehl on Somerset street was the scene of the first success.

Business matters were first considered. Mrs. Herbert Randolph, wife of the pastor, was elected first vice-president to fill a vacancy. Henry DeMott offered to furnish a stage to take the members of the society from the church to the Monroe Avenue Chapel rally next Tuesday evening. It was agreed that each one riding would pay trolley car fare and that the treasury receive the money.

Then the Leaguers turned their attention to the social part of the affair, and the rest of the evening was spent in the enjoyment of games and conversation.

Refreshments were served under the supervision of those in charge, Miss Agnes Tingley and Miss Margaret Schuck of the Literary Committee.

JUDGE ULRICH RETIRES.

Leaves a Profession which He Has Helped Distinguish.

John T. Ulrich has transferred his Masonic publication, The Royal Craftsman, to Valentine N. Bagley, and makes the following valedictory:

"Nearly eight years ago the retiring editor of The Royal Craftsman took up his pen to write his salutatory outlining what he desired to accomplish in his editorial chair and defining the aim and policy which he proposed to work out.

"In looking backward over the fields of his labors he has no apology to make and leaves his efforts to be but charitably criticised by the subscribers of The Royal Craftsman.

"He retires from the editorial chair with a feeling of a deep sense of obligation to the members of the craft and Masonic papers who have so loyally sustained him in his undertaking to furnish the New Jersey Masons with a Masonic paper of which this Grand Jurisdiction might well feel proud. In concluding he expresses a hope that the incoming editor, whose reputation as a Masonic scholar and writer goes before him, may at all times receive the like courtesies and kindness as has the retiring editor."

Afraid to Meet Crack Leal Players.

The football game scheduled for yesterday afternoon between the Leal's school eleven and the Newark Academy team was not played. The Leal team were ready at the appointed time, but the Newark club failed to appear, and after waiting two elevens were selected and a practice game was played. The Plainfield boys feel very much disgusted at the action of the Newark team in failing to send word that they would not appear.

GEORGE ANGLEMAN DEAD.

HEART TROUBLE ENDS A BUSY AND USEFUL LIFE.

He Was Plainfield's Street Commissioner Many Years, and Leaves a Large Family.

Ex-Street Commissioner George M. Angleman died at 12 last night in Matawan. Heart trouble was the cause of his death. He had been confined to his room for only a week.

Mr. Angleman lived in Plainfield all his life, having been born here in 1823. He married Margaret Ulrich of New York who died seven years ago. Of their seven children five are living. They are Mrs. I. L. McVoy, Miss Melissa Angleman and Mrs. T. H. Keller of East Front street, Mrs. F. W. Dodge of North Plainfield, and John Angleman of Bayonne. Two, Mrs. Samuel Giles of Dunellen and Washington Angleman of this city, are dead. Six years ago Mr. Angleman married his second wife, Mrs. Thompson of Somerville.

When the Central Railroad track was elevated Mr. Angleman superintended the construction of the track and the laying out of the streets in Dunellen and Fanwood. He was afterward street commissioner of Plainfield for a number of terms.

A short time ago he secured a contract for macadamizing county roads about Matawan and went with Mrs. Angleman to board there. The news of his death this morning was a shock to his many friends who had not heard of his illness. Arrangements were made to bring the body to Plainfield today.

WATER IN THE TRENCHES.

PUMPS REQUIRED TO HELP THE SEWER BUILDERS.

Burning the Midnight Oil to Keep Down the Bubbling Underground River.

Engineer Gavett and Cook & Co's men worked at the corner of Watchung avenue and Ninth street until 12 last night. It was thought best to proceed with the building of the manhole there as the ground had been opened down to the water level. Pumping was kept up all day yesterday and in the evening until the manhole was completed.

The cause for the construction of the Watchung avenue manhole before the sewer reaches it is not generally understood by those who have seen the men leave the end of the excavation at Third place and move on the avenue. The difficulty by the change of course was the drainage along the line of the sewer.

If the line had been extended as usual the water would have been reached halfway to Watchung avenue and from that point the laying of drain-tile to Cedar brook by way of the avenue would have been necessary. The grade by this route is not sufficient to carry off the water.

The engineers' maps showing that water would be reached at the sewer level, 11 feet, on Watchung avenue, the men went ahead and sunk a man-hole shaft there. They found that the maps were absolutely correct. Pipe-laying will therefore be preceded by the placing of drain-tile so that the water will be carried off by Third place, the grade to the brook being much steeper than by way of the avenue.

The pipe continues to arrive in shipments of odd sizes. Cook & Co. have considerable on hand, but not enough of one kind to go on with the work of laying it. The pipe is of better quality now. Of the first shipment of 195 lengths 47 were rejected. Yesterday, out of a shipment of 100 only five were considered unfit for use.

THE BOONE-KAERTH CASE.

Defendant's Counsel States His Side the Affair.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—It seems strange to me that when some people are defeated in securing or obtaining what they desire, they resort to a communication in our local papers; just so in the recent case of Boone against Kaerth, Mr. Stillman, attorney for Dr. Boone, states in a communication in your last evening's issue, that the offer of compromise came from Dr. Boone. In this Mr. Stillman is in error, as I was the only one who had any talk with Mr. Stillman in regard to a compromise; when I told him Mr Kaerth did not consider himself responsible for the accident, yet for peace, he would pay for repairing of the Dr's wagon, and also pay a reasonable sum for medical attendance on the Dr and for medicine. This proposition Mr. Stillman refused to accept, and said the Dr. would not take less than five hundred dollars; which Mr. Kaerth would not pay, hence the suit. I think the Dr. would have been much better off had he accepted our proposition.

SCARLET AND ORANGE.

These Colors Wave in New Brunswick Next Week.

ALL READY FOR THE GREAT C. E'S.

1,500 Delegates, and Many Non-Voting Members, to Gather in a Church Nearly Two Centuries Old—The Famous Raritan Town Opens Her Arms to All the State.

The young Christians all over the State who are banded together under the name of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will hold their eighth annual convention at New Brunswick next Thursday and Friday. The committee having the affair in charge have been untiring in their efforts to make this convention the most successful of any that has been held in this State, and they promise to do so, even to eclipse the enthusiastic gathering that was held at Trenton last year.

Preparations are being made for a larger crowd of visitors than have ever before been gathered within the boundaries of New Brunswick, and the Christian Endeavorers will be welcomed with open arms. The Committee on Accommodations has secured rooms in the hotels for 130 special guests, and many more than that number can secure places at the hostelries of the town. The rest of the 1,500 delegates will be placed in private houses. Rooms for 600 delegates have already been secured, while there are still five churches and a number of large boarding-houses to be heard from.

When the delegates arrive at New Brunswick they need not be afraid of getting lost, for there will be a very numerous Reception Committee on hand, ready to pilot those who have never been in the rambling old city to the Endeavor headquarters, which will be in the chapel of the old Dutch Reformed Church. Here there will be a host of young men and women, who, upon presentation of the proper credentials, will issue the official badges to the delegates, and those and only those who wear the badges will be allowed on the main floor of the old Dutch church during the sessions of the convention. These badges are of a special design and are in charge of J. W. Bingner, of Metuchen. They are made of celluloid and around the monogram letters "C. E." are the words: "Eighth Annual State Convention, New Brunswick, N. J., October 11 and 12, 1894." The badges will be fastened to strips of orange ribbon.

The church in which the convention will be held fronts on Nelson street, corner of Bayard. It has a gallery, and will accommodate 1,500 people. A platform will be erected across the front of the edifice and it will be large enough to hold a choir of 200 and the principal speakers. The decorators will be at work early next Monday morning, and by Thursday the interior of the church will be a mass of scarlet and orange, the colors of the New Brunswick local union. A number of the badges will also be made of this combination of colors; the Reception Committee alone wearing the orange badge of the State union.

It is expected that overflow meetings will have to be held each night and probably in the daytime. If so, they will be held in the First Baptist and First Presbyterian churches, which are near the Dutch Reformed Church. The denominational rallies that will take place Thursday afternoon will be held in the following churches: Presbyterian, in First Presbyterian Church; Congregational, Second Reformed Chapel; Moravian, First Presbyterian Sunday-school rooms; Baptist, First Baptist Church; Methodist Episcopal, First M. Dr. P. T. Parkman and Dr. D. C. English. The other committees have the following chairmen; Press, W. E. Compton; Entertainment, M. T. West; Reception, Howard B. Butler; Enrollment, Freeman Woodbridge; Musical Director, Loren Bragdon, leader of the Rutgers College Glee Club.

The members of all these committees have been working hard for the success of the convention. Mr. Compton, who is a student at Rutgers College, gave up his entire vacation to the work of preparing for the event, and he has accomplished excellent results.

The First Reformed Church was organized 175 years ago, and is one of the first churches erected in the State. The original building was in Burnet street, and the present building was erected in 1812. It is intimately connected with Rutgers College in the past, and twenty years ago all of the theological professors of the church were installed there. Rutgers College is one of the sights of the town. It was started in the year 1766, and is the college of the Reformed Dutch Church.

Although having developed such an enormous strength the Christian Endeavor movement has been on foot only since 1881. February 2 of that year the first society was organized at Portland, Me., at the Williston Church. It now has over 2,000,000 members. Rev. Francis E. Clark was the originator of the scheme, and he stated that the object of the society was the training of young Christians for duties in church work and to promote an earnest Christian life among the members. Like the Sunday-school, each society is in some local church, and embraces no one outside of that church. There are about 27,000 Christian Endeavor societies, they being in almost every country in the world. The societies are in all evangelical denominations with the exception of the Catholic. The United Society has no control over the local unions or societies, and is simply for the purpose of spreading the Christian Endeavor idea. Christian Endeavor Day is celebrated February 2 of each year, and is observed by unity in prayer for other Christian Endeavor societies throughout the world and by contributions of money for missionary purposes.

The State Christian Endeavor Union was organized December 1, 1886, at a meeting in the Presbyterian Church at Jamesburg, Middlesex County. Seventy-seven people were present, enrolled their names as members, but most of them were not members of the ten societies that were represented, and some even were not residents of the State. They went home, however, and organized societies, which soon made the membership take an astonishing upward bound.

The first annual meeting was attended by representatives of thirty churches, and while it was an unpretentious meeting it was decidedly helpful and practical. Those who had organized the union had worked so earnestly that at this convention ninety-two societies, with a membership of 3,000, were represented. There is a local union in every county in the State and meetings are held once a month for ten months in a year, when methods of work are prepared and plans are laid. Rev. J. Judson Pierson of Woodbury is the president of the State union, having been re-elected at the Trenton convention last year. Rev. Dr. J. Clement French of Newark, and Mrs. Alice May Scudder of Jersey City, are vice-presidents, and Miss Caroline H. Brookfield is the secretary. There is also an Executive Committee composed of one member from each county.

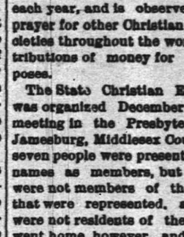
WHAT ARE THE "BLUES"?

Woman's Color is an Unfailing Thermometer.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

A woman's thermometer is her color. She is red with embarrassment or some deep emotion; she is white with fright; she is supposed to be green with envy; but when she is blue it means that she is sick.



It is not the fault of the woman if she has the blues and that "want-to-be-let-alone" feeling. It is the fault of her condition which makes happiness impossible.

No woman can be happy and light-hearted when painful female complaints crush out her life.

If she is melancholy, excitable, nervous, dizzy, or troubled with sleeplessness or fainting spells, they are symptoms of serious female weakness.

A leaf out of the experience of Mrs. Anna Miller, who lives at Duhring, Pa., shows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure that terrible weakness and bearing-down pain in the abdomen, the dizziness in the head, the feeling of irritability, and loss of appetite.

"I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound," she writes, "for all female complaints. It's my greatest friend."

MY FIANCEE.

I had been telegraphic operator at "B station" some six or eight months, and had held communication of a purely business character only with the operator at "D" when there came a change. Death silently removed the old man who had been in charge there for so long, and a new operator was installed.

A message spun along the line one February morning in this wise: "Good morning, B." I responded:

"Good morning, D." Then came the information: "The old man died last night, and I have taken his place."

"What is your name?" I asked.

"Nellie Merton. What is yours?" A spirit of deviltry prompted my reply:

"Ned Clayborn."

"Thank you," was the concise response. Then a message in real earnest came along the lines, and we were obliged to attend to business. Every day I bade my unseen acquaintance "good morning," and never closed up at night without a farewell message. A twinge of conscience racked me at times, and a "still, small voice" whispered its warning, but the temptation was too great, and it was not long before I was sending sly messages, containing a good deal "atween the lines," to the unseen Nellie. The replies to these messages were guarded, but hopeful, and I grew bolder. It was lots of fun.

She told me her history. She had run away from her home because her parents had insisted upon marrying her to a man she detested (and the last word came clicking viciously from my end of the line). She would never marry him—never. I advised her not to, and hinted at an affection deeper and truer than any the presuming, "detested fellow" could offer.

Well the outcome of it was that I asked the unseen Nellie to be my wife, and even described the little home that was lonesomely awaiting her coming. I was floundering in deep water, and could but trust to a kind Providence to pull me out. My "fun" was becoming dead earnest. How I wished the wires stretching between us were telephonic, instead of telegraphic, that I could, perchance, hear some exclamation or gain some token of how my message was received. But this was not to be, and I had to possess my soul in patience. That virtue was almost exhausted when the well-known call fell upon my ears. I flew to the instrument. It was concise and not very complimentary, "Rather than marry that brute I will risk it."

I was in for it now and must perforce flounder still deeper by sending rapturous messages over the wires. I, Delia Brown, was engaged to be married to a young lady I had never seen. This was forcing the question of woman's rights.

I carried the "fun" on for over three months, and every day it grew decidedly less "funny," until I began to brood over the predicament into which I had giddily led my feet. The time was rapidly approaching when I would have to claim the bride I had won in this novel, romantic manner, and my blood ran cold at the thought of how easy it would be for her to learn of my perfidy, and from all I had seen of her temper, I felt sure she would not deal lightly with any one who would dare to play tricks upon her.

At last I could bear it no longer, and one day, just three weeks before I was to travel to "D" and claim my bride, I boarded the train with altogether another motive. It was to "kiss" and "make up" after I had begged her with tears to forgive me, etc.

I found a little house, with a little sign in blue and white swinging in the breeze, similar to the little house and the little sign at "B." It was occupied at the time by a young man reading a paper. I looked at him without speaking, and he returned the compliment in kind.

"I wish to see Miss Nellie Merton," I said, and as he did not speak I went on to explain. "I am the operator at 'B' and have an important message which must be delivered to her at once. A moment's delay means ——" I paused for a word, and he spoke for the first time.

"So you are the oper...tor at 'B' and desire to see Miss Merton? I am sorry to disappoint you, but, you see, Miss Merton is at home the present time while I take her place. The fact is she is going to be married and is preparing for the great event. She cannot be seen personally, but if you will intrust the message to me I will deliver it immediately if you will be kind enough to take my place while I run around to her house."

His coolness nearly distracted me.

"I must see her!" I exclaimed, excitedly.

"But you cannot," he said, coolly. "I have strict orders not to let any one know her whereabouts for a day or two until these extensive preparations are well under way."

I was on the verge of tears, and with a choke in my voice I cried out, sinking into a chair, and holding up my hands deprecatingly:

"Don't say another word. You will set me wild. If you will not tell me where to find Nellie," I went on in desperation, "will you please tell her this—I have been a bad, wicked girl, and—and—and there is no such person as Ned Clayborn! It started in fun, and—and—and—please let me go to her. She will understand me so much better than you can explain it!"

"No such person as Ned Clayborn! My dear young lady, I must beg leave to differ with you. That is the name of the young man who in three short weeks is to marry Miss Merton. Surely, he is not dead?" he added, in consternation.

"Oh, will you not understand? It was all a joke at first. I thought it would be great fun, and so I—well, I am Ned Clayborn, and after a time we became engaged —all in fun, too." Here I laughed hysterically. "I tried to stop, but I was so wicked I could not, and now poor Nellie will break her heart, and—and—and—" And I broke down and began to cry in a miserable way.

Unlike most men, my companion was not in the least disconcerted at sight of my tears, but simply laughed, loud and long.

Presently the laughter ceased. Then I heard uneasy movements in the chair occupied by my companion. Then he got up and paced about restlessly. Pretty soon a light touch fell upon my arm, and his voice, very gentle and kind, said: "Nellie is here to receive your confession and forgiveness." I dried my eyes and looked up, but saw no one but the tall young man, who was looking at me very earnestly.

"Where is she?" I asked, ready to cry again.

"Here," he said, holding out his hand. Instinctively I put mine into it, and it closed over it firmly.

"I also have a confession to make," he said earnestly. "I thought you were another young fellow like myself, and wish ing to relieve the tedium of these long monotonous days struck up a flirtation. I intended some day to meet the young man and have it out with him, when you came with your strange confession. In short," he ended abruptly, "I am Nellie Merton. And you are Ned Clayborn? Come, dry your eyes, Ned. Your Nellie is not heartbroken at the turn of affairs."

After staring at him in silent amazement for a space of five seconds the truth of the whole matter began to dawn upon my confused brain. My face grew hot with indignation, I snatched my hand from his and sprang to my feet.

"You are a contemptible fellow!" I cried. He did not reply, but stood looking down at me from his superior height.

"It was a hundred times meaner in you because your object was a woman. I will never forgive you if I live to be a thousand."

"Isn't that rather paradoxical considering the fact that you thought I was a woman and you were enacting the role of the sterner sex?" he asked.

"You might have known," I answered severely.

"But I did not," he replied.

"Here is my train," I said shortly.

"Goodby," he replied, assisting me on to the train despite my independence, and lifting his hat as it pulled out.

I travelled back to "B" a sadder but wiser woman.

"You are a fool," said I to my reflection in the little mirror as I removed my hat.

A year rolled by. I had entirely recovered from my chagrin, and buried in the darkest chamber of my memory was every thought of the tall young operator at "D" station.

One morning I was arranging and copying some night messages when a long shadow fell across my papers. A glance upward told who it was. The door of that secret and darkened chamber flew open, and I knew that the tall young man at "D station" was not as yet quite consigned to oblivion. Standing with hat in hand and without any preface of any kind, he said:

"Over a year ago you asked me to marry you, and I consented. I have come to ask: Will you come? Or shall I enter suit for breach of promise?"

What could I do? And after all, perhaps he would not have made me a better husband had I met him in the old conventional way and waited for him to propose to me.—Ella Terre, in Short stories.

HE DIDN'T SCARE.

A Lawyer Who Coolly Faced the Muzzle of a Busy Gun.

Prosecuting Attorney Price, of Taney County, would serve well as the hero of the most sensational novels. The son of President Buchanan's United States Treasurer, he is finely educated and a fluent talker. Fitted in every way to adorn high society in any one of the large cities, he prefers to cast his lot among the Ozark mountaineers. He is a man over six feet tall, firmly but neither sparingly nor yet corpulently built, with a figure as straight as the proverbial arrow, and a fine face adorned by bright, dark eyes.

One little story will illustrate the character of the man and show his absolute fearlessness. One day when he was a practicing lawyer a rough character took offense at utterances of his and sent word to him that he proposed to have it out with him. The man was armed with a Winchester rifle and had imbibed liberally of the Taney "white whiskey." Price appeared in front of his office and the man opened fire on him. Instead of retreating Price drew his revolver and advanced straight at the man.

The latter was pumping his Winchester, while Price continued to walk toward him. The absolute coolness of his antagonist disconcerted the fire of the rough character and not a bullet took effect, though one or two pierced his clothing. By the time the Winchester was empty he was near the man. Clubbing his revolver, he rushed forward and beat the man severely, driving him finally out of the town. It was the coolest act ever known in Taney.—Kansas City Star.

SOME BREEZY PERSONALS.

Notes of Notables with More Lightness than Reverence.

Jonnell Sullivan is going to do what he can for the stage by leaving it. He is going to take up farming. He'll be able to thresh grain, anyhow.

Miss McAllister, daughter of Ward McAllister, appeared on the avenues of Newport, R. I., riding a bicycle with a male servant following. This sets the pace, in a way.

When bidding adieu to the Burgomaster of Thorn the other day, it is learned from the esteemed Os-Deutsche-Zeitung, Emperor William thanked him for the enthusiastic reception, and added: "Bear well in mind what I have said to-day. I can also be very disagreeable." Reference, Herr Bismarck.

Baron von Munchausen, the winner of the recent Baden jubilee gold cup, is not only a namesake but a lineal descendant of the Baron, whose veracious tales of travel and adventure, as told by Rudolph Ruepe, have been immortalized by Cruikshank and Gustave Dore.

These are hard times indeed. Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor rode in the caboose of a freight train from Tarrytown to Poughkeepsie, and the "news" has been telegraphed all over the country. The public may even expect to hear of their riding in a street car.

ABOUT YOUNG WORKERS.

Encouragement For Boys Who Cannot Go to School Much.

It very often happens that a boy has to be busy with work of some kind, when he really wants to read and become educated. Now, this desire for education is a splendid thing in a boy. Indeed, there is nothing in the world that is any better. But, it often happens that a boy is prevented by circumstances from doing that which would seem to be the best thing for him. Here is a word of encouragement to such boys.

Read all you can in the best papers and magazines. Pick up scraps of information about people and things, and make them your own, so that you will remember them. Some day your knowledge, picked up little by little, will be very extensive, and you will find that you compare very favorable with boys who have had much better chances for education than yourself. Console yourself with the thought that some of the best work in the world has been done under very trying circumstances. Sir Walter Raleigh wrote his "History of the World" during his eleven years' imprisonment. And who knows but you during your recreation, may be laying the foundation of some piece of work as great an any Sir Walter Raleigh ever did.—N. Y. Recorder.

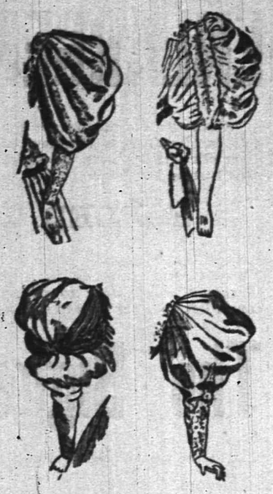
BIGGER THAN EVER.

IT TAKES FOUR YARDS OF SILK TO MAKE A PAIR.

Longer too, and Worn with Cuffs. Size is Only Governed by the Timidity of the Wearer. Nothing Since the Grecian Bend to Compare in Hideousness.

Possibly the most important announcement in the matter of women's dress this fall is that sleeves are to be larger, more elaborate and more grotesque than ever. It takes four yards of silk to make a pair of stylish sleeves alone. As for the work, it requires as much time and labor to make a pair of fashionable sleeves as it does to make an entire bodice.



Even the man-delighting tailor-made suit is not exempt from the prevailing fashion, but has sleeves ruffled and fulled until they retain little of their original graceful outlines. A vote of thanks is certainly due to the originator of the present fashions from all thin women. As for the woman with a figure, who is not chicken-breasted or consumptive-backed, she must either resemble an animated balloon or be out of the fashion. And some foolish person, undoubtedly a woman, has said, "Better be dead than that."

Sleeves are decidedly longer as well as fuller. Many of the sleeves in the handsomest imported costumes reach to the first joint of the thumb. Whether they are trimmed at the hand or not is altogether a matter of individual taste. But for the woman with a bony wrist nothing is more deceptive than a quilling or a fall of lace. Neither is there any set style of cut, so long as the sleeve be mammoth.

Sleeves with cuffs (usually to the elbow) or cut in one, are equally fashionable. For street wear, however, sleeves all in one are generally preferred. The balloon proportions are maintained either by bunching or lining with crinoline. For evening dress sleeves reaching to the elbow are much in favor. Even with "decollete" dresses this style is much used.

FLYING IN THE FACE OF DEATH.

A Maid Sues the Estate of a Man Because He Did Not Live to Marry Her.

Miss Mary E. Bartlett, late of Malden, Mass., has brought suit for $150,000 damages against the estate of the late Dr. Henry J. Bigelow for alleged breach of promise of marriage made by the doctor some time before his death.

She says that she fully believes that the doctor would have kept his promise to wed her had not death intervened.

Dr. Bigelow was one of the best known surgeons of the country. For more than thirty years he was Professor of Surgery at Harvard, retiring from that place in 1884, receiving the title of professor emeritus. He was known throughout the world as one of the leaders of modern anatomical research, and some of his works are recognized as standards.

Shake!" rejoined the man in the skull cap, heartily. "I'm an agent for a fire extinguisher."—Boston Tribune.

SWIMMING FOR HEALTH.

A Mistress of the Natatorial Art Says Swimming Brings Health.

"Swimming," said Mademoiselle H——, who teaches the art in London, "is perfect. It is delicious. What finer, more health giving amusement for summer weather? It teaches confidence, reliance upon one's self, bravery. It is good for both body and mind. In my opinion were girls—all girls—to learn swimming they would benefit immensely by doing so. Except, of course, those who are positively unfitted physically to do so. Then what a thing is swimming for the figure," continued Mademoiselle, with a glance at her own, showing indistinctly beneath the soft clinging folds of the peignoir. "It is marvellous. I have young ladies come to me, as a last resource I suppose, with figures rather those of boys than women. I teach them to swim, perhaps show them a few calisthenic movements to use after the bath. What is the result? In a few months they have busts, they have hips, their contours are round not meagre, their limbs are firm and developed. In a word I have made a goddess where I found a faun.

Women come to me—especially young married women—enervated by too much gaiety, late hours, and the languorous warmth of the boudoir. What do I do? I teach them to swim. In a few weeks maybe they are cured, or better. Ah, there is nothing like it; doctors send girls and women to me, but I very seldom have to send my pupils to them. I do not trouble these Messieurs much I assure you." And looking at the peach-bloom skin I could well believe what Mademoiselle declared.

"Most of my pupils get to love the sport as I do myself. And many, provided the water is anything approaching a bearable temperature, scarcely miss a day throughout the spring, summer and autumn months. My better class pupils, of course, go to the bains de mer, where the sterner sort of swimming is exchanged for the coquetterie of the plage, with its society, dainty costumes, and male companionship. Enjoyable and healthy, because the fresh air and sunshine is there. What amusement is caused me when some of my pupils return again; brown legs to the knees, brown necks and arms, contrasting with white bosoms and shoulders. How we laugh together over it all; I listening to the flirtations of the seaside."

"Do girls or boys prove your aptest pupils?" I asked. "But, perhaps, Mademoiselle, you have not experience in teaching both."

"Yes, I have," was the response. "Girls certainly. They are, firstly, more buoyant; secondly, more painstaking, as you say; and, thirdly, less venturesome, and therefore less likely to fancy they are perfect before they are so. I for one whole summer taught a boys' Lycee. But never again. They are so troublesome, so full of tricks. No, I like to teach my own sex far better."

Dr. and Editor Morse Finds Great Curative Qualities in a Simple Remedy.

(From Westfield, N. J., Leader, Sept. 5, 1894.)

We believe in being fair, and if we know ourselves we are fair. The fact of the Editor of the Leader being a physician of the old school encourages some people to ask why we kick quacks and quackery. We do hate charlatans the worst way That's a fact. But every proprietary medicine is n't a quack medicine. In some of them we believe as devoutly as we do in calomel and quinine. There, for example, is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It has our faith. We know of its therapeutical value because of knowledge of its efficacy. In this laboratory it has fully approved itself as containing just those ingredients which every physician knows the materia medica to indicate for the disorders for which the remedy is prescribed. In clinical experience its further proof has not been wanting, as we have reason to know. We have no hesitancy in saying that we should prescribe the Remedy in any case where it is really indicated.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has no rival as a blood builder and nerve food. It has met with unparallelled success in the treatment of all diseases of the skin, liver, kidneys and the blood. It restores the disordered liver to a healthy condition, and effectually cures the worst cases of habitual constipation. It has cured cases of Bright's Disease, erysipelas, rheumatism, dyspepsia, gravel, diabetes, bladder and urinary troubles, where all else has failed. It is a certain cure for all the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females and affords great protection from attacks that originate in the change of life. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is for sale by all dealers in medicine at one dollar a bottle or six bottles for five dollars; which brings a treatment within the reach of all.

TO HIS FINAL REWARD

Death of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Boston, Oct. 8.—Oliver Wendell Holmes is dead. Without the semblance of a struggle or a pain he passed away as he has lived, peacefully and beautifully.

The end came at 12:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the venerable poet's town house, 296 Beacon street. He was surrounded by his children and visibly conscious of their presence up to within a few minutes of the last, though unable to speak. Then he closed his eyes wearily and seemed to fall asleep, as indeed he did—the sleep of death at which the whole world will mourn.

Dr. Holmes came from his summer home at Beverly ten day's ago, and while not quite in his accustomed health at that time, did not regard himself as ill, nor was he so regarded by his children and friends. For several years he had been a sufferer from asthma, and the day after his return to Boston, he had a particularly severe attack of this malady.

It was the beginning of the end. Dr. Holmes never left his bed again, for while the asthma was conquered, it left him in such a weakened condition that he never rallied.

Gradually and calmly he approached the dark river. Gradually and peacefully he waited for the end, knowing full well that it was near, for Dr. Charles P. Putnam, of 63 Marlboro street, told the sufferer a week ago that it must come. Dr. Putnam had been the Holmes' family physician for years and knew his patient well. His practical eye saw the gradual breaking up that others could not see. Never robust, Dr. Holmes lived to the great age he did through having taken the best of care of himself at all times. Dr. Putnam knew that when the final illness did come it would not be a long one. His last call upon his patient was made at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. At that hour he found him little changed, except for the ever-growing weakness, so gradual and insidious in its work that even Dr. Putnam did not apprehend that the end was nearer than a day or two at the least. On the strength of this Dr. Putnam went to Weymouth to attend a patient, first arranging with his brother, Dr. James Putnam, of 106 Marlboro street, to call upon his patient during the afternoon.

It was not until nearly noon that Dr. Holmes' attendant and family noticed any decided change in his condition. This was in the form of an unusual exhaustion, and almost before any stimulating remedies could be administered, Dr. Holmes had become partially unconscious, his breath came shorter and shorter, and within the brief space of a quarter of an hour the great poet that all the world has loved was no more.

Dr. James Putnam had been summoned upon the first intimation of a change, and came at once, but only in time to see the great man's eyes close in death.

To-night the serenity and peace that always characterized Dr. Holmes' life was found about the house in which he lay dead, but none of the family was to be seen.

Save for the faint sweet odor of flowers which pervaded the place there was nothing to suggest a house of mourning.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was born at Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 29, 1809. He was graduated from Harvard college in 1829, and began the study of law, which he subsequently abandoned for that of medicine. Having attended the hospitals of Paris and other European cities, he commenced practice in Boston in 1836. In 1838 he was elected professor of anatomy and physiology in Dartmouth college, and in 1847 was appointed to a similar professorship in the Massachusetts Medical school, from which he retired in 1882.

As early as 1836 his contributions in verse appeared in various periodicals, and his reputation as a poet was established by the delivery of a metrical essay, entitled "Poetry," which was followed by others in rapid succession. As a writer of songs, lyrics and poems for festive occasions, he occupied the first place. He was for many years a popular lecturer. In 1857 he commenced, in the Atlantic Monthly, a series of articles under the title, "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," which were followed in 1860 by "The Professor at the Breakfast Table" and in 1872 by "The Poet at the Breakfast Table," and again in 1885 by "The New Portfolio." In addition he has published "Astraea," 1850; "Currents and Counter Currents in Medical Science," 1861; "Elsie Venner," a romance of destiny, 1861; "Borderlands in Some Provinces of Medical Science," 1862; Songs in Many Keys," 1864; "Soundings from the Atlantic," 1864; "Humorous Poems," 1865; "The Guarding Angel," 1865; "Mechanism in Thought and Morals," 1870; Songs of Many Seasons," 1874; "John L. Motley," a memoir, 1878; "The Iron Gate and Other Poems," 1880; "Medical Essays," 1883; "Pages from an Old Volume of Life," 1883; "Ralph Waldo Emerson," 1884; "Our Hundred Days in Europe," 1887; "Before the Curfew," 1888; and numerous poems recited at various reunions and dinners. In 1886 he visited England, where he was received with great cordiality. Editions of his collected poems have appeared from time to time, the first in 1836, the last in 1889. He has contributed largely to current medical literature, as well as to the literary journals and reviews. A series of genial papers from his pen, entitled "Over the Teacups," appeared in the Atlantic Monthly during 1890.

Foster Pays Forty Cents.

Fostoria, O., Oct. 8.—The long-delayed settlement with the creditors of ex-Secretary Foster and his partner has at last come about. The assignee announced that he would be able to pay 40 cents on the dollar, and the claims amount to $212,000.

ANDREW CURTIN DEAD

Pennsylvania's Great War Governor Passes Away.

His Invaluable Services to His State and Nation—Idolized by the Soldiers and Loved by All the People—Proclamation by Governor Pattison—Burial With Military Honors.

Bellefonte, Pa., Oct. 8.—Hon. Andrew Gregg Curtin, the old war govetnor of Pennsylvania, died Sunday morning at 5 o'clock. His death was not only painless, but calm, the last vital spark going out after a sleep of twelve hours—a peaceful ending to the long, useful and even turbulent career of this great and distinguished man. There were no harrowing scenes to break the mystic shadow of sorrow and gloom overhanging the household. It was too apparent from the first that stalwart and strong though Mr. Curtin was, he could not rally from an attack that would have proved a quicker death to a much younger man than he.

His friends knew that it was only a question of time and nerved themselves to be resigned to the inevitable. During a part of the day the governor would at times become delirious, imagining there was something he had promised to do and had not yet done, and begged to be allowed to get up and do it, as he had never yet broken a promise made. To quiet his nervous system it was necessary to administer an opiate and under its influence he sank into a quiet sleep about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, losing all consciousness, and from which he never awoke. His wonderful vitality, however, prolonged the final dissolution until 6 o'clock in the morning, when he breathed his last, surrounded only by the immediate members of his family, consisting of his aged wife, Mrs. Katherine Wilson Curtin; his daughters, Mary W., wife of Dr. George F. Harris; Marcy I., widow of Captain K. R. Breese, and Kate W., wife of M. D. Burnet, of Syracuse, N. Y., and his son, W. W. Curtin, of Philadelphia. The direct cause of the ex-governor's death was a general breaking down of his nervous system. Always a healthy man when the final attack came he was not able to withstand it.

It can truly be said that there is more genuine sorrow in Bellefonte over the death of Governor Curtin than was ever known before. The funeral has been set for Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the interment to be made in the Union cemetery in this place. Telegrams of condolence have been received from Governor Pattison and Col. A. K. McClure, editor of the Philadelphia Times, both of whom have signified their intention of attending the funeral.

Arrangements for the funeral of ex-Governor Curtin are so far perfected that, at the urgent solicitation of Governor Pattison, the family have consented to a funeral with military honors. Governor Beaver will have full charge and there will be an escort of a regiment of infantry, a troop of cavalry and a battery brigade commander. Governor Pattison will attend with his staff.

Proclamation by Gov. Pattison.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 8.—Governor Pattison has issued a proclamation in which he announces the death of ex-Governor Andrew Gregg Curtin at Bellefonte, "leaving surviving but a single one of the present governor's predecessors in the executive office of Pennsylvania." In the language of the proclamation, "He was one of the most distinguished in that long line of illustrious men and few if any of the citizens of our state ever maintained so lasting a hold upon the affections of its people." Reference is made to his great ability as a lawyer and to his prominence in the work of securely establishing the public school system of Pennsylvania, "which gained great impulse toward its future usefulness from his wise counsel." With regard to his invaluable aid to the federal government as the great "war governor" the proclamation among other things says:

"He was active in raising and equipping troops and the splendid organization of the Pennsylvania reserves was owing to his exertions. He was indefatigable in his ministrations for the comfort of Pennsylvania soldiers in the field, on the march, in the camp or in the hospital. To him, above all others, the state is indebted for the establishment of the soldiers' orphans' schools and the country owes to him the splendid example of Pennsylvania's care for the children of her soldier dead."

After reviewing his distinguished services to his state and country, the proclamation concludes as follows:

"In honor of his memory and in recognition of his eminent public services, I invoke for his bereaved family the sympathy of the people of Pennsylvania, and I recommend and order that on the day of his funeral the flags upon the public buildings be displayed at half staff and that the several departments of the state government within executive control, be closed upon that day."

Governor Pattison and staff and other state officials will attend the funeral at Bellefonte on Wednesday afternoon. Adjutant General Greenland had a conference with the governor and a military funeral was decided upon. It is understood that the Sheridan troop and the Fifth regiment N. G. P., will be ordered to Bellefonte on Wednesday.

Church Peace in Pennsylvania.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 8.—The Bowman-Esher people took possession and held services for the first time in a large number of churches in the East Pennsylvania conference from which they were ousted by the famous split three years ago. Others, probably half the total number, have not yet been transferred and for the possession of a few of these there may a further contest.

Talk of Gladstone's Return.

London, Oct. 8.—Intimate friends of Mr. Gladstone say that the Grand Old Man's restored vigor may justify his reappearance in politics. The recurrent diarrhoea, from which he suffered for a long time, has been cured by the simple expedient of wearing a band around his body.

HONORS TO PARNELL.

Celebration of the Anniversary of the Patriot's Death.

Dublin, Oct. 8.—The anniversary of Charles Stewart Parnell's death was celebrated impressively here. No such crowd has been seen in Glasnevin cemetery since the day of his funeral. Special trains came from all parts of Ireland bringing thousands of the dead leader's admirers. Among the most conspicuous persons in the procession were J. H. Parnell, the agitator's brother; Mrs. Dickerson, his sister; John Redmond, William Redmond, Jas. Maguire, John Nolan, J. E. Kenny, John J. Clancy, William Field, L. P. Hayden, all members of parliament; many ex-members of parliament, the lord mayor of Dublin and the mayor of Cork, each in the full robe of his office.

The procession was marshalled by Timothy Harrington. It was formed at St. Stephen's green and was punctual and orderly from beginning to end. It was led by a mounted guard of citizens who wore mourning scarfs. The band, which came next, was followed by the memorial car, on which were countless wreaths and designs in flowers from Ireland, America, Austria, India and several continental countries. The most notable piece was a great harp of lilies sent by the staff of the Independent. Round it were the flowers from America, Dublin, Cork and Waterford. The Irish parliamentary party followed the car, and behind them walked the staff of the Independent, the lord mayor, the majority of the corporation, the foresters, representatives of the Dublin trades, post-office officials and delegations from every county in Ireland. There were twenty-nine bands, besides the large one near the head of the procession, and all played the dead march from "Saul" as they marched to Glasnevin.

Thousands along the route wore the ivy leaf. Many houses were draped. There was hardly a person in the city without some sign of mourning. The appearance of the mass passing the bank of Ireland was so impressive that not a voice was raised above a whisper. When the procession arrived at Glasnevin the crowd near Parnell's grave was parted and the delegations filed slowly by, each placing flowers within the grave circle. As they left the line the delegates retired to the other end of the cemetery and dispersed.

Mrs. Parnell, once Mrs. O'Shea, sent a wreath inscribed: "To the loving memory of my husband, the tenderest, truest heart that ever lived." The Misses O'Shea also sent wreaths.

MISER BRANNAGAN'S DEATH.

His Daughter Has Not Yet Decided What She Will Do.

New York, Oct. 8.—Thomas Brannagan, 82 years old, a miser, died in St. Peter's hospital, to which place he was removed from his squalid home in the basement of a house which he owned at 180 Pearl street. The old man was called "Lemon Brannagan" by the boys of the neighborhood, the name being given to him because he sold lemons and oranges to saloon-keepers about the city. For 60 years he had followed that occupation and hoarded up about $75,000 worth of property.

A year ago he turned his only daughter, Mrs. Agnes Cavanagh, and her two babies out in the street. The night was cold and stormy. Some of the neighbors found her and took her and her babies in. They would have abused old Brannagan but for the police. Mrs. Cavanagh has since lived at 4 Jackson court.

Mrs. Cavanagh, the heiress to the hoard of her miserly father and the victim of his prejudice against cleanliness, is plunged in sorrow. She seems to feel the death of her father as much as if he was a fond father. She has given no thought to the sudden wealth which falls to her. She was seen last night at her home, 4 Jackson court, where the funeral services will take place.

She said: "I have not thought of the money my father has left. I do not know how much he has left. He was good in his way, poor man, but he had not been the same since mother's death years ago. When she died everything seemed to displease him. Now that he is gone I do not like to think of his faults. He was beside himself when he turned me and my babies out into the street and the storm, but I willingly forgive and forget.

"What father has left behind I have not thought of yet. If he has left as much as he is supposed to have I shall feel grateful to God for the sake of my little ones. I shall see that they are properly brought up and that they have as few of the troubles I have had as possible."

Mrs. Cavanagh does not lack consolation in her time of grief. The neighbors surround her and talk constantly of her good fortune coupled with her sorrow.

New Railroad Troubles.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Fears are entertained that the immigrant clearing house established by the western roads in New York about nine months ago will not be able to remain in existence after January 1 next. While the new clearing house has been of some benefit to the western roads, as the division of the traffic has prevented the excessive payment of commissions formerly indulged in by the roads, yet the New York immigrant agents, who control much of the business, have demanded more than the roads can afford to give. These immigrant agents are now clamoring for better conditions, and threaten, if their desires are not granted, to retire from the agreement they had made with the railroads. To add to the troubles of the clearing houses, the eastern trunk lines have come to the front and demand that they be allowed to make the division of the business at Ellis island on the per centage agreed upon by the Western roads.

REGARDLESS OF LOSSES.

Bitterness of the Labor War at Fall River.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 8.—Since Saturday the manufacturers have expressed quite freely the determination not to open the mills to the operatives until the latter consent to return under the reduced scale of wages offered nine weeks ago. None of them deny that a great amount of suffering is being endured by the operatives, also by those who are indirectly dependent upon the mills for support. They say, however, that is useless for them to run the cotton business in this city, if they are to be dictated from time to time by trades unionists. They agree that the market is in a stronger position than it was seven weeks ago, but say there are many contracts to be filled at low prices made weeks before that time. In addition they contend that there is no demand yet existing that warrants any belief that contracts with all the mills here could be made for any lengthy period at present quotations if the mills resumed operations immediately. On the contrary, they say that the resumption of operations would surely be followed by a slump in prices amounting, according to the various treasurers, from one-eighth to one-quarter cent per yard. They have been encouraged to believe that the weavers will soon be clamoring to reopen the mills at any wages, this feeling based on the fact that the association funds will soon be exhausted. They think 100 spinners will not stand out long, when the weavers take a decisive action, looking towards the resumption of work. One of them said yesterday that the present was not the time to count losses. Both manufacturers and operatives are at war to determine which shall control the mills and when the war is on, losses are not the things of greatest importance.

Massachusetts Democrats.

Boston, Oct. 8.—The democratic state convention will meet in Music hall to-day. The party leaders were in session at the Tremont house Saturday night arranging the details of the convention. There is no excitement about the corridors of the hotel. There is an entire absence of those stirring scenes which have marked the morning before a convention. Ex-Judge John W. Corcoran, chairman of the state committee, will call the delegates to order, and will introduce ex-Gov. William F. Russell as permanent chairman. Mr. Russell will deliver one of his able addresses, in defense of the democratic administration and democratic policy. Ex-Congressman George Fred Williams will nominate Hon. John E. Russell as candidate for governor and the nomination will be endorsed by the convention by acclamation. Mr. Russell will address the convention in acceptance, and while admitting the expected defeat at the polls, because of the peculiar conditions prevailing, will declare no such defeat possible.

New York, Oct. 8.—Senator Hill and Congressman Lockwood formally accepted their nomination for governor and lieutenant governor respectively saturday night. Judge Charles F. Brown, of Newburgh, was put on the ticket for judge of the court of appeals in place of Judge Gaynor who declined. Chairman Hinkley has appointed the following named gentleman members of the democratic state executive committee: Hon. John Boyd Thacher, of Albany; Hon. William F. Sheehan, of Buffalo; Hon. Perry Belmont, James T. Woodward, president of the Hanover National bank; ex-Senator William L. Brown, Jacob Ruppert, James H. Parker, president of the knickerbocker trust company, A. C. Field, of New York; Hon. Henry J. Mowry, of Syracuse; Hon. Daniel G. Griffin, of Watertown; H. L. Storke, of Auburn; Hon. Charles P. McClelland, of Westchester, and Hon. James L. Williams of Dutches. Mr Hinckley has appointed Hon. John Boyd Thacher chairman of the committee.

Commonwealer Kelly Clubbed.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 8.—General Kelly, leader of the industrial army which left here last summer and went to Washington, while addressing a crowd in Oakland, was ordered by Officer Skanlen to desist. Kelly refused when Skanlen took him into custody and the two marched off. They had not gone far when Skanlen bagan clubbing Kelly and fractured his skull. A crowd of several hundred men marched to the city hall and demanded that Skanlen be placed under arrest. The authorities quickly granted the demand thereby, preventing probable violence. Kelly's condition is serious.

The Temple Cup.

New York, Oct. 8.—The New Yorkers won the third game in the Temple cup series Saturday, defeating the Baltimore club by a score of four to one.

HOWGATE IS AT HOME

He Receives Callers in the Washington Jail.

Talks Freely About Everything But Himself—No Idea of What His Punishment Will Be—Intimation That He May Some Time Tell an Interesting Story.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The immense rotunda of the United States jail, its marble floors swept as cleanly as those of the majestic capitol building a mile away, its interior flooded with light and sunshine pouring in through its Gothic windows at the side and top, is not an unattractive place these crisp October days. Here Captain W. H. Howgate receives his visitors and chats with them as unconcernedly as was his wont in his Thirteenth street residence a dozen years ago, when his associates numbered some of the most prominent men in the country. There is no trace of embarrassment in his manner; no suggestion in his words or looks that he is to-day a recaptured fugitive from justice awaiting trial for embezzling between $200,000 and $300,000. Conversing with him, the first impression received is that Captain Howgate is a philosopher. Nothing, perhaps will better illustrate this than his observation on self-destruction. He was talking with several visitors this morning. One of his callers had said there were worse places in the world than the room, in the well-appointed jail, where Howgate is confined and that there were more horrible things than death, one of which was eating the cold bread of charity.

"I don't know about that," Howgate replied, shaking his head meditatively. "There is no excuse for suicide. When misfortune overtakes a man he ought to meet it bravely and not run from it. If he has done wrong he ought to take his punishment like a man and not kill himself as a means of escaping from it. No, nothing will excuse the act of a suicide."

What his punishment will be or whether he believes he will be punished or not, he declines to say. He will talk pleasantly and entertainingly upon every subject but himself, for he is a man of culture and intellectual attainments. When the conversation approaches that point, he fences the questioner off with tact and diplomacy. He knows only from the papers, he says, that his trial will be delayed sixty days. He has received no information direct from the district attorney's office, nor has he as yet engaged counsel. "I am taking things easy," he said, in answer to a query, "making a waiting race, as the boatmen say."

Captain Howgate intimates that at the proper time he will talk freely for publication. That time has not arrived. To talk now might prejudice his case without corresponding benefit to himself. The newspaper men, he said, had treated him with great kindness. "The New York reporters," he added with a smile, "were not unjust to me even where they drew on their imaginations, and for that negative courtesy I feel grateful to them." Mr. Howgate receives the same treatment from the officers of the jail that other prisoners do. He eats the same food and in other ways conforms strictly to the prison rules. He is apparently as well satisfied with his surroundings as could be expected under the circumstances. The officers of the jail regard him as a model prisoner, one who gives them no trouble or annoyance, but whom it is well, considering their former experience with him, to guard closely.

FIGHT WITH CONVICTS.

Desperate Battle in a North Carolina Jail.

Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 8.—Louis Crawford, a veteran convict, who has done time in both the Carolinas made a rush at Jailor Clark in the jail with the intention of smothering him with a blanket which he held in his hands. Clark, perceiving his object, quickly drew his revolver and fired, mortally wounding the prisoner in the left side. The shot, however did not stop Crawford's rush, and he succeeded in covering Clark with the blanket and bore him to the foor in the corridor, shouting to his companion prisoners to come on and help him. He struggled meanwhile with the jailor to get hold of the pistol. As his comrades tried to lenve their cells to aid him, Mrs. Little Waide, jail matron, who had accompanied Clark, quietly closed and locked the doors in their faces. In the meantime several other prisoners had rallied to Crawford's assistance, and in the desperate battle which ensued Clark's pistol was again discharged, seriously wounding Assistant Jailer Bramble and also a prisoner. After a terrible fight Jailer Clark and Assistant Jailer Bramble succeeded in driving the prisoners back to their cells.

Fatal Race War.

Hawesville, Ky., Oct. 8.—A terrible race war occurred at Powers' station, west of this city, between three dozen negroes and a few white men. An excursion train was returning from the Owensboro fair when the negroes, enraged because they were made to ride in a separate coach, made a rush for the other cars. Woman and children were roughly treated and a panic followed. Soon the blacks began shooting and United States Deputy Marshal Mose Bullington, Squire Aldrich, Marshal Jones and Col. Patterson, with two or three others, replied. There was a fearful fusilade and then the train pulled out, leaving the blacks. Several of the whites were wounded but none killed though every window in one car was shot out. Bullington and his comrades assert that at least seven negroes were killed and many others wounded.

The Wool Schedule.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Secretary Carlisle decided to refer the question of construction of the wool schedule of the new tariff bill to Attorney General Olney for his opinion. The principal point turns on whether camel hair, goat hair, etc., are wool within the meaning of the wool schedule, and are therefore subject to the wool duties, which the board of general appraisers at New York have decided on to be collected at the rates imposed by the McKinley act until January 1 next.

GERMANY STIRRED UP

All Sorts of Schemes To Kill Socialism.

Agitation Against the Secret Ballot and in Favor of a Dictatorship. Further Restrictions of the Right of Public Meeting and the Freedom of the Press.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—At the chancellor's recent conference with the emperor at Hubertusstock, the emperor assented to the ministerial draft of the parliamentary programme and the ministerial council will act finally on the chancellor's proposals next week. Among the bills to be laid before the imperial deputies are those for new tobacco taxes, for the regulations of bourse and loan transactions, and for the better control of political meetings and publications. The bourse bill will propose the abolition or limitation of time bargains, and is certain to arouse the strong opposition of the radicals and many liberals. The tobacco tax reform is most generally discussed of all the new measures. Already its opponents have concentrated upon it all the antagonism which was set up last winter against Dr. Miquel's reform programme.

The scope of the bill concerning political associations has not been finally determined. Herr von Boetticher, secretary of the interior, has been trusted with the elaboration of the measure on lines approved by the emperor and he in turn has confided the task to Privy Councillor von Trott zu Zolz who, as district councillor of Hoechst and Marburg, was distinguished for his severity toward socialists. The bill will be drafted and revised with the greatest care, as it will be the most contentious measure of the session. It probably will not be ready at the opening of the reichstag as differences of opinion in the federal council and the ministry will retard its progress. The national liberal congress has set for three days at Frankfort on the Main. The debates have been private, but their tendency has been disclosed by talkative delegates. They show that the conservative element in the party is in the ascendant and is pushing the whole organization away from the radicals and radical unionists, who for many years have had hopes of restoring the unity of all German liberal parties. The resolutions adopted by the congress are in many cases little more than reproductions of planks in the conservative platform. While not making common cause with the agrarians, the delegates have demanded much that the conservatives have long proclaimed necessary. They wish to restrict the right of public meeting, to increase the severity of the legal penalties inflicted upon press offenders, and to introduce exceptional laws against socialists, anarchists and other enemies of the existing social system. They condemn indirectly the emperor's conciliatory policy toward the Poles and demand the resolute vindication of German influence in the Polish districts. They ask also that the government take steps to strengthen the German middle class, as society's principal bulwark against the revolution.

Dr. Boesler's declaration against the secret ballot and in favor of a dictatorship as a check on socialism, is criticized severely. The Munich Allegemeine Zeitung, Bismarckian, calls it a proposal to abolish the constitution and sweep away the reichstag. "The proposal cannot be rejected off hand, however," says the writer, "as beyond the reasonable consideration or resources of a capable statesman in view of the menacing situation. Such an attempt would be an ordeal for the nation, as it would be estimated, doubtless, according to its ultimate success." The Volkische Zeitung and Freisinnige Zeitung agree that Dr. Roesaler has become the mouthpiece of Bismarck's most secret thoughts and wishes. They remark that nobody need wonder now if the social democrats use Roessler's line of argument to justify revolution from below to prevent the proposed revolution from above.

The Volks Zeitung publishes Emperor William's order amending the powers of superior officers to control the marriage of their men. Hereafter an officer's consent may not be made dependent upon the location of the place where the ceremony is to be solemnized. The emperor thus abolishes the practice of discriminating in favor of Protestants and against Catholics. He wishes to see the fewest possible obstacles in the way of the soldier's marriage. A story now abroad is to the effect that at a recent naval ball the emperor asked a group of young women jokingly:

"What would you say if I should forbid my officers to marry?"

There was a dead silence for a moment, then a young woman replied:

"Your majesty would not dare do it, for the army and navy would die out."

Prof. Swing's Funeral.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Funeral services over the remains of Prof. David Swing were held in Central music hall. The hall, which for many years was the scene of the celebrated divine's labors was crowded with friends of the dead man and members of the Central church. Admission was by card and many hundreds were turned away. The Rev. H. W. Thomas and the Rev. C. C. Hull conducted the introductory services. Dr. John H. Barrowe, pastor of the First Presbyterian church preached the funeral sermon, which was a pronounced eulogy on the dead man's life and work. The interment was at Rosedale.

Swindler Caught.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 8.—A man giving his name as Arthur H. Williams attempted to swindle Rev. Dr. James in this city by pretending that he was a brother of Rev. H. F. Morris, of Minneapolis, and was in hard circumstances. He claimed to have been appointed electrician on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. Inquiry found this to be untrue and he was arrested. He is believed to be a professional. He is 24 years of age, five feet seven inches in height, of light complexion and tells many different stories.

COULD HARDLY BREATHE.

Catarrh of the Nose, Throat, and Stomach—Life Made Miserable by Headaches, Pain and Cough.

Lida McCandless, No. 1230 South Thirty-fifth street, Philadelphia, in conversation with a reporter, said: "I had a very bad case of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach, with frequent headaches, pain under the shoulder blades and a horrible cough. I had to keep my mouth constantly open day and night to breathe, and felt as miserable as one possibly could. I was advised to try Munyon's Catarrh Cure. I am happy to say that from the beginning I felt relieved and continued to grow better until now I am entirely well. I am so thankful that this remarkable remedy was ever discovered, and hope others will take advantage of my experience."

Have you Catarrh? Are you willing to investigate a treatment that cures Catarrh by removing the cause? If so ask your druggist for a 25c bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The Catarrh Cure will eradicate the disease from the system, and the Tablets will cleanse and heal the affected parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

BICYCLE REFORM.

Movement To Abolish the Troublesome Class B Rider.

New York, Oct. 8.—In bicycle circles the advisability of legislating the Class B amateur into the professional sphere is being extensively discussed. A movement to do away with the pro-amateur has been started, and the result will be determined at the annual business meeting of the L. A. W.

Just why this hybrid element should be permitted to exist under the administration of the L. A. W., which is an amateur institution, is not apparent. The Class B rider receives money for his services, the same as a professional jockey. The latter rides the horse owned by the stable that engages him; the wheelmen are employed by the manufacturer to ride bicycles of a certain make. Jockey and rider both have additional incentives to win races, the former in an increased fee, the latter in the valuable prize offered for competition.

Some idea of what a Class B wheelman's annual income is may be calculated from the fact that Sanger, one of the stellar lights in the Class B constellation, retired for the season, the other day, having won prizes which aggregated in value $10,000. Added to this is the salary received from his employer for advertising a certain kind of wheel, which increased his income to about $15,000, besides the cost of living, training and campaigning, which expense was born by his employer.

It is all very well to say that these men ride in a special class by themselves, but why designate them as amateurs and keep them under the jurisdiction of the same body that legislates for legitimate amateurs? They are as much professionals as Zimmerman, Prince, Ashinger, Shock, or any of the others who earn their living by riding in races for money. Then why the distinction?

The various clubs throughout the country which are organizing big meets are not in favor of upholding the Class B amateur. The contention is made that there is too much of the "I win to-day, you win to-morrow," understanding existing among the men. They also demand prizes that are far in excess of the value of the races which they ride, and the competitions are often disappointing because of their prearranged character.

GEORGE E. PAGE,
Chairman County Ex. Com.

Hotel Netherwood trade has been a constant losing investment for Plainfield tradesmen, for whom, as for Mr. Miller, The Press has fullest sympathy in this latest financial misfortune.

City Judge Coddintong is suggested by a correspondent in this issue, for the office of Assembly. Inasmuch as he once gallantly sacrificed himself in the old hopelessly Republican district, it would seem that his candidacy deserves some recognition now.

President See of the Common Council denies the statement in yesterday's Herald that he is about to move to Jersey City, where he has his law office. Mr. See has no intention whatever of leaving Plainfield, and his friends will attend to the matter of renominating him for another term.

THIS HOUSE TWICE ENTERED.

Burglars Determined on Robbing the Sprague.s.

Early Sunday morning the house of W. H. Sprague of Spooner avenue was entered by someone, and while the family were all soundly sleeping ransacked each bedroom without awaking anyone. The only thing that was taken was three dollars, which they found in a pocketbook in a bureau drawer in Mr. Sprague's room. The pocketbook was found in the hallway with $3.60 in it, which they failed to get, it being in another part of the pocketbook. Mrs. Sprague was awakened in time to hear them going out of the bedroom door. The house was also entered the previous Sunday morning at about 4. They then gained entrance in the same way as they did yesterday morning.

THE HOTEL FAILS.

F. E. Miller's Netherwood in a Receiver's Hands.

EX-JUDGE CODINGTON APPOINTED.

Proprietor Miller Loses Everything He Possessed—Cumbered with Debts from the Start, and Lost Heavily the Past Two Seasons.

Jersey City, Oct. 8—Vice-Chancellor Bird this morning granted a receivership for the Hotel Netherwood Company, and appointed ex-Judge W. R. Codington of Plainfield.

Frank E Miller is the Hotel Netherwood Company. He no longer counts among his assets the hotel as at the end of last month the whole property was transferred by him to Charles Hyde as trustee for the bond-holders of the company.

To a Daily Press reporter today Mr. Hyde told of how he became connected with the hotel. The building was erected in 1878 at a cost, including the furniture, of $325,000. Manager Breslin opened it in 1879 and continued to run it for only a short time.

In 1885, when S. V. Woodruff was manager the hotel was bought at foreclosure sale by New York parties. The next year it was purchased by Warren Ackerman and Charles Hyde and turned over to Mr. Miller. He became the company and issued bonds to the amount of $65,000. Of these Mr. Ackerman took $22,500, Mr. Hyde, $22,500, and J. V. Ludlum, $7,400. These were all first mortgage bonds except $2,400.

The balance of the $65,000 went to various other investors. $21 500 of Mr. Ackerman's bonds were afterward sold to the Latimer estate. Mrs. Ackerman still holds $1,000 in second mortgage.

Mr. Miller has been unfortunate, especially during the last two years and the chances were against him as he started with a debt. He virtually gave up September 13 last when he owed 15 months interest on the first mortgage bonds and considerable on the rest. There are many outstanding debts for supplies.

THE COL. AND THE GEN.

Festive A. H. King Re-Appears in a New Role.

VANISHED FROM HOTEL ALBION.

Tradesmen Missed His Going, and Now He Attributes His Financial Misfortune to Another Well-Known Plainfielder.

An order of arrest which was served on General James S. Negley of West Seventh street Friday afternoon was the result of a civil suit brought against the General in the Supreme Court of New York two months ago by Albert H. King, ex-proprietor of the Hotel Albion. Mr. King sued to recover $3,000 which he claims Gen. Negley owes him.

In interviews published in New York papers yesterday Mr. King, who says he is a resident of Brooklyn, states that Gen. Negley borrowed the money from him in 1891 as the president of a mythical trust company on the ground that he needed the $3,000 for expenses to bring about the sale in Europe of $500,000 worth of King Locomotive Works bonds. He accuses the General of fraud and misrepresentation.

GENERAL NEGLEY'S STORY.

To a Daily Press reporter Gen. Negley made the following statements in regard to his connection with Mr. King:

In the fall of 1890 King represented himself to me as the president of an important, well-established locomotive works. An officer of the company of which I was president (the Mexican Trust and Investment Company) assured me that King's statements might be relied upon. I subsequently ascertained that the officer was promised a large commission by King for what I supposed to be gratuitous service.

It was the business of the company to negotiate securities, not to purchase them, as we lacked the capital to do so. We were then establishing agencies throughout Europe. Our representative in London, whose name was Dunn, said that he could form a syndicate in Paris who would dispose of the bonds. We instructed him to proceed and remitted to him $3,200 in cash in the months of September, October, December and the beginning of January the next year.

He informed us by letter and cable that he had effected the organization of a syndicate, giving us the names of Messrs. Ducer, LaBeuff, Cordier and other well-known and influential men. They had agreed to accept the bonds on the stated terms and pay $50,000 on account as soon as the bonds were received. In answer to repeated questions about the company I accepted King's invitation to visit the works in Bordentown, N. J.

HIS "LOCOMOTIVE WORKS" A RUIN.

I found there the extensive ruins of an old locomotive workshop with numerous tracks, empty buildings and a few men working in a sand pit. King, however, told me that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was a silent partner in the scheme and that his company had obtained the title from the railroad and that the Pennsylvania had agreed to give him a large order. At present he was fitting in machinery with which he would shortly commence to make freight locomotives.

Believing his statements, I thought that under measures of precaution and the control of a large portion of the stock the French investors might be secured. About this time King informed me that his stockholders were very rich but that they were indifferent and that he would have to have statements from my company which would encourage confidence. Having stated clearly and without evasion the status of the affair to my foreign correspondents, I gave King the letters he requested. He would revise them and dictate portions to meet his object and aid him in a most ingenious but rather questionable method of procuring funds for his own use.

PROMOTING THE SCHEME.

He was continually urging me to go to Paris and hurry up the transaction. I cabled to know whether arrangements had been perfected for the sale of the bonds, and received an affirmative answer. Then came up the question of the expenses which we had already paid and would have to pay to carry the matter through. King said that he could raise $5,000 for that purpose, providing my company would agree to refund this sum without taking into account what we had already expended. Such an agreement was prepared and signed and is now in my possession. He then turned over to my company, accepting its receipt, $1,000 in cash and two $1,000 promissory notes which we had discounted.

On my arrival in Paris I found M. Ducier dangerously ill and the others of the syndicate unwilling to do anything without him. They agreed to hire offices as headquarters, however. Then came a serious discussion which resulted in a decision against taking the bonds. Dunn went back to London to begin negotiations there while I remained in Paris under considerable expense. I afterwards went to London and met Messrs. Hargins and Rawles who would not buy unless my company guaranteed the interest. This we could not do and I so informed King. He made no answer. I lost confidence in Dunn and undertook negotiations myself. The failure of the Barings made even gilt-edge American securities unsalable.

WHAT THE COLONEL OWES THE GENERAL.

I lost a year's time in this fruitless effort and over $6,000. I suffered no end of worriment and privation, much of it due to the vindictive slanders of King. During my absence he cajoled the treasurer of my company into giving him about $10,000 of the stock of the company without any authority from the other officers. This he refuses to pay for. The King locomotive works had no further existence and the company disappeared in thin air.

AS A PLAINFIELD HOTEL KEEPER.

When King could raise no more money from its patrons he changed his avocation to that of a chef in a boarding-house. Then followed his occupation of The Albion, during which occurred a mysterious fire which has puzzled the fire department from the fact that prior to the fire the better furniture was removed to lower floors. I presume, however, that this was one of the accidents which seem to follow his performance of many parts. Previous to his hurried departure last July, when he left the local tradesmen anxiously awaiting his return, he made all arrangements for retaining public confidence to the last. The owner of the hotel got wind of his intentions, however, and made him pay the help before he went.

King frequently importuned me to refund even a portion of the money he paid the trust company. I made an effort to have the directors meet and take up their obligation which he held but they were unwilling to do so. The debt is not a personal one, but King chooses to sue me instead of the company. His action in trying to injure my reputation shows his character. That man is a coward, unworthy of the respect of a father and the love of his own wife and children, who seeks to recover an alleged debt by villification and the causing of pain to the family of the defendant.

The order of arrest was granted because the defendant in the civil suit lives outside of New York State. The $1,000 bail which Gen. Negley gave guarantees his answer to the charges. The case has been put on the calendar and will be brought up in about a year.

He Wins the Daily Press High School Medal.

FAIR SEX APPLAUDS CONTESTANTS.

Good Sport, Abundant Excitement, and Plenty of Fun Over the Various Field-Day Events—Everything a Great Success—Class of '96 in the Lead—Records Broken.

A lovely day and a large number of entries made the semi-annual field-day of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association a great success. The games were held on the Crescent Oval where the track was in fine condition, and but for a rather strong wind from the northwest the day would have been an ideal one for athletic sports. Fully five hundred people were present, of whom there was a large proportion of the fairer sex who came to encourage their friends from the High School on to victory.

E. I. Serrell, the crack athletic of the class of '95, was the hero of the day, winning four firsts, one second and a third and the most points, thus giving him the all-round championship and the Daily Press medal.

The games commenced shortly after 2:30 with the 100-yard dash.

Thirteen contestants lined up, with Serrell as scratch and B. LaBoyteaux as limit man on the five yard mark. About twenty five yards from the start F. V. Green stumbled and fell. Serrell ran through his field and managed to finish first by a foot, J. H. Craig was second by a yard and G. P. Smith just secured third by a small margin from L. H. Fish.

The time 10⅕ seconds beats the High School record of 11 seconds made by F. H. Freeman.

The ½ mile bicycle race finished in a pretty manner. Serrell from scratch started for the men in front at once and caught all but Richardson who won by half a length after a very exciting finish. Serrell finished with a flat back tire several lengths in front of Douglass.

In the high jump, Craig surprised all by jumping 4 feet 10 inches which with his handicap of 3 inches easily gave him the victory. Drake received second after a close contest with Fish.

Serrell again showed his superior sprinting qualities in the 220-yard dash; he caught the limit men and finally caught Fish who then had the lead, and won by several yards. Fish beat Sebring for the place by about ten yards. As the timers did not understand where the race was to finish, the correct time was not taken.

In the baseball throwing contest Serrell, even without the help of his handicap, had no trouble in winning. Smith threw next best and Craig, although he had a sprained wrist, secured third.

A great deal of amusement was created by the three-legged race, Craig and Rapalje (2 yards) led to the turn when Fish and Cornwell (scratch) passed them and won without much trouble. Craig and Rapalje had a hard fight for a second place with Sebring and Wagner, but finally secured it. The '95 team did not get their galloping stride in time and were forced to be content with fourth. Crane and Wagner fell just after making one turn.

Seven contestants tried putting the shot, but George P Smith, the present holder of the record, had no difficulty in winning. Littell secured second place by two and one-half inches.

The 440 yards run brought out six contestants, Serrell, as usual, starting from scratch. At the pistol shot, Serrell immediately commenced to overhaul the rest. Sebring was the first to be caught and the rest followed one after another. W. Serrell and Fish were the last to be passed. Serrell won easily by several yards from W. Serrell breaking the High School record by 13⅕ seconds. Cornell passed Fish just at the tape by a tremendous spurt and took third place.

The running broad jump went to Walter Serrell and Craig took second; there were six contestants.

The 2-mile bicycle race furnished a good deal of excitement. Only five started, Douglass, (50 yards), being the virtual scratch man. Rittenhouse from the 250 yard mark rode all alone until the end of the fifth lap when the rest caught him. Littell rode alone while behind him Douglass, Clarke and Richardson were bunched. The seat to Littell's bicycle came loose and he was forced to fall out; the other three rode together pacing alternately until the last lap when Douglass tried to run away but was caught and beaten by a length at the finish by Richardson forming one of the most exciting finishes of the day. Clarke finished third sitting up.

The pole vault also furnished some exciting sport and called forth continued applause from the spectators. Fish and Serrell fell out at 6 feet 6 inches and 6 feet 8 inches respectively and leaving Cornwall (4 inches) and Smith (scratch) to fight it out alone. The applause was tremendous when Smith cleared 8 feet, the height of the stands. Cornwell jumped 7 feet 8 inches just making up his handicap, but as Smith was scratch man he was given first place.

The last event was the standing broad jump which Fish won on his first jump. W. Serrell took second from Craig by two inches and a half.

E. I. Serrell '95 wins the Daily Press medal, scoring 24 points. J. H. Craig '96 was second in the number of points scored, his amounting to 16. George P. Smith '96 was third with 15 points and L. H. Fish '96 fourth with 14 points.

The class of '96 had five contestants entered who scored for their class 50 points. '95 had 29 points, '97 6 points and '98 32 points.

Owing to the absence of some of the officials, the list was changed to the following:

Referee—Charles A. Angleman.
Judges—Lyman W. Allen, Thomas A. Cuming and Robert Clarke.
Clerk of the Course—Charles B. Morse.

IN THE METROPOLIS.

WHAT PEOPLE OF NEW YORK ARE INTERESTED IN NOWADAYS.

The Reasons for Greater New York. Highway Robbery in the City's Centre. Suicides and Horse Stealing. The "Georgia Magnet" Surprises the Doctors.

The most interesting question which New Yorkers and the residents of Brooklyn are asking themselves just now is whether there will be a Greater New York after the people have had a chance to vote upon the question this fall. There is undoubtedly a strong disposition in both cities toward a combination, but whether the majority will decide in favor of this is something difficult to predict. A number of leading men of Brooklyn have been recently interviewed, and they are of the opinion that the City of Churches will favor consolidation. Among the leading reasons advanced in favor of this is the fact that by combining the two cities a great municipality of almost three millions of people—a city second only to the British metropolis—would be formed. There is undoubtedly a feeling of civic pride in having a city that shall occupy this proud position, and it will perhaps do to whisper the fact that there is also a disposition to head off Chicago in the matter of population. If the western city goes on absorbing the towns of Illinois and extending her limits, it might in time surpass New York, as Chicagoans boast it will; and that would never do. There are, of course, other reasons that urge the step, but this idea of a great municipality with three million people is what will doubtless be the most effective argument with the masses.

People usually look to the great and breezy West for audacious crimes, but New York is furnishing some that have seldom been surpassed by the most dramatic of Western robbers. Only a few days ago a street car was held up within three blocks of a police station by a gang of roughs, who entered the car, held up the passengers, and, after securing a watch and a purse, made their escape. Even Fifth avenue is no longer entirely safe, for Rear-Admiral Erben was held up the other evening in front of the Manhattan Club and but for the fact that he is an athletic and courageous man, he might have been knocked down and robbed. The robber made his escape. A well-known broker was robbed and beaten about the same time in front of First Church. That highway robbery should occur in the very centre of the metropolis seems remarkable, but it certainly does.

The destruction of the beautiful Palisades along the Hudson river, for the purpose of building roads, is exciting the remonstrance of people who take pleasure in these magnificent rock formations, and wish to see them maintained in their original grandeur. Thousands of pounds of dynamite have been used to tear down the rocks and mar their rugged symmetry, but it is stated that the State Geologist of New Jersey will soon submit a plan to the Governor for preventing this and turning the Palisades into a public park.

The discussion of the question whether suicide is a sin, has been followed by a remarkable crop of suicides in New York, some of which have been highly theatrical, as, for example, the double suicide, or the murder and suicide of the young couple in Central Park, who went out laughing and joking to meet death. Another attempted double suicide was that of actor Del Vecho and wife. The wife was successful, but the husband lived. Among the papers found in the room where the two attempted death, was one in which Del Vecho said that he had been driven to suicide by hearing a lying report about himself. He also said that he had done nothing to merit the reproaches of honest people except to drink. Among his papers was a newly written song in his handwriting with musical score attached. It was called "Public and Private," and ran thus:

A great many people are angels on earth,
In public.
And pose as pure models of exquisite worth
In public.
Their gloss is so glossy they can't help but shine,
For they are the essence of all that's divine,
Their angelic manners are so superfine,
In public.

CHORUS.

But you should see the other side,
In private
They have quite another side,
In private.
When they've doffed their outdoor smile,
Which would kill at half a mile,
They've quite a different style,
In private.

How does she do it? is the question which puzzled doctors and mystified reporters are asking in reference to the performances of Mrs. Abbott, the "Georgia Magnet," whose recent feats in New York are even more surprising than were those of Lulu Hurst, the "Magnetic Girl." Mrs. Abbott steps on a board, and forthwith the laws of gravitation take to themselves wings. She is immovable. Strong men try to lift her but fail as utterly as if Pelion were piled on Ossa and the whole set squarely on the head of the petite Magnet. Sandow thought he could lift her, but he couldn't. He says: "The power possessed by Mrs. Abbott is weird and wonderful. I cannot explain it; I cannot theorize upon it. I can only accept it and leave it. In the trial which I made in the parlor of the Sturtevant House I put forth strength enough to lift eight men clear of the floor. Yet I failed to shift this little, fragile creature one inch from her position. Whether this remarkable power is due to magnetism, or whether it arises from some faculty for which no name has been found or which is yet unknown to science, it is impossible for me to tell. But from my own experience I should say that so far as Mrs. Abbott is concerned all human effort in the same direction would fail."

Some say it is hypnotism; others humbug; and some believe that this little woman who weighs less than one hundred pounds is a giant in physical strength; but so far neither doctors nor theorists have satisfactorily answered the question, How does she do it?

A gradual falling in the summer light;
Bright sunshine dying in the crimson west;
Bright leaves that fall in the quiet autumn night;
A swift decay in the flowers we love the best;
A flush of life, slow deepening into rest;
A wintery wind beneath a threatening sky;
Snowflakes that fall and gather, and then die;
Spring, with its changing winds and leafy vest;
Full summer, with its wealth of flowers that lie
Sparkling like gems upon a monarch's crest.

—Jessie Howden.

A LITTLE WAR STORY.

How Sigel's Stratagem Won the Battle of Pea Ridge.

A contributor to the Ottumwa, Iowa Sun, tells an interesting story of Gen. Sigel's stratagem at Pea Ridge. The rebels had been getting the best of it during the three days' conflict, and on Saturday morning they were feeling sure of victory. Gen. Curtis, the Union commander, was in doubt. He saw the enemy gaining ground, and asked his generals what to do. When the question of surrender was raised, Gen. Sigel said, "No! no!"

"Sheneral Curtis," said Sigel, "I vill vip de tam rebels in two hours."

"How would you do it?" said Curtis.

"Mit strategy and artillery," said Sigel.

Gen. Curtis replied: "Gen. Sigel, if you can do that without too great a sacrifice of life I will gladly accord to you all the honor due."

Sigel's reply was: "Sheneral, I vould not lose von man."

"Pray tell us your plan," said Curtis. Gen. Sigel then briefly detailed his plan, and it was adopted and carried into effect. The victory was won in two hours, and with almost no loss of life on our side, but with terrible loss to the rebels.

The plan was this: All the infantry were ordered back in rear of artillery and under cover of bush and trees. The big guns were left apparently exposed. The rebels, of course, saw this move and wondered. All the guns were then loaded with blank cartridges, and fired a few times. When the rebels saw we shot nothing but smoke, they concluded we were out of ammunition, and all they had to do was to march over and take us all in. That, of course, was what Sigel wanted them to think. When the rebel generals saw we had apparently given up the ghost, they advanced rapidly, and soon the whole face of the valley between Pea Ridge and Elk Horn Tavern was literally alive with rebel soldiers. Sigel now ordered all the guns loaded with grape and canister, and he even sighted some of the guns himself. Fire was reserved until the rebels' advance lines were within 300 yards of our lines. Then our artillerymen opened fire, and Van Dorn's army was mowed down like grass before the scythe. Our infantry now ran forward to give them more grape and canister, and in a few minutes, even, Van Dorn's army was as completely panic-stricken as an army ever was. The cavalry now closed in from the flanks and the rebel army was routed most effectually, retreating en masse, with scarcely any attempt of order. And thus was that victory won, and with very little loss to us, after we were in reality whipped. In all the reports I have seen, General Sigel is merely given honorable mention.

The Wedding of the Future.

Here's a sample of a wedding notice ten years hence, as foreseen by the Atchison Globe: "The bride looked very well in a traveling dress, but all eyes were centered on the groom. He wore a dark suit that fitted perfectly his manly form, a large bouquet decorated his coat lapel and in his daintily gloved hand he carried a bouquet of American beauties. His hair was cut close and a delicate odor of barbers' oil floated down the aisle as he passed. The young people will miss him now that he is married. He is loved by all for his many accomplishments, his tender graces and his winning ways. The bride commands a good salary as a bookkeeper in St. Joseph and the groom will miss none of the luxuries to which he has been accustomed. A crowd of pretty young men saw them off at the depot.

Longest Balloon Voyage.

The longest balloon voyage as far as we know was one undertaken in 1883, in which the distance traveled was more than twelve hundred miles. Three voyagers on that occasion made an ascent in France, with the intention of crossing the Mediterranean and landing in Algeria. The wind, proving unfavorable, carried them toward Corsica. When they were near that island the balloon descended toward the water, and for a time their lives were in great jeopardy. By throwing out all their apparatus they succeeded in getting the balloon to rise to a height of between two thousand and three thousand feet, and, traveling on to Italy, they safely descended in that country at a little village near Brescia.—N. Y. Telegram.

Special Dispensation for "Black."

So strictly enforced are the laws against dogs being permitted to promenade in the streets of Paris unless provided with a muzzle and a leash that a special dispensation had to be obtained from the prefect of police in order to relieve "Black" from the necessity of submitting to those tiresome restrictions. "Black" is a big Newfoundland dog, the inseparable companion of the Czar's brother, the Grand Duke of Alexis, who has been staying in the French capital.

"Black" has saved so many drowning people both prior and subsequent to his becoming the property of the Prince, that he has a large number of medals which on state occasions are worn attached to the silver collar around his neck. The dog looks a good-natured creature, though suspiciously watchful. He seems to think that Nihilists and Anarchists are about and that it is his business to stand guard for his imperial master.

Predicts Three-Eyed Men 33 Feet Tall.

William Q. Judge, New York's leading theosophist, imparts the information that the men who will inhabit this planet in the future, will be, on the average, about 33 feet tall, have a third eye and live a thousand years. This need not dismay funeral directors and sich, for the coming man, by this Judge, is not due for a few hundred thousand years.

THE WAR WITH SIN.

THE FOUNDER OF THE SALVATIONISTS VISITS AMERICA.

General William Booth, Head of an Army that Works the Slums of the World in the Interest of Fallen Man. His Honorable Fame.

He is one of the grand old men of the time. You may not agree with his methods. His red shirt may offend your æsthetic sense. But you cannot stand face to face with him for a moment without feeling the wonderful, indomitable force of the old man. It is in every line of the face—the enormous hooked nose, the deep-set eyes under the beetle brows, the stern mouth and the waste of ragged, gray beard. There is no doubt of it, General William Booth is one of the grand old men.

The Salvation Army is the most extraordinary movement in this age of strange social aberrations. It began in a tent in the old Quaker burial ground, in Brick Lane, Whitechapel, with the preaching of a gaunt, eccentric, eagle-beaked evangelist. It began noisily with the beating of drums and the melancholy howlings of penitent sinners; in the slums of every city, in the villages of every land, in Zulu jungles, in India, China, Japan; wherever its trumpets were sounded the miserable ones, the declassed and wretched, thieves and harlots have fallen into line; it is an army of Pyms and Pistols, all shouting for the glory of God and the defiance of the devil. It is a social phenomenon. As nearly as anything, perhaps, it recalls that early, fanatic enthusiasm of the early Christians. It was made up of the lower orders, it courted persecution. It fought a personal devil, wrestled with him, out-howled him and triumphed. Men and women of serious intellect looked upon it askance. But this army of fanatic salvation marched on.

The movement is without precedent.

GENERAL WILLIAM BOOTH.
[From the New York Press.]

And the man who directs it—a grim old man, looking like a peddler of Yankee notions—will tell you that to-day it is only in its beginning; that its goal will not be reached until "every man and woman is redeemed, morally, mentally, socially."

He was born in Nottingham, April 10, 1829. He was a local preacher at 17, at 19 was called to the ministry of the Wesleyan Church. From the beginning he had a way of prowling about the slums, of taking poor devils by the hand and compelling them to come in. His elders did not believe in taking the Bible quite thus literally and edged him out of the Church. He became an evangelist and wandered over England. His methods grew noisier, the earnestness of the man increased. He took the Scriptural command literally. He would compel them to come in, if he had to use brass bands and beat drum-heads. Sinners who did not want to be saved attacked him, riots broke out, he was hissed and stoned. The authorities frowned on him, the churches gave him the cold shoulder. The evangelist determined he would take another Scriptural injunction literally and become a soldier. He founded the Salvation Army. This was in 1865 in that out-of-door mission in Whitechapel. He promoted himself to the rank of General. His army grew, until to-day the authorities ask his assistance in solving the question of pauperism and the churches copy his methods.

It is a curious study for the sociologist. A popular, religious movement of this sort is strange in itself in these days of doubt and indolent belief, but the picture of this stern old man dominating the religious methods of the century is stranger still.

Woman's Exchanges.

There is hardly a feminine talent that the Woman's Exchange in some cities does not develop and make profitable to its possessor. Of one exchange in particular the Housewife says:

"It will furnish you a woman to market for you; to mend and clean your gloves and lace at home; some one to wash all and iron all such articles as need careful treatment, woolen and silk, shawls, embroideries, furniture covers and baby flannels; a visiting housekeeper, who will come daily, weekly or semi-weekly, to care for choice objects on sweeping day and see that they are rearranged artistically. It is believed that in every city there is an opening for women who would make a business of washing flannels so that they would not shrink or harden. The visiting milliner, who would come to the house for a day or by the hour, would also be sure of employment. She should be a woman of taste, for all the things home-made, the home-made bonnet that betrays its origin gets the least glory."

Blue and White Rooms.

Young girls are having their bed rooms decorated in blue and white, the fad for this dainty color scheme having in no wise flagged. Inexpensive and artistic blue and white crepe draperies come at thirty-five cents a yard, and even less, and there is an endless variety of blue and white knickknacks which the bargain hunter may gather in. In furnishing a blue and white sanctum it is considered the proper caper to have lounges, chairs, tables, etc., of rattan upholstered in white and blue; the floor may be covered with Canton matting and cotton or jute rugs in the same effective tintings. Luxurious nests of blue and white cushions are tossed upon the lounges, while Japanese bric-a-brac shows rich blue hues mingled with white.

THE CZAR AND HIS NURSE.

Alexander III. is not a sentimental man. He inherited none of his father's sensitive qualities. But the love he had for his nurse surpassed everything else in his nature. "Kitty," he called her. She was his second mother, his guardian spirit. His sluggish heart went out to her and his face always brightened at the sound of her voice.

And she was dead. The Czar hurried through the storm to the Winter Palace and went to the darkened room where the women had laid her body draped for the grave. He threw himself on his knees and wept on her cold bosom. The attendants stole from the room and left him alone with his grief. Then he carried her body tenderly and laid her in her coffin, arranging the flowers about her head, folding her hands on her breast and kissing the white face. For a long time he stayed in the room watching and praying. When he came out of the hushed chamber there was a look on his face that no one had ever seen there before.

A writer says: I stood in the crowd on the quay and saw the solemn cortege pass slowly before me. First came the Greek priest and the crucifix; after him several black-robed men carrying lighted lamps on poles. Then came the hearse. Behind it strode Alexander III. and his two brothers through the sodden slush, while the crowd made the sign of the cross. A few knelt down in the Eastern fashion and touched the snow with their foreheads. The Czar towered above his brothers, his gray coat buttoned closely about his huge form and his heavy cloak flapping. His head was protected from the falling snow by a turban of gray astrakan wool and spurs jingled on his great boots. The three mourners walked side by side. They had carried the coffin out of the palace with their own hands. The Czar's face was very pale. His eyes showed that he had been weeping. As he walked after the hearse his gaze was bent upon the ground. Once or twice he seemed to stumble. Not a note of pomp disturbed the simple pathos of the scene. The Czar was simply a man walking humbly and reverently after the corpse of the woman who loved him. A single bell tolled somewhere in the distance and the sound came faintly through the white drizzle. A hoarse murmur ran from mouth to mouth: "The Emperor!" "It is he!" "Sarsha!" But the Czar looked neither to the right nor the left. The blurred heavens grew darker and the snow sifted over the plumed hearse. As the wind whipped around I could hear the chanting of the priest.

It was a long distance to the cemetery, but the Czar walked every foot of the way. He sat in a pew of the Church of England for the first time and made all the responses. As he entered the cemetery, his great face wet with tears and his head bowed. While they were lowering the coffin into a frozen gap in the ground the gatekeeper spread a piece of carpet—the only article of luxury in his house—at the feet of the Czar who sank upon his knees and bowed his head in prayer.

AN OLD TIME MAGAZINE.

Poe its First Editor and Bayard Taylor a Contributor.

The death of the owner and editor of the first magazine of American literature causes us to look back proudly, viewing our youth and achievements as a country.

Edgar Allan Poe was the managing editor of Graham's Magazine, and Bayard Taylor earned his first money by writing for it.

Mr. Graham paid Longfellow fifty dollars for "The Village Blacksmith." He once sent for James Fenimore Cooper, and asked him to write ten short stories of naval adventure.

"Oh, I can't write for you," Cooper said. "You cannot pay me enough."

"How much do you want?" asked Mr. Graham.

"One hundred dollars a story, in advance."

To his amazement, Mr. Graham promptly drew him a check for a thousand dollars. This was so reckless a piece of enterprise that is was repeated from mouth to mouth. Last year a magazine paid Conan Doyle six thousand dollars for twelve stories.—Munsey's Magazine.

PEOPLE OF NOTE.

Interesting Items Relating to Persons of Importance.

Olive Schreiner, who wrote "Dreams," has a farm in South Africa, where, it is said, she makes the choicest brand of butter.

The reason Goethe married his cook was that, like nearly all great men, he was more anxious to have in the house a woman who would understand his stomach than one who would sympathize with his soul.

King Humbert is a royal sportsman of unusual skill with a rifle. He went out from his hunting lodge at Valle Del Orco one day recently and killed 18 wild goats and 32 chamois. When the "bag" was examined it was found that every one of the victims of the royal rifle had been shot in the head.

Behazin, the ex-King of Dahomey, is about to embrace the Roman Catholic faith. When M. Carnot was assassinated, the ex-King ordered a mass for the repose of his soul. He was greatly affected by the murder of the late President, and he has been in a low state of health ever since.

The Masculine "Growlery."

Women do not always realize that a man's sanctum is as dear to him as her own pet room is to his wife. A man needs a den of his own where he can hide, if he wishes, from the rest of the household. It adds to his happiness if he can have a place where he can shut himself in for a smoke and talk with a chosen friend, where he can make all the litter he wishes, leave the newspapers on the floor if he pleases, make all the muss his soul delights in without let or hindrance, and be happy in his own way. Even a small room will serve the master's den, if a large one cannot be spared.

Had His Fears.

"Aren't you afraid that statue will shrink if it be left out in the rain?" asked the cheerful idiot.

"Shrink?" said his host. "What an idea!"

"I didn't know, you know. I thought it might become a statue wet."—Cincinnati Tribune.

SMALLEST REPUBLIC.

SAN MARINO, IN THE APPENINES, HAS THAT HONOR.

The Oldest as Well as The Most Diminutive Republic. It was Founded in the Third Century and Has Now only 8,000 Citizens.

Pietro M. Tonnini, President of the oldest and smallest Republic in the world, died a few weeks ago.

It is only some such occurrence that calls the attention of the people of the great governments to the little Republic of San Marino, which is perched on one of the eastern spurs of the Apennines, surrounded by Italian territory, and has within its borders only thirty-three square miles, with a population of a little less than eight thousand.

As insignificant as this little republic is, it is hoary with age, dating from early in the third century, when it was founded by St. Marinus, a converted stone mason, who fled from Rimini during the Diocletian persecution. It has survived the rise and fall of empires and republics, and its little band of patriots are as tenacious to their political life as they were fourteen hundred years ago. They are true lovers of political freedom, and their greatest statue, which stands in the main square of their capital, is a marble one of "Liberty."

Small as the republic is, President Tonnini had to share his honors with another, for the republic has two executive officers, and they are selected for only six months. The Grand Council of sixty members elect a Council of Twelve, who in turn select the two Presidents, or "Captains-Regent," who hold office for only one half of a year.

Such is, and has been, the government of this little republic for centuries, held secure by the jealousies of surrounding provinces.

Pietro M. Tonnini was elected to office only three months ago, so his term of office had one half expired at the time of his death. He was selected from the nobles of the republic, his colleague being chosen from the burgesses, or rural landowners; for such is the requirement of the law.

The little State has an army of less than 900 men, and yet with this force it could make a strong resistance against an invading army by reason of its fastness among the peaks of the Apennines. San Marino, the capital, is reached by a single road, and would be able to withstand a lengthened siege.

Several times this little Republic has been threatened by serious complications with Italy on account of harboring fugitives from justice, but open war has been avoided.

President Tonnini had no difficult duties, for the people of San Marino are law abiding, noted for their hospitality, sobriety, industry and general morality. They are sensitively jealous of their rights and cling to their territorial and legislative independence. Their chief trade is in fruits, silk worms and wine, while many are busy pasturing cattle. The life of the people of San Marino comes as near to an ideal one, when happiness and contentment are considered, as any the world has yet attained to.

The capital holds more than one half of all the population. It is protected by walls and towers, has rudely paved streets, a town hall, seven churches and but one theatre. It has numerous public squares, not without statues, the principal statues being one of Liberty and one of Marinus, the founder of the State.

The copyright and tariff questions do not trouble San Marino, for there is no printing press in the republic, and by treaty with Italy it receives a certain portion of the Italian customs revenue, in consideration of not raising or buying duty free tobacco.

He, too, Had Grieved.

There lived down in Cambridge, Ind., a well-known old gentleman by the name of Josiah Nixon, who in early boyhood had acquired the habit of gross exaggeration. The habit had grown upon him so that he believed everything he said was the truth, no matter how great the exaggeration. After he had reached the ripe old age of threescore and ten some of the deacons in the church thought it was too much like lying to pass unnoticed, and it was decided, after a great deal of consideration, that the old gentleman must be churched.

One evening, while he was seated in front of his door, telling a small circle of neighbors about the way the pioneers had to live, the gate opened and the delegation of deacons filed in.

"Yes," the old gentleman was saying, "we had hard times then. I lived two years on grass and hickory bark on Sundays. We used to call Sundays 'bark days' on that account, and that's the only way we could tell when Sunday come. Bears! I see twelve hundred great big varmints onc't around our camp, and I killed——"

"Uncle Josiah," broke in one of the deacons, "we have come to see you about this habit of yours. You have the unpleasant habit of forgetting the truth when talking, and we have come to remonstrate with you."

"I know it, deacon," replied the old man, as he looked round. "I know it, and I want to tell you that I have grieved over that failin' of mine 500,000 times a day for the past 200 years."—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Asleep on the Bottom of the River.

A strange incident in connection with the work of clearing away the debris of the recently wrecked bridge at Louisville is related of the submarine diver whose duty it is to descend to the bottom of the river and fasten chains about the heavy iron work, besides placing dynamite charges in spots where the most desirable results may be had. The other day he remained beneath the surface for more than an hour. There was no response when signals were made, and there was uneasiness felt. At length the diver who goes on as a relief reported for duty, and he was at once sent down to ascertain what was wrong. In a few minutes both men came up. The diver was found seated on a pile of iron fast asleep.

Something About Corea.

It is the proper thing nowadays to know all about Corea, its King, its houses, its people, laws and customs.

Here is something about the way its King is regarded by his subjects.

If by accident His Majesty touches one of them the man at once places a silk cord around his body, with a knot in it. The knot must be directly over the spot His Royal Highness has consecrated, that all the world may know of the honor.

That may sound very strangely, but then we all know that when Queen Victoria touches a subject with a sword he becomes a Knight.

SANFORD B. DOLE.

First President of the Republic of Hawaii, Formed July 4, 1894.

On the Fourth of July, 1894, one hundred and eighteen years after the Declaration of Independence was issued, a little republic was born in the Sandwich Islands. As will be remembered, there was considerable trouble in Hawaii from the time the Queen was deposed until this final formation of a new government. Part of the time it was in doubt whether the Queen would be restored by the power of the United States or not, and earlier in the affair arrangements had been made for the annexation of the island to this country.

PRESIDENT DOLE.

Among the prominent men who assisted in achieving the independence of Hawaii, Sanford B. Dole, who has just been elected the first President of the new republic, and Loren A. Thurston, Minister of Hawaii to the United States, were most conspicuous for ability and energy. President Dole, in the trying circumstances which surrounded him during the period anterior to the formation of the republic, showed himself a man of courage and ability, and, withal, a man of sound judgment and conservatism.

He was elected without opposition, as Washington was when the first President of the United States was chosen, and while he is not by any means a Washington, he seems to be well fitted for his position, and entirely capable of managing the affairs of the little republic over which he has been called to preside.

TO SING FOR A DOWRY.

Calve Will Carol in Nearly Every Part of Europe for a Dot.

Calve will sing in practically every section of Europe next year, but will not come to America. She goes to Sweden and Norway in the fall, thence to Paris, and from there to Rome. After that she will return to Paris for fifteen days, and will then leave for Madrid. From Madrid she will take a long trip to St. Petersburg and Moscow. Upon the completion of a short engagement at Moscow, she will go to Vienna, thence to London, and back to Paris again. The tour is the most extraordinary one ever mapped out by an operatic artist, as prima donnas of Calve's rank are fond of ease and do not fancy travelling about. Calves tour has been laid out with the definite purpose of increasing the bank account of the famous French woman, so that when she marries, about this time next year, she will be able to take to her husband a very considerable dowry. He has a fair fortune himself, and thinks that his bride should bring him something tangible in addition to her money-earning abilities.

Yes, He Could Throw, Some.

"Several years ago," remarked Oliver L. Westbrook of New Haven, Conn., in the billiard room of the Laclede last week, "I knew a man who lived on the outskirts of my town who could throw a stone with more accuracy of aim than is displayed by most sportsmen with a rifle. The man was a perfect giant, physically. He was a good deal of a hunter, using stones as his only weapon to bring down the game. He had a large leather pouch attached to one side of his coat, in which he always carried a good supply of carefully selected missiles. With these he bagged every year no small quantity of game, such as quail, rabbits and squirrels. He could kill a bird on the wing or a rabbit at full speed almost as easily as at rest. One of his favorite methods for displaying his skill was to set up a scythe-blade with the edge toward him at a distance of about 100 feet, and by throwing potatoes against the edge cut them in half. He could almost exactly halve two out of every three potatoes he threw."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Humorist's Idea of a Good Husband.

The "best husband"? Why, the one who is devoted first to his wife and children; second, to his work and everything else. There you are. I could preach a sermon on this text, but I'd rather give an example. I've been lecturing for ten years. Once I was just stepping on the stage to greet a big house and be funny, when I got a telegram saying my wife was ill, and my four children, over at New Brighton, Staten Island, were all taken with scarlet fever. I was bound for California. Well! A lecturer must always be joyful, always gay and cheerful, to his audience. I never knew how I got over that programme; but in the morning I broke contracts to the extent of $5,000, and took the first swift train for home. That man, in my opinion, was the best sort of husband.—Bill Nye, in Demorest's Magazine.

How to Woo Sleep.

The bon ton ladies of England have a habit of preparing the mind for "sweet sleep" that is worthy of the imitation it receives. No rational adult need be told that going to bed with troubled thoughts is almost certain to antagonize rest. Mothers who are truly kind to their little folks will not permit the recital of horrible or exciting stories in the nursery. Bedtime stories should be vague, caressing, fragile things. This theory is carried out in later life by gentle people, who read a poem, one of the immortal songs of David, or some hymn to nature, to compose the mind to rest. It may take less than five minutes, but it is a solace to the brain; it calms the nerves and invites dreamless sleep.—N. Y. World.

A Child's Opinion of Dew.

The eye of a little Washington miss was attracted by the sparkle of the dew at early morning.

CALEB DICKINSON

THE OLDEST NOVEL.

IT WAS WRITTEN IN EGYPT THREE THOUSAND YEARS AGO.

A Thrilling Story, With Love, Jealousy, Intrigue, and the "Elemental Stuff of Which All the Romantic Literature of After-Ages is Compounded."

As Old Egypt was the cradle of all the arts and sciences, so too it seems to have been the cradle of the novel, that is, of the imaginative story designed for the inculcation of moral ideas. A story of this type, "The Tale of the Two Brothers," is noticed and analyzed in an article by that well-known Egyptologist, the late Amelia B. Edwards, in The Contemporary Review for August. She tells us:

"One of the most ancient examples of fiction in the world, one which has survived the rise and fall of many an ancient and many a modern empire, is an Egyptian romance entitled, 'The Tale of the Two Brothers.' We have the original manuscript in the British Museum. It is written on nineteen sheets of papyrus, in a fine hieratic hand, and it was penned some three thousand two hundred years ago by a Theban scribe named Ennana. This Ennana was Librarian of the palace to King Marenptah, the supposed Pharaoh of the Exodus, and he appears to have written the tale by order of the Treasurer, for the entertainment of the Crown Prince, Seti-Merenptah, who subsequently reigned as Seti II. This prince has signed his name in two different places on the back of the manuscript, these being probably the only autograph signatures of any Egyptian king which have come down to our time. This most venerable and precious document was purchased in Italy by Madame d'Orbiney, who sold it in 1857 to the authorities of the British Museum; and it is now known as the d'Orbiney Papyrus.

"'There were two brothers, children of one mother and one father. Anpu was the name of the big brother and Betau was the name of the little brother. Now Anpu he had a house and a wife, and his little brother lived with him as his serving-man. It was Betau who drove the cattle to the fields and tilled the ground. It was he who threshed the corn and did the field-work. It was he who drove the cattle to the pasture-land and tilled the ground; for this little brother was a good laborer, and he had not his equal in all the country. And he ate, and drank, and slept in the stable with his good beasts.'"

Miss Edwards informs us that "big" and "little" do not refer to size, but correspond to elder and younger, and continues with the story:

"'And when the season had come for tilling the ground, Anpu said to Betau: "Go, make ready our gear, for the waters have gone down, and the land is good for tillage. Go then to the field with the seed, and we will go to work to-morrow morning." So said he. And the little brother did all that which his big brother had bidden him do.'

"After this," says Miss Edwards, "the story goes on to tell how the big brother's wife falls in love with Betau, who is horror-stricken and upbraids her fiercely. Hereupon she foully maligns him to Anpu, who becomes 'as a panther of the South,' and sharpens his knife that he may slay his little brother, when Betau shall return from the field at the close of day. But the faithful beasts lift up their voices, and warn Betau of his peril, whereupon he flies for his life, pursued by his elder brother. Suddenly a broad river, swarming with crocodiles, flows in between them. Awed by this miracle, and touched by the protestations of Betau, Anpu is convinced of his little brother's innocence, and at the same time of his wife's perfidy. So he goes home and slays her, and casts out her body to the dogs. Betau, self-exiled, goes away to a place called the Valley of the Acacia, where he lives by the chase. By and by, however, the gods take compassion upon him, and create a beautiful damsel to be his bride and share his solitude; and Betau loves her dearly. One day, when he is out hunting, the river rises and pursues her. She escapes, but not before the acacia-tree has seized a lock of her hair, and thrown it into the stream. This lock of hair is carried by the current to Memphis, where it is fished up by one of the king's officers, who conveys it to Pharaoh himself. Now the perfume of the tress was so delicious that the king summoned his scribes and magicians, and they told him that it belonged to a daughter of the gods. Hereupon the king sent out messengers to North, South, East and West, that they might find this maiden of birth. But when they came to the Valley of the Acacia Betau slew them all.

Then Pharaoh dispatched more messengers, and many archers and armed charioteers, and with them a woman, who tempted the wife of Betau to be faithless to her husband and become the wife of the king of Egypt. And she went, and the king saw her and loved her, and made her his queen, and all the land of Egypt was glad. After this, Betau goes through many surprising adventures; is twice killed, and twice comes to life again, the first time as a bull, and the second time as a persea tree. Lastly, he becomes re-incarnate in human form, and ends by killing his perjured bride, and becoming king over all the land of Egypt."

This is the barest outline of the story, which, we are told, can be found at length in English, French and German translations.

The tale of Anpu and Betau is assigned to a very remote antiquity; "it may be as old as the pyramids." The sequel bears the impress of a later date, "perhaps of the Ramesside period."

SCHOOL DRESSES.

Brief and Timely Memoranda of Interest to Mothers.

This subject, which lacks interest but two or three months in the year, is particularly interesting now.

The vogue of shirt waist and extra waist generally is a boon to mothers, for one skirt will outwear two or more waists, and these latter are easily made as a rule.

A school gown consisting of a plaid skirt with two waists of different plain colors would give variety and double the service of one gown. The disadvantage of bands allowing the weight on the hips is obviated by making the bands comfortably loose and buttoning or hooking skirt and waist together.

Striped skirts also look well with plain bodices, and one bodice may be made of the same with collar or some portion in plain material to relieve the monotony that always results from the use of one single material untrimmed.

MODERN ABORIGINES.

Their Religion as Expounded at a Recent Council Fire.

Most interesting are the letters descriptive of the religious ceremonies of the pagan Indians of New York during the past few days in the Onondaga Valley, near Syracuse. The pagan religion in which they believe has many good features, and the prophet whom they venerate was a worthy teacher. This prophet, whose name was Handsome Lake, and who lived in the early part of this century, inculcated the practice of all the virtues—truthfulness, honesty, sobriety, hospitality, fraternity and happiness; he taught in the name of the Great Spirit and his doctrines are accepted by the Mohawks, Senecas, Onondagas and Cayugas, or by the greater part of the Six Nations of Iroquois Indians. We call these redskins pagans; but, in so far as they follow the teachings of the prophet Handsome Lake, whose Indian name was Con-Ya-Taw-Yow, they are better than a great many people who boast loudly that they are Christians.

When the bucks were exhausted with the turtle dance the venerable chief sachem gave them a sermon, and when they got a rest under the sermon they resumed the dancing; so that dance followed sermon and sermon dance, while the singing of the braves kept time to the music of the turtle rattle.

There are plenty of white men who have not a religion as good as the paganism of the Nation of Six Fires, and who do not practice the virtues that were preached by the venerable Handsome Lake.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

Atlanta Veterans of Both Sides Unite to Honor the Heroes.

The Confederate Veterans' Association of Atlanta have taken the initiative in the erection of a joint monument to the memory of Gen. McPherson of the Federal army and Gen. W. H. T. Walker of the Confederate army, who were killed within a few yards of each other in the battle of the 22d of July, 1864. The Grand Army post at Atlanta will join in the movement. The scheme is to raise $200,000, one-half by each side, with which a heroic double equestrian statue will be erected upon the spot where McPherson fell. Gen. Walker is to face the North, and is to be clasping hands with Gen. McPherson, whose face will be to the South.

The project has been under consideration for several months, and correspondence already held with Federals and Confederates throughout the country gives promise of success. The joint monument was suggested by the tower to the memory of Wolff and Montcalm in the Governor's garden in Quebec.

A Story of Dr. Holmes.

The Rev. Mr. Haweis tells a good story of Oliver Wendell Holmes. He says: "At a reception given to Canon Farrar at the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, I found myself close to Oliver Wendell Holmes. 'Who is that bishop,' I asked, 'who just spoke to me?' 'Oh,' said Mr. Holmes, 'that is the well known Bishop of ——, and a good fellow, too. I will tell you why I have a good opinion of him. I once saw him go up to two ladies in the street in the rain. He had on a brand new hat. I happened to know those ladies. They were total strangers to him, but he offered them his umbrella, and walked on in the rain and quietly spoiled his hat. Now,' said Mr. Holmes, 'a man loves his hat, and a bishop's hat' —— he paused. It was an awe-inspiring thought. 'Yes,' I cut in, laying my hand on the poet's and holding him with my glittering eye—

'Wear a good hat—the secret of good looks
Lives with the beavers in Canadian brooks!
Virtue may flourish in an old cravat,
Both man and nature scorn the shocking hat.'

I saw the author's eye kindle. 'Well,' said he, 'I had better be off now. I shall hear nothing better than that. I am in luck to-day. This is the second time since I entered this room that I have had my own poetry quoted to me.'"

The Color of the Arabian Horse.

We must not, however, pass away from the typical Arabian without a word as to color. "In England an antiquated idea lingers that the authentic Arab must be gray." Such an impression may, perhaps, prevail among persons altogether ignorant of horses, but the sport of racing in India has so increased our knowledge of Arabian horses that sounder views now exist among horsemen. Two extracts from Gen. Tweedee's work will give all the information that is needed upon this point. His Highness, the late Amir Fai Sal of Najd, who was a high authority on Arabian horses, stated that the finest "may be of any color; that the prevalent color among the first blood was various shades of gray; that, on the whole, color went for little, and height for nothing, and that blood was everything." Another author sums up the matter thus: "Practically the Ku-hai-lan colors are bay and chestnut, and the numerous different shades of gray and roan." Into the relation of color to temperament it is impossible here to enter. Such a discussion, interesting as it would be to the lover of the horse, belongs, not only to the Arabian, but to the equine race all the world over.—The Edinburgh Review.

And Yet He Only Told the Truth.

Frank B. Fowler is in Boston jail, charged with fraudulent use of the mails. He has been advertising in several newspapers a hat fastener which made the use of hat pins unnecessary. In return for their ten cents his numerous women customers in this city received two small rubber bands with directions which read: "Sew one of these fasteners on each side of your hat or bonnet and place the loop around your ears, which will hold safely."

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

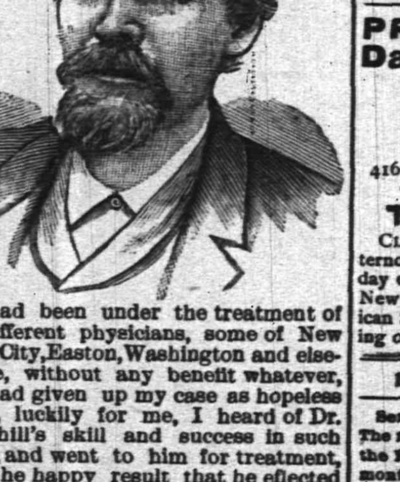
THE CASE OF MR. PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

TWO ALARMS, ONE FIRE

Timothy McCarthy Loses a Barn Again.

CAUSED BY AN UNKNOWN LODGER.

That's the Theory Put Forth by the Owner—The Fire Before Was From Locomotive Sparks—Insurance Covers the Loss.

Ninety-two strong blows of the city fire-gong at 3:40 yesterday morning made the people who heard them believe that an extraordinary fire had been discovered. The firemen heard Box 47 sound in the regular way and started for the Pond Tool Works. Then four more rounds, blowing 48 this time, directed them to the corner of Front and Albert streets.

They found there that Timothy A. McCarthy's barn at 1123 West Front street was full of flames. The nearest hydrant was by the Pond Works. The fire burned briskly while the apparatus was taken around by way of Clinton avenue. Hose was stretched across the Central Railroad tracks and the men were soon at work. They remained for two hours, leaving when every indication of flames had disappeared from the ruins. A few uprights of the framework were all that was left of the building.

CAUSE OF THE TWO ALARMS.

The first alarm, 47, was sent in by Policeman Flanagan, who saw the flames while he was near the tool works. At the same time Mr. McCarthy and his family awoke. Wilbur Burrell, Mr. McCarthy's brother-in-law, ran to the house of Constable Jacob Kriney and aroused him. As he had not heard Flanagan's alarm the constable took his key and pulled the box by his home.

RESCUED THE LIVESTOCK.

Mr. McCarthy, meanwhile, was doing brave work in rescuing livestock. When he ran outdoors without waiting to dress the upper half of the barn was a mass of fire. He dashed in through the smoke and falling slate and untied the donkey and the horse. He was squeezed against the manger by the terrified horse and narrowly escaped being disabled and burned to death. He managed, however, to pull out his business wagon and one donkey-cart.

With the barn were destroyed four tons of hay, a canopy-top surrey, a road wagon, a fancy donkey-cart, two $55 sewing machines and a lot of tools. The loss is about $400. The insurance, placed by Lyman & Petrie's agency, amounts to $500.

THEORY OF THE CAUSE.

Mr. McCarthy was not accustomed to locking his barn. He thinks the fire might have been started by some one slept there during the night and arose to leave early in the morning. The stairwell was unguarded and a tramp would be apt to light a match to see his way across the hay to the steps. Mr. McCarthy used no light in putting his horse into the stable Saturday night. He reached home at 11, cared for his horse and went into the house after closing the barn door. He sat up reading The Daily Press until nearly 1 and then went to bed, to be aroused three hours later by the fire.

The barn was 18x32 in size. It was built in July, 1891, to replace one which was set afire by sparks from a Central Railroad locomotive. The owner sued the company in Justice Nash's Court and obtained a verdict for $200 damages. The company appealed and then settled with Mr. McCarthy for $150, he agreeing not to answer the appeal. The case is still in court, although it is practically ended. The barn burned yesterday had a slate roof and the window openings were protected from sparks by fine wire screens.

All are cordially invited to attend the Christian Endeavor meeting at Warren Chapel tomorrow evening. Miss Holmes from Tripoli will relate some of her experiences as a missionary in that country.

The Junior Society of Trinty Reformed Church has entered actively on a season of earnest work. There was the good attendance of 37 at the last meeting. It was a matter of regret that Mrs. Robert A. Meeker felt obliged by ill health to resign her office. The following were elected: President—T. E. Hazell; Vice-President—Eva Dunavan; Secretary—George Raynolds; Treasurer—Martha Anthony.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Crescent Board of Governors will meet tonight to select a date and route for a 25-mile road race, in which Monte Scott will try to break the record.

The women seem exempt from punishment for violating the bicycle regulations. A policeman turned aside on West Front street this morning to let two women on wheels pass by on the sidewalk.

The so-called 25-mile road race Saturday was a miserably managed affair. Monte Scott was deceived about the course, and lost because of it. He came in a good second in spite of the delay, and Thomas Hughes was declared the winner.

Patrick Mahon of Horace Sherwin's shoe store, rode his wheel to Morristown yesterday, and when returning, near Madison his foot slipped off one of the pedals, and he took a header. The right side of his face was considerably scratched, and a painful cut inflicted in the forehead Dr. Clawson of East Front street treated him. Nothing serious will result.

—Mrs. L. Adams, the milliner, under the First National Bank East Front street, is meeting with the success she deserves. Beside her millinery business she has established a dressmaking parlor where the latest styles can be seen, and perfect fitting is guaranteed.

PILLARS IN TRINITY.

Christian Endeavorers Celebrate Their Anniversary.

A HELP TO THEIR PASTOR.

They Rank at the Top Among Endeavor Societies of Their Denomination—Early Beginning, Small—How They Have Grown—Record Reviewed Up to Date.

Adorned with autumnal bloom and filled with people, Trinty Reformed Church last night gave rich testimony to the growth and efficiency of the Christian Endeavor work. Its own society was entering on its tenth year, and paused for an evening to review the past and take lessons from it.

In charge of the anniversary celebration was President Fred E. Smith, and with him on the platform sat the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, and Sunday-school Superintendent E. E. Anthony. Flowers had been arranged with much pleasing effect under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Van Dyke.

Handel's Largo was the magnificent musical opening. It was superbly given, by A. L. Titsworth on the organ, and P. Ludwig Conde with his famous old Amati violin. It was an inspiration for the song "Whole-Hearted, True-Hearted". In this the choir, consisting of Miss Krymer, Miss Mattison, Miss Dunn, Mr. Martin, Mr. Clark, Mr. Moore and Lyman R Allen, led the people; and organist Titsworth and cornetist Benjamin La Vere swelled the harmony. The Scripture lesson, Psalm CXV, was read by Pastor Schenck, who followed his reading with fervent prayer.

A welcoming address was made by President Smith. The growth and work of the Christian Endeavor movement, and of this particular society, were well set forth. He paid just praise to his own society for its efforts of the past, and urged even greater efforts for the future.

Secretary Frank P. Storr presented the following interesting report and valuable record:

Oct. 5, 1894—Our society has completed its ninth year of service for Christ and the Church. Although many opportunities have been lost in which we could have served served our Master, yet we are encouraged by what has been accomplished, and trust it may give us a new zeal for renewed service for the year we have just entered.

What have we accomplished the last year? Let us review it.

We began the year with 135 members: 118 active, and 17 associate. During the year 20 new members have been added to the active list, and one to the associate list. Nine active members have been dropped from the roll on account of non-attendance, one on account of inability to attend, two have united with other societies, and one was transferred to the honorary list.

Our Lookout Committee has been faithful in looking after the absent members. The Prayer-Meeting Committee has done what it could to make the meetings interesting and helpful, and has taken charge of the meetings itself whenever it was necessary. Its report shows the following attendance during the year: Oct., 1893, 390; Nov., 357; Dec., 421; Jan., 1894, 420; Feb., 193; March, 415, April, 400; May, 354; June, 378; July, 480; Aug., 310; Sept., 276; total, 4,226. The total number of meetings held during the year was 51, thus making an average attendance of 83 at each meeting.

The Sunday-School Committee has assisted the superintendent in furnishing substitute teachers for the Sunday-school.

The Flower Committee has furnished the church with flowers for six months, and for sociables and other occasions during the year. Flowers have been taken to our sick members, and sent to those of our number whom God has called home. $16.95 has been collected and paid out during the year by this committee.

The Missionary Committee has held two meetings during the year, one of which was held March 12 and was addressed by Miss Spangenberg. Her subject was how to make the cause of missions more successful in the Christian Endeavor society. The other meeting was held during the month of May, and was conducted by our president, Fred. E. Smith, the service being devoted to the mission cause in foreign fields, $81.50 was donated to the foreign and domestic missions. On Nov. 3 one barrel of clothing was sent to the colored school of Hillsboro, N. C., on Dec. 14 a Christmas box was sent to Black Brook, and on Feb. 2 one box containing comfort bags, Bibles, etc., was donated and sent to the life-saving station at Ocean City, N. J.

The Social Committee has held a number of social gatherings during the year, which have been greatly enjoyed by all who attended them.

The Temperance Committee has held four meetings of temperance and good citizenship during the year. The first one was addressed by E. B. Mattison of New Brunswick, who delivered his lecture on alcohol and its effect upon the human system. At the second Miss Peck, president of the W. C. T. U., made an address on temperance work. At the third, extracts from various writings showing the effect of alcohol upon the system were read by members of the society. The last meeting of the year was held Sept. 24, at which Rev. Mr. Schenck, H. T. Martin, and Fred. E. Smith, spoke on temperance and good citizenship, and a special choir sang appropriate selections.

The Music Committee has provided special music when needed, both at our regular meetings and at the social gatherings of our society. The Music Committee has also secured pianists for the meetings throughout the year.

The Reception Committee held several meetings during the year, and determined upon a plan to get the name and address of each member of the society in order to enable the members to call upon each other and thus promote sociability.

The total amount received in the treasury from all sources during the year was $161.84. The total amount of expenditures was $119.09, which leaves a balance in the treasury of $42.15.

Although many misfortunes have befallen us, and we have allowed some opportunities for doing good to pass by unheeded, yet God has blessed our work wonderfully. Let us remember to be faithful and loyal in all things, and attain to a higher standard of Christian living, and God's blessing will rest upon us in our endeavors to serve him.

Let us give thanks for all we have accomplished during the past year, and may the coming year be one of greater upbuilding of the cause of our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ.

"Hark, Hark, My Soul", was well sung by Miss Mattison, Miss Krymer, Miss L. Dunn, A. L. Moore and Robert Clark, with solo parts by Misses Mattison and Krymer.

E. E. Anthony spoke as a charter member of the society. He told of the brief mention made in the minutes of the early days, the record showing merely the following:

In answer to a call by their pastor, Rev. A. V. V. Raymond, the young people of Trinity Reformed Church met in the lecture room the evening of Oct. 5, 1885, for the purpose of organizing a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. Our old and esteemed friend, Frank P. Morse, was appointed clerk.

After prayer, a committee was appointed which reported, at the following meeting, these officers for the ensuing year, who were elected unanimously: President, H. E. Gayle; First Vice-president, Miss J. Dunn; Second Vice-president, H. Bosterli; Secretary, Miss F. Mattison; Treasurer, Miss E. Gillem. In response to a call for membership, 41 names were obtained, 39 for active membership, and 19 for associate.

Mr. Anthony spoke tenderly of the memory of those who had passed into rest, praised the loyalty of the society when the church was pastorless, and prophesied that nine years hence he would find the old church replaced by a beautiful new structure, a society of 300 active members, several candidates for Sunday-school superintendent, and a society president who now was a Junior.

Exquisite music was rendered by Arthur Titsworth, organist; P. L. Conde, violin; and Fermin Ferrar, cellist, and Pastor Schenck gave one of his fluent, earnest talks.

Mr. Schenck showed that Christian Endeavor was a prominent, permanent promise, a living thing. Workers might move away, be called to glory, but the work goes on. Christian Endeavor is something that will live as long as the world stands, as long as the Church of Christ abideth in the earth.

In the past year the Trinity Christian Endeavor society ranked fourth among the 155 societies of the denomination, in missionary offerings; and among the Juniors the Trinity Juniors ranked first. He congratulated them on this and other great achievements, and predicted greater things in store.

He dared not tell what an aid the society had been to him as a pastor. It had wonderfully cheered and helped him. He hoped for continued consecrated effort, and called down the blessing of God.

"We will meet each other there" was the concluding song of the anniversary.

LAID THE BURGLAR.

FEROCIOUS MIDNIGHT ENCOUNTER IN THE BOROUGH.

Alone and Unarmed a Respected Resident Knocks Out an Uninvited Guest on His Front Piazza.

In the height of the burglar scare last week a well-known North Plainfield man went home late, and before going indoors took a cautious survey of the surroundings.

The electric lights were out, and he could barely see the tall black form standing motionless on the piazza.

"Get away from here!"—fiercely ejaculated the householder.—"Get away, I say, or I'll call for Marshal Pangborn!"

No answer came back on the breeze that just then rippled through the darkness, but with growing courage the man thought he saw a slight shiver pass over the prowler, as though already he could feel the walls of borough lockup encompassing him.

His injunction to depart being still unheeded, the resident valiantly bore down with a whoop upon the trembling figure.

Biff! Bang!

The cats on the back fence fled in terror at the sound of the concussion when that boroughite's fists mashed into its mark and the boroughite went down with a dull sonorous thud upon the mute marauder.

For a moment the only auricular evidence of human presence was the puff-puff of the prostrate citizen.

Then, slowly, with a sense of his own dignity, and with magnificent composure, he arose from the hard piazza floor, and with painful self-control hobbled into the house and went to sleep in a bath-tub filled with arnica.

At daybreak the inquisitive cook saw him bury three things in the ash-barrel: the fragments of his wife's best jardiniere, the crushed remnants of her choicest dahlia bush, and the last-year overcoat that had been hung over the plant to save it from frost.

JUDGE CODDINGTON SUGGESTED.

What's the Matter with Him for Member of Assembly?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—Having noticed in the columns of your valuable paper several suggestions as to possible candidates; and particularly an Assembly ticket nominated by the Summit Record, containing the name of a worthy Plainfield gentleman, leads me to suggest the name of City Judge William A. Coddington, who would undoubtedly be the strongest candidate that could be found in Plainfield for Member of Assembly, and who would not only carry this city by as handsome a majority as he did for the office of City Judge, but whose name would add great strength to the rest of the ticket. By all means let the Democrats nominate him. SECOND WARD.

A HARD-CIDER CROWD.

Police Make a Raid, and Capture Three.

Herman Zimmer's cider joint on Cottage place was the scene of a drunken row last night. Policeman Mattox and Special Carney arrived at 10 and of the crowd arrested Proprietor Zimmer and George Shay of Shay-Adams fame.

Another of the participants, Julius Barschofskie went to the lockup to get Zimmer out and was arrested himself. City Judge Coddington fined each of the men $5 this morning.

John MacDonald's Brave Catch.

A team owned by the Hygiene Ice Company, a bay and a gray, ran away with an ice-wagon from the corner of Park avenue and Fifth street at 9:20 this morning. In front of Justice Nash's court-house John Mac Donald of Terrell road ran out and caught the bay by the rein. The horse was thrown and dragged on its side for nearly 100 feet before the gray stopped. The slippery condition of the street made the slide possible.

Court Nash.

Contract cases that Justice Nash will try next Friday are those of Cloyd against Cole, McCurdy against Connealy, and Loss against Coles. The case in tort of Robinson against Byno will be tried the same day.

GILBERT FOR CONGRESS

Not This Year, But When Next Election Comes.

DEAL MADE AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

Fowler of Elizabeth Decided on by the Bosses—Plainfield Helps Elizabeth Now, and Elizabeth Pledges Future Support to Plainfield.

Mayor Rankin and his friend Lawyer Fowler of Elizabeth were guests Saturday evening at the Union County Country Club. The exclusive announcement in The Daily Press that this visit was part of a plan to secure the Plainfield delegation in favor of Mr. Fowler's nomination for Congress caused a mild sensation in the Club and in local political circles. Owing to the publication in The Press few political leaders put in an appearance as they did not wish to commit themselves in favor of Elizabeth's candidate as against James L. Anthony, the leading candidate of Plainfield for the nomination next Thursday at the Convention in Elizabeth.

The "promised" feast at the Club also turned out to be of the soul and not of the palate.

Several of the prominent Republican "bosses", it is whispered today, recently made a "deal" with Mayor Rankin of Elizabeth, to favor his candidate, as Mayor Gilbert was unable to arrange his business affairs this year to accept the nomination according to the agreement made two years ago with the county leaders. By favoring Lawyer Fowler at this time, Mayor Rankin will return the favor by throwing his delegation to Plainfield's candidate two years hence.

This "deal" does not meet with the approval of a large number of Republicans in this town, who believe that the agreement of two years ago should be strictly adhered to now, and that Plainfield should present the name of Mr. Anthony, believing that the coming Congress should be composed of business men, not lawyers, who rightly understand the condition of affairs and the quickest way to restore prosperity to the people.

The fight at the primaries tonight will therefore be between the people and the "bosses". It is likely, however, that a strong delegation of business men will be chosen tonight, who will present the name of Mr. Anthony at the coming convention as Plainfield's Congressional candidate.

THANKS TO THE DAILY PRESS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—The Crescent Wheelmen desire to express thanks to the Plainfield Press for the interest which they have taken in our recent meet, the success of which was largely due to the many items published, which reached and interested the general public.

JOHN PETRIE,
Secretary.

207 a Lucky Number.

It profiteth a man to sell good goods at little profit and to advertise in The Daily Press.

For instance, Fulper's grocery, 207 West Front street.

Fulper hustles for himself and for the public. His money-saving prices are kept before the public through The Daily Press ad, and hence his store is always crowded.

That means that his stock is kept on the move. Goods there have no chance to get stale; they go too fast.

Last week he made another slash. His ad in The Press told the story. Business grew so that he had to hire two extra clerks, and all were too busy to go home to eat.

The rush still continues, but the immense trade is handled with despatch, and everyone is happy.

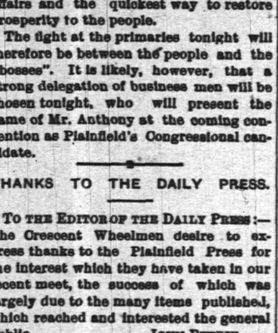
Ought to Be Accepted.

R. I. Tolles, manager of the Union Beef Company, has still further improved his property by laying a walk of bluestone flagging along the Orange street front. All of the Orange street walks ought to be laid with flagging, replacing the rough boards, and then the thoroughfare ought to be accepted by the city and a lamp placed at the middle.



A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed paralyzed. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan, 939 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.

AN EDITOR FROM HAWAII.

Some Queer Episodes in Walter G. Smith's Newspaper Career.

Mr. Walter G. Smith, the young American editor who made such a stir in Hawaii in his conduct of the Star, which he founded and used fearlessly in his attacks on Hawaiian royalty and its supporters, returned recently to his former home, Sherwood, New York.

The system of jail management in the islands is peculiar. It is the custom there to rent out the prisoners to citizens as laborers at so much a day. Every one who pretends to any social standing in Honolulu has a telephone in his house, and a conversation over it like this, Mr. Smith says, is of frequent occurrence:

"Is this the jail?"

"Yes."

"Well, won't you please send up a murderer to the house to-day? That burglar you sent up yesterday was not satisfactory."

The prisoners are required to return to the jail before 6 o'clock every night. Mr. Smith asked the keeper what he did when the prisoners failed to return.

"What do I do?" said the keeper in surprise at such a question. "Why, sir, I lock 'em out!"

Before Smith went to Hawaii he edited a newspaper in San Diego, Cal. There was a tugboat captain there who came from Smith's native place, Sherwood. One day the editor found in a paper sent to him from his old home an extract from a letter that the tugboat captain had sent home, and which, because of the glowing account it gave of the writer's success, got into print as an instance of what push would do in the far West. Smith, in a spirit of fun, reprinted the article without comment.

Soon after its publication a sound of heavy feet was heard rushing up the stairs to the editorial rooms of the paper. The excited tugboat captain dashed in and inquired for Editor Smith. He hadn't come down yet, the boy said.

"Well, you tell him," said the captain, "that I shall be here to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock to shoot him dead. I give him warning."

Smith received the message, and has acknowledged since that he did not like it. Still it would never do to show the white feather. He procured two large revolvers, had them cocked and hidden under a newspaper on his desk that had been thrown down carelessly, as it seemed, and tried to show no concern when on the following day the lookout reported that the angry captain was headed for the office exactly on time. He burst into Smith's office, and the latter's right hand stole under the newspaper and grasped one of the cocked revolvers. With a tremendous amount of profanity the captain shouted:

"What did you mean by printing that thing about me?"

"You wrote it, didn't you?" asked Smith, as his hand stole under the paper and grasped the second revolver, and both hands began to tip up the muzzles for instant use, the editor at the same time trying to conceal his trepidation.

"Yes, I wrote it, but what the blankety blankety blank did you mean by printing it?"

"If I choose to reprint such an article," said Smith, the points of the revolvers coming up still more, and his hands shaking a little more, "I have a right to do so."

"You have, have you?"

"Yes, I have."

"Well, do you know what I am going to do?" asked the furious captain.

"No, I don't," said Smith, prepared now to shoot and kill if his trembling hands would permit him to hit the mark.

"Well, I am going to go down stairs and stop my paper."

He Let His Reputation Go.

It isn't often that one finds among the mountaineers of the Southwest a hero of the highest type, but they do exist, and a year or so ago I met one. I had been in his neighborhood for three months and I knew that he had killed a man or two and had the reputation of being the gamest man in the mountains. He was extremely handy with a gun, too, and everybody gave him a wide berth whenever there was a prospect of a row. One day, however, he got into a difficulty with a man from an adjoining county, and when the shooting began he cut and run like a white-head, leaving the field in possession of the other party. Two days afterward I met him on the road and we talked about the late disturbance.

"I was rather surprised at the way you acted," I said, as mildly as I could, for even then I had no wish to stir him up."

"I reckon most folks wuz," he replied, briefly.

"I know they were, and they don't understand it; neither do I."

"Well," he said, half apologetically, "I reckon I jist run, and that wuz all thar wuz to it."

"There was more than that; you lost your reputation by it."

"Mebbe I did, colonel," and he swallowed a lump in his throat; "but that thar feller had seven little children dependin' on him, and I kinder had an idea jist afore I pulled the trigger that mebbe I could git along better without my repertation than they could without their daddy, so I run."

He stopped as if uncertain what to say next, and I took him by the hand and shook it with a vigor that I knew he appreciated by the look that came into his eyes.—Detroit Free Press.

Treasure Seekers in Florida.

"It is remarkable how many people live in Florida for no other purpose than hunting hidden treasures," said E. M. Martin. "From the stories told, it would seem that there must be millions of dollars in Spanish doubloons hidden along the Florida coast. Some of these have actually been found, just enough to give zest to the search. Captain Kidd is supposed to have planted a few hundred thousand dollars down there, and a number of other pirates used Florida soil as a deposit bank. There are people who have lived there for twenty years in order to find treasure and have impoverished themselves in their search for this vast wealth. There have never been any very large finds, but a number of small ones, and the belief that there are large sums of money hidden seems to be universal.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WOMEN'S ECONOMY.

THE FAIR SEX KNOW HOW TO ECONOMIZE AND HERE IS PROOF.

A Feature of Hard Times is Woman's Economy. A Club with a Pledge. Statistics to Show How Women Discount Men in Saving.

A feature of these "hard times" is the formation of "economy societies," "calico clubs," and similar associations of women who mutually agree to eschew extravagance. We hear of one in an inland town not far from New York, whose members have signed the following pledge:

"We, the undersigned, desiring to lighten in some measure the burdens of our husbands and fathers by prudent retrenchment in our household expenses, therefore pledge our word of honor that we will not during a period of one year purchase any material for wearing apparel, the cost of which shall exceed twenty-five cents per yard.

"And we further promise to observe a strict economy in all our household matters, and cheerfully add by those delicate sacrifices to the general stock of home comforts too often dispensed with for the frivolous outside adornment of the body alone."

Of course, the movement has been laughed at. There are always male cynics to sneer at feminine endeavor. Most of these pledges of economy, the scoffers say, went into operation when the fair economists' wardrobes were freshly filled with Eastertide purchases; and they will be in serious danger of oblivion when the "new styles" of next winter make their appearance. But a triumphant refutation of these base insinuations is supplied by no less an authority than the government Bureau of Statistics at Washington. From the official tabulation of foreign goods imported into the United States during the fiscal year ending with June last, we extract the following significant facts:

Amid the general falling off in the value of commodities imported in twelve months of financial depression, one of the smallest decreases was in tobacco—a luxury that still is practically an exclusively masculine one. Some thirteen million dollars worth of it came in, against sixteen millions for the previous year; and the diminution may have been largely due to falling prices rather than to a lessened consumption. The decline in importations of wine and spirits was in almost precisely the same proportion—a percentage of about twenty. It does not look as if the husbands and brothers have given up their cigars and their champagne to any very great extent.

But turn to articles of feminine use. The jewelry imported was but ten million dollars worth, against thirty in 1892-'93—a falling off of sixty-six per cent. In silks, the decrease was thirty-six per cent. In women's and children's dress fabrics it was almost fifty per cent. What a tale of self-denial these cold, prosaic figures tell! Not often is pathos an element of official statistics, but surely here is a case of it.

Women may, speaking collectively, be extravagant in prosperity, but in adversity they are far more self-denying than men.—Munsey's Magazine.

VICTIM OF HIS OWN JOKE.

His Last Desire Was to See Himself Die, and He Did.

One of the oddest characters that Chicago has known was a blithe fellow named Horn. They called him "Pink" Horn. He boasted that he could not keep money; he declared that as he was a horn he must needs "blow" himself. It was this joke that allured him from his trade, that of sign painting. After this he lived on his wits. He was not known to be dishonest, but to the man who lives by his wits there come but few twinges of conscience. Once he made a reputation in a new direction. One cold day he took off a new overcoat and wrapped it about the shoulders of a thinly clad negro woman whom he met in the street. His companions marvelled at this, knowing that he had but little money, and in reply to their expressions of surprise, he remarked:

"My father was a slave owner before the war, and an old black mammy brought me up."

He always wore a flower on his coat, and when the flower was a wilted one his acquaintances knew that he was hungry. He was a man of courage. Once, in a playful mood, he fought "Black Jack," the commander of the bumboat, and defeated him, and this was no easy matter. His great fad was to investigate everything, and in this respect he became strangely curious toward the last. He had a mania for gazing into the eyes of a dying man, and often hung about the hospitals. He used to say that he intended to see himself die. Some of his friends said that he was losing his mind.

Well, hard luck came, and he drifted away. He went South and then into the far West. But he found no place to interest him. In Deadwood he did all sorts of jobs, striving to get back to Chicago. He said that he had but a short while longer to live, and that it would embarrass him to die away from home. He came back and stood about the corners looking for his old friends, but found them not. No one knew him.

"Why, you must have heard of me," he said to a man. "I am Pink Horn."

"Never heard of you, sir."

"Why, I was here before the fire."

"That may be, but I never heard of you."

"Didn't you hear of the sport who took off his overcoat one blizzardy day and gave it to a black woman?"

"Oh, yes, I believe I did hear of that. So you are the man! Well, see you again. So long."

No one cared to talk to him. He strove to joke, but his merriment was ghastly.

One night not long ago they took him up and carried him to the hospital. And this is the story they tell. He had been in bed two days when a physician told him that he had but a few hours to live.

"Are you sure?" he asked.

"I am certain. If you have any arrangements to make you'd better make them."

"My lungs are about gone, I suppose?"

"Yes, practically."

"Will you do me a favor?"

"Surely. What is it?"

"Well, I want to see myself die."

"I don't understand you."

"I simply want to see how I look while dying. Prop me up and put a mirror at the foot of the bed."

"Oh, that would be——"

"You said you would do me a favor."

"And I will."

The doctor propped him up and a nurse brought a mirror and placed it so that he could gaze into it. And so they left him for a time. He said that he desired to be alone. When they came back he was dead; his gaze was wide and his glassy eyes mirrored the mirror. Wanted to see himself die! He was an odd character.—Chicago Daily Inter-Ocean.

WHERE MEN AIRED THEOLOGY.

An Englishman's Opinion of the Congress Opened by a Cardinal, Closed by a Rabbi.

In speaking of the Congress of Religions at Chicago during the World's Fair, Professor Monievre of London says: That Parliament is the greatest event, so far, in the religious history of the world. It would not have been possible ten years ago, and even until over it seemed possible to end in a fiasco. I could not help thinking when the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Sultan of Turkey refused to take part in it that perhaps, after all, they had been wise in their generation. As a matter of fact, its success was greater than its most sanguine supporters could have expected. When the bell of the Columbian Exposition rang in the Parliament of Religions, it really rang out the reign of bigotry. Thousands of people sat day after day listening to doctrines they had been reared to despise, listening with respect, sympathy and even enthusiasm. What was still more wonderful, on the platform sat scores of ministers, priests, monks, bishops, representatives of religions that for centuries had cursed and reviled each other. There they sat as brethren. Scarcely a word escaped from any one which could offend any one else, and if occasionally old Adam asserted himself it only served to fan into a brighter flame the general enthusiasm of sympathy and love.

It seemed impossible, but the impossible has been accomplished in America and Chicago, mainly through the genius of Dr. Barrows, the chairman. To carry the scheme through successfully required a combination of head and heart, energy, common sense and pluck such as I have never before found united in any single man. Few persons could have attended the sessions of the Congress without having learned, vaguely at least, the fundamental law of comparative theology that all religions are fundamentally true and all religions are superficially false. The work begun in America will no doubt be carried on in other countries, but the glory will always remain America's of having led the way. Opened by a Cardinal, closed by a Rabbi, conducted by a Presbyterian, and embracing every prominent Church in the world, this Parliament is a suggestive spectacle for the end of this century.

HUSBANDS OF LITERARY WIVES.

Two Book-writing Ladies Who Found Sympathetic Helpers.

John Strange Winter is not a man, as most people know. But she thanks her husband, Mr. Arthur Stannard of London, for the assistance he has given her on the literary hillside. Of late Mr. Stannard has been obliged to give up his own business to manage the very lucrative magazine named after his wife.

"If my husband had not said my stories were good, I could never have continued them," she said. "My husband and Ruskin were my helpers."

George Eliot thanked her husband, George Lewes, and her friend, Herbert Spencer, for their criticisms, which assisted her over the knotty points of novel planning. And when, just before her death, she learned that Mr. Lewes had shielded her from the adverse critics who were so plentiful with blame when she first started out, she revered his memory more than ever. To her second husband Mr. Cross, she said: "I would never, without Mr. Lewes, have been a writer of even a little merit."

Scotch Kilts and Royal Legs.

The Duke of York, especially since his illness, looks pitiably weak about the legs particularly when in that Highland costume which the Queen is so fond of making her male relatives wear when in Scotland. The only one who has ventured to make a kick against this predilection on her part is Prince Henry of Battenberg, who caught such rheumatism in the knee joints the first autumn he wore the kilts that he absolutely declined to don it again.

It requires a Scotch constitution to enjoy wearing a kilt, which in the first place is very heavy, and secondly, when dampened by Scottish mists is apt to cut the flesh on the back of the knee in a painful manner. Queen Victoria in her book entitled "Leaves from the Highlands," and describing her life at Balmoral, draws quite a pathetic picture of the sufferings of her gillie, John Brown, from the cuts produced on his legs by his wet kilt; indeed, the pathos of these pages is only equalled by that in which her Majesty writing of her eldest daughter, the Empress Frederick, recounts how "poor dear Vicky sat down on a wasp's nest and got terribly stung."

A Boy with Stamps on His Conscience.

A recent dispatch from Washington says:

Six cents, the smallest contribution ever made to the conscience fund has arrived at the White House and with it the following letter:

"To His Majesty, President Cleveland.

"Dear Sir: I am in a dreadful state of mind, and I thought I would write and tell you all. About two years ago, as near as I can remember it is two years, I used two postage stamps that had been used before on letters, perhaps more than two stamps, but I can only remember of doing it twice. I did not realize what I had done until lately. My mind is constantly turned on that subject, and I think of it night and day. Now, dear President, will you please forgive me, and I promise you I will never do it again. Enclosed find cost of three stamps, and please forgive me, for I was then but 13 years old, and I am heartily sorry for what I have done. From one of your subjects."

Jokelets From Way Back.

Here are some remarkable cases: The other day a wagon maker, who had been dumb for years, picked up a hub and spoke, and a blind carpenter reached out for his plane and saw; and a deaf sheep ranchman went out with his dog and herd; and a noseless fisherman caught a barrel of herring and smelt; and a forty-ton elephant inserted his trunk into a grate and flew.—Victoria (B. C.) Home Journal.

QUITS.

CHAPTER I.

Dearest—You will know how I long to be with you. Here in the close, uncomfortable city, everything seems drearier than ever, after the two blissful days I have spent with you. I wish the weeks were made of nothing but Saturdays and Sundays. Then we could spend them together at the beach, and there would be no stern duty calling me back to the dreary office desk. It is stifling up in this room. Ever you devoted

TEDDY.

My Own Dear Ted.—How good of you to write me the minute you got back! I'm sure I shouldn't know what to do without you. I'm going to write you a nice long letter to-morrow or next day; but now I have to go walk on the beach with Aunt Jane. She's a good old soul, but so tiresome. Fondly yours,

NELL.

After writing this loving epistle, Miss Tabor turned her attention to the five devoted young men who were not chained to a dreary office; but had leisure to enjoy the beach and her society. She tried to be impartial with them and give each of the gallants a fair fifth part of the time at her disposal; but she sometimes fancied that she preferred Harold, an indolent and distingue blonde who was especially smitten. And it was Harold who was her escort in the flying trip to the city, with a visit to a roof garden as the special and reckless bit of dissipation.

CHAPTER II.

The roof garden was brilliant and giddy as usual that Friday evening, and Harold was very much in love. "And to think, dearest, that I shall have to give you up again to-morrow. By Jove, I won't!" said Harold with a sudden energy, "no matter what that Saturday and Sunday lover of yours says."

Nell paid little heed to this expression, but remarked quietly:

"You've always wanted to know, Harold, what Teddy looked like. Well, this young gentleman in front of us has Ted's back and just the set of his neck. How attentive he is to that girl. They must be very much in love."

The girl, who was exquisitiely gowned in yellow that just set off her handsome face, began to adjust her lace scarf. The young man arose to help her, and Nell caught a glimpse of his face.

"Come, Harold, we must be going, too. Why, look at him now!—it must be—no, it can't be, surely—he wouldn't—but just look—yes—it is, it is Teddy Leighton!—Theodore!!!"

"Nell, what does this mean. You here, at this time of night, and in that——" He stopped abruptly, and glanced at the culprit dress. There was a slight pause, during which every one in the garden looked intensely interested.

Harold had risen hastily to his feet. Theodore Leighton took an angry step forward, but the girl in yellow laid a pleading hand on his arm, and he stopped, in sudden recollection of his own misdemeanor. Nell gave the girl one scornful look, and then turned quietly, put her arm within that of Harold and moved slowly and majestically away.

Teddy stopped to pick up a little white tablet that lay at his feet. It was very familiar to him, and he put it carefully in his pocket. Then he gravely offered his arm to the girl in yellow.

"It was the only thing to do, Harold. If I had seemed the least bit penitent or ashamed, he would never have forgiven me. I'm so glad he had a girl with him; he won't dare scold very much. But to think that Teddy would deceive me in that way."

CHAPTER III.

Friday, 12 P. M.

My Dear Mr. Leighton—You must know that you have forfeited all rights to my respect. You will no doubt be down to-morrow afternoon to receive your ring and other gifts,

HELEN TABOR.

"Rather a high and mighty air Miss Nell is assuming," though Ted, as he scanned the letter which reached him next morning. Particularly in view of a few facts which I have just ascertained." And he felt the little ivory tablet in his pocket which, among other things, contained the schedule which Nell had arranged for disposing of her time fairly among her five seaside admirers. But there was the girl in yellow as a kind of offset; and he pondered what he would say of her, when Nell took her turn at questioning, as he whirled toward the seashore on the limited.

Nell knew he was coming, and by the exercise of rare diplomacy had managed to get the quintette of would-be lovers away. The only flaw in her plan was that they went away on the train that brought Ted in. Harold had been specially warned to keep out of sight of the incoming Ted, but of course they met. They always do in such cases. The men glared at each other, and the four behind Harold, seeing how the land lay, added their glare. Then the whole five took seats on the side of the car nearest where Nell was standing, and, as the train began to move off they gently whispered, as they passed, "Good-by, dearest."

"For heaven's sake, Nell, have you a lover for every day in the week?" asked the infuriated Theodore.

"Say, Ted, who was that pretty girl on the roof garden last night? I wouldn't have believed it of you. People that live in glass houses, you know—but there, I'll forgive you, if you'll promise never to take out another girl besides me. And I agree to keep your presents and call it quits. They've all gone, the five of them, never to come back. But yo'll have to stay down for a week or two; for Aunt Jane has gone home, and there's no one to take me to the beach.—Detroit News-Tribune.

A Manifestation of Animal Intelligence.

"When I was a-livin' back East," said the man with the ginger beard, "I owned one of these here little woolly Scotch terriers that was one of the smartest animals you ever see. Funny thing: One day my wife was readin' in the paper that woolly dogs wasn't goin' to be in fashion that summer, and she says to me, in a jokin' sort of a way, 'I guess we will haf to sell Dagobert'—that was his name—'an' git a nice, fashionable, smooth-haired dog.' 'All right,' says I, still keepin' up the joke. 'Now what do you suppose that there dog went and did?'"

"Mebbe he committed suicide," ventured the grocer. "I have heard of dogs havin' their feelings hurt so bad that they killed theirselves."

"Not much he didn't. Didn't I jist tell you he had a whole lot of sense? He jest snaked a quarter out'n the box where we kept the small change to pay the milkman and the newspaper boy, and went down to the barber shop and had his hair cut—that's what he did."—Indianapolis Journal.

REMARKABLE CURES Of Recent Date.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

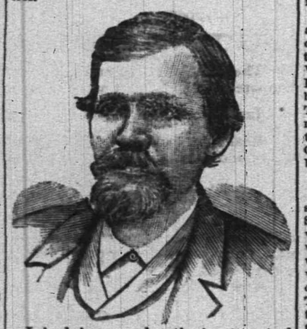
THE CASE OF MR. PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence, Deafness, Catarrh and Diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs successfully treated.

Piles of the most aggravated nature radically and permanently cured in a few weeks, without pain or detention from business, and all other rectal diseases are treated with equal success.

Mental and Nervous Derangements Epilepsy, Diseases of the Skin and Blood, Rheumatic, Neuralgic and Scrotulous Affections.

Diseases of the Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Bladder are successfully treated, even when other medical skill has failed.

AUTOCRAT TO THE END

Dr. Holmes' Death As Peaceful As His Life.

Story of Sweet Simplicity—Prominence of the Poet in the Famous Saturday Club—His Last Good-bye to the Members—Funeral Services of Some Public Character.

Boston, Oct. 9.—Death came to Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes in a chamber overlooking the Charles river and immortalized in the famous poem, "My Aviary." The members of the family thought that the end might come in a few months, that the aged autocrat would not survive the chilling winds of another New England winter, and they were unprepared for his death Sunday. Seated in his chair, unconsciousness came to him, and in a short half hour his spirit had flown. There was no time to put him into bed, and before the physician who had been summoned could arrive, Dr. Holmes was dead. There were no last wishes, the last word was never spoken, for the end came unheralded and sudden. Dr. Holmes and his distinguished son, Judge Holmes, were in the midst of a conversation in the poet's chamber just preceding the former's death, and to neither, certainly not to the jurist, was there any evidence that the end was so near. The conversation was such as was held between the two men daily.

Ideal Death.

The dying poet, for he was even then it seems passing away, was sitting in a chair with his head bowed on the arm of another chair and it was thought that he would be more comfortable if he could be moved into his favorite armchair, an old-fashioned piece of furniture with a winged back. Accordingly his son supported Dr. Holmes to the big chair, and as the poet sank into it he leaned his head on one of the side rests and said: "That is better, thank you." This simple domestic phrase was the final utterance of Dr. Holmes. His son and Mrs. Dixwell, who were in the room, soon noticed that the doctor's breathing became labored and almost immediately ceased altogether.

Dr. Holmes knew that he was going to die, said a friend of his, but he made no direct reference to it and expressed no wish beyond that contained in this significant conversation he held with his son, three or four days ago:

"Well, Wendell," said the doctor, "what is it—Kings chapel?"

"Oh, yes father," said Judge Holmes.

"All right, then I am satisfied. That is all I am going to say about it," said the doctor.

His passing away was an ideal one. There was no pain. It was as peaceful as was his life, said his friend. Judge Holmes summoned his wife, and the inanimate form of the "autocrat" was removed to a couch. Such is the simple story of the last hour of a life that was simplicity itself.

Dr. Holmes was down town as late as last Thursday, at the Parker house, making arrangements for the meeting of the Saturday club, and despite his great age and his bronchial affection he was in good spirits. During the summer, except for his asthmatic troubles, Dr. Holmes had been in remarkable good health.

The arrangements for the funeral are being made under the supervision of Dr. John Dixwell. The services are to take place in Kings chapel at noon, Wednesday, and Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., will officiate. Burial will be in the family lot at Mount Auburn. The services are to be of a semi-public nature, it is understood, although all the details have not been perfected. Cousins of Dr. Holmes will be the pallbearers.

The Saturday Club.

There is probably not a more exclusive club in Boston than the celebrated Saturday club, of which Dr. Holmes was one of the original members, and who for many years, until his death, was its president. The Saturday club was what might be called the result of the still more famous Atlantic club. The Atlantic Monthly had its origin in the Atlantic club which included at the time of its organization such men as Emerson, Longfellow, Lowell, Holmes, Underwood, E. Rockwood Hoar, Motley, Edmund Quincy and others, and this club formed for a number of years the most brilliant literary club of the new world. To this club the Saturday club had its origin. It was organized in 1857 by Horatio Woodman, and Dr. Holmes was one of its first members. The original members still living are Judge E. Rockwood Hoar, of Concord, and John M. Forbes, of Boston. The dinners of the clubs usually lasted into the early morning. Every one had something to say informally, and generally some of the greater lights of the club had something in particular to say.

At the last meeting of the club in June there were sixteen members present and Dr. Holmes presided in his brightest manner. Being the last meeting of the season there were naturally many little informal talks and reminiscences and at the conclusion good-byes were said for the summer.

Shortly afterwards Dr. Holmes was in the quietude of his country home at Beverly and nearly all the members of the club went away from the city in other quiet places. The good-byes that Dr. Holmes said to most of his old and younger associates at that dinner were his final adieus to them.

London Press Eulogy.

London, Oct. 9.—Justin McCarthy will have in Daily News a column of personal recollections of O. W. Holmes. He says: "I have never known anybody more lovable or, in his way, more gifted."

The News will say editorially: "We think it is as a poet that O. W. Holmes will live. His prose is full of a singular charm, yet the Protean changefulness of mood, so characteristic of his genius, finds more adequate expression in metre."

The Morning Post will say: "Englishmen will not soon forget it was O. W. Holmes' head that prompted the hand which wrote some of the most fervent words in which this country was ever apostrophized."

NEW YORKS WINNERS

Four Games End the Temple Cup Series.

Orioles Fail To Capture a Game and Must Also Be Content with 35 Per Cent. of the Receipts—New York Club's Profits About $22,000 After All Expenses Are Paid.

New York, Oct. 9.—The New Yorks have won the Temple cup and will receive 65 per cent. or about $22,000 after all expenses have been paid. The champion Baltimores were never in the game at the Polo grounds, and were badly thrashed. It was the New York's fourth consecutive victory, and 11,000 persons went wild with delight. Meekin pitched a magnificent game from the start to finish and but for errors by Fuller and Davis the champions would have been shut out. Hawke began pitching for Baltimore but after four innings, in which he was pounded hard, he gave way to Kid Gleason, who was very easy to find. In all, Ward's men rolled up twenty safe hits, Doyle, Van Haltren, Fuller and Farrell leading in the slaughter. Farrell caught superbly. Fuller also played good ball, barring a bad error in the first inning. In the sixth inning Van Haltren and Jennings collided at second base; Van's nose was badly bruised and Jennings was cut over the left eye. They had to give way to Murphy and Bonner, respectively, while physicians dressed their wounds. The Baltimores scored two runs in the first inning on Kelley's base on balls, Fuller's fumble of Keeler's grounder, Brouthers' out and McGraw's single. Burke scored a run for New York on his base on balls, a steal, Hawke's error and a wild pitch. In the third the visitors got another run on Davis' two errors, Brodie's out and Reitz's single. The New Yorks also made a run on hits by Meekin, Tiernan and Doyle. After the champions had been blanked in the fourth, Ward's men rolled up three runs and took the lead. Van Haltren, Fuller, Farrell and Meekin made singles, Burke sent a long fly to Brodie, and Fuller and Farrell worked in a double steal. Gleason took Hawke's place in the fifth inning and the New Yorks clinched the game. Davis got a base on balls, and took second on a wild pitch. He scored on Doyle's double, but Ward forced Doyle at third. Van Haltren got four balls and Fuller's single scored Ward. Van came in on Farrell's hit, while both Fuller and Farrell counted on Meekin's baser to centre. In the sixth Doyle made another run on his single and steal, an error by McGraw and Ward's out. The home team piled up five more runs in the seventh. With one out, Farrell singled and Meekin died to Brodie. Burke made a telling hit, sending Farrell to third and stealing second himself. Tiernan got a base on balls and Davis received another, forcing in Farrell. Doyle put a single in centre, bringing in both Burke and Tiernan. Ward's hit scored Davis, and Doyle ran in, too, on McGraw's failure to stop Brodie's throw to third. In the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth innings the visitors were helpless before Meekin, and when the New Yorks had been retired in their half of the eighth, the game was called on account of darkness. The score stood 16 to 3.

Van Haltren was presented with a silver bat as the result of a voting contest in a New York paper for the most popular player in either the New York or Brooklyn teams.

THIRTEEN WERE DROWNED.

Terrible Disaster in a Storm Near St. Kitts.

New York, Oct. 9.—The following dispatch has been received from St. Kitts, under date of Oct. 1:

A terrible disaster occurred in the harbor of Barreterre within a stone's throw of the shore, by which thirteen persons were drowned in the height of the storm of Sept. 20. One of the traders between St. Kitts and Nevis, in which were twenty-two passengers and crew, foundered.

Heroic efforts to rescue the struggling passengers were made in spite of the furious wind and sea, and those rescued from the illfated craft, as well as from other boats in distress, exceed largely the number drowned.

Those drowned lived in Nevis, with one exception.

No Meddling with Letters.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The statement that the letters of officials of the United States cruiser Charleston had been opened by the Japanese officials and that all communications passing through the mails are carefully scrutinized, is denied at the legation. A similar story was in circulation in San Francisco six weeks ago when the present minister passed through that city, and was then authoritatively denied by him. There is a provision in the new constitution of Japan which expressly prevents any interference with private letters, except in the most extreme cases.

Affairs in Madagascar.

Paris, Oct. 9.—The Matin publishes a letter from Deputy Deloncle in reference to affairs in Madagascar, in which he declares that Great Britain has loyally observed the conditions of the Madagascar convention of 1885. M. Deloncle expresses his conviction that England will not alter her policy in regard to Madagascar. The Figaro opposes the annexation of Madagascar on the ground that the expenditure involved would be very heavy and the advantages extremely doubtful.

Our Minister Warns Foreigners To Leave Pekin.

Warships Sighted Off Wei-Hai-Wei Steaming Westward — Rebellion Breaks Out in Jehol—Li Hung Slaps the Face of a Thieving Official—War Reporter from Washington.

London, Oct. 9.—A dispatch from Shanghai to the Central News says: Hon. Charles Denby, United States minister at Pekin, has warned the American residents in the Chinese capital that the city is certain to be attacked by the Japanese.

Minister Denby advises that all the ladies and children be sent at once to places of safety. Already many of the wealthier natives are departing, and many others are making preparations to follow their example.

A dispatch from Che-Foo to the Pall Mall Gazette says that seven Japanese warships were sighted off Wei-Hai-Wei, steaming westward.

The Globe publishes a dispatch from Tien-Tsin saying that the steamer Wen-Chow, which has just arrived there, reports that about ten miles south of Che-Foo she met the Japanese squadron. The Japanese flagship hailed the Wen-Chow and questioned her captain concerning the whereabouts of the Chinese southern squadron.

Vice Admiral Fremantle, commanding the British fleet in Chinese waters, telegraphs that when his command shall have been increased by three vessels he will have sufficient force at his disposal to carry out the instructions given him.

REBELLION AT JEHOL.

Li Hung Chang Slaps the Face of the Taotai of Tien-Tsin.

London, Oct. 9.—A dispatch to the Central News from Shanghai says a rebellion has broken out in Jehol, the seat of a celebrated imperial palace, 120 miles from Pekin.

A dispatch from Tien-Tsin reports that Sheng, the Taotai of that city, is in disgrace. It appears that Sheng had bought from Germany 300,000 discarded rifles, for which he paid two taels each and charged the government nine taels. He also bought a large quantity of cartridges which were found to be utterly useless. Li Hung Chang discovered the fraud and summoned Sheng to him. In the interview that followed Li Hung Chang is said to have slapped Sheng's face. Sheng later made application for leave of absence on the plea that he was ill, and the leave was granted.

An Official War Reported.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Secretary Herbert has approved the recommendation of Chief Naval Constructor Hichborn that an expert be sent to the seat of war between China and Japan, for the purpose of obtaining valuable technical information and reporting it for the benefit of the navy department. Assistant Naval Constructor Richmond P. Hobson, who volunteered for the duty, has been ordered to join Commodore Carpenter's staff at the scene of the war, and has arranged to leave Washington at once and sail from San Francisco on the steamer Gaelic, Oct. 16.

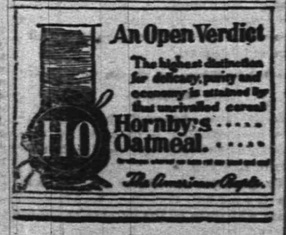
DISPENSARY LAW.

A Majority of the Supreme Court Declares It Constitutional.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 9.—The decision of the supreme court in the dispensary cases has just been filed. Justices Pope and Gary declare the law constitutional while Chief Justice McIver dissents. This was not unexpected. Justice Gary argues generally that the regulation of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors comes within the police power of the state and that the dispensary is such a regulation of the traffic; that there is no inherent right in any one to sell liquor and that being the case the state has a right to prohibit the sale altogether or to so control it as it deems best for the general welfare. Justice Pope assents to this in a long legal dissertion on the constitutionality of the act. Chief Justice McIver dissents and reiterates generally the positions taken by him when the law was declared unconstitutional last spring. The effect of the decision will be that Gov. Tillman will now begin an active warfare against "blind tigers," which have been flourishing without much molestation.

Anarchist French Feigns Insanity.

Barcelona, Oct. 9.—Salvador French, the anarchist, lying under sentence of death for exploding a bomb in the Liceo theatre last winter, has lately been feigning insanity. Yesterday he charged the prison chaplain with trying to poison him and showed his jailers a liquid which he said the priest had given him. Upon examination the liquid was found to be the yolk of an egg.



JOY AT NEW BEDFORD

Spinners and Mill Owners Reach an Agreement.

Work To Be Resumed Thursday on a Five Per Cent. Reduction of Wages and the Terms Finally Agreed on at Fall River To Prevail—End of a Period of Unusual Suffering.

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 9.—The biggest strike that New Bedford ever had is practically ended. The strike has lasted eight weeks, and during that time much more suffering has been endured by the idle operatives than will be ever known. The mills will start their machinery on Thursday morning and the operatives will flock into the gates in a happy frame of mind. During the past week they have suffered from lack of food and warmth. The committee appointed by the spinners on Friday last, consisting of Messrs. Ross, Rowan, Smith, Robinson, Hancock, Perrin and Barnes, met the mill treasurers at A. C. Pierce's office on North Water street. The conference began at 3 o'clock and lasted until 5:30. When the spinners' representatives came from the meeting the following was handed the reporter for the United Press by President Rowan, of the spinners' union:

"The spinners, in conference with the mill treasurers, mutually agreed that the spinners of this city go back to work on a reduction of 5 per cent. in wages, with the understanding that whatever final settlement is made at Fall River shall also apply here."

Immediately after the meeting of the two bodies the spinners proceeded to Spiners hall, where the conference committee of the various labor organizations were in waiting to hear the result of the conference. The meeting was immediately called to order by Chairman Connolly. The proceedings of the conference with the manufacturers was gone over and after quite a discussion the representatives of the various unions retired and discussed the advisability of accepting the agreement. In a few moments the representatives reconvened and practically agreed to go to work. The spinners' committee agreed that if the mill treasurers would not agree to take all the operatives back under the agreement that they would not go in themselves, but it is said there will be no trouble on that score as this was the understanding at the conference with the manufacturers.

The operatives about town are feeling very jubilant. It is learned that the places of the operatives who have left the city on account of strike will be kept for one week after the mills resume operations. This was a condition imposed on the mill treasurers by the spinners' committee. Many operatives who have left the city will no doubt take the opportunity to return. One of the manufacturers was seen after the meeting and said that the agreement contained all the particulars of the conference. He said the meeting was very harmonious and he spoke of the representatives of the spinners as smart men. For his part, he said, he was glad the matter was settled. He was asked if the weavers were going to work with the rest of the unions and he replied: "The weavers should have less fault to find than any of the other unions for they have been cut the least. Their cut will amount to only about 1 per cent. on an average."

"Will they be furnished with particulars, if they ask for them?" was asked.

"Why they have about all they want now," was the answer, and the mill manager would say no more.

TOO GOOD JOBS TO LOSE.

New York Police Officers Want To Get Back on the Force.

New York, Oct. 9.—Ex-Police Captain Michael Doherty and wardmen Bernard Meehan and John Hoch, who were recently dismissed from the force and are seeking through certiorari proceedings a vindication in the supreme court, are anxious to have their cases disposed of as quickly as possible, in the hope that the accusations that have been made against them may be proved unjustifiable, and the courts may restore them to their respective positions on the force. No returns in either of their cases to the writs of certiorari have been made, and only last week the time within which the commissioners were to file the returns was extended for twenty days, so that it would be the last of this month before the returns would be filed in any event should that extension stand. The ex-captain and wardmen applied to Justice Lawrence in the superior court to vacate the order extending the time of the commissioners twenty days, from Sept. 27, within which to file the returns to the writs and their motion was granted.

CHARITY FREELY TESTED.

Financial Aid for the Fall River Strikers.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 9.—The eighth week of the strike is on. The city is still orderly and the charity of all who can give is being tested freely. The letter carriers have contributed 2,500 loaves of bread to the poor and the United Friends' Social club gave away 500 dinners last evening. The free soup distributions are going on and more than 2,000 persons are being fed daily in this way. Secretaries Ross, of New Bedford, and Howard, of this city, left in the Fall River line boat last evening for New York to meet Samuel Gompers and arrange for regular support for members of the National Mule Spinners' association. The weavers executive committee will meet to arrange for the distribution of $4,000 among 3,000 members.

Woolen Business Picking Up.

Rockville, Conn., Oct. 9.—Reports from manufacturing towns in eastern Connecticut show a slight improvement in the woolen business. The big woolen mills of the city are all running full time on small orders. Many looms have recently been started at other places.

Ferdinand Ward's Son.

Thompson, Conn., Oct. 9.—In the case of Ferdinand Ward's son, whose father lately attempted to kidnap him, the court decided that Connecticut is young Ward's legal home. The case will probably be appealed.

GEORGE E. PACE,
Chairman County Ex. Com.

The way to make your primary go your way is to go your way to the primary.

Whatever your politics, you find the news of your party first and fullest recorded in The Daily Press.

Get out your bunting, lanterns and red fire. The brave fire laddies parade tomorrow night. Show your appreciation of their faithful service.

J. A. Smith is suggested as Democratic candidate for Assembly. Mr. Smith is a progressive young business man with a level head, and would be a clean and popular candidate. The primaries tonight can do no better than favor him with delegates.

Plainfield Democrats have an opportunity tonight to assert themselves. Attention to primaries is a fundamental principle to success. If any differences are to be adjusted, the primary is the place for settlement. Plainfield Democrats owe to themselves the duty of attending their primaries tonight.

While local and county Republican politicians fume and fuss over the lack of harmony among their members, and over the varying sectional differences of the district, The Daily Press continues to give promptly and exclusively all the news developing from the strife.

How mad it makes the jealous Republican organs to be beaten in their own territory!

The news of Hotel Netherwood's financial collapse had been in the possession of The Daily Press for weeks, but publication was deferred in the hope that Mr. Miller would be able to adjust matters and be given a chance to retrieve himself next season, and in the knowledge that its sleepy contemporaries would not stumble upon knowledge of how affairs stood.

Not until the appointment yesterday of a receiver to wind up Mr. Miller's affairs, did The Press regretfully give to the world the news of Mr. Miller's ruin.

That it was the only paper that had that news was a matter of course.

It is ever so, with most important tidings.

The Daily Press, alone in Plainfield, is up to time every day.

Mc'Bride's Codding Way.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

The editor of the Plainfield Press is a good man at a guess, and though he may not have a "pure white smile", he is a Democrat without guile. Here is what he has to say about Bro. McBride's "mad-love" way:

Editor McBride of the Elizabeth Journal is madly in love with C. N. Codding of Westfield and writes in raptures of his gold eye-glasses and pure white smile. Ever since McBride, Codding and Voorhees had that camping party in the Maine woods, the editorial columns of the Journal have been girlishly gushing, and the cream of the gooey has been directed at the gentleman with "the pure white smile".

—Justice Newcorn has issued an execution in the case of Roberts against Hulett for $24 27.

ELIZABETH IS GREEDY.

Tries to Force Plainfield Out of the Race.

WILL LOCAL REPUBLICANS STAND IT?

Desperate Charge That Candidate Anthony, Unanimously Endorsed by the Second Ward Republicans, Is a Democratic Meddler!

Elizabeth wants her own way in the Republican Congressional Convention of this district, and since reading the Plainfield Daily Press she is afraid she isn't going to have it.

Elizabeth Republicanism has been bossing Plainfield Republicanism a long time. It sent a delegation to Plainfield Saturday night, as foretold and chronicled exclusively in The Daily Press, to arrange that Plainfield present no candidate for Congressman in the forthcoming convention but instead throw her strength to Fowler, Elizabeth's candidate.

Elizabeth knew that Mayor Gilbert had been prominently named as a candidate, and that he could not arrange his business so as to run. So she very cutely said "Gilbert's the man you ought to send to Congress from Plainfield. Save him for next time, help us get Fowler through now, and we'll help you when your turn comes next".

Such an arrangement, it is believed, was agreed on, among the few who consented Saturday to meet Mr. Rankin and Mr. Fowler, and to judge from the delegates last night elected the First and Third wards are likely to work for Fowler.

But the Second Ward Republicans are alert. They realize that Elizabeth has been making promises to Plainfield for many years, and that Elizabeth said at the start of this campaign "Plainfield owns the congressional nomination this year if she wants it, but she must take it now or go without henceforth". So they have refused to be bound by the ring dictation, and independently last night declared themselves for James L. Anthony.

Indeed, the Elizabethan emissaries at the Country Club Saturday night found that Mr. Anthony had unexpected strength here and that Plainfield would not be solid for Fowler unless some sharp work was done.

In their extremity they turned to their able advocate, Editor McBride of The Journal, whose ability to twist campaign facts to suit the designs of the party managers is only equaled by his ability to give straight facts in his new columns.

And they got that skilful penman to write a persuasive though somewhat illtempered editorial seeking to prove that Mr. Anthony's boom was not Republican but Democratic!

Read for yourself. This is from Mr. McBride's paper of last evening:

THE CONGRESSIONAL SITUATION.

On Saturday last a gentleman from Plainfield, Mr. Bowen by name, son of the respected editor of the New York Independent, called at the Journal office and announced that James L. Anthony of Plainfield had decided to become a candidate for Congress in this district.

Inasmuch as Plainfield Republicans had declared, again and again, that they had no candidate for this nomination, it seemed exceedingly strange that two days before the primaries were held a man should be sprung upon the people in this manner, and an investigation was at once instituted.

In the first place the Saturday issues of the Republican papers of Plainfield were consulted. The News had not a single word with reference to the newly discovered candidate. The Courier, in its leading editorial, distinctly declared: "There is no Plainfield man in the field for office this year," and went on to say further that "It is generally conceded that the Elizabeth men who are likely to be named are in every way desirable candidates for the various positions to which they aspire."

Next, the Democratic paper, The Daily Press, was searched, and an article was found which let the cat out of the bag. It said, after throwing mud at some Elizabeth men, that since the suggestion had been made by The Press "the movement of nominating Mr. Anthony is growing in town."

So that the nomination of Mr. Anthony was simply a Democratic suggestion.

After this, personal inquiry was made of the leading Republicans in Plainfield, and with one accord they declared that Plainfield had no candidate.

In addition to this it was ascertained that Mr. Bowen, who had this boom in charge, was a member of a tariff reform Democratic organization.

How far Mr. Anthony has consented to this is not at present known. He is a resident of Netherwood—not of Plainfield—a gentleman of means and of acknowledged ability, and, so far as can be ascertained, is a man who, under favorable conditions, might advantageously be selected as a Republican standard-bearer. It is by no means to his discredit if he has political ambitions, but to permit Democratic meddlers to thrust him into the caucus at this time, when his own part of the county, which has acknowledged rights, declared they had no candidate, was calculated to create disturbance. There were indeed some Republicans who believed it to be a scheme to divide up the Union County delegation for the purpose of throwing the nomination into Essex County.

From all these facts we feel fully warranted in saying that Mr. Anthony's candidacy is not endorsed by the Plainfield Republicans, and that Mr. Fowler, Mr. Griffen and Mr. Barrett are the only gentlemen who will come prominently before the convention. And thus far, as before stated, Mr. Fowler seems to have the majority of the Union County delegates, with strong probability of securing the nomination.

The Journal editorial proves two things:

First, that the Daily Press is the accepted oracle of Plainfield and vicinity.

Second, that even so great a journalist as Mr. McBride can sometimes get cross and lose his head.

Mr. McBride's pretty deceits that The Press did any mud-slinging, and that Mr. Anthony is a Democratic factor in the Republican contest, are intended to stir the anger of Elizabeth Republicans into altogether repudiating Plainfield's claims to the nomination.

If The Journal states truly that Mr. Bowen is manager for Mr. Anthony's candidacy, then Mr. Anthony's candidacy is in clever and powerful hands. Mr. Bowen comes from a stanch Republican family, and has done leal service for the Republican party in New Jersey and in Brooklyn, where as local manager of The Mail and Express he forcibly crusaded against the Democracy. His Republicanism is proved by the fact that at the primary in the Second ward last night he was given a higher vote than any other congressional delegate elected.

Mr. Anthony's Republicanism is likewise established. His activity in campaigns to date is known well to all Plainfield. He is not a resident of Netherwood, but instead has lived for years on Putnam avenue.

It is amusing to read that Mr. Anthony is not indorsed by Plainfield Republicans, in face of the fact that Mr. Anthony was unanimously endorsed by the Second Ward Republican voters in primary assembled last night.

The Journal, in its wrath that Plainfield should presume to have a candidate, seeks to blind its readers, and is simply urging Elizabeth on in the scheme to take away from Plainfield the nominating privilege.

How long are Plainfield Republicans going to submit to the party dictation of Elizabeth?

If this year, then forever!

CYCLING COMMENT.

Wm. McCutchen and E. T. Hand were the Plainfielders to bring home prizes from the races at Spotswood Saturday. McCutchen was second in the boys race, and Hand first in the novice.

At the special meeting of the Crescent Governors last evening it was decided that a club 25-mile road race be run next Friday afternoon, starting at 3. All of the details of the race were left to J. A. Haynes, T. J. Carey and E. A. Meeker, the committee appointed. They will select the course, which will probably be arranged so as to start and finish in Plainfield, and handicap the club members who enter. It is on the programme that the world's record is to be broken by Monte Scott. Tandem pacemakers will be engaged.

THE MEDAL AWARDED.

CHAMPION SERRELL GIVEN THE DAILY PRESS PRIZE.

Other News of the High School—Class Election—A Mouse Invades the Latin Class.

Pupils of the High School gathered yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the P. H. S. A. A. to witness the awarding of the prizes won at the field-day exercises.

Charles B. Morse, '95, as chairman of the prize committee, presided, and presented the prizes with individual remarks of congratulation.

After the first and second prizes for each event were given, a letter from The Daily Press commending the students both for their devotion to athletics and for their scholarly attention to their books.

Then Edgar I. Serrell '95 was called up, and, after a few remarks, Morse presented him with The Daily Press medal and proclaimed him all-round champion of the High School, as he had scored the greatest number of points at the field day of last Satuday. Although he is a great athlete, Serrell is the pink of modesty, and declined to address his friends, despite the applause and loud calls of Speech! Speech! The handsome medal was greatly admired, and the victor was warmly congratulated.

The class of '96 held a class meeting last Thursday afternoon for the purpose of getting matters ready for Winter work. The election of officers was held, resulting as follows: President—Lewis Rand; Vice-President—Miss Alice Thompson; Secretary and Treasurer—F. Wilbur Cornwell; Historian—Miss Annie Carl; Poet—H. Oscar Nightingale; Artist—Miss Clyde Burnett; Orator—H. Morton Pierson; Prophet—Miss Elizabeth Cahoone.

Miss H. Elizabeth Allis was elected editor of the class paper, and will select her assistants. The executive committee was elected and consists of Miss Alice Thompson, Miss Mary Hull, F. Wilbur Cornwell. The programme committee for the next meeting is composed of Miss Eva Dayton, Miss Sallie Swayze, Miss Alice Thompson.

The French classes have commenced work for the year. The advance class consists of Miss Valentine Chandor, Miss Katherine Baxter and F. Wilbur Cornwell. The students who begin French this term are Miss Edith L. Burt, Miss Grace E. Overton, Miss Eleanor T. Van-Deventer and the Misses Miller.

Principal Maxson has commenced his regular Friday morning talks, and last week gave us a short address on Japan, its early history, and something of its peculiarities.

The declamations by the members of the Senior and Junior classes which take place during the chapel exercises, commence this week. That's the disadvantage of being a Senior or Junior, and this feature is dreaded by most of the boys in both classes.

The cadet corps has lost its captain, and we all are sorry because Llewellyn Bull '96 has left school. The Lyceum loses its secretary and one of its best workers, and the P. H. S. A. A. will sadly miss him. First Lieutenant V. T. Green is now in command of the drill, and keeps the company in better condition than ever.

At the last meeting of the Kappa Delta Phi the programme consisted of a reading by Carl C. Gallup, '96, upon the early political history of David B. Hill and his present standing in the political world. Owing to the large amount of business to be transacted, the curiosity talk, prepared for the meeting, was dispensed with. According to the constitution, all the officers except the president are elected every two months, while the president is elected every month. Carl C. Gallup, '96, was unanimously chosen president for October. A public meeting for the last part of November and a High School newspaper were among the important business discussed; a large number of applications for membership was received.

Already the boys are talking of a great field-day in the Spring open to students from all the schools in New Jersey. If the scheme is carried out the meeting will be the greatest of its kind ever held in Plainfield.

The Bicycling Division hopes to run tomorrow to Bound Brook and Somerville. For next Saturday, a number of the High School boys are preparing to take an all-day bicycle trip among the Oranges.

Excitement was caused yesterday morning in the beginners Latin class, by the sudden appearance of a mouse which scampered across the room to the terror of the girls and the delight of the boys. He afterwards paid a visit to several boys who remained in Assembly Hall after the P. H. S. A. A. meeting, but disappeared when they attempted to catch it.

Odd Fellows to Lunch With Them.

The committee of the Daughters of Rebekah met last evening to make final arrangements for the State Convention of Daughters of Rebekah to be held in this city on Thursday of this week. Invitation to lunch on the evening of that day was sent to members of both lodges of Odd Fellows of this city, and after receiving the expression of pleasure of the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Sheppard, the committee adjourned to await the pleasure of the arrival of the grand officers and delegates.

Special to Wives of Members of Odd Fellows.

Ladies, your husbands have been invited to a reception to be given in connection with the State Convention, Daughters of Rebekah.

To you the Daughters of Rebekah tender a cordial invitation to come and lunch with them on the evening of Thursday of this week, about 9 o'clock.

PASTELS IN PROSE.

I

"My dear,"—said the North Plainfield man to his loving wife, as he sate himself at his frugal supper—"we shall have to call in that motto over the sideboard"

"Why, John!"—she replied, with tears in her eyes—"What do you mean? Is it not a beautiful sentiment?"

"It was, my love;"—he returned quickly—"it was; but it don't go now."

The little housewife turned and affectionately scanned the worsted-worked legend that was framed upon the wall—her own hands had worked it and her own kisses had blessed it. She bent her head—and sobbed.

"Oh, John, John,"—she cried, the tears falling upon her fair cheeks,—"to think that it would come to this—and from you, too."

"Well, it's hard, I know,"—he answered—"but What Is Home Without a Mother? has got to go!" He stirred his coffee thoughtfully—"What Is Home Without a Burglar? is the proper thing just now."

Reaching for the beefsteak, he carved it carefully.

The superintendent of the lunatic asylum escorted the stranger from cell to cell and exhibited the many deplorable cases in his charge.

"This"—he said at length—"is the worst specimen I have ever encountered."

The stranger peered through the grated door, shuddering perceptibly.

"Why, so?"—he asked—"The patient appears docile."

"Yes:"—replied the doctor—"it is a very peculiar case."

What"—inquired the stranger—"is his mania?"

"He is a North Plainfield man"—returned the other, sadly,—"who imagines that he can see electric lamps actually lighted in the streets of nights."

With a sigh of pity they moved away.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

UNWHOLESOME DESIRE FOR GAIN EXCITED BY LOTTERY CHANCES.

A Plainfield Lawyer Emphasizes the Charge of Justice VanSyckel Concerning Gambling at Fairs.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—I desire, as a citizen of this State, to express my appreciation of the services which have been done the public by the admirable charge given to the Union County Grand Jury by Justice VanSyckel.

While the newspaper accounts say one of the items related by him occurred in North Plainfield and hence in a place outside of the jurisdiction of the Union County Grand Jury, yet, as two fairs were in progress in Plainfield during the same week, everybody in this city could see that his remarks were also directly applicable to the state of affairs in this county.

Independently of the immediate application, "chances" have become a matter of such growing proportions, during the past few years, that it is time the ministers in their pulpits and judges on the bench take up the question and see that gambling is discountenanced, as well in the church or society fair as on the race-track.

Gambling is of one ilk wherever and however practiced. The boys and girls who go along the streets selling chances are exciting the unwholesome desires of men and women to obtain something for nothing and to enrich themselves by the loss of other's contributions, which is the basis of all gambling. And in any event, it is directly contrary to the established law of this State.

One worthy Chief Justice long ago laid down the law, at the Mercer Circuit, that the selling of chances was a lottery, under whatever guise it was done, and sustained an indictment found. The first time the Union County Grand Jury shall indict somebody for the same transaction in this county, it will be found that the law will be upheld, and there can be no successful defense. A LAWYER.

This Burglar a Nightmare.

Charles Thompson awoke last night at the home of T. H. Keller, 307 East Front street, and thought he saw a burglar leave by way of the window. The household was aroused, but no traces of a burglar were seen. The window in question is a narrow one and was locked at the time, so it is thought a dream was the cause of the excitement.

HUFF'S INHERITANCE.

He's Waiting Placidly for the Millions Yet to Come.

BOUGHT A HOUSE ON EXPECTATION

Going to Take Capt. Martin to Europe When His Ship Comes In—His Career in Plainfield, and How He Says His Fortune Was Made.

(From The Herald of Today.)

There is a quiet little man in New Jersey who allowed it to leak out about two years ago that a millionaire whom he befriended during illness had died in California and bequeathed to him a fortune of $4,000,000.

The quiet little man in question is John S. Huff, who lives in Rahway with his sister, Mrs. Groves of 51 Central avenue, or in Plainfield at Mrs. Neighbor's Watchung avenue boarding house, as the fancy seizes him.

When John Huff allowed this tale of sudden fortune to leak out it ran rapidly through Rahway and Plainfield, and gave to the man who "did chores" in former days a new standing among the tradesmen.

Mr. Huff has not yet come into millions, and yet Mr. Huff has bought real estate and given richly to religious institutions—in the honeyed words of fair promises.

Disturbed by efforts to secure the inheritance which, he says, has been kept from him by unjust litigation, Huff has not worked for a living for a long time, and yet there are few persons who know him in Plainfield and Rahway who scoff at his story.

BOUGHT A $13,000 HOUSE.

John Huff, quiet man that he is, told his story to J. T. Vail, a Plainfield real estate man, and bought a $13,000 house from him, to be paid for when he got possession of his money. That was in 1891. Mr. Vail showed me the contract yesterday, but the owner after waiting a year for further evidence of Mr. Huff's wealth, sold the house to another man. Mr. Huff paid nothing, yet Mr. Vail is very careful to say that he never doubted the quiet man's motives.

John Huff's sister in Rahway is poor, and the quiet man, who was often in Plainfield, sought another home. He told his inheritance story to Mrs. Neighbor, who has a boarding house. That, too, was more than a year ago. She offered him food and shelter without pay until he secured his fortune. Mr. Huff accepted.

Sometimes, she says, she loaned money to him. He accepted that, too. It was little. In time he promised to raise the mortgage on her house. She has not yet lost heart. Perhaps it is because some of the eager persons who wish to assist Mr. Huff in caring for the money he hasn't got yet offered to lend him money on his story, and he declined all such propositions.

There are other persons whose faith, seemingly, is as strong. Mr. Huff has asked Captain Frank Martin, of the Plainfield Wheelmen, to accompany him to Europe when he gets his money, and Mr. Martin is authority for the statement that Mr. Huff has already secured a few paltry thousands.

William Stewart, superintendent of the Woman's Temperance Union Building, told me yesterday that he didn't know much about the details, but Mr. Huff is a good Methodist and a man of probity.

Mr. Huff was not in Plainfield yesterday, and Mrs. Neighbor thought he was in Philadelphia fighting for his millions, against the only man who still refuses to admit his sole right to the property.

HUFF'S STORY OF WEALTH.

Plainfield generally believes that John Huff once nursed a young California millionaire. Charles Easthoff, through an attack of typhoid fever, and that Easthoff, dying afterward in the far West, made Huff his sole heir.

The story which Mr. Huff told to Mrs. Neighbor was different. Once upon a time, Mrs. Neighbor's story runs, John Huff, who had climbed over the Watchung Mountains into Plainfield, "did chores" for Mrs. Josephine Pike for five years. Then he worked for Dr. Geraud, a Plainfield physician, drove his horse and picked up a little knowledge of medicine.

While he was driving the Doctor's horse the Doctor had for a patient a California millionaire named Easthoff. The rich man's son, Charles, who was then a boy of twelve, became attached to Huff, rode with him frequently, visited him afterward, and once gave him $500.

The boy's father and mother died suddenly—heart disease, Mr. Huff told Mrs. Neighbor, and Charles, their sole heir, was pledged not to bequeath any of his money to his only living relative, an uncle. Young Easthoff traveled continually, and occasionally visited Huff or entertained him in Philadelphia or Washington.

He died in California a few years ago of heart disease, and Mr. Huff received a letter one day informing him that he was Charles Easthoff's sole heir.

KEPT OUT OF HIS MONEY.

Then came the uncle to whom, Mr. Huff says, Easthoff was to bequeath nothing, and contested the will. As to the details of the litigation, the court in which the case is being tried, the names of the lawyers and executors, Mr. Huff has been reticent.

Mrs. Neighbor says the lawyers had agreed to give him $35,000 only a short time ago, but, as the uncle succeeded in preventing such action for the time. Mr. Huff, who has needed money badly at times, thought it wise to keep the details to himself. His boarding mistress and benefactor says he has received only enough money to pay his expenses to and from Philadelphia, in addition to Easthoff's gold watch, diamond ring, diamond collar button, silk umbrella and clothing, all of which were forwarded to him from California.

The delay in Mr. Huff's progress toward wealth has worried individuals, too. When Elder Benjamin Hand gave up contracting and established the First Church of Christ he was convinced that Mr. Huff was going to put the congregation on its feet, financially. Elder Hand has become a baker's agent since that time. There was some talk, too, of a $5,000 organ for a Rahway church, but the organ never came.

Mrs. Neighbor thinks these promises to religious institutions exist only in the minds of those who have been ready to pledge Mr. Huff to good deeds on the strength of his prospective wealth.

One man asked for $1,000 to pay for the cultivation of his daughter's voice. An old lady from Brooklyn called upon Mr. Huff and attempted to embrace him, saying that he was her long-lost son. The quiet little man said the only mother he had died long ago.

Mrs. Neighbor, to sum up, says she does n't know how much money Mr. Huff inherited, but he will be rich as soon as he has silenced the uncle.

Plainfield knows nothing except what Mr. Huff has told, but it has seen his watch, his diamonds, his bicycle suit and some large amounts of money, and it wonders.

OFFICIAL CHANGE NOV. 1.

That's the Date Set for the Netherwood Postal Transfer.

Postmaster John M. Hetfield has received official notice that the Netherwood postoffice is to be abolished and the free delivery system extended to that district.

The change will be made Nov. 1, when one of the more experienced letter-carriers will be transferred to the new territory and a substitute put on in his place. Mr. Hetfield will soon go over the district to decide how many mail-boxes will be necessary. The Netherwood carrier will be mounted.

TO UTILIZE THE SPRING.

It Will Be Diverted from a Sewer Hindrance to a Sewer Help.

Having 400 feet of eighteen-inch pipe on hand, Cook & Co. have transferred operations on the sewers from Ninth street to Grant avenue, beginning at the corner of Third street.

It is now thought advisable not to extend the drain tile from Watchung avenue and Ninth street to Cedar Brook by way of Third place. Instead the water from the spring will be run to the corner of Third place and there turned into the sewer to flush.

Frances Willard Refutes Slander.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—

Will you please contradict the two latest misstatements that I have left the Prohibition party, and that I recently drank wine at Chautauqua? Both are as false as a gambler's word or a drunkard's joy.

While it is true that I warmly sympathize with the labor movement, and have done so from the beginning, my efforts have always been to aid in bringing about a better understanding between the two new political movements, which have so much in common that I hope yet to see them more closely united in their work.

As to the second written invention, namely, about Chautauqua, these are the facts: A teetotal Doctor of Divinity gave Lady Henry Somerset and me each a specimen bottle of grape-juice, (unfermented wine, as strictly non-alcoholic as so much lemonade would have been); which we tested at a table where we were seated with other White-Ribbon friends. That is all there is in it, and I feel sure that my comrades will procure the insertion of this brief statement in the local papers of their various communities.

Believe me, yours for total abstinence and total Prohibition,

FRANCES E. WILLARD.

MADE LIFE A BURDEN.

MISS CRAWFORD.

MISS G. F. CRAWFORD, of Limestone, Me., writes: "For years I suffered monthly from periodic pains which at times were so acute as to render life a burden. I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I used seven bottles in as many months and derived so much benefit from it and the home treatment recommended in his Treatise on Diseases of Women, that I wish every woman throughout our land, suffering in the same way, may be induced to give your medicines and treatment a fair trial."

"Favorite Prescription" is a powerful, invigorating tonic and a soothing and strengthening nervine, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and vigor. For every "female complaint," it is the only remedy so sure that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't cure, you have your money back.

Leonard Hyson and friend Mr. Reise of New York spent Saturday afternoon with Miss Parse of Front street.

The Registry Board began work today by canvassing for the voters of the Township. See that your name gets on the registry list.

Miss Sadie Johnston of Park avenue gave a party to her school friends last Friday from 4 to 8. A good time was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Stout of Mountain avenue has been having the large yard around her home graded and turned into a lawn. It is quite an improvement.

The Baptist church has added a smaller platform to preach from in front of the large pulpit. Pastor Braker likes to be near his congregation.

Pastor Braker's summons to the little ones Sunday morning are growing in interest with the children. Last Sunday morning's sermon to them was on "Nails."

The people are anxiously awaiting the town meeting when the Traction Company ordinance comes up. Nearly all are in favor of granting the franchise.

The Sunday-school rally of the Baptist Church held Sunday evening was a success, and great credit is due the superintendent and teachers for the showing the school made.

Norman Dunn of Mountain avenue has accepted a position in New York city, so he was obliged to resign from the Registry Board. James Goodman was appointed to fill the vacancy.

The Baptist church has fixed the sidewalks along its property on Park avenue with a covering of coarse cinders which is hard on shoe leather, but when packed will make a good walk.

The Scotch Plains Republican primary to elect delegates to the county and congressional conventions to be held in Elizabeth Oct. 11 and 23, was held at Excelsior Hall. John Robison, chairman of the last meeting, being sick, L. W. Miller, member of the county committee, called the meeting to order and was elected chairman by acclamation. Next in order was the election of secretary. W. B. Noble was nominated and elected. The call for the meeting was read by the secretary and they proceeded to nomination for delegates to the congressional convention. Wm. R. Terry and A. D. Beeken (2 delegates allowed) were nominated and elected with power to appoint their own alternates in case they could not attend. Next in order was the election of four delegates to the county convention to be held on the 23d. Col. C. [illegible] Moore, A. P. Downer and Wm. C. Strong of Fanwood, and Randolph Drake of Scotch Plains were nominated and elected. Alternates, W. R. Buckley, W. H. Traynor, John Robison and Dr. F. W. Westcott. The delegates were instructed to go unpledged in regard to the nominees, but pledged to the following motion: "That the sense of this meeting is opposed to anything that will bring sectarianism into politics" (meaning the A. P. Association). Quite a discussion was held on this motion, but was finally passed. A motion was made and carried to adjourn. There was no excitement or speaking only on the motion.

What at Love's.

The Monroe Doctrine, America for Americans, should never be forgotten. We add to it in the same spirit Plainfield for the people of Plainfield. Let us all spend every dollar here among our own people that we possibly can, and so build up our beautiful city. Where then in Plainfield shall we buy our wall-paper? At Love's, corner of Watchung and North avenues. Love designs and engraves many of the patterns he sells. He keeps on hand an immense assortment of 30,000 pieces. He employs the finest skill in paper-hanging, and keeps on hand nothing but the pure material in paints, oils, glass and lead.

Expert in Furs.

In the International Fur Store, 114 Park avenue, Plainfield is provided with an establishment where the latest styles and best qualities of furs are to be obtained, and just now the prices are all marked down, making splendid bargains. Manager Karet is in personal charge, and the service to patrons is prompt and courteous. If new furs are not wanted, perhaps you'd like your old furs nicely dressed.

—A regular monthly meeting of the C. Y. M. L. will be held this evening. The business of the fair will be considered.

HELPING THE NEEDY.

What the Relief Accomplishes in Plainfield.

WILLING SUPPLIED WITH WORK.

These Are the Annual Reports Read at the Recent Annual Meeting of the Plainfield Relief Association.

During the past year the demands made upon the Relief Association for work and aid of various kinds have been so much greater than at any previous time, that the Association would have been unable to meet them had it not been for generous financial help. We are greatly indebted to the committee having charge of the "Citizens Fund" for the relief of the poor for a very generous appropriation, amounting to $1,[illegible], which enabled us to pursue our work uninterruptedly during the Winter. But for this the probability is that our treasury would have been exhausted and our work of relief suspended for the season. Besides this sum, an extra amount was raised by a special call, made to the churches and individuals. This enabled the Association to furnish a large amount of work, and to help many who otherwise had no means of support.

Early in the Winter, after continued earnest efforts, an organized charity association was formed under the name of the "Citizens' Organized Aid Association". This association, and that of the Relief, have co-operated in every respect. The agent of the Citizens' Organized Aid Association makes the first investigation in any case, before the Relief furnishes aid, and so promptly has this been done that help is given within 24 hours from the time of application.

The number of applicants were so numerous it was necessary to increase the corps of visitors. About forty ladies very kindly consented to act in this capacity. In February and March there were more applicants for help than at any other time. Aid was given to over 162 families during the Winter, 70 being the largest number receiving assistance at any one time. There were eighteen or twenty cases carried through the Summer, besides occasional help to those who could not sew in payment. Also some private cases were assisted, whose names are not entered in the record book, as their financial difficulties were only temporary.

The nationalities of the different families who have received help from the Association the past year are as follows:—Americans, 40; Irish, 31; Colored, 34; German, 11; English, 9; Scotch, 2; Swedish, 2; Canadian, 1; Italian, 1.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Number of parcels of second-hand clothing given out 157; amount of new garments given gratuitously $34.36; number received sewing 105; number of garments given out to be made 3,022.

SEWING CLASS.

The Sewing Class formerly known as the Mothers Class, numbering sixteen women, completed one hundred and twenty-six garments, in their weekly meetings from November to April. For each garment finished, they receive credit, until they have sufficient to pay for a new garment for themselves. While sewing, they are read to by the lady in charge of the class. A tea is donated every week, by different ladies of the Board of Managers.

The Thanksgiving dinners were given out in accordance with the usual custom. The donations from the Public Schools which Mr. Maxson gave to the Association for distribution, were very generous, and a great help in this work. About ninety three families were supplied, probably three hundred individuals in all.

SEA SHORE TICKETS.

There were six persons sent to the sea shore this Summer.

The Relief Association has had unusual pressure brought to bear upon it the past year, by its constant demands, on our almost depleted treasury. Should this pressure continue, the prompt and generous aid, given by our many former friends and patrons, will be greatly needed the coming year. From past experience we feel confident that the means will not be wanting, whenever the need is most imperative.

EDITH ALLEN,
Secretary.

MARY K. JOBS,
Assistant Secretary.

The work of the Benefit Society has been continued during the year, but with only partial success, owing to the hard times. As the majority of the members had immediate use for every penny that could be earned, there was little or none to save, consequently the collections decreased greatly, also the membership. Those who had been so provident to save during more prosperous times had a little fund to draw upon, and for these as well as for the improvident ones, the sad experiences of the past year must have been a forcible demonstration of the value of putting something by for a rainy day.

In the Boys Club 76 of the boys joined the Society, but a very few saved with any regularity. One boy of 10 from the sale of newspapers saved $5 which enabled him to open a bank account. Collections were also made in the Loyal Legion, 26 of the children becoming members.

The Society numbers at present 170 members; 24 have individual bank accounts.

The treasurer's report is viz:

Balance on hand Oct. 1, '93	$235.65
Total collections to date Sept. 24, '94	786.20
	$1,011.25
Total amount withdrawn	$212.75
Deposited to the credit of individual bank accounts	641.16
	$853.91

THE WORKING GIRL.

Miss Sallie Palmer Gives Some Suggestions to Girls About Backache, Faintness, and Dizziness.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Did you ever notice working girls on their way home from stores or factories? Did you notice how many of them had pale cheeks, dull eyes, and heavy steps? and did you wonder why they were not ruddy and bright?

MISS SALLIE PALMER.

The story which is told by Miss Sallie Palmer, of Nicetown, Pa., gives the reason for this sad condition of many working girls.

Sometimes their back and sides will ache terribly. They are faint and dizzy with pain and weight in the lower part of their stomach. They watch the clock, and wish that the day would end, as they feel so ill and tired.

Standing all day, week in and week out, they have slowly drifted into woman's great enemy, displacement of the womb. That, or some other derangement of the organ, causes irregularity or suspension of the "monthly periods," bloating, flooding, or nervous prostration.

"Take warning in time," she says; "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the surest and safest remedy in the world for you."

A THRILLING TALE.

TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE IN THE COAL REGIONS.

A Life is Saved by a Most Timely Interference—A Person Who Knew Just What to Do and Did Not Hesitate.

There is no happier or more surprised person than Mr. Peter W. Meredith, of 338 West Savory street, Palo Alto, Schuylkill Co., Pa. He has been at death's door and knows how to value life and health. He suffered the most frightful agonies from dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach and neuralgia.

When the stomach is weak or diseased the blood becomes bad, the nerves weak, the kidneys, liver and bowels inactive and the whole system is soon out of order. Complete prostration often follows such conditions. The following letter from Mr. Meredith will explain the surest way to recover your health:

"I had been sick for the past 6 months with dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach and neuralgia of the chest. I was in dreadful misery and suffered most intense pain. The agony I endured was terrible. I thought to put an end to my life and sufferings, for I was a burden to my family and myself.

"I could hardly eat anything, and what little I did only gave me the greatest distress. I had a bad taste in the mouth and my tongue was coated. I would be awake all night and could get no sleep at all. I was attended by several doctors but without benefit.

"They prescribed medicines for me and took all my money, but did me no good.

MR. PETER W. MEREDITH.

"I was feeling terribly discouraged and thought I should never get well. One day a neighbor came in and advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"I commenced using it and very soon began to perceive wonderful improvement. It did me more good than any medicine I ever took. One day my family doctor came in and seeing the bottle on the stand asked me what I was using.

"I showed it to him and he said it was a very good medicine. 'Yes,' I said, 'it has done me good and I intend to continue its use.' I continued taking it and was gradually cured. I consider Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy a wonderful medicine and the best one there is. I recommend it to all my friends and advise everybody to use it."

If your are suffering from indigestion, constipation, kidney or liver complaint, neuralgia, nervousness, sleeplessness, morphine or liquor habit, or any form of nervous, chronic or blood disease, take that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and you will surely get well.

Take it now and be cured. It is the prescription and discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

JOHN T. DUNN ENDORSED.

Westfield Republicans Favor A. P. A.

At the Democratic primary held last night in Westfield to elect delegates to the congressional convention, resolutions were passed endorsing the national administration, commending John T. Dunn for his vote on the Wilson bill, and a resolution condemning proscription upon religious grounds. The primary was well attended and all the resolutions were passed unanimously. Ex-Assemblyman Codding headed the county delegates, and the delegates are pledged to renominate him.

John B. Green and Irving L. Boss were selected as delegates. The Republicans also held their primary. A resolution opposing the A. P. A. was promptly tabled by a vote of 41 to 16.

The Boys to be Restrained.

William Drake of Richmond street went to the police this morning and asked to have his sons, aged 15 and 13 respectively, sent to Reform School. Then Drake's wife and daughter-in-law and sister went to the lockup and said the boys did not mean to be very wicked.

While a contest in conversation was being carried on the women sent for Rev. Father Smythe. He arrived and was told what was the trouble. Drake learned what necessary legal steps would have to be taken, and finally decided to send the boys to a Catholic school in Harrison.

Fractured Leg from a Fall.

George Woodland, the 18-year-old step son of John MacDonald of 40 Pearl street, fell 14 feet from a shed in the rear of L. M. French's carriage shop at 5:40 yesterday afternoon. He was carried home in J. W. Gavett's wagon.

Dr. Tomlinson found that the young man's left leg was fractured four inches above the ankle. He complained of no internal injuries. Woodland was amusing himself by climbing about the outbuildings there.

Artificial Cloudbursts.

W. H. Rogers has completed for Thomas H. Pittis of 912 Central avenue an extraordinarily large lawn sprinkler. The grass on Mr. Pittis's property is now watered in circles of 100-feet in diameter at a time.

The Tribune declined to discharge the Knights. At midnight the compositors requested permission to return to work and at 1 o'clock the force was at work as usual. The strike was the result of a quarrel between the Knights of Labor and the Typographical union.

REMARKABLE CURES Of Recent Date.

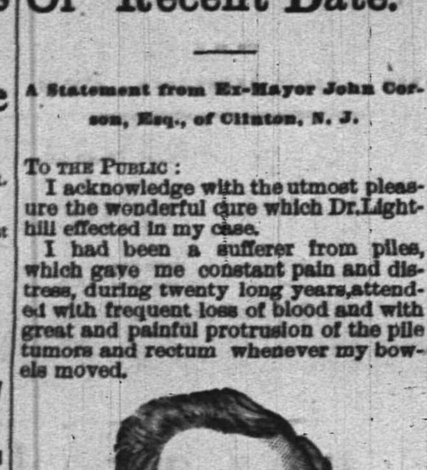
To the Public:
I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

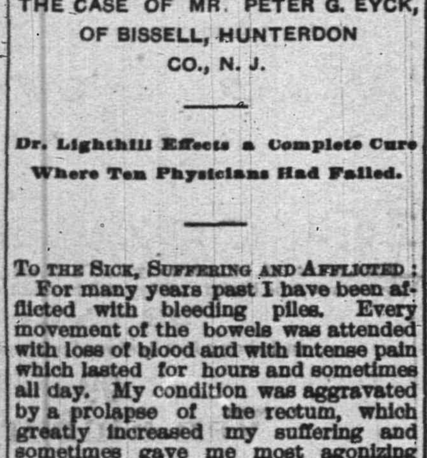
JOHN CORSON.

THE CASE OF MR. PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

To the Sick, Suffering and Afflicted:
For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks' time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

DEATH IN THE MINES

Five Men Lost in a Burning Colliery.

Careless Use of a Naked Lamp the Cause of the Disaster—Scores of Miners Narrowly Escape—Heroic Work of Rescue—Valuable Property Ruined.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 10.—The most disastrous mine fire in the history of the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania started at the Luke Fidler colliery from the naked lamp of a workman. Five persons are known to be dead. They are Irwin Buffington, carpenter; George Brown, miner; John Gierze, laborer; Michael Buzofiski, laborer, and Anthony Cobert, driver boy. Buffington, with a number of other carpenters, was at work half way down the shaft cutting up holes in the side of brattice which connects the shaft with the air passage. It is the rule when doing this work for the men to use lanterns, but in this case the rule was disregarded and naked lamps were substituted. Detecting a leak Buffington placed his lamp to the draft and flames immediately caught the boards, which were saturated with oil, and was taken into the air chamber. Realizing the awful consequences of his act the man at once started for the bottom of the shaft to notify the workmen employed there of their danger, his companions, in the meantime, rushing up the shaft to safety. When Buffington had notified the workmen below, he stopped to exchange his rubber boots for a pair of shoes and the delay in doing this cost him his life. Buffington staggered to within thirty feet of the door of a passageway which led to the open air, but there was overcome by smoke and fell. His body was found in the morning. The other bodies are still in the mine.

Narrow Escapes.

Michael Golden, one of the inside officials, was at the bottom of the shaft when the alarm was given, and he at once notified the men working in No. 3 slope while John Dunmore performed a like duty for those employed in the No. 2 slope. Golden told the men of an opening by which it was possible to reach a new shaft and leading the way for the seventy men employed in this portion of the mine, Golden made for the passage, which was safely reached, although it was nearly filled with smoke. The iron bucket used to hoist the men holds about six persons. This was quickly filled and in response to the frantic signal given by those below, the engineer began to hoist. Nearly ten trips had been made when it was discovered that a number were missing, among them David Edmonds and Harry Evans. They had succeeded in getting half way up the old shaft when the smoke forced them back. The traveling way to the east of the shaft was then tried with better success, although the smoke was very strong. When nearly half way to safety Evans, who is but a boy, gave out, and to save his young comrade from a certain death, Edmunds picked him up and succeeded in reaching the open air. Two miners, whose names could not be obtained, seeing that escape through the old shaft was impossible, and that their retreat in the direction of the new one was covered with smoke, groped their way back further and succeeded in reaching in safety an opening which came out on top of the mountain. Several other men ran towards the Coal Run workings and made their escape in that direction.

Among the last to escape from No. 3 slope was a Hungarian, who excitedly told the men at the bottom of the new shafting to be hoisted, that there were three or four fellows overcome by the smoke while getting out of the workings, and that they were nearly dead. Somebody suggested that a party be formed to go back and rescue them, but it was clearly seen that the course would be suicidal, so it was abandoned and the sufferers were left to their fate. When all who could do so had reached the surface and an enumeration had been made, it was found that four workmen, in addition to Buffington, were missing. Superintendent Williams and Mine Inspector Brennan arrived on the scene while the men were being hoisted to safety and they organized rescuing parties to go to the relief of those imprisoned. Before the places where the men were known to have worked could be reached, however, the smoke drove the rescuers back and the attempt was given up. When the report of the disaster reached Springfield and Shamokin, men, women and children who had relatives working at the mine rushed to the scene and soon the air was filled with the lamentations of those who sought their dear ones.

Work of Rescue.

As quickly as a load was hoisted and the men could get off the cage they were seized by their wives or other relatives and almost smothered with caresses. The fire had been scarcely started a minute before up through the high air passage shot a sheet of flame twenty feet high. In three minutes the fan house was a mass of blackened cinders. The flames by this time were creating havoc with the workings below, and in addition to the timbers, which were nearly all on fire, the beds of anthracite were beginning to ignite and the whole mine in the vicinity of the bottom of the shaft was soon a seething furnace. The Shamokin fire department began pouring water into the mine within an hour after the fire started, but thus far without any perceptible effect. Early this morning Outside Foreman Francis Kohlbreaker, accompanied by a number of men, went inside to see if it was possible to get out the thirty mules and it was not until Kohlbreaker and several of his companions had been overcome by the smoke that the plan was given up. All the animals are dead.

Heavy Losses.

Another consultation was held by the officials and the advisability of attempting to rescue the enclosed men was discussed. It was decided, however, that the effort was worse than useless, as it would certainly result in the death of some of the rescuing party. The Coal Run portion of the Fidler workings is connected with the Gimlet and Hickory Ridge collieries and in consequence they are not working. One thousand men were employed at the Luke Fidler colliery and another thousand were given employment at the Gimlet and Hickory Ridge collieries. These men will be idle for many months. The latest plan adopted by the officials to quench the fire is by pumping all available water into the mines and thus drowning it out. This, however, will take months to accomplish and it is safe to say that this valuable coal operation is practically ruined, entailing a loss of several hundred thousand dollars.

Convention of National Spiritualistic Association at Washington.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The National Spiritualists' association of the United States met in convention at Masonic temple with about 150 delegates present, evenly divided between the sexes. President Harrison D. Barrett, of the national association, made the opening address, which was followed by the adoption of resolutions concerning the death a few days ago of Luther Colby, of Boston, editor of the Banner of Light, the spiritualists' organ. The annual report of President Barrett was presented. It reviewed the work of the past year and made mention of the incorporation of the association under the laws of the District of Columbia which gave it a legal standing throughout the country. With reference to lecture tours, he said that certain railroads had made agreements to carry spiritualist speakers on the same terms as were given other ministers. The report said that nearly 100 local organizations are now connected with the national body. Mediums have been arrested in several states and subjected to persecutions, and Prof. Barrett recommended the formation of a defense fund for their protection. He recommended the adoption of a vigorous missionary policy. The concluding portion of Prof. Barrett's report considered the question of what could be done with clergymen who become spiritualists, the effect of the national organization in the United States and opposition to the society in connection with the opinions of Catholic and Protestant denominations concerning the spiritualists organization.

PUNISHMENT FOR COWARDICE.

An Ohio Militiaman Locked Up in a Pen in the Centre of the Armory.

Columbus, O., Oct. 10.—The penalty of cowardice is being visited upon Private Dearth, of company C, 14th regiment, Ohio National guard, in a peculiar manner. When the regiment was ordered by Gov. McKinley into Belmont county to quell the riotous miners in June last, Dearth hastily left the city and successfully eluded the commanding officers. There was apparently no excuse for the man's absence, except fear of service. He was court-martialed for desertion, dishonorably discharged from the service and sentenced to fifteen days' imprisonment.

The authorities, not wishing to send the man to jail, erected a pen, six by nine feet, in the centre of the armory building, and Dearth is now serving his time under the eye of a guard. He is not allowed to leave the little coop even for exercise, and his presence in the improvised prison serves as a warning to others who regard lightly their obligations as soldiers when entering the service of the state.

Lexow and the Grand Jury.

New York, Oct. 10.—Senator Lexow, chairman of the senate investigating committee, appeared before the grand jury. After his conference with the grand jurors he was asked whether he had asked the grand jury to refrain from issuing indictments which might interfere with the senate committee's work. Mr. Lexow at first was reluctant to disclose the nature of his business with the grand jury, but finally said: "Your surmise is correct." When the district attorney was questioned regarding Senator Lexow's visit to the grand jury, he affected great astonishment at the knowledge of it, and declined to discuss it.

Brakeman's Awful Injury.

Pittsburg, Oct. 10.—With a foot held in a vice-like grip by a railroad frog, John Clewell, aged 22 years, a brakeman on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad, was fatally injured by a freight train. He was crossing the tracks to throw a switch when his foot became wedged between the rails. In his frantic effort to avoid an approaching train, he caused a compound fracture of his leg. The train stopped after one truck had passed over his leg. Through loss of blood and shock there is no hope for his recovery.

Chinamen's Rights.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 10.—Judge Ross has rendered an important decision in the case of Lee Young, a registered Chinaman who went over the Mexican line for a few days, and on his return was arrested and taken before the United States commissioner, who ordered him to be deported. The judge holds that a registered Chinaman who happens to cross over into another country for business or pleasure is not subject to arrest and deportation on his return.

Gen. Booth at Ottawa.

FREDERICKSEN'S WRONGS.

Washington Authorities Will Take Up the Case with Russia.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Nicholas Fredericksen, the American who escaped from the Russian naval guard house last July, and whose case attracted so much attention at the time, appeared at the state department in the hope of enlisting the assistance of this government in securing reparations for his wrongs. The legal officers of the department were much impressed with the statements of Mr. Fredericksen which were unshaken by the severe cross-examination. The man's mother, an Alaskan woman, died when he was four years old, and his father, a Swedish sailor, followed four years later, so he was compelled to rely upon hearsay as to the place of his birth. It was conclusively shown that he was a child not over six years of age and a resident of Alaska when that territory reverted to the United States in 1867, and that he lived there until 1869, when he was sent to a Chicago school, living there until a few years ago and amassing a fair fortune. This gave him undeniable American citizenship, but when he returned to Alaska some time ago he took out naturalization papers as an additional surety to enable him to conduct business among Alaskan natives and upon the strength of his naturalization he obtained a passport last December and took it with him to Russia. There he was seized as a deserter from the Russian navy, and although Minister White interfered in his behalf, the passport was taken away from him and he was thrown into the naval guard house from which he made his escape. There is no doubt that Minister Breckinridge will be instructed to press the case very vigorously before the Russian authorities.

UNREST AT NEW BEDFORD.

Prospect That the Strike May Be Continued.

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 10.—There are discouraging developments in the textile situation. The strike which it was thought happily ended may yet be prolonged. There is a sentiment of dissatisfaction among many spinners in regard to the work of the conference committee. Much fault is found in particular with that part of the compromise accepting the Fall River result as final. There are rumors of papers being in circulation among members of the union repudiating the work of the committtee. A reporter was unable to find one of these papers or any one who had signed them or seen them, but his inquiries revealed a very general feeling of unrest. A well-informed North End man said that it looked doubtful if the spinners returned to work Thursday. Secretary Hart, of the spinners' union, says he has heard of the paper although he has not seen it. He adds that there is a good deal of dissatisfaction among spinners at the South End over the action of the committee.

At a late hour the threatened rupture among the spinners was settled and at a meeting of the spinners' union the report of the conference committee was unanimously accepted and the spinners voted to return to work Thursday morning. The weavers, it is understood, have been offered terms from the mill agents and a meeting will be held to vote on the question of whether to return to work or not. It is expected that the weavers will vote to return to work Thursday morning.

Wool and the Tariff.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The attorney general, to whom the question was referred, has decided that the word "wool" used in the new tariff law refers to sheep's wool only and that the new duties under schedule K on the hair of other animals went into effect August 28, when the new law became operative. Collectors have been instructed to reliquidate all entries upon the basis of this quotation.

FELL DEAD AT HIS FEET

Bezec Murders the Girl He Loved.

Fearing To Tell Him That She Was Engaged to Another, She Invited Him To Come to America with Her, Where He Discovers the True Situation.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 10.—Frank Bezec murdered his sweetheart, Maria Kerzic, at the home of the latter's sister in Olyphant. Bezec and the girl came to America last Saturday from Bohemia, having sailed from Southampton on Sept. 29. They were met in New York by Anthon Bourschnach, of Mayfield, this county, and together the three came to the latter place. Then Bezec learned that instead of being the accepted lover of the girl that her affections had been alienated and that she was to become the wife of Bourschnach. The couple had known each other in Bohemia, had kept up correspondence and though not then lovers, when Maria and Bezec had a falling out he was advised and at once proposed to the girl who accepted him. Bourschnach sent on the money needed to pay her way over. The girl now feared to tell Bezec and instead invited him to come along. He consented. On reaching Mayfield the girl came to Olyphant where her married sister Mrs. Frank Kramar lived. Yesterday was to have been her wedding day and she was about the final preparations when Bezec called. He wanted the woman to give up her intended husband and renew her affections towards him. She refused and he went away in an ill humor saying he might soon return. He immediately sought a hardware store and purchased a revolver. Then he returned to the house and walking into the room where the girl was again asked her if she would marry him. His demeanor scared the girl and she called for her sister. Again he asked her to marry him this time grasping her by the shoulder. Again she refused and as she did so he drew his weapon and began to shoot. Three shots were fired, each taking effect. The girl dropped dead at his feet. Then he turned to shoot the sister whom he accused of turning Maria against him, but she escaped his vengeance and gave an alarm. Bezec fled and sought safety in the Lackawanna river from a crowd of pursuers. He was forced out of the water and made a prisoner. Squire Cummings committed him to prison for trial. The sad fate of the bride almost crazed Bourschnach when he learned of the tragedy.

GAMBLING IN JERSEY.

Judge Abbett Severely Criticises the Interstate Fair.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 10.—Quite a sensation was created here by a charge to the grand jury made by Justice Abbett, in which he strongly urged the indictment of all persons who were responsible for the gambling at the interstate fair held a couple of weeks ago. He said the authorities of the fair who permitted it and the police who witnessed it and kept their hands off the gamblers, should be all made to answer for it. They were guilty of crime. "The interstate fair," said Justice Abbett, "was an institution of which all New Jersey might be proud; but the gambling and cheating devices allowed on the grounds were a disgrace and marred the fair's otherwise beneficial effects." The managers of the interstate fair include nearly all the leading business men of Trenton, some of whom have very prominent church connections, but they have not been loth to allow the fair to make money out of the red and black game, sweat, roulette and kindred schemes of chance. It is not believed, however, that the grand jury will find bills this year. A repetition of the offense next year would likely result in the indictment of the fair officials.

Back Again with the Republicans.

New York, Oct. 10.—The J. J. O'Brien association became democratic about two years ago. They were formerly strong republicans. Under the leadership of the late J. J. O'Brien, the old Eighth assembly district became the banner republican district. At a largely attended conference of the members of the association last night at the Occidental hotel, Patrick J. Sparenberg presiding, it was unanimously decided, amid a great demonstration of enthusiasm, to again become republicans. Speeches were made denouncing the democratic party and Tammany hall. The burden of the speeches was that the O'Brienites were heartily tired of the democratic party and wanted to return to the party of their old love.

Sloan Died of Starvation.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The body of George M. Sloan, the teacher who died after fasting fifty days, believing that he could, by abstaining from food, be cured of a stricture in the intestinal track which he insisted he was inflicted with, was examined by two physicians, a brain expert and Prof. Tolman, the microscopist. Mr. Sloan left a letter to Coroner McHale, requesting such an examination and acknowledging that he intended to commit suicide. The professional men agreed that he had no such disease; that he had become insane from the use of morphine and that he died of starvation only.

Charleston Escapes the Cyclone.

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 10.—The cyclone gave Charleston the go-by. There was a heavy sea, hard rains and much wind, but no damage was done in the city. The maximum velocity of the wind was only thirty miles an hour and no damage has so far been reported on land or sea. It is possible that the cotton crop in the interior was damaged by storm, but the damage will in no place prove serious.

EFFORT TO BEAT HILL

Bolting Democrats in the State of New York.

Everett P. Wheeler Nominated for Governor by the Shepard Faction—The Rest of the Regular Ticket Endorsed—Where Fairchild Stands—Will Head the Campaign Work.

New York, Oct. 10.—The reform democrats of Kings county, under the leadership of Edward M. Shepard, who bolted the regular democratic ticket nominated at Saratoga, nominated a full third state ticket as follows:

For governor—Everett P. Wheeler, of New York city.

For judge of court of appeals—Charles F. Brown, of Orange county.

Promptly at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the halls of the Trinity building began to fill up with democrats prominent in opposition to the regular ticket. Mr. Shepard had given it out early in the day that in his private office on the second floor of the Trinity building the committee of nine, representing the reform element of the Brooklyn democracy, would confer with other democrats from up the state and select a third ticket. It was thought until the very last that ex-Secretary Charles S. Fairchild would be nominated for the first place on the ticket, as he was the choice of the majority of the reformers, but it was soon apparent after the conference had been in session some time that Mr. Fairchild was not anxious to accept the leadership.

The doors were closed and for two hours the reformers discussed the situation. Mr. Shepard made the announcement that Charles S. Fairchild would be the chairman of the campaign committee and had agreed to serve. The committee would be composed in part of the following named gentlemen, all of whom were at the conference:

Franklin D. Locke, of Buffalo; Edward M. Shepard, of Brooklyn; Henry A. Richmond, of Buffalo Seymour Van Stantvoord, of Troy; Thomas G. Sherman, of Brooklyn; John A. Beal, of New York; John Brooks Leavitt, of New York; D. S. Ramsey, of Brooklyn, and A. R. James, of Buffalo.

Mr. Shepard said those named constituted only about half the committee which will be completed later and after he had communicated with the gentlemen who were with the reformers heart and soul and who he had no doubt would serve on the committee.

Mr. Shepard was asked why Mr. Fairchild had refused the nomination at the head of the ticket. "Well," he said slowly, "Mr. Fairchild is the leader of the state democracy and if he accepted the nomination it would entail upon him the necessity of giving up the leadership. But he has accepted the chairmanship of the campaign committee and will be in the fight heart and soul.

The ticket as named will be nominated by petition. The petition will have to bear the names of 3,000 voters before it can be accepted by the election commissioners and printed on the official ballots. The platform bitterly criticises Senator Hill.

BELLEFONTE IN MOURNING.

The City Literally Curtained in Black for Ex-Gov. Curtin.

Bellefonte, Pa., Oct. 10.—The main streets of Bellefonte are literally curtained in black and very little business is being transacted here. Every resident of the town feels that in the death of ex-Governor Curtin one and all have lost an almost father. Among those here are Col. A. H. McClure, editor of the Philadelphia Times; Col. Wm. B. Mann, prothonotary of Philadelphia; Adjutant General Greenland and Gen. John B. Brooke, of Omaha. Judge Craig Biddle and Morton McMichael, of Philadelphia, have been selected as additional honorary pall bearers. The National guard are under the command of Col. Burchfield and Col. Amos Mullin has charge of the G. A. R. department, while John C. Miller has charge of the guard of honor while the body lies in state in the court house. While the body lies in state the school children of Bellefonte will march in a body to view it. At the morning meeting in the court house addresses were made by Gov. Pattison, Senator Scott, Col. McClure, Col. Mann and Justice Dean, of the state supreme court. Rev. Dr. Robinson, of the Western Theological seminary, at Allegheny, who was Mr. Curtin's pastor when he was governor, will be present to assist in the religious services.

Bartholomy's Murder Trial Ended.

Buffalo, Oct. 10.—George A. Bartholomy, the murderer of ex-City Clerk Wm. E. Delaney, will hear judgment in his case pronounced to-day. The jury retired at 5:30 o'clock last evening and at 8:30, when the court reconvened, no agreement had been reached, so Justice Childs adjourned until today. At midnight the jury handed in a sealed verdict to be announced today.

Alleges Malicious Prosecution.

Buffalo, Oct. 10.—Mary C. Hanrahan, who was formerly in the office of W. Bowen Moore and who was placed under arrest by Special Examiner Ayres, of the United States pension department, is endeavoring in the civil trial term of the superior court to recover $25,000 from Mr. Ayres for alleged false and malicious prosecution. The suit is the first of three begun against Mr. Ayres.

Wires to Western Florida Down.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 10.—The western portion of Florida was swept by the gulf storms, but it is impossible to ascertain the extent of the damage, as the wires to the west are down. At this hour (10 a. m.) nothing has been heard from any point west of Jacksonville, save Lake City. At that place the wind reached a great velocity, but no serious damage resulted.

China After Chilian Warships.

London, Oct. 10.—The Times will publish to-morrow a dispatch from Santiago, saying that China's offer to purchase part of the Chilian fleet is being seriously considered.

GEORGE R. PAGE,
Chairman County Ex. Com.

The Commercial Advertiser, advocating the Congressional candidacy of James L. Anthony of Plainfield, speaks of him as a nephew of the late Senator Anthony of Rhode Island, and a former resident of New York.

The Newark Advertiser is inclined to think that in the congressional fight J. Frank Hubbard of Plainfield, Director of the Union County Board of Freeholders, is a strong dark horse. In the fight that is anticipated—says The Advertiser—he may be sprung on the convention and receive the nomination. The Plainfield Republican dictators seem to have tied a string to that declination to run a candidate.

In recording the justice of James L. Anthony's claim to the congressional nomination, the Newark Evening News goes so far as to say that the election of Mayor Gilbert as a convention delegate makes harmony among the Plainfielders at the convention improbable.

"The arrangement made two years ago"—says the News—"was that Mayor Gilbert should go to Congress this year. He finds that his business will not permit him to do so, and accordingly he is anxious that an Elizabeth man should be nominated this time so that he can claim the office for Plainfield two years hence, when he will have his banking business arranged so that he will have more leisure. The Anthony men claim that Plainfield is entitled to the nomination, and that if Mayor Gilbert is not ready he should step aside for their candidate."

THE KISS OF AN ENEMY.

Solomon's wise words, "The kisses of an enemy are deceitful" and "A flattering mouth worketh ruin", come into contemplation when one reads in the Plainfield Republican organ of Oct. 6, 1894, the following editorial from the pen of the ex-city clerk:

Leonard Spangenberg, ex-Councilman, is Netherwood's MOST public spirited citizen. His last good work has been the extension of the postal delivery service to that place. If Mr. Spangenberg were not a Democrat we would think him a most desirable man for Councilman. Such earnest workers as he is, are needed in public places.

Not quite three years have passed since the same editorial columns were reeking with malicious utterances attacking the public and private reputation of Mr Spangenberg.

For instance, the issue of November 13, 1891:

Mr. Spangenberg has been trying to enlist the sympathy of the New York papers. He does not want his New York "business" friends to know what opinion his fellow-townsmen have of him.

And again, Nov. 23, same year:

For lamblike innocence and maidenly simplicity Councilman Spangenberg easily holds the palm in Plainfield. He is entirely too tender and trusting to stand the shocks of a rude, truth-telling campaign. * * * * * * * No better evidence of Spangenberg's absolute unfitness and utter lack of capacity for the office of Councilman is needed.

The contrasting phrases of these varying quotations are italicized for emphasis. How can they be reconciled? Since the ex-city-clerk insisted day after day that he meant all the horrid things he said of Mr. Spangenberg, he surely has some object in now declaring himself such a turncoat.

What that object is, Mr. Spangenberg will doubtless find out. Meanwhile it is well to remember the admonition of Paul to the Colossians "Beware lest any man spoil you through vain deceit".

The ring organ in now puffing Mr Spangenberg for public office evidently believes him as gullible as it believed him when it sneered at his "lamblike innocence and maidenly simplicity". The victim of this honeyed assault will do well to bear in mind the advice of the ring-organ editor himself in his issue of Dec. 3, 1891:

Mr. Spangenberg should have learned by this time not to believe everything that everyone tells him. People are very apt to say pleasant things to one's face if they find that sort of thing pleases One. Because he was patted upon the back by a few people and told what a fine fellow he was, Mr. Spangenberg calculated accordingly.

Hopes to Resume.

F. E. Miller hopes to reopen Hotel Netherwood next season as manager for Charles Hyde, trustee. He will try to make it an all-the-year-round hotel.

—The firemen's parade will take place tonight over the route already published in these columns.

SOME FACTS ABOUT MUSIC HALL.

The attack made upon The Daily Press by Manager Varian of Music Hall through the columns of our contemporaries, calls for a plain statement of facts.

When Mr. Varian came to Plainfield he entered into an agreement with The Daily Press for advertising for the season of 42 weeks. A long-term national established rate was agreed on; and those terms Mr. Varian and his son both accepted.

A part of the agreement was that the Varians should make payments weekly. They asked for monthly payment, but The Press insisted on weekly. The Press rendered its service as required, and for a time the Varians made prompt payments. Presently, however, as Music Hall did not develop into the financial success anticipated, they began to get behind, and when asked to keep close to the bargain they became personally abusive. Then they made, with abusive language and actions, a peremptory demand that billboard rates be reduced, and when it was pointed out that the cost of posting could be lessened by reducing the amount of paper posted they made threats that they would compel reduction of rates and forsook the prominent boards they had agreed to occupy, using instead boards which they erected in out-of-the-way places and on dead walls.

Since they had broken their billboard contract, and as they continued delinquent in payments for advertising, The Press felt justified in insisting that they must keep paid up or payment in advance at short rates would be demanded. The Press then returned to them all copy for advertising and reading notices, and declined to have further dealings with them unless cash accompanied orders at short rates instead of yearly rates. The Varians have not yet closed their account with The Press.

Much as The Press regrets being forced to make this disclosure, their ungrateful conduct has left it no other recourse. The Press is conscious of having treated the Varians better than any other newspaper or other business establishment in Plainfield and is content to let the public pass judgment on the facts which the Varians have called forth by their misleading statements.

The whole matter resolves itself simply into this: As a matter of business protection The Press declines to do any work for any manager of Music Hall unless paid as agreed upon, and The Daily Press reserves at all times the right to criticize the conduct of any place of public amusement.

ALL AGAINST DUNN.

Every Plainfield Delegate His Personal Enemy.

SECOND WARD'S OUTSPOKEN WAR.

Councilor McClure Bitterly Denounces the Congressman's Treatment of Plainfield Democrats — Resolution Adopted to Seek Dunn's Defeat.

The Plainfield Democratic primaries were calmly attended last night, the few voters present in each meeting-place seeming to be called out merely by desire to satisfy personal grudges against John T. Dunn. The dominant faction was in every case that of the disappointed post-office aspirants.

The results were as follows:

FIRST WARD.

Chairman—Louis F. Wadsworth.
Secretary—Oliver T. Vosseller.
Judge of Election—Sidney E. Flower.
Delegates to Congressional Convention—John J. Kenney, Louis F. Wadsworth.

SECOND WARD.

Chairman—E. B. Conklin.
Secretary—L. M. Stover.
Judge of Election—J. M. Bronson.
Inspector—J. M. Morrison.
Delegates to Congressional Convention—Lewis G. Timpson, Frank Vosseller.

THIRD WARD.

Chairman—James Clark.
Secretary—F. M. Bacon.
Delegate to Congressional Convention—E. M. Van Buren.

FOURTH WARD.

Chairman—V. L. Frazee.
Secretary—John Casey.
Judge of Election—Elmore D. Moffett.
Inspectors—Ira G. Hurlbut, John McCarthy.
Delegates to Congressional Convention—Peter Flynn, Jr., John Canary.

Every delegate elected is known to be opposed to the renomination of Congressman Dunn, and Counselor McClure says their enmity is such that they will vote and work against him if he is nominated.

In the Second Ward Mr. McClure spoke bitterly, arraigning Mr. Dunn for his treatment of the Plainfield Democrats, and offered a motion that the delegates be instructed under all circumstances to vote and work against the nomination of Mr. Dunn.

James E. Martine argued against pledging delegates, holding it to be un-Democratic.

Mr. McClure said he did not ask to pledge the delegates to anyone, but to let them vote for whom they pleased outside of John T. Dunn.

The motion prevailed, Mr. Martine alone voting no.

The following, introduced by Mr. Martine, was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we, the Democrats of the Second Ward of the City of Plainfield, in convention assembled, seize this opportunity to express anew our fealty to the time-honored principles of the Democratic party, and urge that no backward step be taken in the fight for Tariff Reform, insisting as we do with Grover Cleveland, that unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. While feeling that the Tariff Bill, as passed by both Houses of Congress, is not all that Democrats desired or had hoped for, yet we hail it as a step in the right direction, and one that has already been potent in unfettering commerce and moving the wheels of trade, and that will bring incalculable blessing to American homes by cheapening the necessaries of life and opening the marts of trade for the products of American genius and labor.

STRIKE AT PAWTUCKET.

Evictions Follow Labor Troubles in the Lorraine Mill.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 10.—The striking weavers of the Lorraine mill, Pawtucket, held another meeting at which all or nearly all were present. No business was transacted, but a determination to "stick together" was evinced. Several offers of financial aid were received. The following notice has been handed to every family living in the company's tenements, members of which are on strike: "You are hereby notified to quit and deliver up to us possession of the tenement in house number —, in the city of Pawtucket, by you hired from us, on termination of your present week's tenancy, Oct. 13, 1894."

The tenants, the spinners say, will not vacate until the company force them out. The spinners or drawers, to the number of 300, were thrown out of employment on account of the mills closing, and those employed in the carding, combing and wool-sorting rooms will also be thrown out in a day or two, as there will be no work for them after the "tins" are filled. Then the entire plant on the north side of the avenue will be closed, making the number out of employment about 600.

BONDS BID GOOD-BYE.

PASTORAL PORTRAIT PRESENTATION

Father Bond's Likeness Given Honored Place, and His Son Bidden Godspeed on His Mission Work in Macedonia—Dr. Studdiford the Connecting Link.

The First Presbyterian Chapel was crowded last evening with a representative gathering of friends of Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Bond who came to greet them at a farewell reception before their return to missionary work in Macedonia. Mrs. E. J. Olssen and Mrs. James Petrie were instrumental in arranging the reception. The clergy of the city was represented by Revs. M. E. Dwight, W. E. Honeyman, C. E. Herring, Dr. D. J. Yerkes, Dr. W. R. Richards and Dr. A. H. Lewis.

Pastor Herring introduced as the first speaker Rev. Dr. S. M. Studdiford of the Third Presbyterian Church, Trenton, the third pastor of the Plainfield First Presbyterian. He described the way in which he came here, a week after his graduation from a seminary, when he was at once ordained and installed. He was glad to do honor now to the son, and to the wife of the son, of the senior Rev. Lewis Bond, his own predecessor in the pulpit, who was 32 years pastor of the church. Mr. Bond resigned at the age of 65. It was a happy coincidence that the date of the present occasion, Oct. 9, was the ninety-ninth anniversary of the birth of the senior Lewis.

When he had looked on the venerable preacher, said Dr. Studdiford, he had thought of his own inexperience and wondered how Mr. Bond would regard him. He had not been here many days, however, when he found that he had in the old pastor one of his most sympathetic listeners. The speaker was the only ministerial connecting link, for he was the only pastor who had had both the father and son in his congregation. When he came here the son Lewis was turning from business to active Christianity.

Dr. Studdiford said that he could have no more fitting an occasion on which to present to the church on behalf of the old parishioners a portrait of the pastor who had labored here so faithfully 32 years. As he spoke these words, Dr. Studdiford drew aside an American flag which hung on the wall above the platform and disclosed a large and excellent crayon portrait of the beloved former pastor.

Dr. Studdiford spoke of the work which Pastor Bond had accomplished, and continued about his own experience during his two-years pastorate. He had a peculiar congregation, including as it did seven clergymen and 60 young women from boarding-school.

With well wishes for the success of the work in Macedonia and expressions of regard for Rev. Mr. Bond and his wife, the speaker closed his address.

Pastor Herring alluded to how Christian work was continued through different generations and said he had always heard the first pastor spoken of with the greatest respect and love. When they looked at the picture he hoped the people of the church would remember the son in the mission field so that the portrait would be a reminder of both the father and the son. In the name of the church he accepted the gift.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes was the next speaker. He said in part: I have always had a profound respect and reverence for that man of God, Father Bond. I never heard him very often, but somehow I could not help loving him, there was so much of Christ in his face. About the time his son was to leave for the mission field he spoke of his great joy. He had always prayed God to give him a missionary son, and he rejoiced over the answer to his prayer.

Nothing so manifests the spirit of the early Christians as their obedience to God's command, "Go ye into all the world". Nations send their representatives to semi-barbarous people to establish commercial relations, but only the spirit of Christ can lead men to go forth to save souls in all parts of the earth. With farewell wishes Dr. Yerkes finished his address.

Rev. W. E. Honeyman said that while engaged in mission work in California he had heard of the experiences of the 49ers who had undergone terrible hardships in the search for gold. A marvelous contrast was presented now. Here was a man going far away from his home, not for fame or gold or position, but for the saving of men. It was well to honor such a man and to meet before his departure to show sympathy and regard.

Mr. Bond was introduced by Mr. Herring. His address was, in short, as follows: I was agreeably disappointed when a year ago I came home for a vacation. I expected I would have a dreary time with my old friends passed away. I remembered when, 16 years ago, I returned and saw so many strange faces. I remarked to my wife in Turkey that I dreaded calling and visiting with nothing to do. But I found much to do, going about telling people of our work. Now, at the end of this long vacation I find you are honoring me. I can understand your honoring my father and I give thanks to those who have spoken so kindly of him tonight. He never spoke to me directly about missionary work but I found when I came to leave for the field that his greatest desire had been realized.

What is a foreign missionary after all but a Christian at work? It is just an incident that I am called to Macedonia. I am as safe in Turkey as in Plainfield when I am in God's keeping. Yet I feel sometimes how far away I am from my old home. I was born in the house right opposite this church and so it is very dear to me. It is helpful for me to know that [illegible] man in this congregation is praying [illegible] every day. Again I thank you for [illegible] to me tonight.

[illegible] next spoke and added her [illegible] he often thought of the time [illegible] settled the question of going [illegible] missionary. Her father opposed [illegible] and she refused the first offer. The next time she had an opportunity offered her she prayed earnestly for guidance and arose and opened her Bible. She first saw the words "He that loveth father or mother more than Me is not worthy". This decided her and her father gave her permission to go. God never sent a trial unless some good was to come from it.

Miss Bessie Blair then sang a solo very sweetly. Letters of regret from Rev. Dr. Ketcham and Rev. C. L. Goodrich were read and similar word from Rev. Cornelius Schenck was reported. Ice-cream and cake were next served to all present and half an hour passed in a pleasant social way.

Rev. Dr. Lewis followed with a short address. He first alluded to the beautiful way in which God's work is carried on from one generation to another. Father Bond had seemed to him the embodiment of the gentleman, the scholar and the Christian. The son was bidden God-speed to his work with the unversal benediction of the Christian men and women of Plainfield without regard to creed or denomination.

Rev. Dr. Richards said it was easy to explain why the people honored Mr. Bond. When God called a servant to go far away to carry on a great work God showed him honor, and the people should join in honoring the missionary. The speaker, as pastor of the daughter church, felt like envying the church from which God had chosen this great worker.

Rev. Dr. Studdiford next led in prayer. Mr. Bond said that he and his wife were to sail next Saturday afternoon at 3:30 from the Anchor Line pier on the City of Rome. He invited all to go to New York and see them sail and if possible to visit him Macedonia. He pronounced the benediction and the meeting closed with a hearty personal greeting to the missionary workers.

DYED IN THE WOOL.

Mr. Bowen Refutes the Charges of the Elizabeth Journal Against His Republicanism.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ELIZABETH JOURNAL:—I noticed in your issue of yesterday that I am charged as being "a member of a tariff reform Democratic organization". This I wish to deny most emphatically. I have drunk in Republicanism since the days of Fremont and Dayton. In my boyhood I had the honor of a personal acquaintance with Lincoln, Sumner, Chase, Lovejoy, Colfax, Wate and Wilson and later with Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Harrison and other Republican patriots and statesmen. I have fought Democracy on the stump and in the press with my pen. My Republicanism is so well known that at the Republican primary last night my ward selected me to represent them at the Congressional Convention in Elizabeth Thursday, receiving also the highest number of votes cast on that occasion. Whoever the convention shall see fit to place in nomination, whether it be my friend James L. Anthony or Mr. Fowler or Mr. Griffin or Mr. Barrett, will receive my vote and hearty support.

Respectfully,
HENRY E. BOWEN

Plainfield, October 9.

Bamberger's Fall Opening.

A grand treat has been prepared for the people of Newark and vicinity this week at Bamberger's always busy dry goods establishment. The fall opening of their newly enlarged and popular establishment take place this week. No pains have been spared to make this occasion one well worth going to see, and the beauty of the display of the fall cloaks and capes, millinery, dress goods, silks, etc., is one as yet unrivalled and hard to be equalled. In response to a popular demand they have opened a department for the sale of ladies', misses,' children's and boys' shoes. It is situated on the second floor, and occupies a space of 25x100 feet. It is without doubt the handsomest in the State, if not the United States. Their spacious floors present a beautiful scene. Brilliantly illuminated by numberless electric lights, the tropical and sweet-smelling plants, which fairly fill the place, present a picture of dazzling beauty, which should remain forever engraved on the memory of those fortunate enough to have witnessed it. The progress of this business has been the wonder and admiration of all, and today, after a business existence of only one and a half years, they are undoubtedly the leaders among dry goods merchants in this section.

SEVERE EXPOSURE

Often results in colds, fevers, rheumatism, neuralgia and kindred derangements. We do not "catch cold" if we are in good condition. If the liver is active, and the system in consequence doing its duty, we live in full health and enjoy life "rain or shine." To break up a cold there's nothing so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They keep the whole system regulated in a perfectly natural way. If we do not feel happy, if we worry and grumble, if we are morbid, if the days seem dreary and long, if the weather is bad, if things go awry, it is the liver which is at fault. It is generally "torpid." A common sense way is to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. We generally eat too much, take insufficient exercise, by means of which our tissue-changes become indolent and incomplete. Be comfortable—you are comfortable when well. You'll be well when you have taken "Pleasant Pellets."

METHODISTS MAKE MERRY

RALLYING TOGETHER FOR A SEASON OF ACTIVE WORK.

Good Humor Abounds in the Speeches and Programme, and Good Cheer Is Provided for All.

Genuine hospitality was shown at the Monroe Avenue Chapel last evening, when the Epworth League welcomed members from Scotch Plains, Westfield, Dunellen, and the First and Grace M. E churches of Plainfield.

The delegations were so large that their reception kept busy the committee under the direction of President John Praed.

The gathering was composed chiefly of young people, and a spirit of activity was evidenced by all.

After the singing of the League hymn, "Look Up, Lift Up", Walter McGee invoked blessing on the assemblage.

President Praed made an address in which he extended to one and all a hearty welcome. He said: "I come to you tonight somewhat as the young pastor went to his congregation. On preaching his first sermon he announced as his text John v: 9—'I am the Light of the World'—and being somewhat confused found it necessary to repeat his text three times, whereupon an elderly woman in the congregation arose and said 'You may be the light of the world, but I think you need trimming', and perhaps you 'll agree that that 's what 's the matter with me."

Rev. W. C. Kinsey responded for the Dunellen League. He said he supposed the applause was meant for the preceding speaker but he would take it for himself. The Dunellen members occupied the front seats, and he remarked that Dunellen was well up front. "At certain places of amusements"—he said—"it is customary for people with bald heads to take front seats, but I have lost no hair from my head, though I have been married nine years.

"We have come here"—he continued—"to be filled up and are glad to find ourselves among such a genteel and good-looking company of people."

Mr. Moorehouse of Westfield said they had brought a large delegation and were appreciative of the kindness bestowed.

Rev. Hebert Randolph of Grace M. E. Church produced hearty laughter by his remarks. He said:

"In front of me is the president of our league, who reminds me of an Irishman who dug a hole for a post, and after completing his task did n't know what to do with the dirt, so he made another hole to put it in; and so when there is any speechmaking to be done our president is heard calling, 'Randolph! Where is Randolph!'" He congratulated all on the excellent showing made, and mentioned the fact that a missing mustache would account for his strange appearance, though he was not bald.

J. B. Joy for the First M. E. Church League thought that the remarks in regard to baldness were rather harsh if meant for him. He stated that the home church was proud of her twins, Monroe Avenue Chapel and Grace M. E. Church; the latter had left the cradle, put on long trousers, and was old enough to vote.

He urged all to attend the rally in Flemington, Wednesday, October 31, and said that the people at that place were so well known for feeding people that they would n't even draw back at the approach of Brother Kinsey.

A very amusing dialogue was given entitled "No cure, no pay". The parts were admirably taken by Mrs. Fraleigh, Miss Susie Pound, Miss Mary Beekman, Miss Aldrich, Miss Katy Ackerman, Miss Grace Palmer, and Miss Wenzel.

Walter McGee gave "The Song of the Nations", which brought forth hearty applause.

"Uncle Jake's Place" and "Tree Toad", choice selections by James Whitcomb Riley, were given by J. B. Joy in excellent style, and won merited approbation.

President Praed announced that the women of the chapel would serve refreshments to all, and a most enjoyable social hour was spent. All voted hearty thanks to the Monroe Avenue Chapel League.

TAYLOR OF PLAINFIELD WINS.

He Refused to Testify of a Hazing Which Killed an Ithaca Woman.

Albany, Oct. 9—Frederick J. Taylor, the Cornell University student who though visiting his home in Plainfield is under bonds in Ithaca for failing to obey the order of the court to testify before the Ithaca Grand Jury, will be released from bond by a decision of the Court of appeals rendered today. The court reverses the order of the General Term and discharges Taylor.

Taylor was a roommate of one of the Cornell students suspected of killing a woman and making seriously ill several students last Winter by injecting noxious gases into a room where the freshmen were holding a class supper.

A Perfect Likeness.

The perfect likeness of the portrait of the late Rev. Lewis Bond was remarked by all who knew him, when the picture was displayed at the reception in the First Presbyterian Church last evening. The crayon was the work of Artist N. E King of Brooklyn, who, through Daily Press advertising and the excellence of his art, has secured many patrons in Plainfield and the vicinity.

Loose Wires Dangerous.

W. E. Pentz of Fanwood drove to town by way of North avenue this morning. Near Richmond street the horse tripped against a dead telegraph wire and skinned its knees. Mr. Pentz removed the wire from the roadway. Had it been crossed with a light wire the horse would probably have been killed.

Naughty for Frankie to See.

The Courier, if it was sincere in its former cry against such things, should call Manager Vail's attention to the woman in tights on his billboard on Somerset street, directly opposite the Courier office.

—Sinclair Stuart of 819 Park avenue has secured a patent for the construction of ships.

ORGANIZED AID.

ITS BENEFICIAL WORK ACCOMPLISHED AT SMALL COST.

Review of the Year's Work to Be Submitted at the Forthcoming Public Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Council of the Citizens Organized Aid Society was held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Church Monday evening. The reports of the officers and committees were read and ordered filed.

Arrangements were made for a short interesting public meeting to be held in Vincent Chapel Monday evening, October 22. The programme will include the president's report, giving a summary of the year's work. A short address will be made by some prominent Plainfielder.

The feature of the evening will be an address on the aspects of modern charity and charitable organizations by Charlton T. Lewis, L. L. D., the president of the State Charities Aid Association of New Jersey and president of the Prison Reform Association of New York. Mr. Lewis is a man of world-wide reputation and there are few men in the country capable of presenting the subject more fully than he.

The workers in the Organized Aid wish it understood it is not another benevolent organization. On the contrary its entire work of helpfulness and usefulness has been accomplished at an expense of only $400 for the year. Part of the expense has been for outfit and will not be necessary next year.

DEDICATION JUBILEE.

Many Churches of the District to Unite in Plainfield's Celebration.

Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church, West Fourth street near Liberty, will be dedicated Oct. 21. Rev. J. W. Cooper and choir of New Brunswick will take part in the morning service; and in the afternoon the formal dedication will take place, the officiating clergymen being Rev. W. H. Giles of Newark and Rev. W. W. Dyett, Presiding Elder of the district. Elder Dyett will preach again in the evening. A jubilee week will follow. Monday night, Mrs. Mary E. Holt of Somerville will speak; Tuesday, Rev. S. P. Gibson of Mt. Olive Baptist Church, whose choir will sing; Wednesday, Rev. J. W. Mitchell of Emmanuel Baptist Church, with choir; Thursday, Rev. F. F. Smith of Jersey City; Friday, there will be a combination concert, with George A. Henry of Trenton at the organ, and the following choirs singing: Mt. Olive, Emmanuel Baptist, Bethel Chapel, and Mt. Zion.

NOT MENTIONED, ONLY MEANT.

What the Officials Say.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—As noticed by your report of the Republican primary held in this township last night you state that the delegates to the conventions were pledged to a certain motion, also a reference was made to the A. P. Association.

The fact is that no pledges whatever were exacted of the delegates and no mention whatever made of the A. P. Association.

L. W. MILLER, Ch'm.
W. B. NOBLE, Sec'y.
Fanwood, Oct. 9, 1894.

What The Press Said.

The delegates were instructed to go unpledged in regard to the nominees, but pledged to the following motion: "That the sense of this meeting is opposed to anything that will bring sectarianism into politics" (meaning the A. P. Association). Quite a discussion was held on this motion, but was finally passed. A motion was made and carried to adjourn. There was no excitement or speaking, only on the motion.

Elizabeth Wants the Earth.

(From The Summit Record.)

It is entertaining to notice the Elizabeth Journal urging the nomination of a candidate for Congress, for County Clerk and two candidates for the Assembly, all from Elizabeth, on this year's Republican ticket. Apparently the Journal believes that the Republican strongholds of Plainfield and Rahway are entitled to no consideration other than the privilege of supporting the ticket selected for them by the Mattano Club machine.

Another "Contest".

A handsome gold watch and ring, to be contested for in the Sons of Veterans fair, is on exhibition at Collier's, Park avenue.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

FIGHTING FOR LIFE.

A Suffering Woman Testifies.

Mrs. Henrietta Burton, of Janvier, N. J., writes: For a long time I suffered from a disordered stomach. My appetite was gone and what little I ate distressed me terribly. My health failed rapidly. I became very weak and feared I should never be well. After reading your "Guide to Health," I was encouraged to try Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure. Its action was so prompt that I soon felt like a new woman, and am now completely cured."

MUNYON'S STOMACH AND DYSPEPSIA CURE cures all forms of indigestion and stomach troubles such as constipation, rising of food, distress after eating, bloating of the stomach, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion. It soothes, heals and invigorates stomachs that have been weakened by over-eating, or where the lining of the stomach has been impaired by physic and injurious medicines. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Homœopathic Home Remedy Company, of Philadelphia, put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

AT REST.

George M. Angleman.

Funeral services over the remains of George M. Angleman were held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. I. L. McVoy, 306 East Front street, yesterday afternoon at 2:30. The entire house was filled with friends of the family.

Rev. J. W. Richardson and Rev. C. R. Barnes were the officiating clergymen. Mr. Barnes made a few remarks of condolence and sympathy, and Mr. Richardson delivered an impressive discourse. Miss Grant, the soprano of the First Baptist Church, sang two solos, "On Christ the Solid Rock I Stand" and "We Shall Meet Beyond the River", very effectively.

The interment was made in the Methodist Cemetery, Plainfield avenue. The pall-bearers were William C. Smith, H. N. Spencer, John Goodwin, M. C. Dobbins, William Hand and W. W. Coriell. At the grave Mr. Barnes spoke briefly and feelingly. There were many handsome floral offerings, including palms and roses from the Woman's Relief Corps.

Saved Mrs. Rennie's Life.

Mrs. Jennie Rennie of Virgil, N. Y., had been sick for a year or more with overflow of the gall and ulcers of the stomach. Her physician told her she could not live. Mrs. Rennie's mother had found such benefit from he use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, that she persuaded her daughter to use it, which she did, with the result that it cured her of these diseases, and she says she was never as well as now.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life; I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels; 75c. Sold by all druggists.

WAS CHE-FOO TAKEN?

Report of the Japs' Success There Doubted.

It Is a Treaty Port and Damage to the Interests of European Powers Would Cause Complications—Near the Arsenal of Wei-Hai-Wei, the Key to Pekin.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Verification of the reported capture of Che-Foo by the Japanese has not reached the Japanese legation in Washington, a singular circumstance if the report be true, in view of the present unobstructed condition of the telegraph lines from the Orient. The rumor of the capture created some surprise in diplomatic circles here and was not generally given credence because Che-Foo is a treaty port and damage to the interests of foreign residents by the Japanese attack might, and probably would, cause complications with England, France, Germany and other countries, which Japan at this time would do her best to avoid. Then again, the situation of Che-Foo, about fifty English miles from the great Chinese arsenal of Wei-Hai-Wei, the Cherbourg of the Chinese empire, and practically the key to Pekin, rendered its capture so important that it seemed incomprehensible it could have been accomplished without official information being sent to the legation here and also without confirmation being received from other sources. An official of the Japanese legation explained that the foreign or treaty quarter of the port formed a small portion only of the town and suggested that possibly the native part had been taken without interference with the concessions on which foreigners resided. This, he said, would not constitute violation of the treaties which gave protection to foreign residents. Again, he suggested, some town in the harbor of Chee Foo, of which there are a number, might have been captured and thus practically have given Che-Foo itself into the hands of the Japanese without injury to its interests, native and foreign, in any particular. The capture of Che-Foo without injury to foreign interests, would not, he believed, constitute a violation of the agreement of the Japanese and Chinese governments and foreign powers with respect to a peaceful bearing towards all treaty ports. But the general tendency in diplomatic circles is to doubt the correctness of the dispatch. The state department has received nothing to confirm it.

Protection of Europeans.

London, Oct. 10.—The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says that a steamer loaded with coal for the British warships at Che-Foo was stopped the other day by a Japanese cruiser, but was subsequently allowed to proceed. The British and German clubs in Tien-Tsin have adopted concerted measures for the defence of the European residents. The volunteers are drilling steadily. Business in Tien-Tsin is at a standstill. Stores of skins and hides from the interior are accumulating on the bund. The viceroy works night and day, but he keeps himself secluded. He has not been seen in the port since the recent Chinese reverses. A dispatch to the Central News from Tien-Tsin says: "The British minister in Pekin called at the imperial palace and was granted a long and cordial audience by the emperor."

London, Oct. 10.—The Times will publish to-day a dispatch from its correspondent in Yokohama confirming the report that the Japanese have taken Che-Foo. The correspondent adds that a Japanese force has landed at Tarascada, near Port Arthur.

The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that reports of the capture of Che-Foo were received in official circles in Berlin, but were not confirmed. A Shanghai dispatch to the Times, referring to the report of the capture of Che-Foo, says: "Two Japanese warships closely reconnoitered Che-Foo harbor and the neighboring coast and then departed."

Swift Sound Steamer.

New London, Conn., Oct. 10.—The fastest trip ever made through Long Island sound was that of the new steamer City of Lowell. She covered the distance of 122 miles from New York to New London in five hours and thirty-four minutes. The average hourly speed was twenty-one and three-fourths miles. Better time would have been made but for the port engine, which gave trouble several times, necessitating stopping. The big steamer Priscilla, of the Fall River line, which made her first trip early in the summer, and the City of Lowell, which went into commission later, have been rivals for the championship of the sound fleet, and recently raced, honors proving equal and the speed of each being about twenty knots.

Chicago's Fire Anniversary.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The twenty-third anniversary of the great fire, which was the natal day of the new and greater Chicago, was celebrated yesterday in many ways, although there was no general cessation of business. It is the intention to have the legislature make October 9 a permanent legal holiday.

The Czarewitch Will Rule.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 10.—A report is current that if the czar decides upon a form of regency while he is absent from Russia, which it is expected he will do, he will make a special declaration intrusting the czarewitch with the direction of state affairs, the title of regent not being mentioned.

Italian Warships.

Rome, Oct. 10.—The Italian government has decided to spend an additional $350,000 to complete the warships which have long been in course of construction. Another Italian cruiser, the Christoforo Colombo, has been ordered to Chee-Foo. Among her officers is the duke of Abruzzi, nephew of the king.

Emile Zola and the Pope.

London, Oct. 10.—The Standard's Rome correspondent says: "In spite of the statement that the pope will not receive Emile Zola, a current rumor exists at the vatican that is favorable to his reception. Success greatly depends upon how and by whom an audience is requested."

REMARKABLE CURES

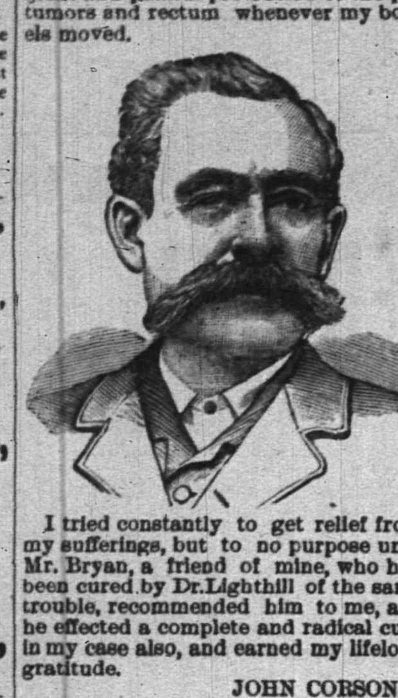
Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

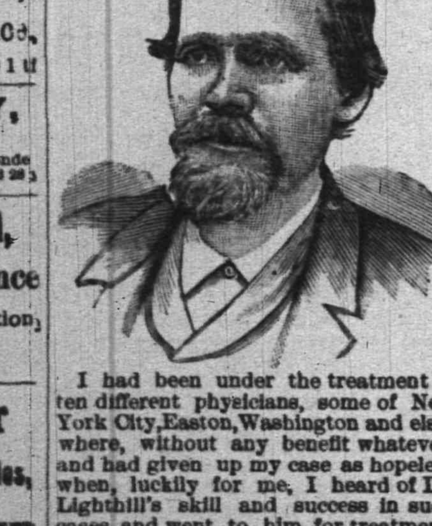
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST

Death in the Storm Along the Coast.

Collapse of a Big Building in New York—Destruction of a Town in New Foundland — Two Hundred Sailors Missing—Sad Fate of a Mother and Children.

New York, Oct. 11.—The storm that broke upon the city with unexampled fury when it slept blew down the walls of an unfinished factory building at 74 Monroe street. They fell upon the building at 72 alongside and crushed it, burying in the wreck two families that had no warning of the coming blow.

Four persons were killed outright, more than a dozen were dug out or crawled out, more or less badly injured, a few escaped unhurt. Six hours later the firemen were digging in the ruins, in the driving storm, for others known to be yet imprisoned there and whose groans could be heard.

Ambulances and police, doctors and priests crowd the block. The primary school house adjoining the scene of the disaster has been turned into an emergency hospital for the time being where the homeless find shelter and the injured are taken first. All the Seventh ward has turned out upon its annual feast day to watch the grewsome show.

Louis Aronowitz, the owner of the building, was arrested and taken before Police Justice Hogan in the Essex Market police court. Policeman McCarthy, who made the arrest, stated the facts.

Police Justice Hogan—There was quite a storm this morning, officer. Was there not?

Policeman McCarthy—Yes, sir.

Police Justice Hogan—Well, they had cyclones out west which occasioned great loss of life, but the owners of property out there are not held accountable. I shall parole the defendant until Friday afternoon to see what can be brought against him.

Policeman McCarthy stated to a reporter that under Capt. Grant's orders he was sent out with Aronowitz to look for the contractor of the building. The search was unsuccessful, and on the return to the station house the captain placed the owner under arrest until such time as the contractor can be found or a further investigation can be made.

The revised list of the dead is now as follows:

Jennie Steinman, aged 60 years; Meyer Steinman, 31; Bertha Korones, 46; Abraham Korones, 9; Solomon Korones; Rose Korones, 18; Isaac Abrams, 42; Bessie Abrams, 40; Eli Abrams, 8.

It is believed that all the occupants of the building have now been accounted for.

Great Loss of Life.

St. John's, N. F., Oct. 11.—St. Pierre, the French colony on the south coast of Newfoundland, was visited by a terrific gale, which caused the loss of at least ten lives and unprecedented damage to shipping. More than fifty vessels that were anchored in the roadstead were driven ashore and most of them were destroyed. Their crews escaped only by the merest chance. A fleet of more than 300 French fishing vessels had arrived at St. Pierre within a few days, having been compelled to make port in consequence of damage sustained in the gale on the Sunday before last, which raged furiously on the banks. All vessels report serious losses. Several ships are missing and are believed to have foundered, with 200 lives.

Mother and Children Lost.

Huntington, L. I., Oct. 11.—During the heavy gale seven barges loaded with coal, bound east, and the large tug Belle McWilliams, went ashore at Lloyd's harbor and a woman and two children were lost. Some men belonging to the crews are missing and are believed to have been drowned. Most of the barges are a total wreck and the beach for a mile is covered with wreckage. The woman who was lost was aboard the barge Jennie Hughes, whose captain, James Murphy, was her brother. With her were her three children. At the height of the storm the woman and children took refuge in the cabin, which was built upon the deck. A wave tore away the cabin and carried it into the sea. The wrecked cabin, in which lay the woman's body, was afterward found about a mile from where the barge went ashore. One of the children, a 11-year-old boy, still alive, was found on the beach and was taken aboard the tug, which lies high and dry on the beach. He will probably recover. The bodies of the other children have not yet been found. The woman was between 35 and 40 years old. The exact loss of life and property cannot be ascertained from the wrecks. People are flocking to the scene and there is no lack of willing hands to render any assistance necessary. The gale was the fiercest ever witnessed by dwellers near the bay. Lloyd's harbor is considered the safest along the coast. The tug is not much damaged.

Along the Jersey Coast.

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 11.—This place and Asbury Park suffered considerably by the storm. The velocity of the wind was terrific and a portion of the roof of the West End hotel was carried away. As the dislodged portion struck against the main part of the hotel, windows were smashed and blinds broken. A summer house on S. M. Shaffer's property was wrecked, the Hollywood green houses were blown down and many rare and choice plants were ruined. A. C. Newing's large barn on Jackson street was demolished as was also a summer house owned by Mr. Iauch, proprietor of Iauch's hotel. The wind twisted the piazza of the Mansion house, and carried away a portion of the piazza of Mortimer Hendrick's cottage. At high tide all the spring piling of the new iron pier was washed away, and some of the bulkheading recently constructed was weakened by the high surf. The bluff between Sea View and Atlantic avenues was cut into in several places and it became necessary to close Ocean avenue north of Sea View. The only approach from Seabright to Long Branch is by way of Long Branch avenue.

PROGRESS OF SPIRITUALISM.

Scheme To Erect a Temple at the National Capital.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Spiritualists are to build a temple in Washington and at the session of the National Spiritualists' association it was announced that a fund was being rapidly collected for the purchase of ground. Milan C. Edson, of this city, who made the announcement, said arrangements were being made to conduct a house to house canvass and it was expected by this means to secure the amount necessary to begin preliminary work. Ephriam Storey, a retired contractor, of Washington, said he would make a liberal donation towards the temple if grounds were secured. Reports made by delegates showed that spiritualism had a large number of followers in the United States. F. P. Phillips of Cincinnati said that in his city there were 25,000 spiritualists well-organized and working together for the good of the belief, while Covington and Newport, Ky., had 10,000 each. In the immediate vicinity of Cincinnati there were, he said, 50,000 persons who believe in the doctrines of the association. F. R. Woodbury of Massachusetts severely criticized Congressman Elijah Adams Morse of his state for the resolutions he introduced in the house of representatives for the recognition of an orthodox God in the federal constitution. He considered this a step backward. The afternoon session was devoted to the odds and ends of unfinished business.

UNCLE SAM'S FINANCES.

Prospect That Receipts Will Soon Exceed Expenditures.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Treasury receipts for the first ten days of October aggregate $6,500,000 while the ordinary expenditures so far have exceeded the receipts by about $1,500,000. To this must be added interest payments of $5,000,000, which swell the total expenditures in excess of receipts to $6,500,000 up to date. Present indications point to about $23,000,000 total receipts for the month. For the next twenty days expenditures are likely to be proportionately less than for the past ten days and for the whole month of October, including interest, the expenditures will probably not exceed the receipts by more than $4,000,000 or $5,000,000. Custom dues from imported sugar may be expected to begin to come in the latter part of this month and an increase of receipts from internal revenue duty from whiskey for the Christmas trade may also reasonably be anticipated in November. Increased receipts, therefore, are anticipated after this month and the prediction is freely made at the treasury that after November, receipts under the new tariff will exceed the expenditures monthly and leave at the end of the fiscal year a substantial surplus. The net treasury balance to-day is $118,784,000 of which $59,840,000 is in gold.

INSANE IMMIGRANTS.

A Peculiar Case Decided by Secretary Carlisle.

Washington, Oct. 11.—A peculiar case was decided by Secretary Carlisle. Two Germans who immigrated to this country several years ago, subsequently became insane and were confined in the Massachusetts state lunatic asylum. Some weeks since the asylum authorities sent them back to Germany, prepaying their passage on the Hamburg company's steamer. The German authorities refused to receive them and they were brought back to this country and landed at Ellis island, N. Y. Commissioner Senner officially received them, it is said, but detained them as insane, and asked the treasury department for instructions. Secretary Carlisle has decided that the United States government has no business to care for the two insane immigrants and that the Hamburg company and the Massachusetts state lunacy commissioner must settle the matter between them. In the meantime the two immigrants are in the custody of the United States officials, who are having trouble in "letting go."

New York Methods Alleged.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 11.—The Law and Order league of this city had another lively tilt with the board of police commissioners and the result is that the abuses alleged to exist in the department, of which the league has complained so often, are to receive an official probing at the hands of a committee of which Mayor Sargent is the head. The president of the league, Rev. E. Newman Smith, pastor of the Centre church, appeared before the board and presented another in which a general disposition on the part of the police department to wink at violations of the liquor law, policy shops permitted to run and non-suppression of houses of bad reputation and gambling dens is alleged. "Tipping" is also hinted at. The letter stated that the league was in possession of and ready to produce evidence to show that patrolmen had been instructed by certain commissioners to close their eyes to violation of the liquor ordinances by certain dealers who were known to have business with the commissioners.

Chief of Police Fatally Hurt.

Eldorado Company Sold Out.

Jersey City, Oct. 11.—The property of the Eldorado Amusement company, on Weehawken heights, was sold under foreclosure proceedings. It was divided into 216 parcels and realized $128,625. It cost the company over $400,000. The buyers are real estate speculators.

DR. HOLMES' FUNERAL.

Final Tribute to the Poet and Philosopher.

Boston, Oct. 11.—The funeral of the late Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes was held in King's chapel and was largely attended. The floral tributes were numerous and of rare beauty. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale and were simple and impressive. Both the body of the chapel and the galleries were occupied by many prominent people. Among them were the Rev. S. F. Smith, D. D., the author of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," and a class-mate of Dr. Holmes; President Eliot of Harvard university, Prof. Charles Eliot Norton, Prof. William Watson Goodwin, Gen. Francis A. Walker, Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, Richard Henry Dana, Henry C. Houghton, the dead poet's publisher; Rev. George E. Ellis, D. D., Col. Henry L. Higginson, Judge Ebenezer Howe, Dr. Wolcott, George C. Shattuck, Charles Follen Adams, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Rev. George Arbuthnot, the vicar of Holy Trinity (the Shakespeare church at Stratford-on-Avon, England); Judges Allen, Barker and Lathrop, and Clerk Noble of the supreme court; Judge Lowell, Rev. Samuel May, Rev. O. B. Frothingham, Lieutenant-Governor Wolcott, Judge E. Rockwood Hoar, William H. Baldwin, Samuel O. Greene, Henry S. Hyde, H. L. Grew, Thomas J. Gargan and R. T. Paine, jr. The pall-bearers were C. J. Paine, Robert Treat Paine, J. J. Morse, jr., E. R. Nevin, C. J. Morse, J. Jackson, C. S. Storrow, F. S. Higginson, C. C. Jackson and J. Jackson, and the ushers were C. P. Putnam, J. J. Putnam, J. J Minot, P. J. Jackson, C. L. Jackson, F. W. Lee, Henry Jackson, Arcibald M. Howe and C. C. Jackson. The body was taken, immediately after the service, to the Jackson lot in Mount Auburn, where it was buried in the same grave in which rests the poet's wife. A few selections were sung by a quartet at the grave, but there was no other ceremony, and only the relatives and most intimate friends were present to pay the final tribute of respect to a life of which gentleness was the soul and simplicity the garment.

BASEBALL RIVALRY.

Gossip About a Proposed New National Association.

New York, Oct. 11.—A baseball man who is conversant with the progress of the new association is authority for the statement that a strong effort would be made to carry the project through, but that its final organization was exceedingly problematical. Al Johnson's friends say that he will not go into the scheme unless he gets the best assurance that the other clubs on the circuits outside of New York are backed by hard cash. The new association, it is understood, will make, if it is organized, a proposition to the national league to act in harmony and draw upon its reserve players, but the big league, of course, will not listen to any scheme the designs of which are to infringe on their territory. A war and the losses of large sums of money are inevitable if a new association is formed.

It is believed that the money to carry on a fight of this kind will be found wanting, although the Philadelphia and Pittsburg men who are trying to push through the scheme of a new association say that if Johnson does not go into it on the New York city end, they have other capitalists in view.

It is known that P. J. Powers has been asked to take the management of the New York team, and while he may have such a proposition under consideration, it is doubtful if he will accept, for he has a comfortable berth as president of the eastern league and is doing well in other lines. It was emphatically denied that A. H. Overman would have anything to do with any association to rival the league, although his name has before this been coupled with a proposed club in this city.

Death of Robert A. McKune.

Newburgh, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Hon. Robert A. McKune died in this city at the home of his sister, Mrs. Robert C. Bancroft, aged 71 years. During the great Reading railroad riots Mr. McKune was the mayor of Scranton, Pa. One day, at that time, during a terrific encounter in the streets, Mayor McKune endeavored to quell the disturbance. He was surrounded by rioters and struck on the head. A Catholic priest, an intimate friend, saved him from further harm, and the injured man was conveyed to the hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a fracture of the skull. By skillful treatment his life was saved, but he had suffered from the injury ever since. Six years ago he removed from Scranton to Wilkesbarre.

MERE FOUL BLACKMAIL

Roosevelt's Idea of Political Assessments.

Efforts of the Civil Service Commissioners To Protect Government Employes from Being Bled—Criminal Prosecution for Violators of the Law.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, United States civil service commissioner, was asked as to what progress the commission was making into the charges from various quarters that heavy political assessments were being made on office holders for campaign purposes.

Mr. Roosevelt said: "We have not yet received an official report as to the alleged assessments in San Francisco, but expect to ere long. We have, however, received statements from officers in other cities that solicitations are being made. Under the decision of the attorney general, if people not in the service of the government solicit contributions by mail we have no power to deal with them. The commission has always been anxious to have a judicial decision upon this point and we will present the matter to congress, urging that legislation be had prohibiting solicitation by letter just as much as soliciting by person.

"We have had more trouble about alleged campaign assessments this year than ever before when a presidential campaign was not on, and we have sent agents to every place where there has been a report that such solicitations have been made. The public may rest assured that we shall publish broadcast what has been done as fast as our reports get in. We guarantee to employes of the government that they need not pay one cent for this purpose, and that they will not in any way be molested for not paying, and we will try to have persons so harassing them criminally prosecuted.

"In the past six months we have had two convictions, one of a postmaster in Kentucky, for violating the civil service law, for which they have been heavily fined, and all such cases shall be prosecuted as rigorously. I am glad to be able to say publicly now, what I said during the last presidential campaign, that no man in office, whether democrat or republican, is under any obligations to contribute to any campaign fund, unless he chooses, and that he cannot be disturbed in his position by his superiors for refusal to contribute. This assessment business is mere foul blackmail, and we intend to make war upon it in every way possible."

Crane Iron Works.

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—The property of the Crane Iron company at Catasauqua, Pa., which concern failed in December last, was sold at public auction at the Philadelphia exchange. John Sparhawk, jr., of Philadelphia, the representative of the bondholders' committee, bid $100,000 for the plant, and as he was the only bidder, it was knocked down to him. The committee will reorganize and will operate the property. The assignees, Robt. M. Kennedy and Leonard Peckitt, have kept the plant in operation since the failure, and they will turn it over to the bondholders' committee as soon as possible. Meanwhile, the operation of the property will be continued. The sale was made for the account of the Provident Life & Trust company, of this city, trustee of the mortgage. All but three or four of the bondholders were represented at the sale.

The Pope and America.

Rome, Oct. 11.—It is stated upon high vatican authority that the pope said to Monsignor Gravel his encyclical letter dealing with the affairs of the church in the United States was aimed at ending the opposition in America to the apostolic delegation. During his conversation with Mgr. Gravel, his holiness exclaimed repeatedly: "It must be ended." The pope's audience of Senor Casteler lasted an hour and a half. His holiness was very cordial. Senor Castelar thanked the pope for his democratic and social leanings and the pope cogratulated the Spanish statesman upon his provisional adhesion to the Spanish monarchy as an act of political prudence.

Bartholomy Gets a Life Sentence.

Buffalo, Oct. 11.—The Bartholomy jury brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree. Judge Childs sentenced the prisoner to imprisonment for life in Auburn state prison. Bartholomy killed ex-City Clerk Delaney. It was decided that Mrs. Bartholomy and Mrs. Thorner will be released from custody. Both Judge Childs and District Attorney Kenefick are agreed that the proof of the felony before the more serious crime was not sufficient to secure or justify an indictment. Several of the jury who tried Bartholomy were of the opinion, however, that the women were in a measure responsible for the killing of Delaney and should not go unpunished.

Fall River Strike.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 11.—After a meeting of striking spinners they said they would not accept anything but a full restoration of the ten per cent. cut. Cloth dropped to 2 15-16 cents again, 1,000 pieces having been sold at that figure. There was an angry feeling shown at the spinners' meeting as an outgrowth of the letter sent to the manufacturers by Mayor Coughy. It is charged against him that he seeks to protect the city treasury and refuses support to the people because they will not work for the wages the manufacturers offer. The mill men have voted to open the mills Monday morning under a reduction.

Czar Has Blood Poisoning.

London, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Telegraph says that Prof. Leyden has again been summoned by wire to attend the czar, and will start for Livadia at once and remain for some time. According to the Cracow newspapers pyaemia has been established, and none of the official reports concerning the czar's condition tallies with the facts.

TAMMANY HALL TICKET

Nominations for New York City Offices.

The Committee of Seventy Expects To Have the Antis in Harmony Soon—Singerly Speaks at Philadelphia—Congressman Wilson Talks to Mountaineers at a Barbecue.

For mayor—Nathan Straus.

For sheriff—William Sohmer.

For recorder—Frederick Smyth.

For superior court judge—Charles H. Truax.

For coroners—John B. Shea and Jacob A. Mittnacht.

New York, Oct. 11.—There was nearly a two hours' session yesterday, beginning at 3 p. m., of the executive committee of the committee of seventy. The meeting, as usual, was with closed doors. At its conclusion Chas. Stewart Smith, chairman of the committee, stated that there had been a good deal of animated talk, but very little to report. He said: "There will be another meeting of the executive and a meeting of the full committee to-day. We expect then to get through and say our last words. There is a feeling of satisfaction among the members of the committee and a firm belief that by this evening all the anti-Tammany organizations will be in harmony. Mr. Smith added that Francis M. Bixby and Major Dougherty, representing the anti-Tammany (O'Brien) faction, called on the committee and announced that their organization would endorse the nomination of William L. Strong for mayor and John Goff for recorder and then adjourn for a conference upon the other candidates. Nothing had been heard from the Stecklers. Mr. Kempner had written a letter, which he had not seen, however, and which had not been laid before the committee, withdrawing his name as a candidate for sheriff. He was asked: "Will the committee put a ticket in nomination as a committee?" "That is a matter yet to be determined," he replied; "whether it does so or not, the committee will not be idle. It has begun a fight which will not end until the campaign ends. A finance committee has been appointed and there is a good deal of work to be done."

Mr. Smith showed a telegram sent by Charles C. Beaman from Milwaukee, Wis., in response to one he had sent him, in which Mr. Beaman says, in reference to the work done by the committee of seventy: "You have accomplished a glorious result. Those that join last should be as welcome as those that joined first."

Singerly Speaks at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—The second meeting of the democracy in the state campaign was held last night at Textile hall in the heart of the manufacturing district of the city and big crowds turned out to listen to the tariff reform principles enunciated by the speakers. There were a number of speakers but Wm. M. Singerly, the party's standard bearer in the state, was the principle one and made the speech of the evening. Mr. Singerly said: "There is no section of the United States, nor any district in Pennsylvania, that has stood up so manfully for tariff reform as has the mill district of Philadelphia. You men who work in the mills know as well as I do and as well as any manufacturer in the city, that with free raw materials and an average duty of nearly forty per cent. upon woolen goods, with our system of manufacturing and our system of superintending and the machinery of America that there is no country on God's earth that can compete with American workmen in the markets of the world. They talk about the McKinley bill. Really, I don't think they have any idea of reviving it. In 1881 and 1882, in this mill district of Philadelphia, there were built over 400 factories in one year! That meant giving employment to 4,000 or 5,000 people. Has there been a single factory built under the McKinley bill in '91, '92 and '93 that you know of in your district? In my very heart I think that protection is legalized plunder. I dont believe in the right of the government to take anything from me that I don't want to give up, and give it to somebody else, or to locate him in some privileged place where God never intended him to be placed. That is my idea of protection."

Wilson's Lively Campaign.

Moorfield, W. Va., Oct. 11.—Hon. W. L. Wilson, Congressman Blanchard, ex-Governor "Windy" Wilson, Isador Straus, Col. Chew, booked to speak at the democratic barbecue here, arrived after having traveled twenty miles in buggies through a driving rain. Two thousand mountaineers met the party at the outskirts of the town and acted as a guard of honor, escorted them to an immense field where several beeves, a dozen sheep, gallons of oysters, coffee and wagon loads of bread were being furnished the hungry crowd. Notwithstanding the weather and intense cold, the miserably wet crowd which was too great for any building here stood for hours wrapped in heavy coats and intently listened to the speeches. Congressman Wilson's appearance upon the platform was a signal for a wild scene, men shouting, throwing hats and clubs in the air and acting as though wild.

Tillman Suspends His Soldiers.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 11.—Gov. Tillman has issued an order suspending all militia officers who refused to go to Darlington when he ordered them and providing that they cannot in future be members of the militia until further orders.

Appeal from the Pope.

London, Oct. 11.—The Standard publishes a dispatch from Rome saying that the pope will shortly address a special appeal to the clergy of the Anglican church on the subject of church reunion.

Suicide of a Consul.

London, Oct. 11.—P. Henderson, British consul at Cadiz went to the foreign office and, drawing a revolver, shot himself dead.

WHY NOT BE STRONG?

DO YOU KNOW WHAT THAT WEAKNESS MEANS?

There is a Limit to Your Endurance—Have You Reached It—Beware of the Last Straw —It Will Come Like a Shock.

Shakespeare says: "When sorrows come, they come not single spies but in battalions." How true this is of disease. How surely will overwork lead to nervousness, headache, nervous exhaustion, prostration, paralysis and the most terrible nervous diseases.

Bad blood causes humors, stomach, liver and kidney complaints, rheumatism, bad complexion, tumors and all kinds of blood diseases. That tired feeling means exhaustion of the nerves and vital forces—chills. If the liver is torpid, constipation follows. This clogs the circulation and causes congestion of all the organs.

You must stop these complaints right where they are, if you value your life. The way to do it is to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It cures disease and makes you well.

MISS ROSE McCARTHY.

The popular Miss Rose McCarthy, of 3[illegible] East 87th st., New York City, writes: "For a long time I was troubled with nervousness and violent headaches. I would lie awake nearly all night and was in constant misery. Previous to this my complexion was a very healthy color, but it now became very bad.

"I took three bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and was entirely cured. My nervousness and headaches left me, my good complexion returned and I slept perfectly. I can safely say to everybody who is suffering, just give it a trial and you will be cured. I hope my statement will find relief for many people who do not know the benefits of such a wonderful medicine."

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy strikes disease like the lightning's flash, which nothing can resist, and where it strikes it cures. Put it to the test in your own case and see how quickly health and strength will be yours.

Physicians recommend it because it is the discovery of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City. You can consult him free, personally or by letter.

The WREN in Business

It is characteristic of the Wren that it will sneak in and occupy the nest made by another bird, in preference to building one of its own. This same trait is often seen in business. It is shown by the imitators of

COTTOLENE

No sooner has the wonderful merit of this new vegetable shortening, so much better than lard, created for it a remarkable sale and popularity, than the business wrens are ready to move upon the market with many worthless counterfeits. Any housekeeper can be easily and cheaply convinced of the value of COTTOLENE by simply giving it a trial. They will then be unwilling to go back to lard, or go down to fraudulent imitations.

GEORGE E. PACE,
Chairman County Ex. Com.

By an unfortunate oversight the faithful Exempts were not invited to participate in the parade when they should have been given a place of honor. They keenly feel the neglect.

The gas-burning public will feel grateful to the Plainfield illuminators for the reduction in price, but such concession is only a natural sequence of the Democratic reduction of the tariff on coal and of the fact that gas is very abundant and cheap around campaign time.

In the days when Plainfield believed in his culture and high ideals, Albert F. Venino prided himself on his work on pedal movement. A little pedal movement vigorously applied to him might perhaps have had beneficial results in connection with a lesson on how to care for a wife.

AN IDOL SHATTERED.

Albert F. Venino was once an idol among musical people of Plainfield. In the shattering of that idol we see how great possibilities can be wrecked by yielding to inherent weaknesses. It is a fine thing to be a genius, but it is a better to be a man. Venino has proved himself to be not much of either, and those who have been his warmest friends have forsaken him and united in a determined defense against his heartless treatment of his wife and six young children. Venino's claim wife and he could never be companionable, may be true; but that does not excuse his absolute indifference to the fate of his children. A father with any heart, conscience or manliness would at least make an effort to provide for his offspring and not shirk their care and expense upon a resourceless wife. In the case of Venino, who was drawing $250 a month, it was not a matter of effort or ability, but of will. He was a wilful deserter. It is to the credit of Plainfield that her people are so spontaneous with resources to secure from legal and injustice the woman and her little ones whom the scheming husband evidently fancied were defenseless and at his mercy. Without means to appear to refute the charges, Mrs. Venino would have been obliged to accept by default the issuance of a decree against her. But Plainfield will take care of her.

The facts of Venino's case have been in the possession of The Daily Press as steadily as they have developed. At the time last midwinter when his family, including the newborn baby, were found destitute, suffering from cold and hunger, in the mortgaged house, strong pressure was brought to bear to expose the faithless husband, but he was shielded in the hope that the attempts to secure his reformation would be successful. When the news of his application for a divorce reached Plainfield, last week, it was deemed best in the interests of justice to make it a Masonic matter, and, for a time proceeding quietly, surprise him with a network from which he could not escape. Contrary to the decision of the lodge, another paper whose editor was a Mason and got an inkling of the affair, forced publication, and it is feared that in consequence Venino may be warned and escape. It will be gratifying to all Plainfield if the effort succeed to require him at least to contribute as materially as possible to the family he has wronged.

TO FIGHT THE SEWERS

Dunellen Determined to Oppose Plainfield's Plan.

The meeting of the citizens last night to protest against the proposed location of the Plainfield sewerage deposit beds, was well attended. Much interest was manifested among those present. The following was adopted:

WHEREAS, We have recently learned with great surprise that the Plainfield Common Council contemplate locating their sewerage and disposal beds on the border of the borough of Dunellen, and

WHEREAS, We earnestly believe that such beds would be highly detrimetal to the health of our citizens and do the greatest possible damage to real estate located anywhere in its vicinity; and

WHEREAS, That part of Plainfield lying west of Rock avenue is more closely allied to Dunellen than Plainfield proper on account of the proximity of its churches, postoffice, station and other interests; therefore be it

Resolved, That we respectfully petition the Common Council of Plainfield not to locate their sewerage and disposal beds west of Clinton avenue in the City of Plainfield. And be it further

Resolved, That the injunction "Do unto others as you would that they should do unto you" should be carried out in the disposal of sewerage which affects health and home of every citizen of Dunellen and vicinity if in nothing else.

Resolved, That a committee of five of the citizens of the borough be appointed to cooperate with the committee of the board of commissioners to carry into effect the above resolutions.

The following committee was appointed to confer with the Plainfield Common Council: Rev. A. I. Martine, Rev. A. Todd, Alva Gray, E. Runyon, and P. M. Ising.

THE ANTHONY BOOM.

By It, Republican Ring Organs Were Disturbed Right Up to the Eve of the Convention.

The candidacy of James L. Anthony worried the ring managers more than they care to acknowledge. Last night the ring organs were still busily engaged trying to offset the growing feeling that Elizabeth ought not to be permitted to keep Plainfield out of her rightful nomination.

The local organ fretted itself by calling such names as "idiot", denying pointblank the Republican facts that appeared in The Press, and saying:

If the editor of that paper knew how thoroughly laughed at he has been, it might disturb his adolescent complacency.

The Elizabeth Journal continued its deceit that The Press was pushing Mr. Anthony's candidacy, whereas it was only giving the news of the pushing the Republicans were doing. The Journal said:

The Plainfield Press (Dem.) is very earnestly engaged in pushing forward James L. Anthony as the Republican candidate for Congress. It so zealously employed itself in this work that it neglected the Democratic primaries, and the delegates were pledged against Hon John T. Dunn, whose letters The Press has been publishing recently in four column installments of nice small type. Let us say to The Press that being advocated by a Democratic sheet does not strengthen a candidate in a Republican convention.

Mr. Dunn's one letter (not letters) in The Daily Press contained good Democratic material that has hurt The Journal ever since it was published. As for the primaries, Plainfield Democrats go to them and vote as they please. Whatever may be the custom of The Journal and other ringsters in moulding the Republicans primaries of Elizabeth, The Press believes in the individual independence of the voter at his primary. Else why have a primary?

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. W. C. Kinsey of Dunellen will speak and sing tonight at the East Third Street Mission. Mrs. Kinsey may also sing during the evening. This interesting speaker should have a large audience. The services commence at 8.

Kissam will give ideas on training-class work; A. C. LaBoyteaux will conduct a meeting for boys; and Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes will talk on "Our responsibility to young men".

PLAINFIELD STUBBORN TO THE END

Orange, 5:15 p. m.—John T. Dunn was nominated for Congress by the Democrats.

Plainfield opposed Dunn unitedly, and voted against the motion to make his nomination unanimous.

There is great feeling and much discussion over the state of affairs.

FOWLER NOMINATED.

Republicans Name Him For Congress.

PLAINFIELD VOTED SOLID FOR ANTHONY ON FIRST BALLOT.

Complimentary votes were given Elias N. Condit of Orange, Halsey Barrett of Bloomfield, and James L. Anthony of Plainfield.

Plainfield at first cast her entire vote for James L. Anthony, proving The Daily Press prophecy and showing that the Plainfield Republican ring organ did n't know what was going on in its own party.

On the second ballot Mayor Gilbert of Plainfield started a stampede for Fowler by throwing the Third ward vote to him.

The other Plainfield wards and other townships followed suit, and the nomination was made unanimous.

BICKNELL-CODDINGTON.

A CHARMING WEDDING IN MT. HOREB CHURCH.

The Groom, a Popular Plainfielder, Wins a Most Excellent Wife—Carriage Journey Through the State.

The Mt. Horeb M. E Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding last evening, when Miss Ariadna Coddington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew Coddington, became the wife of John G. Bicknell of Washingtonville, a trusted employe of J. P. Homan of Somerset street.

At the appointed hour, 7:30, the wedding party entered the church, and, escorted by the ushers, marched up the centre aisle to the altar, which was profusely adorned with flowers, while the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were played by Master John Simpson of Washingtonville, who is a member of Mr. Bicknell's Sunday-school class.

They were met by Rev. Wm. C. Nelson of West Haverstraw, formerly a pastor of the bride, who performed the ceremony of the M. E Church. It was beautiful and impressive.

Charles A. Coddington, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Nettie Beeching was bridemaid.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the party retired from the church and went to the house of the bride, where a reception was held from 8 to 10.

A large number of friends and relatives gathered at the house, where all joined in hearty congratulations for Mr. and Mrs. Bicknell. During the evening all partook of the supper which was all that could be desired.

The bride and groom left the happy company about 11:30, in the usual shower of rice. They came by coach to Plainfield and stopped at Hotel Grenada. Today they started on a carriage drive through the northern part of the State, including, Morristown, Dover, Woodport, Sparter, Hamburg,, Deckertown, Sussex and Unionville. They expect to return next Wednesday, and will spend one week in Mt. Horeb before going to housekeeping at their new home on South avenue, Plainfield.

Those present at the reception were: Mr and Mrs Bartholomew Coddington, father and mother of the bride; Mr and Mrs Bicknell, William Bicknell and the Misses Bicknell of Washingtonville; Mr and Mrs William B Coddington. Mr and Mrs G W Nuse, Miss Anna Nuse, Miss Ida May Coddington, Miss Della Coddington, Albert Coddington, Reuben Coddington, and Charles A Coddington of Mt Horeb; Mrs Woods and David Coddington of Mt. Bethel; Mrs M M Smith, M G Smith, Mr and Mrs Sprague of Brooklyn; Mrs Canfield and mother of Newark; Mrs George Coddington and daughter, Miss Martha J Coddington of Millington; Mr and Mrs Kennedy Bulmer of Martinsville; Miss Mundy of Westfield; Israel J Coon of Union Village; Mrs Case of Plainfield; Miss Hannah Elston and Mrs Theresa Yerks of Sussex; William Titus, John Simpson and Mr and Mrs Andrew Wilson of Washingtonville; Misses Nellie and Lizzie Kitchell of Oil City, Pa.; Mrs Stevens of Wilkesbarre, Pa; Rev and Mrs William Nelson of West Haverstraw, N Y; George Frank Davis and Marcus Beekman of Martinsville; Alvah Carey and W C Dobbins of Plainfield. The last four were the ushers.

The very large number of gifts received gave substantial evidence of the popularity of Mr. and Mrs. John Bicknell

GAVE AWAY HIS NIECE.

PASTOR SCHENCK OF PLAINFIELD GIVES IN MARRIAGE.

Brilliant Wedding of Rev. Frank Scudder and Miss Florence Schenck in an Historic Church.

The following report of a wedding in which prominent Plainfield people participated is from the New Brunswick Home News of yesterday:

Rarely, if ever, has the historic First Reformed Church been the scene of a more beautiful wedding festivity than took place there Tuesday evening, when Miss Florence Dumont Schenck became the wife of Rev. Frank Seymour Scudder, pastor of the Reformed Church of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

The body of the church was filled by nearly four hundred representative people of the city, who awaited with anxious expectancy the arrival of the bridal party. The altar was beautiful to look upon with its profuse decoration of palms, flowers and rare exotics, distributed with the cunning hand of Florist Kitchenmeister, so that the ensemble from a distance resembled a bit of fragrant woodland.

When Organist John W. Durham began the familiar air from Lohengrin, the bridal party began its march up the aisles. The officiating clergymen, Rev. Dr. P. Theodore Pockman and Rev. Ezekiel Scudder, of Asbury Park, father of the groom, approached the altar up the south aisle. The groom accompanied by the best man, his brother, Prof. Myron D. Scudder of Albany, approached from the north aisle, while the ushers and the maid of honor, who scattered flowers as she went, preceded the bride up the centre aisle, who was given away by her uncle, the Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the Trinity Reformed Church of Plainfield.

The assembling of the bridal party at the altar made a picture that was a feast to the eyes. The bride, tall, dignified and stately, looked as charming as a pearl out of Latour. She wore no veil but was becomingly crowned in Duchess satin, with pearl trimming. She carried bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Madge Pockman, looked very pretty in a dress of white satin and lace. The ushers, a distinguished looking quartette, were Charles Scudder of this city; Rev. Mr. Boocock of Flatbush; Dr. Jas. Bishop, Jr., of New York; W. E. Sherwood of Jersey City, all alumni of Rutgers. When the clergymen had repeated the impressive words, the bridal party retraced their steps to the door, the bride complacently recognizing her friends with a smile and a nod.

At the bride's home on Paterson street there gathered the immediate friends of the contracting parties. Many were the felicitations bestowed on the young couple, and the evening went merrily with the usual wedding gayety. Rev. and Mrs. Scudder departed on a late train to parts unknown, their plans being to travel for two weeks, after which they will take up their house in Mt. Vernon. The wedding gifts were very handsome and in great variety.

The bride and groom both come of ministerial families, the Scudders having long been identified with the ministry and missionary work of the Reformed Church. The bride is the daughter of the late Rev. Jacob Schenck, pastor of the Reformed Church of Columbia County, N. Y. In June last Rev. Frank S. Scudder was called to the pastorate of the Mt. Vernon Church, a pulpit which was filled years ago by Rev. Dr. M. H. Hutton of this city. Mrs. Schenck will soon leave this city to take up her home with the bride and groom in Mt. Vernon.

Those from Plainfield who attended the wedding reception were Peter Dumont and wife, and Rev. Cornelius Schenck and wife.

CHESTNUT HUNT.

Holy Cross Sunday-school to Enjoy an Innovation.

If the weather is pleasant on Saturday, Rector T. Logan Murphy and Superintendent B. B. Western of the Sunday-school of the Holy Cross, will take the children to Warrenville for a chestnut hunt.

Conover's largest stage and another of equal dimensions have been engaged for the occasion, and the youngsters with a good supply of good things to refresh the inner man will be piled into these for a jolly ride and a good time. A majority of the officers, Bible Class and teachers of the school will be on hand to care for the little ones, so parents and guardians need have no apprehensions for their safety and return in good condition. The stages will leave the Sunday-school at 10 o'clock sharp and are expected to be back early in the afternoon. The event is causing a good deal of commotion among the young folks of the Borough and all are anticipating royal good sport.

—A five-foot pole and brass trimmings are given away with each pair of those handsome 99-cent lace curtains at The Two Vans. The corner store in the Babcock Building is full of wonderful things.

—The women held possession of Odd Fellows Hall on West Front street today when Friendship Lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebekah, entertained 100 officers of the order from all parts of the State at the annual convention which corresponds to the grand lodge of the Odd Fellows. Secret morning and afternoon meetings were held. Tonight, after five initiations at a short meeting, a supper will be enjoyed in the vacant store in the building, the Juniors having engaged the banquet hall for this evening.

PROTECTING THE FAMILY

Influential Plainfielders to Defeat Venino's Scheme.

THE STORY OF HIS PERFIDY.

His Action for Divorce Based on Trivial and Silly Charges—A Deplorable Case of Friends Scorned and Home Forsaken.

While Plainfield people have been thoroughly familiar with the gradual descent of one of their number from high esteem to utter contempt, they are none the less astounded at the climax of villainy which compels them to abandon their efforts to reform him and unite with the determination of defeating his audacious scoundrelism.

Plainfield has seen the time when its best residents received the man in their homes as an instructor and a friend, when it acknowledged him the most talented and accomplished local artist in his profession, when it fairly kneeled at the feet of its social idol, its marvelously musical genius.

And while Plainfield watched the man bad habits grew upon him and he fell into disrepute and financial ruin, gambling away the last of his money. He abused his faithful, hardworking wife, he went down to the lowest depths of depravity, and then he apparently became penitent. His friends made it possible for him to begin life anew far from Plainfield, he went away, he failed to provide for his wife and six children, he declared himself a single man in his new home and waited until he had obtained a legal residence there. Then he started divorce proceedings that would make it possible for him to curse another woman by marrying her, proceedings that would scatter his children to public asylums or refuge with charitable strangers, proceedings that would blast the future life of the wife to whom he has brought so great sorrow.

That man is Albert F. Venino.

Plainfield will provide the best counsel and furnish the strongest evidence to defeat the dishonorable efforts of this unprincipled man, and to show his new acquaintances what sort of a man he is. It will be impossible for Venino to obtain a divorce, unless justice goes astray.

It is now ten years since Albert Venino first came into notice in this city. He lived in Union Hill then, and came to Plainfield several times a week to give instruction on the piano to students in the Plainfield Seminary on West Seventh street. His reputation as a musician spread, and he soon had a number of pupils whom he taught at their homes. He was very successful, and became popular with his pupils, and through them with society in general.

Venino was 27 years old then. He was tall and slender and good-looking. His long dark hair, through which he used to run his fingers nervously after the fashion of the regulation musician, and his dark brown mustache, gave his face an air of distinction and helped make his personality attractive. The marks of musical genius were apparent in every feature of his face. Of pleasing appearance, therefore, and a pleasant talker, Venino made a good impression on the young women who were his pupils and those he met in society. He carefully kept the fact that he was a married man in the background, and many were surprised when, in April, 1889, he brought Mrs. Venino and their three children from Union Hill to live with him in Plainfield.

They resided at first on Linden avenue. There they remained three years, moving next to the corner of Madison avenue and Sixth street. Just about the time they moved Venino stopped teaching at the Seminary. He never told his wife the reason he did not continue there as instructor. Thereafter he was obliged to live on what he received from pupils outside of the Seminary. His decline in reputation had already begun.

It was his own fault that he started down hill. He could not blame his wife for any share in it. She was not extravagant, for her husband allowed her to pay out the household expenses only. He often abused her when he thought she was spending more than was necessary, and seemed to take great delight in sitting in the kitchen while the clerks from the stores were taking orders and swearing at Mrs. Venino whenever he found a chance to put in a word about the frequency with which she ordered butter, or the quantity of sugar which she needed appeared too large for him. Mrs. Venino always did what she could in the way of lightening the expenses of the household, and received no commendation nor even respectful treatment for her work.

While his wife was at home caring for the children and wasting her strength with kitchen drudgery, Venino would be [illegible]ting the man of leisure about town, [illegible] became quite confidential with some [illegible] young women whom he taught, and [illegible]d their sympathy with tales of his trou[illegible]bles as a married man Mrs. Venino, [illegible]e said, was not of such a delicate, refine[illegible] temperament as he, and she really did n[illegible]t seem to have any perception of the fi[illegible]er beauties of his music A favorite way he had of ending such a jeremiad was to [illegible]mark sorrowfully that these troubles were [illegible] all the result of his marrying beneath him.

Venino was fond of playing draw poker, and it was with a select comp[illegible]any which was accustomed to gather in a [illegible]l bar room connected with one of the lo[illegible] rooms that he lost considerable mo[illegible]ey. He usually played in hard luck but never became discouraged enough to give up the game. He was a moderate drinker also, but never let liquor get the grip on him that other vices did. He used to spend the Summer away from his family, generally at the shore with a certain Plainfield family, the wrecking of whose happiness is attributed to him. Stories of what he did at the Summer resorts occasionally reached this city, much to his discredit, but his wife went quietly and faithfully on with her home duties, betraying her sorrow to no one. When he was not away on trips to some unknown place, Venino made it his custom to spend Sunday at taverns within easy wheeling distance of Plainfield.

Such was the condition of affairs two years and a half ago when Venino thought it advisable to become a property owner. He purchased a lot on Stelle avenue near Plainfield avenue from M. Stelle, and built a house for himself. He made it of medium size, and furnished it elegantly. Mr. Stelle took back a heavy mortgage on the house and lot. The financial standing of the family fell rapidly after they entered the new house. Venino reached the lowest ebb of his prosperity in August, 1893.

He was then confined to his bed by a painful illness. No money came in for music lessons, of course, and even had he been well he would have found scarcely any pupils. The family were starving when members of Anchor Lodge of Masons and the Royal Arcanum, two organizations which he had joined after arriving in Plainfield, discovered their condition and gave them aid. Venino recovered, and his friends began to talk very earnestly with him. He seemed then to realize how he had neglected and abused his family, and gave every indication of a desire to reform.

The Spring preceding this illness he had opened correspondence with Miss Henry, of a musical conservatory in Spokane, Washington, in regard to going out there and becoming the principal instructor on the piano. His friends offered to pay his way to Spokane if he would reform and begin life over again on a higher level. He accordingly arranged matters by additional correspondence with Miss Henry, and agreed to take the position at a salary of $250 per month. His friends purchased a ticket, and gave him sufficient money so that he would have $30 in his pocket on his arrival. Unknown to these subscribers he went to another generous citizen, as was recently discovered, and borrowed $50 additional.

He left in September last year, bidding an affectionate farewell to Mrs Venino and the five children—Frank, aged then 15 years; Alice, 13; Mattie, 9; Maud, 4, and Florence, 2. He promised to send them all he could spare of each month's salary. He said he thought he could get a fresh start out in the new country and hoped that he would soon establish for himself such a reputation that he could have his family join him and be sure of being able to support them there.

In October Venino sent home $30. In November $60 came. The next month Mrs. Venino asked for more as she wished to make Christmas happy for the children, and $80 was sent in response. After that the regular remittance was $60. Then July, August and September passed and not a cent came from Washington until four weeks ago when $25 was received. This is the record of how Venino fulfilled his promise.

It was a year ago this month that the destitution of the family became known to people outside of the small circle of friends and neighbors who had helped them during Venino's illness. A number of charitable women of the town found the family, including the newborn infant, in a destitute condition. The occupants of the fine home were absolutely without means. The women cared for them, Venino's next remittance came, and Winter set in. During all of the cold months there was no fire in the house except in the kitchen. In the Summer came another period of privation, when three months went by without word or money from the cruel husband.

In the meantime Venino was evidently doing well in Spokane. He seemed to have his worked his way into society in the western city as he had done in Plainfield. He passed for a single man there, and when an interested Plainfielder sent a communication telling him his wife was starving, Venino feared his secret might have leaked out and hastily sent back word begging his friend not to give him away. He explained later that Miss Henry had taken it for granted that he was unmarried so that when he went to his work and was introduced as such he had not thought it best to tell the truth. He admitted there were disadvantages for a number of the girls he met were inclined to become affectionate, much to his embarrassment, he said.

The letters that he wrote when he sent home were always very kind and loving To be sure he did not express much of an interest in the condition of his relatives and neglected to ask whether little Arthur, the child born after he went away, was a boy or girl; but still he made no unkind remarks and did no scolding in his correspondence.

The last letter was like all of the rest and contained no warning of courtship with some wealthy Washington girl or of his purpose to seek divorce and marry her.

The climax, therefore, came unexpectedly to Mrs. Venino. It was at 3 last Friday afternoon that she went to the door and found a short, gray-haired stranger there to serve a legal document He looked sharply and curiously at the woman as if he knew the furniture was to be taken away the next day and that foreclosure proceedings on the property were impending. It was a terrible shock to the woman to find that the paper was a summons and a complaint in a divorce suit expressed in the following terms:

THE STATE OF WASHINGTON, } ss. In the Superior Court.
COUNTY OF SPOKANE.

ALBERT F. VENINO, Plaintiff,
vs.
MATHILDA VENINO, Defendant. } Summons.

The State of Washington, to the said Mathilda Venino, defendant. You are hereby summoned to appear within sixty days after service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and defend the above entitled action in the Court aforesaid, and serve a copy of your answer on the persons whose names are subscribed to this summons, at Spokane, State of Washington, and in case of your failure so to do, judgment will be rendered against you, according to the demand of the complaint [illegible]ich will be filed with the Clerk of said Court, [illegible] of which is herewith served upon you, a copy [illegible] this 22d day of September, 1894.

Dated [illegible] CROTTY & KIMBALL,
Attorneys for Plaintiff,
57 and 58 Jamieson Block.
P. O. Address, Spokane,
Spokane County,
State of Washington.

I, the undersigned, one of plaintiff attorneys, hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original summons issued in the above-entitled action, this 22d day of September, 1894.

HORACE KIMBALL,
One of the Attorneys for Plaintiff.

In the Superior Court of the State of Washington, for the County of Spokane.

ALBERT F. VENINO, Plaintiff,
vs.
MATHILDA VENINO, Defendant. } Complaint.

Plaintiff complains of the defendant and for cause of action alleges:

1. That the plaintiff and defendant intermarried in the City of Union Hill, County of Hudson, State of New Jersey, on or about the 15th day of April, 1877, and ever since have been and now are husband and wife.

2. That the plaintiff has been a resident of the State of Washington for a period of more than one year immediately preceding the commencement of this action and is now a resident of Spokane County, Washington.

3. That said plaintiff ever since his said marriage has performed his marriage vows faithfully and has been a kind and dutiful husband towards said defendant.

4. That the said defendant disregarding her marriage vows and the solemnity thereof has repeatedly since their said marriage treated plaintiff in a violent, cruel and inhuman manner and offered him personal indignities rendering his life burdensome, which said actions of cruelty consisted of this, that on or about the 15th day of January, 1888, in the City of Union Hill, State of New Jersey, where plaintiff and defendant then resided, while plaintiff was confined to his bed and dangerously ill from an attack of malarial fever, it being during the Winter of said year and severely cold, the defendant refused to render plaintiff any attention whatever, and plaintiff being unable to move from his said bed was compelled to lie and remain in a cold room the temperature of said room being far below freezing point, without fire or attention, though at the time defendant was present in the house and amply provided with fuel and though requested by plaintiff so to do, defendant absolutely refused to build any fire whatever in said room or allow any fire to be built in said room to which plaintiff was confined, nor would she allow said room to be heated in any manner, thereby causing plaintiff great physical pain and mental anguish.

5. That on or about the 15th day of July, 1892, in the City of Plainfield, State of New Jersey, where plaintiff and defendant then resided, defendant at the supper table violently assaulted said plaintiff with a large carving-knife and had she not been restrained she would have done plaintiff great personal injury. That on or about the 15th day of August in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, where plaintiff and defendant were then residing, plaintiff again being confined to his bed with an acute attack of fistula and hemorrhoids, and being unable to leave his bed, defendant absolutely refused to come near plaintiff or attend him in any way, and would violently slam the doors about the house and in every conceivable way annoy and worry said plaintiff.

9. That since their said marriage at divers times the defendant without any provocation whatever on the part of said plaintiff would fly into a paroxysm of passion and temper and would repeatedly curse plaintiff, and defendant since their said marriage has repeatedly used vile and opprobrious epithets towards plaintiff, and towards plaintiff's father and mother. That defendant has at other and divers times since their said marriage treated plaintiff in a most cruel and inhuman manner and has rendered personal indignities towards him, thereby making his life burdensome.

Wherefore, Plaintiff prays judgment against the defendant:

1. That the bonds of matrimony now existing between the plaintiff and defendant be dissolved, and that the plaintiff be absolutely divorced from said defendant.

2. For all other and proper relief to which he may in equity be entitled.

CROTTY & KIMBALL,
Attorneys for Plaintiff.

She realized the man's cruelty then. The absurdity of the charges made her appreciate it the more. She had never threatened him nor been cruel to him nor sought to make his life unhappy. When she read the statement that he had always been faithful and a kind and dutiful husband she thought of the way in which he had brought disgrace to his family. She remembered how he had drawn a revolver once during his illness and threatened to kill every one in the room. She thought of how aptly the stereotyped expressions of the document would apply to his own passionate temper. He had been in Washington a year, just time enough to be a legal resident of the county and State when he started the proceedings.

Mrs. Venino consulted her friends at once. They promised Venino to take care of her when he left and now they propose to do it. The best lawyers in Spokane have been retained by telegraph and within the sixty-day limit an answer will have been filed that will thwart Venino's dastardly attempt and prove to the people of Spokane the character of the man the city shelters. There will no lack of funds to push the matter through.

The news was sent by The Press last night, and this morning papers throughout the State of Washington are telling of what Venino has done.

A Press reporter inquired of Counselor Craig A. Marsh whether it was true that he was counsel for the plaintiff in the Venino divorce case, as reported. Mr. Marsh declared that he was not. He said he supposed that the report started from the fact that he had been instructed to sell Mr. Venino's house and apply the purchase money to the payment of his debts and to give the balance to Mrs. Venino. Such instructions came from Mr. Venino several days after the divorce suit was begun, and in his letter Mr. Venino made no reference to that case beyond stating that he had begun the suit, and would make ample provision for the support of his children.

GAS TO BE CHEAPER.

Voluntary Concession by the Company in the Interest of the Public.

President E. R. Pope of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company today gives official notice in the advertising columns of The Daily Press that the price for illuminating gas will be reduced Nov. 1 from the present price of $2 20 per thousand cubic feet to $2, with 10 per cent off for cash. Special rate for fuel gas is offered.

This concession in the interests of the public will doubtless result in increased patronage.

THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA

by Columbus brought enlightenment to the world. New fields of enlightenment in this century are in the lines of science. The triumph of Conservative Surgery is well illustrated by the fact that RUPTURE or Breach, is now radically cured without the knife and without pain. Clumsy, chafing trusses never cure but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death. TUMORS, Ovarian, Fibroid (Uterine) and many others, are now removed without the perils of cutting operations. PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula and other diseases of the lower bowel, are permanently cured without pain or resort to the knife. STONE in the Bladder, no matter how large, is crushed, pulverized, washed out and perfectly removed without cutting. STRICTURE of Urinary Passage is also removed without cutting in hundreds of cases. THE OLD CART EXEMPT

Firemen Have a Gala Night Over the New Arrival.

GOOD SHOWING IN STREET PARADE.

The People Decorate, Illuminate and Cheer Along the Route—Mayor Gilbert Speaks for Annexation—Enthusiasm for the Flame-Defenders.

The arrival of Warren Engine Company's new hose wagon was marked with a great celebration by the firemen last night. Plainfield's four companies joined with Warren in an enthusiastic parade, a hearty banquet and an enjoyable dance.

The music of bands marching from train and headquarters to Warren Engine Company's house shortly after 7 brought thousands of Plainfielders from their houses. All moved towards Somerset street and before the parade began Front and Somerset streets were filled for blocks with dense crowds of people.

At 8 the procession started from Craig place up Somerset street. In front were Chief Marshal William N. Pangborn, Chief of Police George W. Grant, and Township Committeeman William C Smith formed a mounted van-guard. Behind them came carriages containing Mayor Needham, Mayor Gilbert, Borough Councilmen Neal, Peck, Howell, Valiant and Winckler, Borough Clerk James K Arnold, ex-Mayor John VanWinkle, ex-Councilmen Connolley and Emmons, Councilman Lounsbury was prevented from riding by a severe cold, but joined the party at supper afterwards.

After the carriages marched the Crescent Band of Raritan, Then came the officers of the Plainfield fire department headed by Chief T O. Doane. Plainfield Engine Company No. 2 followed with the engine and the hose wagon. The Union Band of New Brunswick were next, parading in front of Alert's silver hose carriage which was drawn by 16 members of the company. The more substantial hose wagon of the company was close behind with Councilman Fisk on the seat.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corp escorted Gazelle Engine Company's members who marched with their wagon gaily decorated, and an enormous grotesque papier mache face grinned from the rear at the next body of paraders, the Friendship Band of New Market. They were followed by Zephyr Truck Company whose apparatus, neatly decorated, was drawn by prancing horses with high plumes of red, white and blue fringed tissue paper. N. H. Guttman's musicians formed the last of the five bands in line. They kept time for Warren Engine Company's members, who paraded proudly with their newly repaired engine and their brand-new hose wagon. Away at the rear was the old hose cart bearing the transparency with the single expressive word "Exempt".

It took over eight minutes for the parade to pass a given point, nearly 300 men being in line. Red fire was burned all along the route and many of the houses were decorated and illuminated The parade was one long, continuous scene of bright lights, gay colors, smart uniforms and handsomely appointed apparatus mingled in well arranged confusion.

The line of march as published in The Press was strictly adhered to. Among fine decorations was that at the home of Township Clerk Horace J. Martin on Jackson avenue. A thick row of lighted candles arranged along the edge of the piazza roof was the striking feature. Opposite the home of Township Committeeman R. M. Fountain had a similar illumination on the piazza railing.

The most elaborate of all were the decorations at the home of Ex-Chief Andrew L. Carney on Emily street. In the yard in front of the piazza was raised a large platform draped with bunting. In the centre was a high pedestal similarly draped. The whole was lighted by incandescent lamps which was arranged by Charles Sebring and D. J. Carney. A children's tableau was presented when the firemen were near. Little Miss Mamie Carney stood on the top of the pedestal with the Misses May and Bertha Neely, daughters of T. A. Neely of Vine street, at her right and left respectively on the platform below. The girls were dressed in white with wings of white and crowns of silver They posed perfectly and received the heartiest of applause from the paraders. On a ladder leaning against the pedestal stood Andrew Carney, Jr., attired as a fireman and holding in his hand the trumpet his father used. The idea was a novel one and was so effectively carried out that it excited the admiration of every one.

Others who adorned their houses with flags and lanterns were Peter Emmons, Mayor Needham, Mr. Smalley, Samuel Moore, Ralph Conover, Emil Messerschmidt and J. E. Bailey of Jackson avenue; Dr. H. K. Carroll of Westervelt avenue; Chief Fairchild, Wm. C. Smith, W. T. Jeffery, F. C. Krewson, Edward Schenck and George Kirch of Grandview avenue; W. F. Day, Frank W. Bailey and A. J. Winckler of Park place; E. A. Faber of Rockview avenue; the Park Club and Club and John Emmons on Washington avenue; Thomas McGann, Jeremiah Jaggers, Thomas Doud and Thos Mulcher of Emily street; George R. Schiereth, Mrs. Schaefer, James Stewart, Frank E. Kesselring, Elijah Stites, A. B. King, Edward Morse, and Marshal Zachariah Wilson of Chatham street; A. J. Lutkins and Joseph Humble of Somerset street. H. N. Spencer's store was lighted with Chinese lanterns and by an arc light supplied by Charles Sebring. Boyce's Somerset Hotel, Hipp's Manhattan Wine Rooms and Spiegel's Crescent Hotel were neatly trimmed with flags and lanterns. Down town the establishments of Charles Smith and Jacob Blimm were elaborately decorated.

After two hours of marching the firemen left their machines in the houses and gathered in Saengerbund Hall, glancing as they entered at a large painting which hung over the entrance. It represented two firemen in full uniform and was the work of William R. Stahl. Two hundred firemen and musicians were served at supper in the basement, nearly all being accommodated at one time.

The prominent invited guests sat at the head of the main dining room. As the firemen finished eating Mayor Needham was called on for a speech. In a pleasant way he referred to his appreciation of the value of the firemen's services and greeted the Plainfield visitors with a few words of welcome.

He was followed by Mayor Gilbert who first told his experience in Brooklyn 30 years ago when he served five years as a fireman. He spoke of the changes in methods, discipline and apparatus which had been made since that time and then went on to advocate the consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield. On this subject he said in part: "I think that North Plainfield honestly belongs to Plainfield. The two should be one city and one of these days they will be legally united. Nothing divides us now but a narrow stream. We all look forward to the raising of a large city on this plain.

I would be glad to have the marriage ceremony performed while I am Mayor. I married a couple a few weeks ago, and I like it so well that I am waiting for another ceremony. I think the people are ready for consolidation. It would help us to an important place among the cities of the State.

Then the mayor told what a great fire department would be found when the change was made. With a warm greeting to Warren and wishes that with the new apparatus the company would be just as successful in the future as in the past, Mayor Gilbert finished speaking and sat down amid applause.

The basement was vacated then and at 11 dancing began in the hall above. It continued nearly all the night.

SOCIALISTS TO MEET.

They Plan for a Lively Campaign in Plainfield.

Workingmen are invited to a mass-meeting for the opening of the Socialist campaign, Friday, Oct. 12, at 8 p. m., in T. A. B. Hall, Fourth street, near Liberty. Mathew Maguire of Paterson and Wm. Walker of Newark will speak. The following are the candidates of the party: For Congress, 8th District, James Bell; for Assembly, Jos. B. Keim, Arthur Scott, Randolph S. Miller; for County Clerk, Otto Hufnagel; for Coroner, Charles Grieb.

Rosevilles Win the Series.

The Rosevilles were too much for the Parks when it came to rolling the deciding game of the series. The Parks lost the third game through hard luck, having about ten splits, while the Rosevilles rolled in splendid form and good luck. About seventy five members and their friends witnessed the games. Considering the fact that the pins were new and used for the first time, the scores were very creditable.

WOMAN'S TRIALS.

SOME LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT.

So Many Suffer Without Knowing Why. Much Can Be Avoided.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

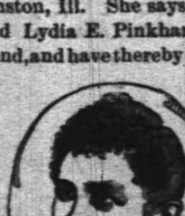
So many feel the very life crushed out of them, wake up cheerful and happy, determined to do so much before the day ends, and yet:

Before the morning is very old, the fearful backache or bearing-down feeling attacks them, the bravespirit sinks back in affright; no matter how hard they struggle, the "clutch" is upon them, and they sink into a chair, crying, "Oh! why should I suffer so? What can I do?" The answer is ready, your cry has been heard, and a woman is able to restore you to health and happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will stop your torture and restore your courage. All your pains come from a deranged uterus or womb.

It is the greatest of all rewards to receive such letters as the following from Miss Louise Müller, who lives at 44 Michigan Ave., in Evanston, Ill. She says:

"As I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and have thereby become entirely well, I am recommending all my lady friends to use it. I am sure it will help them in all cases of womb trouble, leucorrhœa, irregular or painful "monthly periods." I am sure it is our best friend.



I am so thankful to Mrs. Pinkham for the good she has done me, that I wish every sick woman in America would write to her at Lynn, Mass., and get her advice."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

JAPS AT SHANHAIKWAN

A Force of 45,000 Troops Landed There.

The Chinese Have Plenty of Soldiers, But a Total Lack of Modern Arms—Foreigners Leaving Pekin—No Confirmation Yet of the Reported Capture of Che-Foo.

London, Oct. 11.—A dispatch to the Star from Shanghai says the Japanese and Chinese outposts had a skirmish on Oct. 9 north of the Yalu river. The Japanese across the river reported that 45,000 Japanese troops had landed at Shanhaikwan at the entrance of the gulf of Liau-Tong and cut all the telegraph wires. The report that the Japanese had landed a force at New-Chwang is unconfirmed.

A dispatch from Shanghai to the Central News says that although the Chinese government has plenty of men at its disposal, there is a total lack of modern arms for their use. This deficiency, the dispatch asserts, the Germans are endeavoring to supply. The families of the customs officials at Pekin are arriving by every steamer.

A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Yokohama says the Japanese government has decided to raise an internal war loan of £10,000,000, which, together with the new taxation for war purposes, will bring the resources of the government up to £26,000,000.

CAPTURE OF CHE-FOO.

No Confirmation of the Rumor Received at Washington Yet.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Neither the Chinese nor the Japanese legation has yet been notified by its government of the reported capture of Che-Foo. The correctness of the report is doubted at the Chinese legation. It is said by the Chinese officials that Che-Foo is strongly fortified and that a very considerable Chinese army is stationed there. They say it would require a large force to capture the place, and they would certainly be notified if a battle of any importance had been fought. It is not the policy of the Pekin government to notify their diplomatic representatives in foreign countries of the progress of the war. The only official notification the legation has received since the commencement of hostilities, was that a formal declaration of war had been made against Japan. This information was laid before the secretary of state and nothing additional has been received from the foreign office.

The Chinese officials think there is no question that the ultimate destination of the Japanese army is Pekin. They are not disposed, however, to believe that the enemy's troops will be successful in reaching the Chinese capital. The winter begins early in the northern provinces and the Japanese, they say, will encounter great difficulties in their march across the country. They ridicule the suggestion that the Chinese emperor will remain in Pekin to fall prisoner in the hands of the Japanese, even though the latter should be successful in capturing Pekin. Nor are they dismayed by the series of victories which have followed Japan's invasion of China. The loss of Pekin, they say, would by no means end the war. Each successive victory by the Japanese only causes a more deep-seated hostility to the invaders, and in the end, they say, the troops of the yellow dragon will triumph. Japan has succeeded thus far because of the superior organization of their army, but the Chinese troops are rapidly getting on a war footing and the result of this will be a more determined resistance on their part.

At the Japanese legation, it is believed that the despatches annoucing the capture of Che-Foo are correct. If the city had been captured without a battle the legation is not likely to be notified. But if a serious conflict has occurred full particulars will soon be received. The Japanese minister says that the mere fact that Che-Foo is a treaty port will not prevent the troops of his country from occupying it. According to the terms of international law a belligerent force may blockade or, if need be, bombard a treaty port with forty-eight hours' notification. At the beginning of hostilities the English government requested that Shanghai be regarded as neutral territory, because of the vast British interests there. To this request Japan consented, but this is the only condition made by the Japanese government with any foreign power regarding the neutrality of Chinese cities.

Japs' Dummy Warships.

London, Oct. 11.—The Times has this dispatch from its correspondent in Tien-Tsin: "Minister N. R. O'Conor has arrived at Che-Foo aboard H. M. S. Alacrity and is proceeding in haste to Pekin. The emperor is now taking the iniative and is infusing new energy into the work of national defence, mustering military resources the existence of which was scarcely suspected. The viceroys of Yunkwei and Hukwang have been summoned to Pekin for counsel. The Japanese admiral has been making sham demonstrations with dummy ships painted like war vessels, but there always have been the same two cruisers appearing about the promontory of Shan-Tung. The English papers received contain a falsified version of the Chinese emperor's declaration of war. The phrase 'rooting the pestilential Japanese from their lairs' is not in the original. Experience has shown that Japanese accounts of events preceding and during the war have been systematically misleading."

To Search for Lenz.

Pittsburg, Oct. 11.—The wheelmen of western Pennsylvania are very anxious to learn of the fate of Frank Lenz, and various schemes have been proposed to do so. At a conference it was decided to start a subscription list for the purpose. These gentlemen feel certain that wheelmen will respond liberally to such a plan and that enough money will be raised by this means to send out a searching party in the hope of finding Lenz, who left this city about three years ago to make a tour of the world on a bicycle. He is supposed to be either dead or alive somewhere in the deserts of Asia.

REMARKABLE CURES

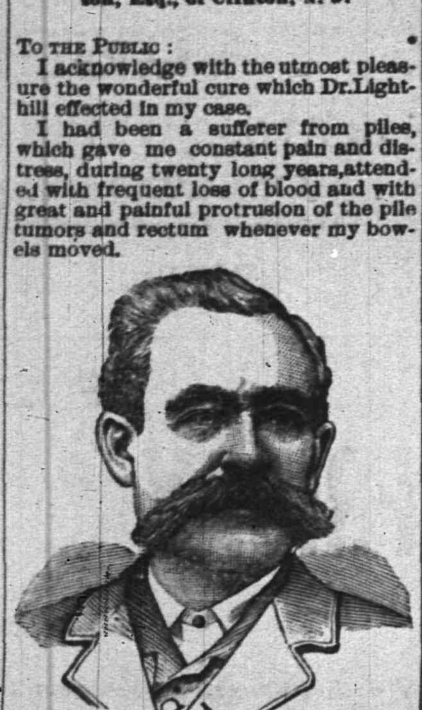
Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

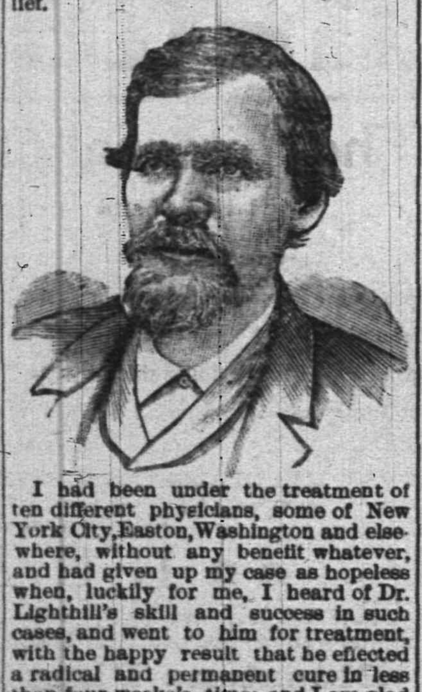
THE CASE OF MR. PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

JAPAN STILL WINNING

Uninterrupted Invasion of the Chinese Empire.

Li Hung Chang Buying Krupp Guns—Chinese Version of the Causes of the War—Alleged Bad Faith on the Part of Japan—Futile Efforts To Arbitrate.

London, Oct. 12.—The Central News correspondent in Wi-Ju gives details of a battle reported from Tokio. He says that the Japanese force had been greatly delayed in its advance by the badness of the roads. The heavy guns could be brought forward but slowly and the troops were compelled often to wait for supplies. Pioneer troops had to be used repeatedly to make the roads passable. The main Japanese column reached Yung-Chon, a short distance to the south of Wi-Ju, on Oct. 4. There was no sign of the enemy. Four days later the scouts who had been sent out toward Wi-Ju reported that a small Chinese force still occupied the city. The strength of the enemy was estimated as about 2,000. A strong body of infantry and cavalry, supported by light artillery, was thrown forward at once. The Chinese offered little resistance. They retired before the first attacking party and eventually broke and fled across the Yalu. The Chinese loss was hardly more than a hundred killed and wounded. The Japanese line of communication is now complete throughout Korea. The Japanese expect further reinforcements to come to Wi-Ju by water. A Japanese officer has been appointed governing commissary of Wi-Ju.

The Central News correspondent in Tokio says that the emperor of Japan will receive personally eight Korean officials who will start for Hiroshima on Saturday to thank him for suppressing the Korean rebellion. The envoys will present to his majesty a memorial requesting that Japan undertake to protect Korea permanently from foreign encroachment. The correspondent adds: "The Japanese government means to establish Korea on a strong foundation in order that she may aid Japan in repelling the encroachments of Russia and other powers. Rumors that European interference to limit the war is possible, cause astonishment here. The government cannot stop the war until its demands shall have been satisfied. There must be guarantees that China will not interfere further with Korea and an ample war indemnity must be paid."

The Tien-Tsin correspondent of the Central News says: "Li Hung Chang has closed contracts with Krupp's agents to supply the government with guns and ammunition, on the condition that the same shall be delivered before the closing of navigation for the winter. Large supplies are coming to the city from the Canton and other arsenals."

China's Side of the Case.

Washington Oct. 12.—The first authoritative statement of the Chinese side in the present war with Japan was given out through the medium of a personal letter received by a gentleman in Washington of international reputation. Chang Yen Hoon, a member of the Toung Li Yamen, or foreign office and formerly minister to the United States, is the writer of the letter, and while it is of a personal character, he asks that it be given to the American press. The letter follows:

Pekin, China, Aug. 21, 1894.

My Dear Friend—Since I last had the pleasure of writing you the evils of war have fallen upon my country most suddenly. It may be of interest to you to know the exact causes of the unfortunate trouble between this government and the government of Japan, and which may be more correctly represented by me than it is likely to be reported in the papers of America.

In the month of June last, riots of a rebellious character broke out in the southern part of Korea, and as that country is tributary to this government, it sought from us military assistance. Accordingly 1,500 troops were dispatched by Viceroy Li to the vicinity of the rebellion, a place named Ya-Shan, about seventy miles from the Korean capital, with no other aim but to suppress the rebels and restore peace to those unfortunate people. The Japanese government on hearing of the action of the imperial government sent immediately large forces, took possession of the Korean capital, and fortified themselves in all the important positions.

When the Chinese troops arrived at Ya-Shan the rebels dispersed and peace was restored. In accordance with a treaty between the two governments that the forces of both countries should immediately be withdrawn after a riot or rebellion had been suppressed, the imperial government was about to withdraw its troops, but Japan insisted on permanently stationing her military forces in that country. Soon afterwards Japan demanded that certain reforms should be forced on Korea, modifying its laws, and asking the imperial government to renounce all claims over Korea. My government would not consent, for it is not the custom nor do the laws permit that we should control the internal affairs of a tributary country.

I need not remind you that history has for years told us that Korea is tributary to this country. And at the time when Korea sent her first representative to Washington, on my call at your state department, the secretary of state did not hesitate to acknowledge that Korea was tributary to the imperial government and that it was with its consent that she carried on treaty negotiations with foreign powers.

As matters were developing into a very dangerous state, her Britannic majesty's minister to this court was good enough to offer his services in the hope that the two nations might settle the question peaceably by arbitration. The imperial government was most willing to act according to the treaty stipulations between the two countries. On an intimation of her Britannic majesty's minister that the withdrawal of the troops of both would assist in a speedy arrangement, we expressed our perfect readiness to recall our troops. The Japanese minister at Seoul informed our representative there that he would advise his government to withdraw its troops and put a stop to further forces about to be dispatched to Korea. But Japan would not listen to reason, and disregarded all the solemn promises contained in the treaty stipulations. Her Britannic majesty's minister's well-meant intervention was of no avail. On being asked by this government your noble president also represented to the Japanese government in most strong terms how sorry he would feel to hear that friendly relations had ceased between the two countries and that he would consider it an unjust and unnecessary war.

Finally the Japanese legation sent this foreign office a most unreasonable note that should hostilities break out, it would not be Japan that commenced them. If it had been the intention of this government to gain any advantage from the Korean trouble, we would have sent more than 1,500 troops to that country, and they would have occupied themselves in other ways than in the suppressing of rebels. I am sure the world will be thoroughly convinced that China, not only in this case, but in all previous troubles, has never taken the offensive.

As Japan continued to increase her forces in Korea and affairs become more threatening, the imperial government sent reinforcements thither to protect Chinese subjects and the interests she had enjoyed and which had been recognized by the civilized world for many years; and it was not until our transport ships had been fired upon without a previous declaration of war, and one of them sunk, that this government gave up all hopes of arbitration and entered upon war.

In the fear that the exact causes of this unhappy trouble may not have been properly presented in the American newspapers, I write you in the hope that you will be convinced that my government has done the utmost to maintain friendly relations, and that it was not China that commenced hostilities. If it is not improper and not against the usual practice, I would like to have this letter published in your leading newspapers, hoping that its publication may gain for my country the sympathy of the great American people. I remain, yours ever truly,

CHANG YEN HOON.

STEALING POSTAGE STAMPS.

An Employe of the Engraving Bureau Gets Into Trouble.

Washington, Oct. 12.—William B. Smith of Elizabeth, N. J., 32 years old, an employe of the bureau of engraving and printing, was arrested here by Andrew McWilliams, chief clerk of the secret service, for stealing 50,000 two cent postage stamps from the bureau. Mr. Smith was appointed three months ago to a subordinate position in the treasury department and assigned to work in the bureau of engraving and printing. In his position he help mail packages of postage stamps to fill orders of postmasters. On September 26 last he was given an order to fill from the postmaster at Ionia, Mich. The order called for two packages of two-cent postage stamps of fifty thousand each. Smith put up only one package instead of two, although he took two packages of fifty thousand stamps each, secreting the other about his person. On last Saturday the postmaster at Ionia, Mich., informed the proper official here that only one package of fifty thousand had been received by him, although he had ordered two packages of fifty thousand. The postoffice authorities and bureau of engraving officials could not account for the discrepancy as their books were all right. They placed the matter in the hands of Mr. McWilliams and two hours later Mr. Smith was behind the bars and $60 worth of the stamps he had stolen had been recovered in one place and smaller quantities found at two other places. The secret service officers believe Smith had a confederate and they expect soon to effect his arrest. The theory is that Smith, after he stole the stamps, by means of confederates disposed of them at various places about the city. Smith by direction of Secretary Carlisle was summarily dismissed from the service of the treasury. Fears are expressed that other packages of postage stamps may be found missing and that the robbery may be more extensive than now appears. Postmasters will be asked to report if all orders for stamps made by them recently have been filled.

Veteran Ewell's Case.

Albany, Oct. 12.—Department Commander John C. Sholts, of the state G. A. R., called on Gov. Flower and discussed the civil service question regarding the appointment of the veteran Ewell, in the department of secretary of state. The state civil service commissioner had, it was claimed, interpreted the rules so as to uphold the action of the comptroller in refusing to pay Ewell's salary until the veteran's honorable discharge had been filed, a course objected to by Secretary Palmer, who holds that his word that Ewell is a veteran should be sufficient. The governor had a consultation with the state civil service commission, but reserved his final disposition of the matter until later.

Gould Pays His Taxes.

Lakewood, N. J. Oct. 12.—George J. Gould sent Tax Collector Todd, of Lakewood township, his check for $36,200 being the amount of his taxes on assessed valuation of $200,000 for personal property at the rate of $1.81 per $1,000. Mr. Gould left here too early last spring to be asked the amount of his personal property, and returned too late in the fall, so Township Assessor Robbins was compelled to set his own valuation. That Mr. Gould was pleased with the assessment there seems to be no doubt for as soon as he returned from abroad he sent his check for the amount. By his taking up his residence and paying taxes here he saves just one-half of what he would pay in New York.

FIVE MEN KILLED.

Twenty-seven Boilers Explode at Shamokin, Pa.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 12.—Twenty-seven of a nest of thirty-six boilers at the Henry Clay colliery exploded completely destroying the boiler house, killing five men, seriously injuring two and sightly injuring four. The list of killed and injured is as follows:

Killed—Thomas Carr, fireman; Wm. Boyle, fireman; Wm. Eslick, fireman; Wm. McLaughlin, laborer; J. J. Dediam, water boss.

Injured—J. F. Dichanstin, fireman, seriously; Peter Heck, laborer, seriously. The following were not so seriously injured: Wm. Quinn, lamp cleaner; Dennis Brennan, breaker boy; Nicholas Harris, laborer; Frank Hadduck, laborer.

At the time of the accident there were, as far as known, seven men around the boiler house. Nobody seems to be able to give a correct statement as to the cause of the explosion. Without a moment's warning the last boiler on the west side of the nest went up and it was followed by the others in rapid succession. The workmen were knocked in every direction and what had been but a few minutes before a strong corrugated iron building disappeared as if by magic, and all that remained was a tumbling mass of bricks and timbers besides numerous pieces of twisted pipe and battered boiler iron.

The nine remaining boilers were so injured that they will never be used. Pieces of heavy steel were carried hundreds of yards while a half of a boiler was found over a quarter of a mile away up the mountain. The terrific report was heard for miles and it was scarcely a minute before many of the employes of the colliery were upon the scene of devastation and at once set to work to liberate the men who were under the debris. Three were dead when taken out and the remains of some, as well as being crushed were frightfully burned by coming in contact with the heated iron and coals from the fire boxes. Carr, Boyle and Eslick were dead when found in the debris and McLaughlin and Dediam died soon after being removed to their homes. Fireman Dichanstin is internally hurt besides having several fractured bones and it is feared he cannot recover. Peter Heck was knocked insensible by flying brick. His scalp is badly torn and he is severely bruised.

TO BECOME CURRENT COIN.

Fate of the World's Fair Souvenir Half Dollars.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The Chicago souvenir coins of the great World's fair are to become current half dollars. It was at one time supposed that those coins would command fancy prices as souvenirs. This expectation was not realized. The whole issue authorized by congress would have been turned over to the World's fair managers but for their violation of the agreement which was made a condition of the gift in respect to opening the fair on Sunday. In consequence of this breach of engagement $1,795,980 dollars in souvenir halves remained in the treasury at the close of the fair. A demand having recently sprung up for them at their face value, Secretary Carlisle has issued an order to the sub-treasuries directing them to pay out on demand the souvenir coins at the same ratio as the legalized silver half dollars of the United States, namely, at par with gold.

Crooked Land Cases.

Guthrie, O. T. Oct. 12.—Charles W. Garland, a prominent republican politician, was arrested on a charge of perjury in a land case. For a month or more from one to three residents of the territory have been arrested daily on the same charge. Fully two hundred indictments are now pending in the United States for the said crime and about fifty persons have been sentenced to the penitentiary, all for committing perjury in attempting to secure a homestead under the nefarious land laws.

Respite for Murderer Hill.

Pittsburg, Oct. 12.—A second respite has been granted by Gov. Pattison to James Newton Hill, convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of Mrs. Rose Roetzler. He was sentenced to be hanged June 14, but owing to his physical condition, a respite was granted until October 15. The further respite is until December 13, and is granted for the purpose of giving further opportunity to watch his physical condition and permit the pardon board to act intelligently in his case.

Hawaiian Immigration.

Washington, Oct 12.—Lorrin A. Thurston, the Hawaiian minister, who has been in Honolulu for the past three months, has returned to Washington and will sail for Europe on the 17th instant under a special commission from his government to investigate the labor conditions of Europe as affecting Hawaiian immigration. Mr. Thurston says that the new republic is prospering in every way. He expects to return to Washington in December.

THE POLITICAL FIELD

What the Busy Politicians Are Doing.

Tammany Hall Congressional Nominations—Tickets in the Field in New York—Senator Hill Opens His Campaign—McKinley in Michigan—Arranging for Harrison's Trip.

New York, Oct. 12.—The following congressional nominations have been made by Tammany hall: seventh district, Franklin Bartlett; eighth, James J. Walsh; ninth, Henry C. Minor; tenth, Daniel E. Sickles; eleventh, William Sulzer; twelth, George B. McClellan; thirteenth, Amos B. Cummings; fourteenth, John Conolly; fifteenth, Jacob A. Cantor. Jas. J. Walsh is the son of County Clerk Walsh of many years ago.

Committee of Seventy.

New York, Oct., 12.—The committee of seventy of the New York state democracy met in secret session at the Cooper union. The committee remained in session about three quarter's of an hour. Francis M. Scott presided. Ex-Mayor Grace was not present, though Henry R. Beekman took an active part in the conference. The only business of importance transacted was to adjourn the congressional convention until Monday night next. Several of the delegates stated that the state democracy would make straight nominations for aldermen, members of assembly and congress, and that there would be no fusion with Tammany hall.

The following is the ticket finally decided upon by the committee of seventy in convention here: For mayor, Col. William L. Strong; for recorder, John W. Goff; for president of the board of aldermen, John Jeroloman; for judge of the superior court, Henry R. Beekman; for sheriff, Edward J. H. Tamsen; for coroners, Dr. Emil A. Hoeber and Dr. William O'Meagher.

McKinley's Tour.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12.—"American markets for American products, American workshops for American workmen." This was Gov. McKinley's rallying cry as he crossed the Wolverine state from the Illinois border to the city of the straits. And it met with the responsive approbation of scores of thousands of sturdy Michigan men and women folk. The trip was rendered doubly interesting by the presence of Gen. Russell A. Alger, and who good-naturedly yielded the palm to his distinguished brother in politics from Ohio, when the crowds at every stopping place persisted in cheering for McKinley as the next president of the United States. The tariff and the rights of the veterans of the war to grateful recognition at the hands of the general government, was the burden of Gov. McKinley's speeches during the day.

Arrangements for the Harrison Trip.

Indianapolis, Oct. 12.—The republican state central committee have completed all arrangements for the trip of ex-President Harrison, to Evansville, for his first set speech. The special train will make frequent stops enroute so as to permit the distinguished orator to make numerous five and ten minute speeches. Chairman Cowdy has been besieged with requests for a short speech from Gen. Harrison at small way stations, but says that if the train was stopped at all of them, the trip would require several days. The people in some places told him that if the train did not stop they would "hold it up."

German Americans Endorse Strong.

New York, Oct. 12.—The German-American Reform union has endorsed William L. Strong for mayor and the rest of the ticket of the committee of seventy with the exception of Dr. William O. Meagher, one of the candidates for coroner, for whom it substituted Dr. H. A. C. Anderson.

Boston Congressional Nominations.

Boston, Oct. 12.—The democrats of the Eighth district have nominated Charles A. Conant of Winchester, for congress. Mr. Conant is a well known journalist and has for several years been Washington correspondent for a number of New England and New York papers. The Eleventh district democrats nominated Bentley W. Warren as candidate for congress. Henry W. Lamb, who was conceded the nomination, refused to be a candidate. The prohibitionists of the Seventh district have nominated George M. THEY AGREE TO FIGHT

Corbett and Fitzsimmons Meet and Make Terms.

The Contest To Come Off Probably in December, 1895—Lively Bidding for the Fight Between Three Clubs—One Offer of $41,000 May Be Accepted.

New York, Oct. 12.—Another and the most important scene in the Corbett-Fitzsimmons pugilistic pow-wow, was enacted and when it was all over the men were practically matched for a fight. They are to meet before the Florida Athletic club, of Jacksonville, some time after July next. The club, through its representative, "Circular Joe" Vendig has agreed to hang up a purse of $41,000, and reserves the right to name the date when the fight shall take place. According to Vendig the club will name December, 1895. The stakeholder is to be selected and money binding the match is to be posted within twenty-four hours. Philip J. Dwyer, the turfman, will in all probability be chosen. The men met at the Herald office. Capt. Williams, of the Auditorium Athletic club, and William A. Scholl, of the Olympic Athletic club, both of New Orleans, were among the earliest arrivals. Fitzsimmons and Capt. Glori, his manager, and a coterie of friends, came shortly before 10 o'clock. They were followed by Corbett and Manager William Brady. When Fitz entered the room he took a seat near a table. Corbett came in a few minutes later and lost no time in getting down to business. He immediately walked over to where the lanky middle-weight was seated, and pulled up a chair close to his rival.

"Well, Fitz, I hear you want a fight," were Corbett's first words. "I am here to accommidate you. Let's get right down to business."

"Yes, I want to fight you," replied Fitzsimmons, "and Capt. Glori will act as my spokesman."

Corbett Produces the Coin.

"Well," said Corbett, "I have $10,000 here and am ready to put it up. Money talks, so produce the coin."

With this Corbett pulled out a roll of bills and carefully counted out $10,000 from it, handing it over to Al Smith. Capt. Glori then said he was not prepared to put up the whole amount, but that there was $1,000 on deposit to bind the match.

"Oh! I thought you had $60,000," replied Jim; "I don't see your money. If you want a fight put up your money. Mine is here, and also $40,000 more. I said I would fight every night for one week, and have the money here to back me up. Is there any other heavyweight present who desires to take any part of it?"

"We never said we had $60,000," said Capt. Glori. "You are a rich man and we are poor. We will put up the $1,000 now, and $1,500 more in twenty-four hours."

After some squabbling, in which Corbett said he didn't want any of the old "sympathy gags" worked, he finally flung his money on the table and said: "Well, there's my money; cover it when you can. I am here to make a fight, and will do so if it is only for $5 aside my backers have confidence in me and there is my stuff. When do I want to fight? Well, that is a queer question. You know I won't fight until after July 1, I have until Sept. 1 if I like. I have fought three fights in three years and that is more than the former champion did. I have engagements on the road, on which I am making money, up to next May, and I'm not going to cancel them to fight Fitz. I am not going to give every thing away," Corbett exclaimed.

Big Money for the Fight.

The question of where the fight should take place then came up. President Scholl, representing the Olympic club, stepped up and said: "On behalf of my people I offer a purse of $25,000." Joe Vendig at this point said: "Here is a $5,000 deposite on behalf of the Florida Athletic club, which will offer a purse of $30,000, for the fight $1,000 out of the purse for each man's training expenses, the fight to take place in December, 1895." "I'll raise that $5,000." shouted Capt. Williams, of the Auditorium club, "and also deposit $5,000." His word's had scarcely been uttered before Vendig said: "$37,500." Scholl again got in the swim and offered $40,000.

"Forty-one thousand," calmly remarked Vendig. "Fifty thousand," shouted Scholl. Corbett then took a hand. "Where's something to show for the $50,000?" he asked. "That's all right," said Scholl. "I haven't got it here, but it's good "Yes, it's all right," added Fitz.

"Oh! of course, you want the fight before the Olympic club, and I don't propose to let you have your way unless they make a good deposit on their bid." "Well, $50,000 is more than $41,000," said Fitz. "I know that, but I insist on a deposit now."

Scholl could not make the deposit and after a lot of talk, in which Corbett took Fitz to task in regard to his alleged bluff about shaking his finger at his (Corbett's) face, it was decided that Vendig's offer held good for the present. The articles will be drawn up and sent to Corbett and Fitz while they are out of the state, it being illegal to sign them here. They will be signed and sent back.

Train Wrecking in Colorado.

Denver, Col., Oct. 12.—Train robbers attempted to rob the Sante Fe express seven miles outside of the city. A farmer noticing men removing rails telephoned to the city asking if section men were working at night. This gave the officials an inkling and the express started out slowly with deadened headlight. Suddenly the engine and coaches went off the track. No one was injured.

GEORGE E. PACE,
Chairman County Ex. Com.

North Plainfield is having all the adventures lately.

Mr. Anthony's "complimentary" vote would have nominated him had the contest between Fowler and Barrett been close, as each faction would have thrown votes to him rather than see their opponent win. "Complimentary" votes have nominated and elected men.

The Press presses were kept running at full speed from 4 till nearly 7 yesterday, hardly able to keep pace with the demand for the successive editions as they appeared. The transactions of the two conventions were instantly wired to The Daily Press and dropped in the forms as fast as received. The public appreciated the extras.

It was an edifying spectacle to see the editor of the Republican ring organ sitting in convention yesterday and witnessing Plainfield voting solidly for Anthony, and winning other votes for him, in spite of the fact that the ring organ had kept declaring "Plainfield has no candidate" and "No name will be presented from Plainfield". The Daily Press knew what it was talking about.

In a desperate effort to gain an audience with its own party in Plainfield, The Courier is getting long lists of Plainfield Republicans who because The Daily Press is Plainfield's best newspaper, read The Press, and nothing but The Press, and is sending them the plaintive personal plea to change their paper because "You're a Republican, so is The Courier"! This is a sad giveaway of the fact that even the members of its own party are not giving it support. The Courier begs for subscribers solely because of its politics. The Daily Press gets and keeps subscribers by being a newspaper, not an organ.

A Considerate Blaze.

A fire occurred at the home of David G. Angerbauer, 524 West Third street, Wednesday night, while no one was in the house. The firemen were busy parading, however, so the fire went out of its own accord rather than call them away.

It started in the cellar, evidently from a match which had been carelessly thrown there. A wooden partion caught fire and a hole eight inches in diameter was burned through at the bottom. Then the flames stopped spreading. The family did not discover what had happened until the next morning.

A BABY IN A BASKET.

Heartlessly Deserted on a Borough Front Stoop.

MILKMAN DEBELE FOUND THE WAIF.

It Is a Girl, Evidently Four Days Old—Seems of Italian Parentage—The Foundling Becomes a Municipal Charge.

Someone left a basket on the piazza of of Councilman Elmer E. Winckler's house, corner of Westervelt and Fairview avenues, last night. No one found it until 6 this morning, when William Debele of Greenbrook saw it while he was delivering milk.

Mr. Debele looked into the basket and found that a baby had been abandoned in the old-fashioned way. The child was so still and its hands felt so cold that Mr. Debele thought at first that it must be dead. Its fingers moved, however, and showed that it was still alive.

The milkman took the basket and the baby to the home of his friend, Peter G. Doeringer, 138 Duer street. Mrs. Doeringer took care of the child and Marshal Pangborn was notified.

The baby is a girl, probably about four days old. Its eyes are dark blue. Its head is covered with thick black hair. Mrs. Doeringer thinks it is of Italian parentage. The basket is an ordinary wooden one without a handle. The clothing is very plain and shows that it was made over from old garments. Outside of the wraps was pinned a small dark lavender blanket.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger was among those who called at Mrs. Doeringer's to see the baby. She made the little stranger's acquaintance and decided at once to adopt it. Chief Pangborn came in at 9 and told her she would have to consult Overseer of the Poor David Weaver. The Marshal took the child in his arms and carried it to the home of Mrs. Agnes Taynor of Warren street, who cares for the forlorn babies of the borough.

EXTRA.

FIVE O'CLOCK.

THE RECORD BROKEN.

Monte Scott's Great Feat Against Time.

HE KNOCKS NEARLY 5 MINUTES OFF ALL PREVIOUS FIGURES.

In the Crescents 25-mile road race this afternoon, Monte Scott finished in 1.05.21½, breaking by 4 min., 5½ sec the world's record, held by Hughes.

Hand won the race in 1.11.39 with Rydell second in 1.11.39½. No others finished except Scott.

The tandems broke down and Monte lost several seconds because of poor pacemaking.

The course of the Crescents' 25-mile road race this afternoon began at a line 10 feet beyond Leland avenue on the level part of South avenue. Thence the riders went to Fanwood across to Scotch Plains by Martine or Park avenue, down Front street to Richmond and thence across to South avenue. Four times around and then around again as far as Johnston's lodge on Front street made the 25 miles.

The start was scheduled for 3 but was not made until 3:30 because of delay in repairing one of the tandems. During the half hour carriages and a crowd started and made the riders start in a narrow aisle.

The timers were Dr. L. S. Pocock, C. E. Vail and F. Richard Stevens. C. E. Teel was the starter. They got the men off as follows:

C. S. Gotthell (12 min.) 3:30.
C. N. Rydell (10 min.) 3:32.
E. T. Hand (9 min.) 3:33.
E. H. Smith (7 min.) 3:35.
I. N. Line (5½ min.) 3:36½.
Monte Scott (scratch) 3:42
Henry Scott and N. R. Titsworth did not start. The tandem pacemakers for Monte Scott were F. F. Goodman and Chas. F. Granger. Henry Scott and C. M. Ertz E. A. Bofinger was to have ridden with Ertz but it was decided that he should pace on a single wheel instead.

Scott rode F. J. Titus's special Spalding which has broken so many records. He seemed in excellent shape. Interest centred in him, of course, and the other riders were almost neglected by the crowd when the favorite appeared.

The road was in good shape and the wind was not strong enough to hold back such a rider as Monte Scott. The Spalding managers who witnessed the race felt certain that the wheel was to break another record.

DUNN'S RENOMINATION.

He Accepts and Refers to His Many Successes.

IS CONFIDENT OF HIS ELECTION.

The Convention Indorses President Cleveland and Governor Werts, and Stings the Partisan Legislature of the Last Session.

The third edition of The Daily Press yesterday gave the detailed vote by which John T. Dunn was renominated for Congress in this district, immediately after the nomination was made.

Harmon H. Hart of South Orange called the convention to order, and said:

"Before reading the call I shall, in a few words, endeavor to give expression to some of the thoughts which should pervade the mind of every true Democrat; those clothing themselves in the garb of Democracy and those fair-minded and wise enough to recognize conditions as they exist. But twice in thirty-four years have we had the wise counsels and guidance of a Democratic President. The people's will, thwarted in 1876 by the unholy acts of our adversaries, delayed the wish of the people until 1884.

"In December, 1887, Grover Cleveland set the lights of reason aflame when, in his famous tariff message, he gave to Democracy and the country a tocsin for economic and wise government, to be administered for the benefit of all the people. Only at one time in thirty-four years have both the House of Representatives and the Senate had a Democratic majority, and the lights of reason lit by Grover Cleveland in 1887 have borne some fruit. The Democratic party is entitled to a continuance of power in the councils of the Nation.

"To the unwise, uneconomic measures of a Republican House of Representatives and Senate, made possible by the ambitions of a Republican President, is due the stress of times which has hitherto prevailed, and from which we are rapidly emerging. The cant and cunning of our adversaries would, if they could, make the people believe otherwise. There has been no time in the history of our party and the country when the necessity was greater for Democrats to stand shoulder to shoulder. The Republican party, allied with an organization whose faith is religious proscription and intolerance, stands as a menace to all those glorious principles of a free government enunciated by Thomas Jefferson, and should meet condemnation at the polls by every lover of religious liberty and equal rights."

Thomas F. Lane was chosen Chairman. As he came upon the platform Dr. H. M. C. Vail handed an American flag to him and Mr. Lane wrapped it around the reading stand. Mr. Lane charged that the Republican party was fostering the A. P. A. He hinted that there was a need of stricter immigation laws.

Thomas G. Conway was made Secretary.

The following, among other resolutions, were adopted with enthusiasm:

"We still believe Republican protection is a fraud, alike on the people and upon the laboring man, whose interests it was said to be designed for.

"We cordially indorse the Administration of Grover Cleveland as loyal to the pledges made in the party platform and by the candidates in the last Presidential election.

"We indorse the course of the Democratic Party in Congress for the overthrow of McKinleyism in the passage of the Tariff bill, which went into effect on August 28. That tariff bill was the first law passed in thirty years that reduced the schedule of taxation below those made necessary for the purposes of meeting the expenses of the war, and the party that placed that law on the statute books is entitled to the gratitude of the masses of the voters of the United States for its effort to reduce taxation to the necessities of the Government's economical administration.

"We are heartily in favor of free raw materials as soon as the revenues of the Government will permit the extension of the free list of the present tariff law, and the pledge and support of the nominee of this convention to the bills placing sugar, iron, and coal upon the free list.

"We commend the Administration of Gov. Werts and condemn the unwise, extravagant, and unnecessary legislation of a partisan Legislature, whose abrupt adjournment at the behest of their masters, the large and small bosses of their party, prevented the introduction of much remedial legislation sought for by the people."

Each delegation held its own caucus. The Plainfield people refused to give up their credentials to the Chairman of the Union County delegation, fearing that the credentials might disappear and leave them helpless. They therefore held their credentials till the proper committee was appointed. Springfield did likewise. Plainfield and Springfield were against Dunn. The Essex County caucus was a pretty lively gathering. Those who wanted to nominate Robert S. Rudd of Bloomfield as the Congressional candidate, had a bare majority. They proposed to apply the unit rule to get the solid vote of Essex. The Orange friends of John T. Dunn fought this proposition. It was agreed to give Mr. Rudd a solid complimentary vote.

When nominations were called for, Congressman John T. Dunn was named by Elizabeth, and Robert S. Rudd of Montclair was also placed in nomination. The first ballot gave Dunn 69 votes, 20 of which were from Essex, 39 from Union, and 10 from Hudson county, while Rudd got 31 votes—26 from Essex, 4 from Union, and 1 from Hudson county.

A motion was made that Mr. Dunn's nomination be made unanimous. Plainfield shouted a babel of "No!"

Mr. Dunn was brought before the convention, and made a speech accepting [illegible]mination. He said that he had [illegible] been elected to office by the [illegible] knew him and knew his [illegible] two years ago he had been [illegible]gress, when Grover Cleve[illegible]test of living Americans, [illegible]sident. He said he was [illegible]s election this Fall.

REPUBLICANS NAME FOWLER.

Anthony Had All of Plainfield's Vote and More Besides.

As published in the second edition of The Press of yesterday immediately the nomination was made, Charles N. Fowler, an Elizabeth lawyer, was yesterday afternoon nominated by the Republicans of the Eighth New Jersey Congressional District as their candidate for Congressman.

The convention was held in the Veteran Zouave Armory, Elizabeth, and was called to order by Mayor Chamberlain of Rahway. P. M. VanRiper of Belleville was chosen temporary chairman; George W. Littell of Cranford and Alexander B. Bishop of Franklin were made secretaries. The usual committees were appointed, and the convention took a recess of fifteen minutes, during which time the delegates were entertained by ex-Congressman Roswell G. Horr of Michigan, now a resident of Plainfield, who made one of his characteristic speeches.

The Committee on Permanent Organization presented Robert Ward of South Orange, for permanent chairman. He made a speech on taking the platform When nominations were called for, Senator Voorhees presented the name of Chas. N. Fowler. Elias M. Condet of Orange, James L. Anthony of Plainfield, and Halsey M. Barrett of Bloomfield, were placed in nomination. An informal ballot gave Fowler 106, Condet 20, Barrett 28, and Anthony 14. There was a stampede to Fowler before the vote was announced, and on motion of an Essex County delegate the nomination was made unanimous and a committee sent in search of Mr. Fowler. He was escorted by H. E. Bowen who had advocated Anthony's nomination, thus proving his Republicanism most thoroughly. Fowler was cheered, and made a speech.

The candidate, it is said, has the backing of such strong corporate interests as the Standard Oil Company and Singer Sewing Machine Company, which managed to swing the Bayonne delegates over to him, thus insuring his success. He is 42 years old, and a native of Illinois. Was graduated from Yale College in 1876, and was admitted to the bar in Chicago. For several years he was President of the Equitable Mortgage Company of New York, and on its failure was appointed receiver. He came to New York from Kansas in 1881, and has lived in Union County since 1884.

Grand Opportunity to Do Good.

Of course you have heard of the Y. M. C. A. Fair to be held Thanksgiving week. That fine, unfinished building on the corner of Front street and Watchung avenue has been making its mute appeal for help during the whole Summer. Every board at the unfinished windows has uttered a speechless protest against the indignity of being let alone. But we all know that the times have been hard. Some have given until they can give no more. Others who would like to give have been so straitened by "the stringency of the money market" that they have had to defer what was in their hearts to do. The time has come, however, for a grand rally, and the building is to be completed. When completed, it must be furnished, and this is what the women propose to do with a large fair that ought to interest everybody. It will be hard work for a few who plan and devise and hard work for those who execute the plans, but it will be an easy way for a great many people to help. Women and girls, with needle, pencil and brush guided by ingenious brains, will put their pretty handicraft where it will be salable for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. Storekeepers of all kinds will contribute of their wares for the same good object. That every man, woman and child to give something for this mammoth fair is asked.

There will be a country store, presided over by the typical genius, who, in keepin' store, keeps everything that can be thought of, from matches to mantels. If you cannot make anything for the fair, send canned articles, cereals, jellies, anything and everything for the country store. Has no one asked you? If there be such an one, volunteer. It is polite to give when asked. It is noble to give unasked. Do not let this building of the Young Men's Christian Association, which is an ornament to our city and a credit to our humane and Christian impulses, be completed without your having a share in paying for some small part of it.

Donations or pledges may be sent to Mrs. J. K. Myers, Chairman of the Executive Committee, or Mr. Manning at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Boehm's Big Bazar.

Everybody says How lovely and how cheap!

The frisky wind has to be shut out from the body, and one wants at the same time to look fine. In need of seasonable, durable and fashionable fabrics, therefore, one goes to Boehm's.

It's just as if a section of New York's shopping district was transplanted to Plainfield. But the prices are better at Boehm's than in New York, for his expenses are less and he knows how to get great bargains in buying.

Cakewalk Coming.

George Randolph, F. H. Nelson and W. Randolph, the committee in charge, declare that the cakewalk in Central Hall, corner of Park and North avenues, Thursday night, Nov 8, will be the most gorgeous ever seen in Plainfield. Ice-cream and soda-water will delight the palate, and the most graceful couple will be given a valuable gift. Ed Dillon is floor manager prospective, and Charles Mulford will help him. Fraze will fiddle.

Dunellen Sides a Wee.

The Sewerage Committee held their regular weekly meeting last evening. The five Dunellen citizens who were appointed to consult with Plainfield on the location of the filtration beds did not make their appearance. They sent word that they had decided to wait until next Thursday night.

REBEKAH'S DAUGHTERS.

They Hold Annual Convention in Plainfield.

GRAND OFFICERS TAKE PART.

Odd Fellows Participate in the Festivities of Their Auxiliary—Election, Feast, and Inspection of Plainfield's Beauties.

The annual convention of the Daughters of Rebekah, the auxiliary of the Odd Fellows, held in the headquarters of Friendship Lodge, No. 4, D. of R., on West Second street yesterday, were of more than usual interest because of changes in the rules and names which then went into effect.

The morning session was called at 11:15 by the vice-president, Sister Dutcher. Sister Stagg of 32 acted as vice-president in Sister Dutcher's place. The roll was called and the names of the absentees noted. The committee on credentials reported everything correct The presence of the grand master and the grand representative having been announced the past president and the conductor introduced these brothers.

The communications of the grand master and the grand representative were then received and filed. The report of the secretary which was next received showed a membership of sisters of 1,084, of 857 brothers, and a total membership of 1,941. The session was then adjourned for dinner.

The second session was called to order at 1:45 by Sister Hoffman. After the roll-call the president made an address, touching on the deaths of Past President Sister Barnett and Sister Gill, both of whom filled the office of treasurer at the time of their deaths. Addresses were next made by Grand Master Tussy, Grand Representative Grassman and brothers of different Rebekah lodges.

President—Sister Dutcher, Brilliant Star 8.
Vice-president—Sister Volker, Columbia 14.
Secretary—Sister M. I. Pullen, Evergreen 3.
Treasurer—Sister Stover, Lady Grace 27.

Sister Kriney of Plainfield was re-elected on the finance committee. The officers appointed were:

Conductor—Sister H. C. White, 3.

The meeting was adjourned to meet in Atlantic City in 1895

The ceremonies conducted in the evening included the installation of six candidates by Acting Noble Grand Sister M. Pullen, secretary of assembly (new title from convention); V. G., Sister M. White; Past N. G., Sister Rutan, past president of convention; Warden, Sister Kate Ford; Conductor, W. J. Ford. These officers were assisted by Brothers Tallman, Pocock and Rugg.

Remarks were then made by the grand lodge officers and a number of the members. In her address of welcome Sister W. J. Ford expressed the honor which Plainfield Lodge, No. 4, felt had been conferred upon them by their being the first Rebekah convention at which a Grand Master had been a visitor, and pointed out also that Plainfield was the first to have the State officers installed under the new form, and more yet it was the first lodge to have the title of assembly conferred for use hereafter instead of convention.

The lodge was closed in due form by N. G. Sister Kriney, after which the assembly adjourned to the banquet hall. Here they were joined by Odd Fellows and their wives, so that there were 250 in the party when all sat down to enjoy a bountiful supper which had been provided by the Rebekah committee under the supervision of the chairman, Mrs. Shepherd.

The rest of the evening passed very pleasantly. About 50 of the visitors remained in town over night, being entertained at the home of members of Friendship Lodge. Today they were about town admiring the beauties of Plainfield.

TO JAIL IN A DIRT-CART.

Distinguished Visitors to Castle Pangborn.

Jacob Overland and Herman Smith, stonecutters employed by Smith & Co., of Pearl street, last night proceeded up Somerset street as far as Conroy's shop, when they fell to the sidewalk.

Chief Marshal Pangborn secured one of the public dirt-carts and took the absolutely helpless men to the lockup. They remained as if paralyzed all day but it is hoped that by this evening they will have so far recovered consciousness as to be able to make a defense in Court Crosley against a charge of drunkenness. Overland rejoices in the distinction of being the first prisoner ever in the present lockup, having been thrown into a cell there before the roof was finished.

THE SEWER QUESTION.

Scriptural Law Quoted by an Aggrieved Dunellenite.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—As a Plainfielder, and a wielder of influence in public affairs through the medium of your excellent paper The Press, and feeling an interest as you do in everything pertaining to the welfare of your city and its citizens, it is gratifying to learn as we do by inference from what you have already published on the sewer question, that you are not so much absorbed in the matters of Plainfield alone as to be regardless of the welfare, health and prosperity of your neighbors.

To say that we of Dunellen are somewhat exercised over the contemplated location of your sewer beds is but to put it mildly, to say the least.

The Courier seems to have an idea that we "take on" more than is necessary, and that to have those beds so near is "a thing devoutly to be wished"; but we confess not to be able to see it in that light.

The Call has quoted The Courier and answered the same very sensibly, as has also its correspondent "No Sewer Rat".

The Courier suggests that a trip to South Framingham may be cheaper than a contest in the courts. Doubtless it would be. But we have nothing to do with South Framingham. If the people of that place are pleased and satisfied with what they have, we are glad, and by no means envy them their happiness or their possessions.

There is also an air of defiance and braggadocio about The Courier when it tells us what wonderful things the laws of the State give to Plainfield, and what wonderful things the courts will do, and all about certain "power to condemn and appropriate lands", etc,

Be it so. We are the "weaker vessel", and especially so when "the laws", and "the courts" and Plainfield are against us; and the only thing we can do is to submit to our fate, but lasting shame will rest upon Plainfield and its officials for the insult and the injury done to her impotent and unpretentious neighbor.

But, aside from the pecuniary question in the depreciation of valuable property and pleasant homes in the vicinity and aside from the question of malaria and disease engendered, there is another aspect of the case, which laws and courts cannot over-ride and be guiltless as to a neighbor's rights, namely, the moral, the Christian, the neighborly, the brotherly aspect.

Plainfield may say in all satisfaction and self-complacency "It is not our ox that is gored", and take refuge behind the laws and the courts, and, feeling that she has the best of us, say "Let them rage and rave as much as they please; we are ahead". But nevertheless a sense of shame and mortification will not be wanting in the hearts of the noble and generous-minded; while as to her neighbors, should Plainfield, through her officials, under cover of the laws and courts, locate those pestiferous beds under our very noses, and well-nigh within gunshot of our two churches, where humble worshipers, on Summer Sabbath mornings, will be compelled to breathe the noxious exhalations of Plainfield's accumulated filth, nothing, surely, but a feeling that a great wrong has been done us, and a sense of righteous indignation, must possess the breast of every citizen of Dunellen. Hence we conclude our first and only say on this vexatious subject, by quoting the language of One greater than the laws and the courts, One who understood perfectly the laws of Christian reciprocity, and say "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them, for this is the law". DUNELLEN.

CAPTAIN GRANT ALL RIGHT.

The Professional Fault-Finder Makes Another Mistake.

The paper with a jealous spite against the police in general and against Captain Grant in particular made another vicious and unjust attack on the Captain last night, charging that he neglected his duty in failing to arrest a special officer who while off duty was said to be intoxicated. The paper held that here was grounds for the Council to investigate the Captain.

The fact is that the reason for supposing that the individual referred to was intoxicated was simply because he had difficulty in mounting from the sidewalk to a wagon. That he is often crippled in just that way is familiar to all his friends who know of the serious physical ailment from which he suffers.

But even had he been intoxicated, he was not necessarily liable to arrest. Intoxication is no violation of the law. An intoxicated individual must become disorderly and disturb the peace (which was by no means the case in this instance), before the police have cause to arrest him. The police even have a right to assist intoxicated persons homeward, as, if police record be true, was humanely done in the case of one of the anti-police paper's own staff, only a week ago.

CURES OTHERS

For over a quarter of a century, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been effecting cures of Bronchial, Throat and Lung affections. Weak Lungs, Bleeding from Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, all lingering Coughs, Consumption, or Lung Scrofula and kindred maladies, are cured by it.

REDUCED TO A SKELETON.

Mrs. Mira Mills, of Sardis, Big Stone Co., Minn., writes: "One year ago I was given up by my family physician and friends; all said I must die. My lungs were badly affected, and body reduced to a skeleton. My people commenced to give me your 'Medical Discovery' and I soon began to mend. It was not long before I became well enough to take charge of my household duties again.

I owe my recovery to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

TORTURED THIRTY YEARS.

His Suffering Ended After Using Munyon's Rheumatism Cure.

Mr. George Smith, of Tacony, Pa., says: "I suffered from rheumatism for 30 years, and had so many severe attacks that some of my joints were twisted out of shape. At times I suffered terrible pain, and, although I tried many remedies, I never obtained any permanent relief until I procured Munyon's Rheumatism Cure. The action of this remedy was wonderfully quick, and although I have only taken a small quantity, I consider myself permanently cured."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back, and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, or pain in the back are speedily cured.

Munyon's Homœopathic Home Remedy Company, of Philadelphia, put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

SCORING CHURCH DECORATORS.

Plainfield's Parish Paper Says Young People Desecrate Sacred Edifices.

(From The Advance for October.)

We desire to call to the attention of the Rectors of the several parishes in the vicinity what appears to us to be an abuse of the custom of decorating the church at special seasons. We have in mind an instance of recent happening in this city where the behavior of those engaged in beautifying the sacred edifice was irreverent and shockingly out of place. Better far that the church should go undecorated than that members of the congregation, some of them of mature age, should kneel or stand on the Holy Altar, and drive nails in the walls above their heads, or lounge about the chancel rail over the choir stalls. The fact that no service is being conducted presents no excuse for such conduct. The church is God's house, and the greatest reverence and decorum should prevail there at all times and under all circumstances. We insist, and rightly, that our priests should preserve a reverent and devotional demeanor in their ministrations at the altar, and yet the very opposite behaviour is often tolerated on the part of the congregation. The "decoration of the church" too often serves the purpose of offering an opportunity to persons of both sexes to congregate socially, and to talk and jest with a shocking disregard of the holiness and sacredness of the place. We recommend to our Rectors that when their churches are to be adorned they entrust the matter into the hands of decorous and reverent persons, who have some regard of the fitness of things, and that the practice of inviting their congregations generally to be present and to help "decorate the church" be discontinued.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

BIGGER ARMY WANTED

General Schofield Says the Country Is in Danger.

Further Protection Needed Against Domestic Violence—Rioters More Menacing Than Indians—America Should Learn a Lesson from the Experience of China.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The annual report of the major general commanding the army is devoted wholly to a discussion of the use of the military forces of the United States in maintaining the federal laws against domestic resistance, and to the necessity of coast fortifications for defense against foreign attack, and the intimation is clearly conveyed by Gen. Schofield's treatment of the subject that the lesson of a nation like China with its wide extent, and vast resources and wealth, but unprovided with efficient modern military equipment, is worthy of serious consideration by the American people.

Domestic Violence.

During a large part of the year, says Gen. Schofield, the army has been engaged in the suppression of domestic violence, which took the form in many cases of forcible resistance to the execution of the laws of the United States, seizure or destruction of property under the care of United States officers, and open defiance of the national authority. The country is now for the first time squarely confronted with the necessity of making adequate provision, not only for defence against any possible foreign aggression, but also for defence against domestic violence in the form of forcible resistance to the laws of the United States. It therefore becomes more than ever necessary to calmly and dispassionately consider the adequacy of means to that end. A just estimate of these means requires consideration of the vast extent of the United States territory and the great amount of property, widely dispersed throughout this territory, either belonging to the United States or in such condition as to be under the protection of the national government. When these facts are only considered it becomes manifest that the present strength of the army is not adequate to the performance of the service which may at any time be required. It is true that in the recent emergency, by the most prompt and vigorous action and the concentration of troops from various parts of the country, the duty required was promptly and effectively performed. But military resources were taxed nearly to the extreme limit for this purpose, and in the event of such extension of disorders as was for some time threatened and made to appear more probable, it was found by careful estimate that the resources of the government would prove inadequate to give the necessary protection in all parts of the country; so that vast injury would have resulted to the public interests throughout a large part of the United States before the resources of the government could have been so augmented as to have suppressed the insurrection.

Lesson of China and Japan.

In respect to the military necessities which may possibly arise out of conflict with foreign powers, it has for many years seemed impossible to impress upon the people of the United States in general the views entertained by all thoughtful military students, and it is a simple duty to point to the great military lesson which is now being taught to the entire world. The most populous and one of the most wealthy of all the nations of the earth is subjected to extreme humiliation and disgrace, to result possibly in the overthrow of a dynasty at the hands of a little nation of one-tenth its population and about one-tenth its territorial area. And why is this? It is not because that great people are lacking in talent, or general education, or military courage, but because they have failed to develop their military strength and resources. In disciplined troops, in arms and equipments of all kinds, in efficient ships of war, and in general military preparation and education, they are far behind the enterprising little military nation that is now teaching them and the world this tremendous lesson.

The relation of the United States to the great military powers of Europe now exhibits a far greater disparity in respect to preparation for war than that which has existed between China and Japan. Will the people of the United States and their representatives have the modesty to appreciate and the wisdom to profit by this lesson? The Atlantic ocean, is, under modern conditions, little more serious an obstacle to the navies and transports of Europe than are the Japan and Yellow seas to those of Japan.

Gen. Schofield considers that the time has now fully arrived when the people of the United States should dismiss the over-confidence born of past experience and look the future squarely in the face, and he says that more especially is this the fact in respect to the extended sea-coasts of the country and the broad oceans where the interests of the United States must be defended and protected, if this country is to continue to be a first class nation. Armies, altough well disciplined, well instructed and perfectly armed, cannot defend the sea coast against modern ships of war. Suitable fortifications with effective high power armament are the only possible means of such defence; while the finest navy which the able officers of that department have ever proposed will be abundantly employed in rendering indispensable service in all parts of the maritime world.

Fall River Strike.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 12.—Manufacturers and operatives are all discussing the prospects of a resumption of work next Monday morning. The carders, weavers and other help, who will receive no increase in wages do not want to resume. The secretaries of the weavers' and carders' unions, say that there is a decided spirit of resistance being manifested. The weavers will not pass finally on the question of remaining out, until sometime to-day, when a special meeting will be held. Secretary Howard thinks the spinners will accept the terms offered.

HER DUTY TO TELL.

One of the Loveliest of Ladies Writes Our Readers a Letter They Will Never Forget. It is a Grand Letter and Well Worth Reading.

MISS E. BURKE.

We have received this remarkably interesting letter with the accompanying beautiful portrait from Miss E. Burke, of Amoskeag, N. H., and we place them before our readers:

"Soon after graduating from school, I was stricken down with nervous prostration, and no one but God knows what I suffered.

"I was so nervous that the least little thing would cause my heart to flutter and palpitate. I was also troubled with severe headache and dizziness, which unfitted me for any mental work. I tried several highly recommended compounds, but they did me no good.

"At last, I decided to give Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy a trial. What a blessing it has proved to me! I can truly say that I owe my present excellent health to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. We keep it in the house, as it cures a sick headache or neuralgia in every case, and gives immediate relief.

"I am so grateful for the good this wonderful remedy has done me, and in order that other poor sufferers may be pointed to the path of health, I deem it my duty to state what Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy has done for me. My faith is so strong in this grand medicine which has done me so much good, that I urge others to use it and get well. I have recommended it to several, who have tried it and been cured."

Here is the voluntary testimony of a most estimable lady, that she was cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

It is a wonderful tribute to the great value of this medicine in curing disease. There is a large class of people who, while not exactly sick, suffer from extreme nervousness, feel weak and tired, lack their old-time strength and ambition; they do not eat or sleep well, wake mornings tired, with dull-feeling head and no inclination to take hold of their work.

To all such we would recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, for it certainly will give strong nerves and vigorous bodies—in fact will make you strong and well.

This medicine is recommended by doctors. It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that this medicine will cure and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time free of charge personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

BUSINESS IS IMPROVING

Trade Features This Week Very Encouraging.

The Most Marked Advance in the West and South, But the East Not Without Favorable Signs—Ending of the Fall River Strike Improves the Industrial Situation.

New York, Oct. 13.—An accentuation of favorable features is revealed in the telegraphed reports to Bradstreet's this week. While advices as to the most marked improvement comes from the west and south, there are some encouraging features also reported from the east, and the net results of the week's business has been further progress in the direction of enlarged distribution. In New England, although demand is classed as only moderate and a conservative trade is doing, the industrial situation improves, owing to the ending of the cotton mill strike. Print cloths are weaker as a result of the settlement. Australian competition has also weakened raw wool prices. Iron production at present is very large, and this has impared values of the raw and manufactured product quite noticeably. Cooler weather has improved the distribution in seasonable lines at a number of western, and northwestern points. At Chicago business in staple lines is large, though a slacking from previous weeks is noted. Tinplates are active, and orders are being placed abroad for black plates, owing to the shutdown of American works. Export trade is active at San Francisco. A number of prominent southern points report increased activity. Cotton receipts are large, but the prices tends downward. First arrivals of new crop sugar at New Orleans sold at the lowest price paid for many years. Southern lumbermen anticipate higher prices. Notable price changes of the week have been the decline of 1/8c. in cotton and raw sugar, 25@50c. in pork, and 50c. a ton in steel billets. Cereals have not materially changed on the week. Big cutting of prices of refined sugar is reported throughout the west, owing to efforts of grocers to dispose of large stocks carried in anticipation of tariff changes. The total number of business failures in the United States this week is 238, against 215 last week, 406 in the week a year ago and 191 two years ago.

Stocks and Bonds.

The stock market is very dull, and exhibits a partial recovery from the depression created by fears of an outflow of specie. Professional interests have been supreme, and the chief interest is found in the manipulative improvement in sugar, Chicago gas and other stocks of the same class. Bonds are inactive, but offerings of the better class of bonds are scanty, and any buying advances prices. Bank clearings at 72 cities for the week ending Thursday aggregate $927,428,877, a decrease from last week of 7.5 per cent., but an increase of 3 per cent. over last year, although 21.7 per cent. smaller than this week two years ago.

Exports of wheat, including flour as wheat, from both coasts of the United States and Canada for six business days ending with Thursday of this week aggregate 3,317,048 bushels, which is compared with 3,243,000 bushels sent abroad last week, 2,862,000 bushels in the second week of October last year, 3,625,000 bushels in 1892, and 4,093,000 bushels in 1891.

Gross earnings of 128 roads, representing 94,000 miles of road, show total earnings for September amounting to $38,033,000, a decrease of 5 per cent. from September a year ago. Heavy World's fair traffic a year ago explains decreases of roads east of the Mississippi. Southern roads report another exceptional increase of 3 per cent. Pacific road earnings are 3 per cent. better.

Industrial Situation.

Distributive trade is moderate in New England. Demand is conservative. The industrial situation has improved owing to the ending of the Fall River strike. Some grades of cotton goods, notably print cloths, are easier in value as a result of this. An increasing business is reported in coal. Australian competition is affecting values of domestic wools, which are weak. Orders for spring men's-wear goods are reported in good numbers. Religious holidays have curtailed distributive trade in many lines at New York. The local demand for dry goods is improved at Philadelphia. Seasonable goods are in better demand at Buffalo. This is true also of Pittsburg, where the iron trade is reported active at weak or lower prices, owing to present large production. The presence of out-of-town jobbers at Baltimore has stimulated business in dry goods, boots and shoes. Retail trade has been helped by cooler weather.

A good business is doing at Chicago in dry goods and clothing, although the aggregate of distributive trade is smaller than a week ago. Several large orders for pig iron have been placed at former prices, but the demand generally is for small lots, and bar iron is easier on increated readiness of mills to realize. Trade in lumberman's supplies has been stimulated at Duluth. A better business is being done on the Pacific coast. Export trade is active at San Francisco, and a number of vessels are being chartered for wheat shipments. The cattle market is active at Omaha, but quieter at Kansas City. Considerably increased activity is reported at many southern points. Trade is fairly active in Canada, though a slackening demand is noted from September activity.

HILL AT BINGHAMTON

Praises the Action of Administration Democrats.

Republicans Open the Campaign at Buffalo—Vice-President Stevenson Talks at Rock Island, Ill.—McKinley's Work in the West—Other Political News.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Senator David B. Hill was last night given the hearty reception he usually meets with at the hands of the Broom county democracy. In the afternoon he was kept busy receiving prominent democrats from all over the county. At 8 o'clock the senator and party were escorted in carriages by the reception committee and a band to the Stone Opera house through crowds that lined the streets. Red fire was burned profusely. The opera house was crowded to the doors, with 2,500 people and many more were unable to gain admittance. Senator Hill received an ovation when he appeared on the stage.

Senator Hill said: "I embrace this early opportunity to express my sincere appreciation of the loyal and cordial support which is being given the state ticket by those who have heretofore differed with me in regard to interparty affairs, especially in the rural districts of the state. With entire unanimity, those who have been generally regarded as the especial friends of the national administration have earnestly wheeled into line and are performing valiant service in behalf of the cause, and I should be unjust to them as well as unjust to myself if I did not take occasion to freely acknowledge their magnanimity and generous action. They seem to realize more keenly than do some of our party friends in New York and Brooklyn the absolute necessity of party unity in the present emergency, involving, as it does, the very existence of the democratic party itself. They are democrats and reformers and believe in reformation within party lines. They are practical men who are willing to sink preconceived prejudices and personal preferences as to men in the struggle to secure substantial advantages for the principles of the cause they advocate and they know that principles cannot triumph except through the the election of party candidates. In so far as the Lexow committee in New York are honestly and impartially endeavoring to discover police abuses, I bid them God speed in their good work. There has been no effort to embarrass them upon the part of the police commissioners, the district attorney, the sheriff, or any other democratic city or county officer. They welcome all legitimate and proper inquiries.

Stevenson at Rock Island, Ill.

Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 13.—Vice-President Adlai E. Stevenson arrived here from Quincy over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road at 10:30 a. m. Piedmont, W. Va., Oct. 13.—The elements are making the tour of Chairman Wilson and his party one of trials and troubles. CALLS IT A CAMPAIGN LIE.

Lochren Denies That Proposed Pension Reductions Are Delayed.

Washington, Oct. 13.—In regard to the statement by Secretary McKee of the republican congressional campaign committee, that 50,000 notices have been prepared at the pension office to be sent to pensioners requesting them to show cause why their pensions should not be reduced or dropped, and that Secretary Smith had ordered the forwarding of the communication withheld until after the elections, Commissioner of Pensions Lochren said:

"Secretary McKee is either imposed on by somebody, or is circulating palpable falsehoods. He says that there were 50,000 notices prepared to be sent to old soldiers asking them to show cause why their pensions should not be dropped or reduced. That these were all ready to be sent, but it was determined to withhold them till after election. It is not suggested how such a glut of notices could have accumulated before there was any purpose to withhold them. The whole story is too palpably untrue to deceive any one who will consider it a moment. No notices will be withheld."

Secretary Smith also characterized the story as a "campaign lie."

YAMASHINA IN NEW YORK.

The Japanese Prince Highly Elated Over His Country's Victories.

Quarantine, S. I., Oct. 13.—Prince Yamashina of Japan, accompanied by two of his suite, arrived by the steamer Augusta Victoria. When interviewed at Quarantine he seemed eager to learn the latest news from the seat of war, and was highly elated to learn of the successes of the Japanese army and the intended march on Pekin. He had no doubts as to the final success of Japan in her war with China. When asked as to what he thought of the probability of the intervention of other powers to stop the war, he hesitated and did not seem to care to answer the question but stated, however, that he did not think other powers would interfere in the struggle. The prince expected to meet the Japanese consul on his arrival. He will remain in town for a few days and will probably visit Washington before proceeding to San Francisco, where he will take steamer for Japan.

THE LOCOMOTIVE BLEW UP.

Fireman Killed and Engineer Dying in a Montclair Hospital.

Montclair, N. J., Oct. 13.—The boiler of a locomotive attached to a passenger train standing at Glen Ridge station on the Montclair branch of the D., L. and W. Railroad exploded last evening. The fireman, Elmer Cumming, was instantly killed, and the engineer, Charles Boreland, is dying at Montclair hospital. The train had stopped to take on passengers, and the conductor had given the signal to go ahead, when with a crash the big engine was raised above the roof of the car and turning over twice fell a shapeless and twisted mass across the tracks. Boreland fell free of the wreck, but Cumming's body was buried beneath the mass of iron. It took three hours to clear the tracks. It is said that the engineer allowed the water in the tank to run out. This he denies and says furthur that he had not anything like a full head of steam on.

Daring Express Train Robbery Near Quantico, Va.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 13.—The northbound passenger train on the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac railroad which left here at 7 o'clock last night was held up near Quantico. The engineer and fireman were forced from their engine and the engine was cut loose and sent ahead. The express car was then entered, the messengers covered with pistols and the safe blown open and robbed. The runaway locomotive was stopped at Quantico by obstructing the track.

The express messenger said that the safe contained $150,000. The robbers secured this and all of the express packages containing money. It is thought this amount will foot up to about $180,000. A large amount of this money was shipped from Richmond. None of the passengers was molested.

After the robbery the thieves made off with their booty in the direction of the Potomac river, where it is supposed they had a boat in waiting to take them to the Maryland side. None of the robbers entered the passenger coaches.

Cartridge Exploded After 20 Years.

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 13.—Twenty years ago Frank Frost's father, in Portland, used glycerine cartridges to blow out stone in his lot. One of the cartridges was not used and buried in the lot and the place of burial was forgotten as the years went by. The lot was plowed, harrowed, and hoed, and harvested. Yesterday afternoon Thomas Cashman was harrowing this lot and his horse stepped on the cartridge and it exploded with terrific force, blowing Cashman 10 feet, cutting his legs badly. The horse was frightfully mangled and a hole four feet deep was made in the ground.

ARNOLD'S BONDSMEN SETTLE UP

The County, Nevertheless, Out $45,000 by the Theft.

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The bondsmen for J. J. Arnold, the defaulting treasurer, have made an amicable settlement with the county. The board of supervisors accepted $5,000 each from the only three financially responsible sureties—Benjamin Hager and Peter A. Porter of Niagara Falls and F. P. Weaver of this city—and $1,000 in securities given by Arnold to his bondsmen when he was arrested. Fourteen thousand dollars of this amount will be applied to the infant heir fund and $2,000 to the county fund, leaving a shortage of $45,000 to fall on the county. This relieves the bondsman from all further litigation.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 13.—Captain Robert C. Andrews, one of the most noted pedestrians in the country, died at the age of 102, in Sumter, S. C., Wednesday night. He was a soldier in the Mexican war and the war of secession. Long before railroads were built to Sumter, he drove a coach to Boston, and five years ago, at the age of 97, he walked to Boston, accompanied by "Fido," his dog. At one time or another he tramped to almost every section of the country. He left a history of his life.

STOLE MANY STAMPS

The Washington Robbery a Serious Matter.

An Enormous Task To Ascertain What Postoffices Have Received Short Packages—Three of the Thieves Under Arrest—Used Money Freely Having a Wild Time.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The stamp robbery at the bureau of engraving and printing turns out to be a much larger matter than at first suspected. Instead of one package containing 50,000 two-cent stamps, it is now believed that over 200,000, and possibly 250,000 stamps of various denominations are missing. Postmasters in all parts of the country, it is thought, have received fewer stamps than they ordered and failed to notice the deficiency. When their quarterly reports are made up these shortages may be found. It will take weeks to discover the full extent of the robbery. When it is known that Thursday's shipments of stamps were served to 1,800 postmasters, some idea of the enormity of the task of ascertaining what offices have received short packages is had

The stealing has been going on for thirty days, and seems to have been the result of a plot. William B. Smith, formerly of Plainfield, N. J., and George W. Longstreet, who were employed in the stamp department of the bureau of engraving, are under arrest, and the detectives are looking for William A. Beach, who was until recently employed in a hotel billiard room in this city, and a man whose name is believed to be Simmerslitz. Both men left Washington Wednesday for the purpose of selling stamps. Smith made a proposition to the police authorities to turn state's evidence and make a full confession if they would sign a paper guaranteeing him protection. He said he would implicate government employes much higher than himself. He was told that such protection could not be granted. Smith then told the authorities that he knew where Beach was, but would go to jail before he would tell his whereabouts. The authorities are at a loss as to what to make of Smith's offer, as he has told so many conflicting stories since his arrest.

Given Away by Women.

Longstreet was arrested on the evidence of May Earl and Cora La Boss, two dissolute women, who went to New York and Orange, N. J., a week or so ago with Smith and Beach. These women told the detectives that Friday night, Sept. 28, Smith and Beach accompanied by a third man, called at their house and wanted them to start that night for New York. To this they agreed. The three men asked for the use of a room for a few minutes. They entered it, Smith carrying a small satchel. Shortly after Smith left the house with a large white envelope. He returned with some money and four tickets for Baltimore. They then left the city, leaving the third man. The officers looked upon this as sufficient evidence to hold the third party, so Detectives Weedon and Helen, Postoffice Inspector Smith and Postage Stamp Agent Davis went to the bureau of engraving and printing, taking the two women along, as they were positive they could point out the unknown man there.

In the stamp vault Cora La Boss pointed out Longstreet, who was asked into Agent Davis' office. As soon as he entered he blurted out:

"Now, about those 50,000 stamps. I know absolutely nothing of them. My books are straight."

As the officers had given no intimation of the nature of their visit, this was considered an evidence of guilt, and Longstreet was arrested. On the way to the police station the prisoner became indignant and declared he would sue somebody for damages. He was told to sue Smith as he had made a confession implicating him (Longstreet). This quieted the prisoner.

Longstreet is about 35 years old, unmarried, and an expert stamp handler and packer. He was with the American Bank Note company for eight years, ranking as the company's second best stamp expert. When the government assumed the stamp contracts a few months ago, Longstreet was brought here as an instructor of other men. He was regarded as absolutely trustworthy.

Had a Hilarious Time.

The trip of Smith, Beach and the two women to New York was a hilarious one. They spent money freely and sold stamps right and left. During the absence of Smith from the party for a short time, Beach stole some of the stamps from his fellow in crime. The woman La Boss, realizing that the men were theives, became frightened and left them in New York city. The other three then went to Orange, N. J., where Smith and the Earl woman attempted to pass as man and wife and were ejected from a hotel. Beach and the woman engaged in a fisticuff to the sorrow of the latter. A policeman arrested the trio and took them before the chief of police, where 6,300 stamps were found in a satchel, and those stolen from Smith by Beach found in the latter's pockets. They were accused of having stolen the stamps, but strenuously denied the charge. The Earl woman became disgusted with the affair and informed the chief that they were stolen property and that her statement could be verified by telegraphing to the bureau of printing and engraving at Washington. For some unaccountable reason the chief was persuaded to let them go, and he has now regretted his action. They returned to Washington on Sunday. The next day Smith resumed his duties as usual and Beach went about the city selling the stolen plunder. Some of the stamps were off a new issue not yet put in circulation.

THEIR BOOTY WAS GOLD

Overland Train Robbers Secured $51,000.

A Tramp's Thrilling Experience—He Hides Himself in the Locomotive Tender and Observes the Whole Work—One of the Robbers Guns Rested on His Legs.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 13.—It is now known that the two masked bandits who held up the overland express near Davisville secured $51,000 in gold. It was a most daring robbery, the outlaws stopping the train with torpedos and lanterns stolen from the track walker whom they waylaid and bound and gagged.

James Colton, who was beating his way to Sacramento from Suisun, probably saw more of the robbery than anyone else. His story is as follows:

"The first thing I knew about any trouble was when the torpedo went off. It seemed to light the engine. I said to Hanley, a tramp who was riding on the forward platform of the blind baggage, where I was riding, 'There goes a torpedo, something is wrong.' I swung out on the step and looked ahead and saw two figures on the track swinging lanterns. One had a red and the other a white lantern. As the train slowed up I climbed up in the back end of the tender and lay down, while Hanley went inside the storm door. The next thing I saw the two robbers run up, one on each side of the engine. They were dressed in close-fitting white suits; wore high-peaked caps, exactly like pictures I have seen of the white caps in the east.

"They looked like clowns in a circus. They had Winchester rifles but no pistols or cartridge belts that I could see. The big one fired his rifle off and said to the engineer: 'Get down out of that, and be quick about it.'

"The engineer replied, 'I will; I will; don't kill me; I'll mind you.' The engineer and fireman accompanied the robbers who kept poking them with their guns. The tall one said: 'Get a move on you.' They went back and uncoupled the four forward cars from the passenger coaches and brought the fireman and engineer back to the engine. The tall man stood on the platform of the first car and said to the engineer: 'Pull out now; blamed lively; and go until I tell you to stop.'

"One of the robbers kept his gun aimed at the engineer and rested it on my legs without seeing me. It was an old gun with so large a bore that I thought it was a musket at first. After we had gone about a mile, the big man told the engineer to stop. The big man climbed on the tender and saw me for the first time. He pointed his rifle at me and said: 'What the devil are you?' I said 'don't shoot, mister, I'm only a tramp.' He told me to keep quiet and I would be all right. Then the man compelled the engineer and fireman to go back to the express car and call the messenger. The messenger began to shoot at once, but was implored not to by the engineer.

"I saw the four come back presently, bearing a sack each, and heard the large man say the sacks weighed about 75 pounds, though the two carried by the railroad men were larger than the other two. They put the sacks on the engine, and then they pulled out.

"As they were bringing the sacks to the engine the messenger fired two shots at them; the engineer said: 'That fool will kill us yet.' The big robber laughed and said: 'No he won't, he can't hit the side of the house.' They were the coolest men I ever saw. The mouth opening in the big fellow's mask was very large and I could see that he had a dark moustache."

Hanley, the other tramp, tells a story similar to Colton's though his opportunities for seeing were not so good, as he was behind the storm doors most of the time.

Where the State Will Benefit.

Albany, Oct. 13.—It is estimated at the comptroller's office that the ammendments to the Ives pool law of last session will bring at least $120,000 more into the state treasury. Under the old law racing associations payed a tax only on admission fees. Now they are compelled to pay on all income except entrance fees.

Movements of Italian Warships.

Rome, Oct. 13.—The warship Umbria will sail for China on Oct. 16. The steel corvette Cristofore Colombo, which carries the Duke of Abruzzi, will not sail for the east, but will make a long cruise, touching at Gibraltar, Morocco, Lisbon, New York and other ports of the United States.

Ex-Gov. Bedle Taken to a Hospital.

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 13.—Ex-Governor Joseph D. Bedle, who has been ill for several days, has been removed to a New York hospitial, there to undergo an operation for calculus. The family refuse to furnish any particulars because they do not care to have it known where Mr. Bedle is, absolute quiet being necessary to his recovery.

GEORGE E. PACE,
Chairman County Ex. Com.

Immediately after Monte Scott's great feat last evening, the town was flooded with an extra Daily Press giving full particulars. The big edition was quickly exhausted and the enterprise of The Press was as much talked of as was Scott's success. No other paper in Plainfield noticed the great event.

It makes a difference whose ox is gored. Now, when a Republican Council proposes to establish sewage-disposal beds at Dunellen's borders, the ex-city-clerk in his paper attemps to show the people of Dunellen what an inoffensive and even desirable new neighbor they are about to acquire. Yet when the Big Six tried to establish a similar system of sewage-disposal the ex-city-clerk sang a different tune. This is from his issue of Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1891:

> The sewage works are to be located on West End avenue. How will the residents of West Seventh street, the workmen in the Potter Press Works and the Pond Tool Works people like that? And yet according to Low's contract the "Big Six" propose to locate that foul-smelling plant directly under the noses of the residents of the West End of the city.

What is bad for the West End is good for Dunellen, argues the spectacled paper.

In a communication published by our contemporaries last evening Manager Varian of Music Hall said:

> I have lived up to my contract with Mr. Force and am ready and willing to continue it so far as the newspaper advertising is concerned until the end of the season.

Mr. Varian seeks to give the impression that The Press refuses him the use of its columns. The fact is that the columns of The Press are open to his advertising at the regular card rates whenever he chooses to pay up what he owes The Press and send cash for each order.

Concerning Mr. Varian's assertion that the statement of The Daily Press is untrue, The Press has nothing to say except that its side of the case has already been clearly and squarely stated and that the public can judge according to the method of dealing which has characterized the publisher during his entire life in Plainfield, 27 years of which have been spent in publishing a newspaper and in daily personal and business contact with the people.

Dunellen is intensely stirred up over the proposed location of the sewer beds. The Weekly Call is waging a splendid fight, and this week's issue is full of protests and arguments. Editor Lowrie brings out the following ideas:

> The mere fact of having all the filth and debris of Plainfield dumped within a few feet of our doors is sickening and would drive anyone away from the place, unless they were compelled to stay and occupy their property, because no one else would take it. Even if we are not annoyed by a continual unpleasant odor and obliged to keep our windows closed the whole year, the existence of a sewer so near us is unpleasant. If the Plainfield authorities would keep their sewer east of Rock avenue, they will find equally as good a spot and it will not spoil $250,000 worth of property. The soil is more sandy and better in every way than what they have already selected.
>
> It is estimated that $250,000 worth of property is situated near enough to the location of the proposed sewerage beds to be infected. Supposing this property should depreciate in value to the amount of 25 per cent., then the sewerage plant would cost Dunellenites $62,500, more than it will cost Plainfield. Better spend something to prevent its existence.

The claim that more available land is at hand that would lessen the indignity to our good neighbor Dunellen, is worthy of investigation. The committee of five should emphasize such a point as that, when they appear before the committee on sewers.

—The County Clerk's office will be open Monday evening, Oct. 16, from 7 to 8:45 for naturalization.

—Henceforth the 2:30 p. m. daily train from Plainfield, and the 10:17 Sunday evening train, will stop at Netherwood. Ex-Councilman Spangenberg has been working for this local public benefit.

AN OCEAN UNDER US.

COMMOTION IN THE WELLS

CAUSE OF THE NOISE THAT ALARMED ALL NETHERWOOD.

The Pumping Station's Three New Wells are Tested, and Prove a Daily Capacity of 2,000,000 Gallons.

When the present management came into control of the pumping station at Netherwood, it was thought best to provide pumps having a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons of water a day, in view of the expected growth of the company's business, consequently the pumping machinery exceeded the practical capacity of the suction pipes in the original wells, which were sunk by the old Water Works Company. During the past month or so the present company has been engaged in sinking additional wells along the North avenue front of their property. The new wells are larger and deeper than the originals, the suction pipes being six inches in diameter. A contract was awarded to Messrs. Conlan of Newark for four new wells, 100 feet apart.

Three of them have been completed, and the fourth will be finished in the course of a few days. As each well was finished it was thoroughly cleaned out by means of a two-inch steam pipe, let down to a point near the bottom of the well, and steam at a pressure of eighty pounds turned on. The result was a volley of "minute guns"; that is, as soon as the water became heated in the vicinity of the steam pipe and condensation thereby ceased, the water and steam above the outlet of the steam pipe would rush out of the wells at intervals of a minute or so with great violence and an explosion like a muffled cannon. This bombardment was kept up for several hours at a time in each well, occasionally repeating all night. The commotion in the bottom of the wells was immense during the process.

On Friday the three new wells that have been completed were tested, all of the old wells being turned off, and it was found that the three wells readily yielded water at the rate of a little over 2,000,000 gallons a day, being the full capacity of the pump that was used in making the test. More than 65 miles of mains are now connected with the pumping station, and calls for extensions in every direction are constantly made. One hundred and ninety-eight million gallons of water was pumped during July, August and September, and it is expected that a still larger quantity will be required next summer, owing to the construction of a sewer system in this city.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

John Lewis, who has been ill, is reported better.

Marion Ackerman and Robert Rushmore are home from the Adirondacks.

C. F. Sullivan of La Grande avenue is about to remove to New York for the Winter.

Mrs. John VanMiddlesworth of Somerville is visiting her son Henry, at 108 Liberty street.

John M. Whiton of this city has been appointed a New York agent of the Prussian National Insurance Company of Stettin, Germany.

W. E. MacClymont has accepted a position as director in the musical department of the Glenwood Seminary, Matawan. He will teach there Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Mrs. Margaret Sweeny died at the home of John Welsh, 123 West Seventh street yesterday. She was nearly 62 years of age. The funeral will be held in the house tomorrow afternoon at 2 and 2:30 in St. Mary's Church.

Christopher Derr, son of Benjamin Derr of Regent street, died suddenly last night at the age of 23. The young man was unmarried. He was formerly employed by George Weiss. For a year he has owned two teams and been engaged in carting stone for J. Y. Wilson. He caught a heavy cold Tuesday and grew rapidly worse until his death.

Almeran Garrison, who was born in Plainfield in 1845 and went to the war in 1861, enlisting in the 14th Regt. N. J. Vols., and now attached to the Fourth Police Precinct under Capt. Edwin Slevin, was a welcome visitor among comrades in this city yesterday. It was Mr. Garrison's first visit since the close of the war, and as he expressed it he would have come oftener had he known what a beautiful place Plainfield has grown to be.

Miss Annie Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson of Plainfield avenue, was quietly married to Peter Clauson at her home Wednesday night. Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope Chapel, performed the ceremony. Miss Nelson is one of the prettiest girls in the West End and her hosts of friends will miss her greatly when she leaves with her husband for the home he has prepared in Sandy Hill, three miles from Perth Amboy.

Slim Jim Sent Through.

The city engineers examined the interior of the 18-inch pipe laid on Grant avenue yesterday afternoon. A mirror was held at the mouth of the sewer and another from above reflected the sunlight down. Several pieces of jute which were seen in it were brought out by a slender boy.

The Press Was Days Ahead.

Ex-Judge Wm. R. Codington today received an official notification of his appointment as receiver of the Hotel Netherwood Company. He will begin to make an inventory the first of next week.

The fifth anniversary of Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men, October 9, was fittingly celebrated last evening. Members and visitors joined in the enjoyment of an entertainment, dancing and a collation.

It being the regular meeting night, the tribe was called together early in the evening and the transaction of business rushed through in a short time. Then the entertainment began in the hall. The room was very prettily decorated. The chandelier in the centre was filled in with small flags and Chinese lanterns and from it four lines of lanterns reached to the corners of the hall.

The following was the programme of the evening:

Dancing followed to the music of Mrs. Schorb's orchestra. It was kept up until an early hour this morning. Supper was served in the banquet-room at midnight.

The visitors included Thomas J. Francis of Camden, Past Great Incohonee of the United States; Charles Brown of Fallsboro, Great Sachem; Daniel Stevens of Camden, Great Chief of Records; William J. Fractured a Rib.

In the football game yesterday afternoon Wesley Abbott, full back on Leal's eleven, met with quite an accident. He had the ball beneath him when half-a-dozen boys piled up in a scrambling heap upon him.

Abbott was crushed down against the ball and had the cartilage of one of his lower ribs loosened. Dr. Endicott attended him. The physician thinks he will be able to be about in a week, but says he cannot play football again this season.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Articles of incorporation were filed in Trenton today placing at $18,000 the capital stock of the Allen-Force Manufacturing Company of New York and Plainfield. J. C. Allen of this city is the head of the firm. They manufacture toilet powder.

TO TRAINER TEEL.

Oh! Mr. Teel, you're quite a sport,
To cut off all the girls so very short,
And not give us a chance to speak or look
At the boy all us girls would so much like to hook.

It is all very well for Monte and you.
We all know that company is two,
But still it looks indeed very wrong
For you to hold on to him so very strong.

We know it was very interesting to you
To see him finish in front of the two,
And also to see you with grace
Kiss Mrs. Scott at the end of the race.

When Monte came in all haggard and tired,
It made more than one girl feel as though
she could cry,
But still it gave all of us much pleasure indeed
To see Monte come in with so much speed.

All honor to you, brave Trainer Teel,
We all of us felt like giving you a squeeze.
So let this lesson to you be not in vain,
And give your pupils a looser rein.

PENSION MATTERS.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The report of the commissioner of pensions for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1894, has been forwarded to the secretary of the interior. It states that the number of pensioners on the rolls June 30, 1893, was 966,012; that during the year 39,085 new pensioners were added to the rolls, and 2,398 previously dropped were restored, while 37,951 have been dropped for death and other causes; and on June 30, 1894, the number of pensioners upon the rolls was 969,544. The number of pension certificates issued during the year was 80,213, and 132,873 claims of all classes were rejected.

On July 1, 1894, there were undisposed of and in different stages of preparation and advancement claims for pension and for increase to the amount of 619,027, of which 287,209 claims—originals, widows and dependents—are on behalf of persons not already on the rolls. These claims, save some recently filed, have been examined more than once and found lacking in essential evidence. They are the lame cases that have come down through the past years.

The fact is referred to that under the earlier laws the allowances decreased from 50,177 in 1876 to 9,977 ten years later. The arrears act brought in a large number of new claims, increasing the allowances, and the disability act of June 27, 1890, caused 363,797 claims to be filed the next year. New claims of all kinds have fallen off from 363,799 in 1891 to 40,148 in 1894, the fact being that original claims for pensions under existing laws are substantially all in, and the bulk of new claims are for increase, or for widows and dependents. The answers to congressional calls alone exceeded 95,000 within the year, in each case requiring nearly as careful an examination as would have been necessary to adjudicate the case if the evidence were complete. With the class of work on hand the utmost diligence on the part of the office force could not produce a large output of certificates.

The amount paid for pensions during the year was $139,804,461.05, leaving a balance in the treasury of $25,205,712.65 of the appropriation.

Much dishonesty and fraud, mainly attributable to unscrupulous claim agents, was uncovered, and there were 194 convictions in the United States courts within the year for pension frauds, perjuries and forgeries.

A Bigamist Skips Out.

Woodbury, N. J., Oct. 13.—Harry A. Loche, secretary of the Eastern Insurance company of Philadelphia, who was arrested Thursday for bigamy, and released on his own recognizance for a hearing yesterday, failed to appear. He was married to his first wife at Clinton, N. J., in 1887, and in September of last year he married, so it is alleged, Ella E. Simpson, of Mantua. Since that time he has led a dual life, spending a portion of his time with each woman. After his arrest he assaulted his mother-in-law and took clothing and valuables from wife No. 2 valued at $600 and decamped. He is also alleged to have carried away $400 with which he had been intrusted by the Eastern Insurance company.

No Doubt of This Man's Honesty.

Boston, Oct. 13.—Henry Biglow Williams, a Boston hotel keeper who failed in business eighteen years ago, and whose balance of indebtedness had long since been outlawed, has recently gone around to his creditors and settled the old claims in full, principal and interest. Among his debts was one to a manufacturer of billiard tables amounting to about $1,400 and the latter was given a check amounting to about $2,700 for principal and interest. Another concern was gladdened with a check for about $10,000, and other creditors were treated in a similar manner.

Sullivan To Establish a Sanitarium.

South Framingham, Mass., Oct. 13.—John L. Sullivan, the ex-champion pugilist, is negotiating for the lease of the well-known Davis farm, in South Sherborn, and the deal will be closed in a few days. He will retire from the stage and establish a sanitarium on the farm, furnishing training quarters for pugilists. The Davis estate is large and well located.

The Dying Czar.

London, Oct. 13.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says: "Medical circles in St. Petersburg believe that a council of the most prominent surgeons in Europe will meet in Corfu soon after the czar's arrival."

—Pony McLaren of Dunellen, one of the oldest engineers on the Jersey Central, is taking two weeks vacation to entertain his brother who is here for the first time in 22 years.

—A stageload of Plainfield Endeavorers returning last night from New Brunswick was upset, but no one was hurt. The driver misjudged the depth of a ditch in turning out to avoid another vehicle.

—A. E. Hoagland's express horse ran away on North avenue when the bridle was taken off to feed him this afternoon. At North and Park avenues occurred collision with A. E. Faber's carriage, whose driver was thrown out and bruised on the head. The Faber carriage had a wheel wrecked.

PLEASES BECAUSE IT IS FREE.

When a thing is free and at the same time contains great value, being just what everybody wants, it is eagerly sought by all. Every weak, delicate or sickly person will be pleased with the great and generous offer of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City, the noted and successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He has established a system of free letter correspondence whereby all may write him about their complaint and receive in return a complete description of their ailments, explaining thoroughly the meaning of each symptom, and telling just what to do to be cured. The doctor makes a specialty of treating patients through letter correspondence, giving most careful and explicit attention to every letter, and explains your case so minutely you understand exactly what your trouble is. All this costs nothing. All those who cannot afford the time or expense of visiting the city can now have the most skilful consultation and advice free of charge, and without leaving their homes. The method is successful. Thousands are being cured by it. Try it. Write the doctor and it will undoubtedly be the means of your getting well.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 14. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—How Christ helps in our daily tasks. Col. iii, 12-17.

One of the blessed things about Christianity is that it does help us in our daily tasks. It is true that many Christians do not receive the help that they ought to receive because they have neglected this fact. If a great trial or affliction comes to them, they go at once to Christ, and He helps them, but they do not think of taking the little worries and cares of everyday life to Him, and what needless pains they bear, because they do not carry everything to Him in prayer.

This is a lesson that we all need now to learn. Christ can help us and will help us in our daily duties and cares if we only go to Him with them. How does Christ help us? The Scriptural reference may suggest the following ways:

1. Christ helps us in our daily tasks by giving us a right spirit (Col. iii, 13, 15, 16). The performance of our daily tasks depends perhaps more than anything else upon our frame of mind. If we are in good spirits, it is not difficult to perform these duties pleasantly and satisfactorily. Christ gives us this right frame of mind, this true Godly spirit, and in doing so helps us with these tasks. We should seek this true spirit from Him, as Paul implies it in these verses a spirit of kindness, humbleness of mind, long suffering, the peace of God in the heart and the word of Christ dwelling in us richly, teaching and admonishing us. With such a spirit we are well able to begin our daily tasks.

2. Christ helps us in our daily tasks by giving us right actions (Col. iii, 13, 14). The true spirit will lead us to true action. In our dealings with others Christ calls upon us to have forgiveness and charity. If we would act upon these and other Christian principles, how much easier it would be to perform our daily tasks! How unfit we are for the duties of life if there is a feeling of hatred or unkindness toward our friends or our neighbors! In helping us to act right in our relations to others Christ helps up to perform our daily tasks.

3. Christ helps us in our daily tasks by placing a right motive before us (verse 17). "Whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God." If we only remembered that even in the seemingly unimportant tasks of our daily lives we should do all in the name of Jesus and for the glory of God, how we would be helped in the performance of these tasks!

Bible Readings—Mark xi, 25; Rom. xiv, 17; I Cor. x, 31; Gal. v, 22; Eph. iv, 2, 32; v, 2; Phil. iv, 7; I Thess. iv, 9; II Pet. iii, 18; I John iii, 23.

Worthy of Emulation.

At the Cleveland rally devoted to the Senior Christian Endeavor society one of the speakers described the home department of the prayer meeting. This is a new line of church activity, and one that we think is capable of wide and profitable use.

To belong to the home department of the prayer meeting it is only necessary to pray for the success of the meeting when you are unable to be present yourself. In this way the entire church may be set to praying together, even though only a part can be present in the one room.

This home department will not detract from the interest in the meetings and the attendance upon them, but will rather increase both. People who pray over a matter will become more and not less faithful with regard to it. Is there not here an idea worth at least a trial?—Exchange.

Christian Endeavor Flowers.

A Methodist C. E. society in Toronto for a long time had been faithfully distributing flowers among the sick. Among those who received them was a young man stricken with consumption. He was not a Christian, and no member of the society had seen him personally, but a clergyman, talking with him before he died, learned that he had been brought to Christ through reading the texts that came with the Christian Endeavor flowers.—Exchange.

Seek God For Peace.

True peace is found only in the possession of God, and the possession of God here on earth consists only in submission to faith and obedience to law. Resign every forbidden joy, restrain every wish that is not referred to this will, banish all eager desires, all anxiety, desire only the will of God, seek him alone, and you will find peace. You shall enjoy it in spite of the world. —Fenelon.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

The number of delegates registered at the convention from Cleveland and the state of Ohio was 21,210 and from outside the state 18,790, a total of 40,000.

Better a society with a small active membership than a society with a large inactive one.

A Canadian Christian Endeavor topic card contains on the back this suggestive quotation: "Don't look around every time some one comes in. Study to be quiet" (I Thess. iv, 11).

During the past year the Christian Endeavor movement in England has spread largely among the Welsh, rendering it necessary to publish portions of the Christian Endeavor literature in that language.

The famous author, Rev. Josiah Strong, D. D., recently made the statement, "I am more and more convinced that one of the best ways to haste the coming of the kingdom in the earth is to build up the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor."

Christian Endeavor is the battering ram which is going to break down the walls of division between churches.—Rev. T. F. John.

"Interdenominationalism is the John the Baptist of the nineteenth century. Christian union is the Christ of the twentieth century."

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Castle Cyclers will run to Plainfield Oct. 21.

The Daily Press record-breaking extra took the town.

Monte Scott's record-breaking on a Spalding Saturday rounded out the season for the wheel and strengthened its hold in Plainfield. Not only Monte rode a Spalding but E. T. Hand, the winner, had a similar mount from the cycle shop of W. H. Rogers. That's where the wheel that Barnett won on came from.

NEW YORK AFFAIRS.

THE INTELLIGENT AND SURPRISING HOTEL TELESEME.

An Electric Device that will Bring a Paper, a Drink or Scores of other Things. Something About Clothes. Mr. Newly Wed's Trouble.

Visitors who come to New York, and are not up in all the latest improvements, are especially surprised by the Teleseme, which has taken the place of the old-fashioned electric call bell—the press-the-button-once-for-a-bell-boy, twice-for-ice-water-and-so-on affair. You can turn the crank of the Teleseme dial in your room and order any thing from a bell boy to a mixed drink. The list of drinks is remarkably large, running all the way from plain whiskey to sherry cobbler. All the leading newspapers, and many other things can be ordered in the same way. The Teleseme has a range of 125 different calls. It is rented to the hotels at about $2 per room a year, and it is believed that the owners of the patent have one of the biggest of big bonanzas.

The fashion of wearing creased trousers has been a great windfall for New York tailors, who press clothes, for, seeing how much the frequent pressing of his "pants" improved his get-up, the well-groomed man dropped into the habit of having his whole suit pressed at frequent intervals, whereas he used to be content with having them smoothed out about once a season. Shops that confine themselves to pressing men's clothing have sprung up all over the city. In one on Fifth avenue you can get your garments pressed while you wait, and if it be the only suit about your person, there is a retiring room where you can wait, after the manner of the man with one under garment, who went to bed while it was washed.

While on the subject of clothes it may be mentioned that Helen Dauvray, the comedienne, does not take favorably to the present craze for masculinity in female apparel. She abhors the prevailing custom among women in adopting the shirt, collar and necktie. She said to me the other day: "I see young women every day who resemble men. In street cars, elevated trains, and public places they wear short hair and the masculine style of costume that has come into vogue, and but for their skirts it would be difficult to discern them from members of the sterner sex. I don't like mannish costumes or mannish manners in women. I think the charm of woman is her womanly nature, which is lost when she dons the shirt, collar and necktie and other apparel of the opposite sex. I do not believe this craze will last long, and that the dress reform movement will begin to work toward a natural style is more certain than ever." But despite the fair Helen's philippic the number of mannish dressed women that one sees on the streets is very large.

Miss Lizzie McCall, a woman who shot one husband and had trouble with another, has been after Ward McAllister's son Heyward lately. The first story was, that after receiving thousands from him in diamonds and other valuable gifts, she was going to sue him for $50,000 more. Abe Hummel, her lawyer, said she and young McAllister were not married, but suggested that there was a highly interesting story back of their friendship. When Papa McAllister is away, young McAllister seems to imitate the fatuous mouse or the unintelligent moth in a way to invite trouble and scandal.

"I never realized when I was a bachelor," said a newly married man the other day, "how poor New York is in apartment houses of a certain type. I wanted to find a three-room-and-a-bath apartment in a good neighborhood and I didn't want to pay more than $600 a year. Well, I haven't found it, and I'm still looking. Now, why wouldn't it be a good investment for some man to build a house that shall be devoted to such apartments? It is easy enough to find four or five room apartments, but that isn't what I'm looking for. I wanted three rooms and a bath that should be as desirable as my old bachelor apartments were. Lots of other young mrrried men who do not propose to keep house are looking for just the same thing."

The same thing is true of Brooklyn, but it seems probable that the want will be supplied before long, as every want that may be profitably catered to usually is.

The Vanderbilt skill and judgment in financial affairs crops out in the daughters of the family as well as the sons. The four daughters each received $10,000,000 on the death of their father, and have managed and spent it as they pleased. That they have done it well is attested by the fact that despite their liberal philanthropies, which in the case of Mrs. Shepard amounts to almost continuous giving, the fortune of each of the sisters has increased by fully $5,000,000. Their mother, Mrs. Maria Vanderbilt, is much less assertive and "capable" as a woman of affairs and prefers to let her son relieve her of the care of the millions which her husband left her.

Two Salvation Army girls who passed up Broadway a day or two ago attracted the attention of even those who are used to the uniforms of the women enlisted in the cause. In addition to the usual costume of blue with straw poke bonnets, they wore belts of brilliant red, on which, in large gilt letters, was wrought the legend, "Christ is Risen."

While walking on the beach at Oyster Bay a few mornings ago, Frank Ahern discovered a pair of trousers that had been washed ashore. They were of good material and but little worn. An examination of the pockets revealed a wallet containing $110 in bills. There was nothing in the wallet to show who was the owner.

Mr. Cy Warman says that his song of "Sweet Marie," which was published first in The Sun in September, 1892, and, as everybody knows, has been set to music, is bringing in $2,000 a month, which is divided between Mr. Warman and Mr. Raymond Moore, the composer of the music.

Hop Lee, a bright young Chinaman of Sixth avenue who was recently interviewed on the war, takes a very optimistic view of the outlook for China. He said that in a long war Japan could not hold out against China, because the latter country had the men and the money, too. "Japan small countree, make big bluff, but China big, like Melican man's countree," he said phlegmatically. Hop then picked up his pipe and gently "hitting" it, continued: "War not yet begun; China getting ready, and then look out. Japan will get sick before it is over. Melican man should know how big China is and how small Japan."

ROGER LEWIS.

CYNICAL BUT CLEVER.

Lord Clive Explains in Brief His Theory of Life.

Henry Arthur Jones in his latest successful play introduces the following clever dialogue between the hero, Lord Clive, and his father:

Discussing his son's political prospects, Lord Sarum, in admonitory tones, observes: "You're going to drive the public coach, Clive. You wouldn't engage a coachman without a character?"

"For driving? Just so. When I engage a coachman I want to know whether he can drive; not how many love affairs he's had with my cook."

"But if he created a scandal with your cook—what then?"

"That all depends upon the sort of a cook she was. If she cooked better than he drove, I should consider it his fault and, her misfortune, and he'd have to pack. But if he drove better than she cooked, it would be clearly her fault, and his misfortune, and she'd have to pack."

"Why won't you marry, Clive?"

"Why should I, when I can get the same charms, the same companionship, the same accomplishments, slang, extravagance, inconstancy, without being burdened with it for life? Women complain that men won't marry. It's their own fault for making themselves so cheap. Women ought to be a good deal better than men—that's my theory, and I'm gallant enough to act up to it, for when I see women lowering themselves I lower myself so I may still have the pleasure of looking up to them."

Is not the latter part of this tirade both charming and true, though it is cynical?

A PRETTY TRADITION.

A Spanish Account of the First Use of Orange Blossoms.

Like all familar customs whose origin is lost in antiquity, the wearing of orange blossoms at a wedding is accounted for in various ways. Among other stories is the following pretty legend from Spain:

An African prince presented a Spanish king with a magnificent orange-tree, whose creamy, waxy blossoms and wonderful fragrance excited the admiration of the whole court. Many begged in vain for a branch of the plant, but a foreign ambassador was tormented by the desire to introduce so great a curiosity to his native land. He used every possible means, fair or foul, to accomplish his purpose, but all his efforts coming to naught, he gave up in despair. The fair daughter of the court-gardener was loved by a young artisan, but lacked the dot which the family considered necessary in a bride. One day, chancing to break off a spray of orange-blossoms, the gardener thoughtlessly gave it to his daughter. Seeing the coveted prize in the girl's hair, the wily ambassador promptly offered her a sum sufficient for the desired dowry, provided she gave him the branch and said nothing about it. Her marriage was soon celebrated, and on the way to the altar, in grateful remembrance of the source of all her happiness, she secretly broke off another bit of the lucky tree to adorn her hair. Whether the poor court-gardener lost his head in consequence of the daughter's treachery, the legend does not state, but many lands now know the wonderful tree, and ever since that wedding-day orange-blossoms have been considered a fitting adornment for a bride.—Kate Field's Washington.

MR. OLIVE SCHREINER.

The Author of "Dreams," Asks Her Husband to Take Her Name.

Olive Schreiner, says Munsey's Magazine, has done what the organs of woman's rights are always threatening. She has married and asked her husband to take her name, instead of losing her own identity in his.

"Krantz Plaats" is the name of their place in South Africa. They own a dairy and consider the work of that before book writing.

"To feed and clothe, to order a small plot of ground and the livings thing upon it, to walk simply hand in hand with the kindly seasons," is Olive Schreiner's idea of life. She thinks that living close to nature is a poem. There have been others who have had the hardest prose of life who have also thought so.

It is a fact that from the country, from the earth, comes all the originality, all the freshness which gets into literature or art. Its well spring is there, however far into the haunts of men the raw material may have been carried before it is made up. "The story of an African Farm," was as new as though it had been the first book; and England has bought seventy-three thousand copies of it, and America probably three times as many.

Mr. Pullman's Compromise.

The architect of Pullman was W. W. Beman. He was justly proud of his work and justifiedly anxious to be identified with it in the memory of posterity, so one day, soon after the town was completed, he came to the proprietor and said:

"Mr. Pullman, if you haven't decided on any name for the new town, what do you think of calling it 'Beman,' from the man who designed it?"

"Um-m," said the magnate. "Fact is I had thought of calling the place 'Pullman,' from the man who built it and paid for it."

"However," Mr. Pullman added, as he observed a look of disappointment on the architect's face, "however, I'm not particular. Now what do you say of a compromise? Suppose we take the first syllable of my name, 'Pull,' and the second syllable of your name, 'man,' There we have it, 'Pull-'man'—'Pullman.' You see, that combines your idea with mine."

Mr. Pullman's suggestion prevailed, and the name, it seems, is a compromise.—Chicago Daily Tribune.

A Charming Nook in Mrs. Grant's Home.

One of the most charming features of the beautiful house in San Diego, Cal., which Mrs. U. S. Grant and her sons have chosen as their permanent home, is the fireplace in the great hall that takes up all the centre of the house and is crowned by a dome. In this fireplace a grown person could stand upright, and there are upholstered seats in the deep chimney corners. Only wood is burned in it, and two enormous logs hardly fill it. The house, which cost $100,000 to build by the original owner, and was sold to the Grants for $30,000, is exquisitely furnished throughout in rare woods, every particle of which was carved, polished and oiled by hand.

In Doubt.

"Oxcuse me, Mr. Acheimer," remarked Mr. Grossgeld, "but did I understand you to say that der brofits of dis pizness you want me to invest vouldt pe ten thousandt a year net or ten thousandt a year not?"—Indianapolis Journal.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

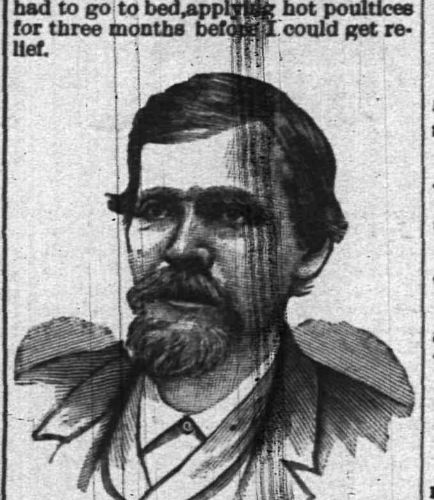
THE CASE OF MR. PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

THE SASH AND THE BIG BUTTERFLY BOW AGAIN POPULAR.

The Blossoming of the Widow. Everything in Dress Tends to Airy Caprices. Any kind of a Hat that is Becoming is Stylish. Hints and Suggestions to the Beautiful.

The sun pours down with fierce impartiality on town and country, and although one's skin, or even bones, would be a delightful and quite sufficient garment for solid comfort, the feminine mind is as ardently bent on the pursuit of Fashion as it was six months ago. And there are quite the same number of dainty feet which trip lightly on abreast of the fickle dame, and just as many clumsy ones trudging laboriously after. This season is decidedly inclined toward trimming the waists of gowns, or rather putting finishing touches that increase the style and elegance of the plainest dresses—for instance, bows of broad ribbon on each shoulder with the long ends falling on either side, back and front, or a crape scarf of the prevailing color of the gown, worn like a stole and falling in straight lines from the shoulders to the knees. A useful little addition to the wardrobe is a double muslin fichu which is edged with lace and can be worn for outdoor wear or to make a morning gown dressy for the evening.

One of the airiest caprices of fashion is an enormous tulle cravat forming a large bow, tied directly under the chin, which looks like a big delusive butterfly. The latest fad of ribbon cravat is made of several yards of ribbon, quite narrow, which is used up in loops and two long ends nearly reaching to the feet. It is very stylish, but sometimes rather inconvenient. Ruches are very much worn also about the necks of gowns, spangled black tulle being the favorite now in Paris, although one can form them out of any of the lovely thin stuffs that are so plentiful this summer. Black velvet belts are in vogue, too, but really a long, slender waist is needed to wear them without detracting from the figure.

An exceedingly smart costume designed in Vienna for a young widow in the last stages of mourning for the dear departed is made of white silk muslin with the tiniest of black dots, a black lace application in a large bowknot design on the front of the skirt, a smaller one on the waist. It is all accordion pleated and made over a white peau de soie, the wrinkled belt and collar of soft white and black silk. The large picture hat worn with this lovely gown is a lace foundation trimmed with knife-pleated black silk mull and soft white silk folded about the crown; black tulle pleated and standing up straight, giving a chic finish to the filmy structure. It all looks so cool and such a relief after the heavy black. Another extremely striking gown for the same person was made with the skirt of gray and black silk pekin, stylish double-breasted coat of black satin, the pointed basque cut away in front, and fastened with large jet buttons; it had huge revers, covered up with the cravat of white silk muslin, elbow puffs of black satin, long gray suede gloves, and a gray chip hat with parma violets.

A costume of silk and figured muslin made of a soft silvery gray peau de soie, and the muslin of the same shade, the blouse waist belted in with a brick-red ribbon, and a skirt of the muslin falling over the silk in long coquilles; a fall of broad guipure from the shoulders, caught over the breast with a knot of the brick-red ribbon, and one confining the collar, the bow being at the back of the neck.

SHE OUGHT TO KNOW BETTER.

A Mother Who Puts Discipline in the Place of Common Sense.

It is told of some mother, who was a rigid disciplinarian, that whenever her little girl particularly desired to wear one frock, she considered it a matter of duty that the child should wear another.

"It is entirely wrong to indulge children's notions," she said. "They should be trained not to think of their clothes, but simply to wear what is put on them."

"But don't you believe," some pitying onlooker suggested, "that the child really thinks more about the matter when the frock you make her wear is so distasteful?"

"She must learn not to dislike it," returned the mother, carelessly. "I have told her to wear it. That is enough."

The friend remembered the little girl's screams and protests and the flushed passionate face with which she ran out of the room and slammed the door—which "wooden oath" apparently passed unnoticed by the severe parent. Remembering, she wondered if forcing the child into one special garment compensated for the price it cost.

"But what difference—" she timidly began.

"All the difference in the world," retorted the mother. "She hates red because she knows it is not becoming to her. Well, it isn't, but I shall not encourage vanity in so young a child."

"But you don't wear red yourself for the same reason," insisted the friend.

"No; but then I have sense enough to decide wisely and then forget the matter. Grace may do as she pleases by-and-by."

Argument seemed thrown away. The friend was silenced, but took an inward vow to make a few of the prettiest frocks she could design for her own little daughters, and to chose styles and colors with special reference to their becomingness.

And when, afterward, some one remarked the extreme care she took in the matter, she repeated the little anecdote, and her own lesson drawn from it.

"It seems to me," she concluded, gravely, "that the child's spirit and temper are of more consequence than the frock she wears. Red, blue, or green is of no particular consequence. Nor is the style; it is as easy to make a thing becoming as the reverse. I like, too, to see the children look pretty rather than ugly. All that is my side of the matter. On their side, it hurts their spirit to have remarks made about them by other people. It hurts their feelings to think I could so injure them, unless I was obliged to do so. And if they do have little notions about some matter of dress, it is better not to notice too much the notion, but to quietly see that there is no cause why it should torment them. I think, too, it is really easier to be good in a pretty dress than in an ugly one. I know it is easier to forget the dress and think only of the goodness, because it is easier to forget a satisfactory thing than one whose hatefulness continually torments us."

"I think," she concluded, with a laugh, "I'll make my children good in pretty dresses first. And when they've grown strong enough to bear it, I'll begin to insist that they shall be equally good in ugly ones. That's a natural development, and the other isn't."—Harper's Bazar.

DECLINE OF KINSHIP.

Men No Longer Make as Much of Their Relatives as of Yore.

In old days the family meant something; to-day it means little or nothing. The ties of the English family were never so strong as those of the Scottish clan, still they were much more recognized a century ago than they are to-day, and the members of one family were more careful to preserve an attitude of loyalty toward a quarter from which they expect advantage.

To be the cousin, even once removed, of a great man was then to possess a certain claim upon his favor—a claim which he was not unwilling to recognize in consideration of the service which he might possibly command in return. To be the cousin of the prime minister to-day is not likely to afford much material advantage either to one's self or to the prime minister.

To take a single instance of the altered conditions of the family, let us consider the present position of the "poor relation." This unfortunate gentleman has changed very much for the worse as far as his material advantage is concerned. His family may at one time have treated him with disrespect, even with contumely, but at least it used to provide him with the necessaries of life. To-day it no longer insults him with begrudged benefactions; it simply ignores his existence.—London Spectator.

Too Good a Helpmate.

There is no doubt about it. It is sometimes a bad thing for a man to have a wife with business ability. The case of H. W. Allen, of Rockford, Ill., illustrates that fact. Mr. Allen's business is traveling for a wholesale grocery house. The other day he dislocated his shoulder. A trip which it was necessary that he should make was already mapped out. His wife told him that if he would mind the baby she would make the trip for him. He laughed her to scorn, but she was in earnest, and she took his sample case and went the rounds. The result was that, while he made rather a bad showing as a nurse, she secured ten pages more of orders than he ever succeeded in doing in one day in all the years he had been on the road. The firm has written to Mr. Allen that he had better trade jobs with his wife permanently.

Zebras For Carriage Animals.

There seems to be very little doubt that the zebra can be trained without much difficulty. A gentleman near Pretoria, in the Transvaal, has for a long time driven zebras in harness, and a firm which runs coaches through Pretoria, Zontpansberg, and Pietersburg have trained teams of these handsome animals. They are invaluable in the Low Country service, not being liable to horse sickness. They are a bit unruly when being harnessed up, and have an ugly trick of biting, but they go all right when once started.

Anarchy and Authority.

Near Milan recently, the laborers on the estate of a rich proprietor named Mai drove up to his house with the harvested corn. They were met by his son, a youth of twenty-three, who made them a speech telling them that the grain they had sown and cut was theirs by natural right, and bidding them take it home and shout "Long live Anarchy!" After some pressure they obeyed, and on the father's return the help of the police was required to make them give up the corn again. The son thought it prudent to leave the country.

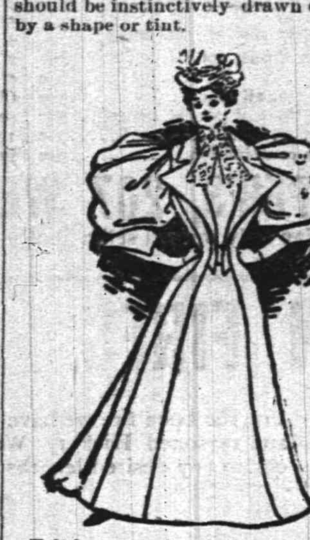
THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

WOMAN MAY NOW PLEASE HER OWN SWEET WILL IN DRESS.

The Variety of Styles, Materials and Colors Greater Than Ever. Hints of Fashion for the Autumn. Felt Hats Beginning to Show Themselves.

Never in all the past could woman follow her own sweet will in dress as at the present time, and never were women more tastefully and becomingly costumed. A dowdy or ill-fitting gown is now the exception. With the infinite number of colors and their beauty and the exquisite textures now offered, if a woman has a little artistic taste and perception of her best points, there is really no excuse for her appearance being anything short of a dream. Mother Eve taught her daughters many little tricks. One of them each woman surely must have by heart, that of knowing her own style, and what a happy one it is, if only carried out! She must not take exactly what her neighbor or her sister looks lovely in, but must modify or add to, so as to fit her own particular style. She should adapt the fashions to herself, instead of herself to the fashions, making them part of her individual style.

The Dame has been particularly kind to women in allowing them so much leeway in gowns, hats, coiffures, and wraps. Never were there so many shapes, colors, and textures to help a woman in carrying out her own ideas, and every woman should be instinctively drawn or repelled by a shape or tint.



Felt hats are already beginning to show themselves for early fall wear. Most of them have indented crowns, and the brims rather broader than formerly. The soft brown and tan shades are much the prettiest. One of dark gray, bound with a very narrow edge of black velvet, had a band about the crown terminating in a huge bow at the left side, making a background for a white plumaged bird. A tabac brown hat was trimmed with black velvet roses and a black jetted bird on each side. Quills are very much used. The most beautiful are the argus pheasant, which are exquisitely marked.

An extremely becoming tailor gown, especially adapted for a figure gently gaining in embonpoint is cut in redingote form. One was made of canvas woven amber woolens, with the three narrow breadths in front, the side breadths being cut with the bodice. The seams of the skirt were outlined with silk piping cord the silk matching the dress in color. The narrow bodice fronts were finished with pointed revers and fastened at the waist with gold buttons, the revers forming a turn-down collar behind. Both were lined with silk. The body breadths were plaited into a waistband, and finished in a plain divided swallowtail basque. The balloon sleeves had stiff gauntlets to the elbows, and were adorned with gold buttons. The round hat of fine white rice straw was trimmed with rosettes of amber satin ribbon and tufts of tulle.

A chic costume that makes a very smart mid-season toilet is composed of shepherd's plaid silk made over a gown of peau de soie covered with black silk guipure. The waist is cut pinafore fashion and fastened over each shoulder with a band and rosettes of the plaid. The overskirt is cut plainly and looped quite high on each hip, being lined with black silk, that peeps out under the folds.

It is an exploded idea that white muslin gowns need no artistic touch to perfect them. In the accompanying dainty model for a girl of twelve, the three ruffles have insertions of valenciennes lace between, and the full double bretelle ruffles are formed to point at the ends. The yoke is shirred to the throat. The puff sleeves are gathered to form a small frill at the elbow. A soft white ribbon tied round the throat finishes this pretty gown, and it may be all white or worn over a silk slip of any desired shade.—N. Y. Sun.

WAR ON TIGHTS.

Mr. Dana Says Certain Pictures Should be Suppressed.

In a recent issue the New York Sun had this to say on a question which interests many:

We stand with the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in its war upon those unsightly posters bearing indecorous pictures of actors and actresses, which are to be seen at times in some of the streets of Brooklyn, or even of New York. The members of the Brooklyn branch of the Union who began the war there last week, are enlisted in a proper cause. Some of the posters against which they have turned their arms are very offensive.

We object to these posters because of their immodesty. Some of them are markedly indecent. It is not merely because people of both sexes are pictured in tights, that we object to them; for there need not be any impropriety in appearing upon the stage in decent tights, or in giving pictures of those who thus appear; it is because of their essential viciousness.

We object to the public display of the vicious pictures, because it is repulsive to pure-minded women, young and old, wedded and unwedded, as well as to their fathers and brothers. There is proof of this in the protests that are made against them.

We object to it because it is unlawful under the statutes of the State of New York. The law in the case ought to be and can very easily be enforced, without the least infringement of the rights of anybody.

We object to the bad posters for artistic reasons. The colored pictures which they bear are nearly always uncomely, and the persons represented in them often look like slouches, though in tights.

Let the law be applied to these scandalous posters. In its behalf we stand with the W. C. T. U. The war that has been begun in Brooklyn is a righteous war.

A SEASON OF CONTRASTS.

All Sorts of Incongruities Perpetrated in Fashion's Name.

The greater number of materials and variety of colors one can harmoniously introduce into a costume this winter the greater the success she is considered to have achieved. Exquisite blendings, delightful contrasts, bewitching incongruities are the order of the day. Filmy chiffon and spidery lace in conjunction with heavy furs and velvets, gleaming passementeries against sombre cloths and all sorts of odd combinations are popular.

A gown which unites about as many of the fashionable elements as possible may be made of cheviot. The material of two shades of brown—tobacco leaf and a somewhat lighter shade, sprinkled with pin dots in turquoise blue. The bodice is of brown velvet, made with a very full, overhanging vest. The under sleeves of cheviot and the upper ones of velvet. Bands and lines of jet gleam about the bodice. Epaulettes of heavy cream lace give a finishing touch of contrast to the frock.

OUT OF REMNANTS.

The Striking Rag-Bag Success Achieved by One Young Person.

It was, according to its wearer's admiring friends, a most beautiful bodice. It was of pale blue crepe. The sleeves were puffed so as to form a sort of cascade to the elbow. The puffs were divided by bands of cream insertion. Van Dyke points of lace extended from the collar to the waist line, the narrow points giving a tapering effect to the wearer's plump figure. A stock collar of heliotrope velvet finished the bodice.

When it had been sufficiently admired the young woman who wore it made the encouraging statement that her last winter's ball gown, a scrap of velvet and lace saved from three seasons before, were the materials used. Whereupon all the others departed vowing to have lovely bodices before the week was over.

The Lawyer.

In college days he used to lie
On shady banks of brooks,
Which babbled soft accompaniments
To what he read in books.

Now he has laid his studies by,
To seek the legal dime,
And, quite forgetting other days,
He lies most all the time.

THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

WHAT SHALL SHE WEAR AND HOW SHALL SHE WEAR IT.

Some Pretty Examples of Strolling Gowns, Reception Costumes, Evening Toilets, Stylish Hats, Tennis Uniforms and Dainty Underwear.

The autumn pageantry is all prepared and waiting with little patience for autumn to appear, for it is certainly most provoking, after happily providing one's self with new gowns of the rich, heavy material and gorgeous tints so tempting and so suitable to the season, to be left stranded in the middle of last summer with one's old clothes quite too shabby and the new ones an impossibility.

A striking gown that has a touch of the middle ages about it is made of fawn-colored cloth and rich mirror glace velvet in amethyst shade. The skirt is cut very full and embroidered on front and sides in a very open-worked pattern with amethyst silk; the back of the skirt plain: a band of the velvet about the lower edge is beaded by an inch wide band of sable; the bodice is of embroidered cloth, with a tight-fitting back and loose blouse front; the yoke is of creamy lace; the collar and sleeves of the velvet, and four narrow rows of the sable, two each side of the bodice, run from the throat to the foot of the skirt.

The skirt of the tennis costume is made of dark blue serge and lined throughout with silk in a fine check of reds; the full waist and sleeves are made of the same silk and the straps from the skirt fastened under the collar; the tops falling over the skirt are of serge, lined with the silk.

Some extremely stylish hats for immediate wear are large and turned up in a hundred fantastic ways, trimmed heavily with feathers, jets, and Parisian aigrettes. Ladies with these big hats are wearing large, loosely draped veils, lightly folded around the throat in a very becoming fashion.

Fashion, whether right or wrong, will have her way, and as for petticoats it is certainly her right to exact that they shall be silk, for nothing can give a prettier or more comfortable effect to an outside skirt than the silk underneath; and the gentle frou-frou it gives has a certain attraction all its own. Petticoats are more elaborate than ever, and must not touch the ground. A beautiful idea was carried out in gray taffeta, cut out in deep points, and under the points a pink accordion-pleated flounce, on which were three rows of insertion.—N. Y. Sun.

"Daddy" Smiggs, ex-Congressman from Georgia, the old man who was famous before the Civil war on account of his owing the fattest pair of twin slaves in the South was recently appointed Inspector of the State Tarpon Fishery. For over a score of years he has made a study of the species, and the walls and ceiling of his dining room are entirely covered with their splendid silver scales, an effect which is described as being strikingly novel and brilliant when the gas is lighted.

REFORM THROUGH THE WHEEL.

The Bicycle to be Used to Promote the Wearing of Bloomers.

Lady Henry Somerset and Miss Willard have organized a big society in England, and propose to duplicate it here, the purpose of which is the popularizing of bicycle riding among women. The real object of these two eminent reformers, however, is to bring about dress reform among women, through the medium of sport. Every former effort to get women to wear bloomers and breeches in public has failed, and it has been decided to devote attention to bicycling solely. Houses in charge of matrons have been established at various points of Great Britain, and the women supply the bicycles, which they buy on the installment plan. Tours have been laid out so that women accompanied by men can go from one bicycling station to another, and everything is done for the convenience of the riders. The only condition is that they shall wear breeches or bloomers, and English women have accepted this condition with great alacrity. Lady Henry declares that the movement is the entering wedge of real dress reform.

Heroic Escape From a Wild Animal.

Not long ago a young lady was lying half awake in bed in a house on State street. Suddenly she became wholly awake with the consciousness that a mouse was running over her bosom. She had presence of mind not to move, reasoning that the mouse would presently run away without harming her. But, instead, the little creature crept onto her neck, and there nestled comfortably down, his back curled against the lower part of her cheek, which lay on the pillow. The lady's blood was simply frozen with horror, but she did not dare to move, fearing that the mouse would bite her if she did.

Collecting her wits, she resolved that she would by a sudden and mighty effort jump sidewise in the bed away from the mouse, leaving him high and dry on the pillow, and then get quickly up and out of the bed on the other side. She would count three and jump. She counted one, two, three—and then she did not jump. The mouse nestled comfortably closer to her neck. It was now or never. She began again, and counted one, two, three! This time she jumped sidewise, downward, upward and everywhere, and screamed besides at the top of her voice. What became of the mouse could not be learned, for when all the family came, with lamps and pokers and various other weapons, to her aid, no trace of the poor little creature could be found.—Bowling Green Bee.

Some Dress Hints.

Black, formerly so popular, is very little worn, grays, browns and blues having entirely superseded it.

Flannel and serge were at one time considered good materials for traveling dresses, but now are quite out of style, principally because they collect the dust in a most depressing manner.

When one's laundering prospects are an unknown quantity black underwear is desirable, but with the exception of corsets and petticoats, few women like other than white lingerie.

The new weaves of alpaca make capital gowns. They are so easily brushed and made "fit," after a long day's journey, and have sufficient warmth to equal the light-weight serge or flannel.

A smart costume for a young girl is of gray alpaca, the cape of darker gray, and hood lined with light tartan silk. The skirt is plain, gathered full at the back, the skirt waist of pink cheviot having a turned over collar with narrow black satin bow.—Com. Advertiser.

New Idea In Belts.

A new idea is to wear the belt loose, so that it droops to one side, as do the sailors'. It is claimed for this notion that the effect is prettier than the tight belt, but the truth is that a tiny waist encircled with a manifestly loose belt looks smaller than ever. The most becoming belt is a thick, heavy leather one that is made almost like a man's; indeed, she is a wise girl who buys her belt at a men's furnishing place and then has it cut short and repunched to suit her waist. Such a belt worn loose is far prettier than the flimsy ribbon belt pulled so tightly that the threads stretch and the filagree buckle is strained out of line.

Cornmeal for the Hands.

If your hands are very rough and sore, instead of using the nail brush, which would irritate the broken skin, have on your toilet table a box of coarse cornmeal and rub the hands vigorously with it. It is cleansing and healing. It is a nice thing for children who are going to school. The chalk and dust of the schoolroom are very hard on the skin, and a schoolboy's knuckles are always grimy. If you are always careful to rinse the hands in clear water after washing in soap, there is not nearly so much danger of chapping.

Farrar is Pessimistic, Too.

Archdeacon Farrar, preaching on the Modern Christian, said that the mass of men would believe more in the worth and goodness of sermons if they could see a more marked difference between the lives of professing christians and the lives of ordinary men. They had multiplied services, but where was the proof of more widespread holiness? The deadliest peril to christianity was the unreality of christians. He saw but little hope of a revival of the true christian ideas until God in His mercy rose up among us some prophet like Savonarola or Luther or John Wesley or some saint like Paul or Francis.

The French Press.

The French press is, perhaps, in spite of the brilliant talents it enlists, the most venal and contemptible in Europe. Nobody can have forgotten that it was proved feasible in the Panama business to bribe it into silence, without honorable exception, and that the whole French people were for months and years kept in the dark about an enterprise which concerned the whole French people. Such a press is not a bulwark of freedom, or of anything else much worth defending. To describe such a journalism as a "trade" is not only accurate, but moderate.—New York Times

Dr. and Editor Morse Finds Great Curative Qualities in a Simple Remedy.

We believe in being fair, and if we know ourselves we are fair. The fact of the Editor of the Leader being a physician of the old school encourages some people to ask why we kick quacks and quackery. We do hate charlatans the worst way. That's a fact. But every proprietary medicine is n't a quack medicine. In some of them we believe as devoutly as we do in calomel and quinine. There, for example, is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It has our faith. We know of its therapeutical value because of knowledge of its efficacy. In this laboratory it has fully approved itself as containing just those ingredients which every physician knows the materia medica to indicate for the disorders for which the remedy is prescribed. In clinical experience its further proof has not been wanting, as we have reason to know. We have no hesitancy in saying that we should prescribe the Remedy in any case where it is really indicated.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has no rival as a blood builder and nerve food. It has met with unparallelled success in the treatment of all diseases of the skin, liver, kidneys and the blood. It restores the disordered liver to a healthy condition, and effectually cures the worst cases of habitual constipation. It has cured cases of Bright's Disease, erysipelas, rheumatism, dyspepsia, gravel, diabetes, bladder and urinary troubles, where all else has failed. It is a certain cure for all the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females and affords great protection from attacks that originate in the change of life. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is for sale by all dealers in medicine at one dollar a bottle or six bottles for five dollars; which brings a treatment within the reach of all.

MONTE IS KING.

His Record-Breaking a Great Achievement.

COULD HAVE MADE FASTER TIME.

His Mother Embraces His Manager in Her Joy Over the Boy's Success—Corrected Time, 1:05:21 3-5.

Monte Scott finished his racing season and the Crescents received an honor which they will probably hold through the Winter when he broke the world's road record yesterday afternoon. Barnett brought glory to the Crescents when he joined them fresh from the Irvington-Millburn victory. But Monte Scott did more. He rode on Plainfield roads, under Plainfield's great cycling club, with Plainfield girls to watch him drop the record.

Scott's riding was wonderful. With pacemakers who couldn't ride fast enough to begin with, a broken-down tandem and a quarter-mile ride on his rear rim all against him, Monte took those four minutes 51 seconds off the record in great shape, appearing at the finish able to go on mile after mile at the 2:30 clip he rode the 25 in. His real time was 1:05:21¼, but in making out the claim for the record the cycling system of timing was adhered to and so Monte's record goes down in history as 1:05 21 4 5. He made the five five-mile laps as follows: first, 12:55; second, 13:12 2-5, third, 13:23; fourth, 13:20 3-5; fifth, 12:30 4-5. This makes his riding time as follows: five miles, 12:55; ten miles, 26:07 2-5; fifteen miles, 39:30 2 5; twenty miles, 52:51 3-5; twenty-five miles, 1:05:21 4-5.

Monte looked sad at the start when he saw the sort of tandem that Goodman and Granger brought out. The rear tire was a light one, hardly fit for the track. Half-a-dozen pieces of rubber tape held the wonderfully detachable tire on. It went down when Monte was but a few minutes out. Then in the middle of the race Monte's rear tire puntured while he was in Netherwood and he lost time while he jolted along on the rim until he ran across a relay wheel. Single riders went in and helped him out, but for miles he rode alone and lost time. A record of 1:03 or even one flat would not have been impossible if Monte had perfect pacemaking.

Hand's riding was remarkable. He won the race from Rydell by by half a second, doing the 25 in but a second slower than the 1:11:38 record made by Irvington-Millburn Barnett. An outsider until this year and a novice until a few weeks ago, the Netherwood boy more than satisfied the friends who have been predicting great things of him, Rydell just recovering from illness, made fast time for a rider with as little training as he has had. Gotthell, Line and Smith found the pace too hot while several laps were still ahead of them.

The riding of the two men would have made the crowd wild had they not had Monte in the race with them. But it was n't an ordinary race and the third man won the honors. The people who talked earlier in the season about Monte's way of winning seconds and thirds made no objection to the way he rode this time.

Mrs. Scott was so enthusiastic over the achievement of her son that she heartily embraced his manager, C. E. Teel, while the party of Monte's friends was rejoicing.

Bridge Gang Raided.

Seven men, members of the "bridge gang," were taken from their sleeping place in French's barn this morning at 2. LEALS LOSE.

NEWARK ACADEMY DEFEATS 'EM AT FOOTBALL.

First, However, They Reduced the Size of the Players—The Score 6 to 0.

A football eleven from the Newark Academy defeated the Leal School eleven yesterday afternoon on the Park avenue grounds, by the score of 6 to 0. The game was scheduled to commence at 3:30, but when the captain of the Newark team saw his antagonists he refused to play until the big members of the team were taken off and boys substituted. After an hour's discussion the following men were agreed to and lined up:

NEWARK.		LEAL.
W. Quimby	Right End	V. F. Green
C. Atha	Right Tackle	F. Huntington
J. Crooks	Right Guard	E. Brown
A. Mitchell	Centre Guard	G. Bull
W. McDowell	Left Guard	R. A. McGee
A. M. Bell	Left Tackle	S. Hartwell
H. Bigelow	Left End	Shangle
L. Robb	Quarter Back	G. Schoonmaker
A. Atha	Right Half Back	F. H. Freeman
A. Crooks	Left Half Back	E. I. Serrell
W. Robb	Full Back	W. Abbott

As so much time had been wasted, it was agreed to play one-half of ten and another of fifteen minutes.

Play commenced with the ball in the hands of the Newark Academy boys. At the kick-off a well directed place kick sent the ball bounding across Leal's goal line. The ball was then brought out to the 25-yard line and kicked back to the centre, where a Newark man downed it. W. Robb made a good gain through centre, but in the next play the ball was fumbled and Brown fell upon it giving Leal's the ball. Abbott was sent through centre several times and the game slowly began to move towards the Newark goal, when one of the Leal's school backs dropped the ball and Mitchell fell on it for Newark. A. Crooks gained 5 yards on a through-centre play and by repeated rushes through tackle and guard Newark was rapidly carrying the ball towards Leal's goal when time was called.

After five minutes rest the elevens lined up for the last half. Leal's had the ball and kicked it down the field where it was caught by L. Robb, who made quite a long run before he was tackled and downed. Several downs followed, which resulted in no great gains, until Atha circled Leal's end and ran five yards, when he was very prettily downed by Shangle. After several downs with no gains Atha tried to repeat his performance but Schoonmaker was too quick for him, breaking through Newark's line and downing him before he scarcely started, giving the ball to Leal's on four downs. Serrell fumbled the ball but fell on it, and in the next play Shangle stumbled and fell. Another fumble and Newark takes it on downs only to lose it again on a bad fumble. Serrell got around left end but was thrown before going far, and after three downs he backed it but the back was blocked and Newark got the ball. They lost it in the next play by a fumble but secured it once more after four downs. A. Atha made the longest run of the day around left end but was saved from making a touchdown by a very pretty tackle by Green.

The Newark halves dropped it and Freeman fell on it and was sent through centre for several good gains. The ball again changed hands and A. Crooks carried it to within ten yards of the goal line before he was stopped by Freeman. Shangle broke through and got the ball for Leal's, but the Leal's back juggled it and a Newark man dropped on it. Several small gains and the ball was close to the goal line when A. Crooks managed to dodge his opponents and make a touchdown. After W. Robb kicked a goal, the game was called.

This was Leal's first game while the Newark Academy eleven have been practicing for a month and have already played a number of games. With a little more practice the Plainfield boys should make a very creditable showing considering their playing yesterday when they had not practiced together at all.

L. Darling acted as referee, and G Cowell as umpire.

GEISSENHAINER WON'T RUN.

"I am not a candidate for re-election", said Congressman Geissenhainer of New Jersey to a World reporter at the Astor House yesterday. "The nominating convention convenes Monday at Freehold but I am not seeking another term in Congress. I have been elected three times, and am willing someone else should have a show. The Republican nominee is a bank president named Howell, and the Democrats will have to hustle in order to win at the polls. My colleagues, Dunn and English, will also have a lively fight on hand if they want to be returned to Congress. The fact is, the outlook in the State for the Democrats is somewhat doubtful.

"The situation in New York is decidedly interesting. Hill is a good fighter, and cannot be beat in organizing and arranging a campaign. He has practically the same conditions now to fight that he was confronted with in his last Gubernatorial campaign. Cleveland will undoubtedly stand by Hill, even if he does not write a letter on the subject. I should not be surprised to see the Independent ticket withdrawn before November. The closest harmony is necessary for success at the polls in November, and the result of the elections will have an important bearing on the Presidential campaign."

—William G Dillingham of South street, New York, has secured the contract for the bowling alleys in the new Y. M. C. A. Building.

—Mr. White says that one of the many reasons for the immense business he is doing is the exclusively low prices he is asking for his goods and the complete assortment to be found in every department in the store. Special attention is called to the coat department, where he is showing all the latest styles in Fall and Winter coats for women and misses.

SPEECHES, REPORTS, ELECTIONS.

Rev. D. J. Burrell Speaks Against Union of Church and State—Conclusion of the Great Convention.

The sessions of the State Christian Endeavor Convention yesterday were startled by the arrival of 500 new delegates, making the number over 2,000, and the enthusiasm was proportionately increased. The devotional service of the morning was conducted by Rev. F. E Taylor, of the Dundee Presbyterian Church of Passaic. After the Endeavor hymn, by J. A Sandford of Montclair, was sung. Rev. Dr. C. Brett of Jersey City spoke on "Among Our Exceptional Population". The subject of Rev. J. W Richardson of the Plainfield Park Avenue Baptist Church was "The Endeavor at Work Through Aggressiveness".

Rev. Dr. Rodenthaler of Indianapolis conducted discussion that was unique and interesting. Rev. W. S. F. Tuntoar of Morristown spoke on temperance.

The closing address of the morning was made by Rev. David James Burrell of New York city. He gave a description of the qualifications of a true citizen, and outlined his duties to himself, his Government and his God. The part that a good citizen should take in politics was defined. The speaker then declared himself as of the opinion that good citizenship requires that every man shall believe in the absolute divorce of Church and State. The interference of secular denominations with the public school system of the country was denounced. Dr. Burrell declared that the Poughkeepsie and similar school systems were distinctly opposed to the first principles of good citizenship.

The speaker went on to declare that, while he is not a member of the A. P. A., and is not sure that he indorses its aims or methods, yet thinks that the clamor against it is, to say the least, inconsistent. Dr. Burrell denounced any and every effort that tends to union of Church and State. Intemperance was quoted as another foe to good citizenship.

The Committee on Nominations reported the following, which were declared elected: President, Rev. J. Clement French, Newark; Vice-presidents, Rev. Cornelius Brett, Jersey City; Miss Caroline H. Brookfield, Belvidere; Rev W. D. Stultz, Bridgeton; Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Roberta Harris, Belvidere; Executive Committee, Willard I. Hamilton, Newark; Hamilton Turner, Wenonah; Rev. A. DeWitt Mason, Morristown; Edward L. Farr, Wenonah; A. W. Bailey, Atlantic City; Joseph H. Wright, Trenton; H. B. Zimmerman, New Brunswick.

For State Department leaders—Superintendent Junior Work, Rev. A. W. Spooner, Camden; Good Citizenship Work, Rev J. Judson Pierson, Bridgeton, editor of the New Jersey Endeavor; Missionary Work, Miss Alice B. Spangenberg, Netherwood, as was predicted exclusively in The Daily Press; Evangelistic Work, Rev. F. B. Everitt, Trenton.

At the afternoon session Rev. F. C. Ottman of Newark spoke on "Youth as a Factor in the World's Evangelization". Miss Alice B. Spangenberg's theme was "Ways and Means of Junior Work". The session closed with a speech by Dr. Spooner.

Sessions last evening in the First Reformed and First Presbyterian churches closed the eighth Christian Endeavor State Convention. Of the resolutions adopted just before the final adjournment the second reads:

"We rejoice with joy exceeding over the victory won for righteousness and civil government since last we met, and as good Christians and good citizens we pledge our utmost efforts to maintain the ground we have secured as a means towards this end. We stand with our approval all organized attempts to apply Christian principles to political conduct, at the same time exhorting our members to exercise great caution and wisdom in dealing with political affairs, that the church may not be blamed with unbecoming and unworthy conduct."

Chestnutting Postponed.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather today, the chestnut hunt which was to have taken place at Warrenville by the children of the Sunday-school of the Church of the Holy Cross has been postponed until next Saturday.

There was great disappointment among the youngsters in the borough this morning, as the rain began to fall heavily about the time when it was necessary to begin preparations for the event. It is to be hoped that the clerk of the weather will be on his good behavior next Saturday In the meantime, the chestnuts will keep.

—The Building and Loan League of this State, meeting today in Trenton, will consider the drafting of an amendment to the State Laws for Building and Loan Associations proposed to be presented to the Legislature at the next session.

—The show in Music Hall last night was partly amusing, partly flat, and partly disgusting. The audience was small and not enthusiastic.

ASSIST NATURE

a little now and then, with a gentle, cleansing laxative, thereby removing offending matter from the stomach and bowels, and toning up and invigorating the liver, and quickening its lazy action, and you thereby remove the cause of a multitude of distressing diseases, such as headache, constipation, biliousness, skin diseases, boils, carbuncles, piles, fistulas and maladies too numerous to mention.

If people would pay more attention to properly regulating the action of their bowels, they would have less frequent occasion to call for their doctor's services to subdue attacks of dangerous diseases.

That, of all known agents to accomplish this purpose, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are unequalled, is proven by the fact that once used, they are always in favor. Their secondary effect is to keep the bowels free and regular, not to further constipate, as is the case with other pills. Hence, their great popularity with sufferers from habitual constipation, piles and indigestion.

GAINED A CONVERT.

PRACTICAL RESULT OF THE SOCIALISTIC MEETING.

Sixty Men Drink in the Theory of How to Make Everybody Financially Happy.

The Socialists mass meeting in T. A. B. Hall last evening was attended by nearly 60 men. About all belonged to the Socialistic Labor party before the meeting began. One man joined after the speakers had finished. J. W. James presided. Alderman Matthew Maguire of Paterson made the first speech. He had to hurry to get to Trenton, where he had an engagement. Maguire is well known among Plainfield Socialists as an excellent talker and all he had to say received close attention. He grew a little wild at times, however, and said things which some of the others thought were rather strong and not at all necessary.

Of course he emphasized the difference between the rich man and the poor man and recited what the prospects were for rapid changes in the conditions of the two classes. From his statements it appears that the poor man is to become a great deal poorer because the rich man is bent on oppressing him, while at the same time the rich man is to lose all his power and influence because socialism is growing. He made these two statements fit together nicely and was frequently applauded for his eloquence. He read from The Daily Press the Democratic platform adopted in Orange Thursday and said that the statements about the Republicans were probably true. On the other hand the Republican papers had things to say about the Democrats, and the Socialists should believe both and keep out of both parties.

J. B. Keim of Rahway made the next speech. He was able to expound the principles of the party at greater length. The main point brought out was the capitalist would not work himself or let anybody else work. He seemed to think it better to close down the factory and open the soup-house. Keim denounced this "cold charity" scheme bitterly and said that the bread given to Plainfield workmen at the soup-houses last Winter was of the black variety. The proper thing to do was to make the rich work. How the wealthy men of Plainfield would scramble if they were ordered to work under a penalty of starvation.

People should n't be willing to work all their working hours. Matters could be reformed by making eight hours a day everywhere, and then striking for six and finally getting down to none at all. In Plainfield were many millionaires who did not work at all. They had obtained their money from the labor of slaves. Their millions were stored away while people starved. Take away the machinery from the rich, shouted Mr. Keim, and then we'll have them in the position where we are now.

He knew the reason why "the rich men and our intelligent friends" were not at the meeting. Their interests were not those of the workingmen. The saloons were full, anyway, for he had always found it so in towns where laboring men were starving. He has opinion of a country which claimed to be a free country and would not support its workers.

James Bell, the local candidate for Congress, was introduced by the chairman. He spoke very briefly, saying he had but little hope of being elected but that he was sure the agitation would help the cause. He did not claim to be a speech-maker, but thought he could write for the party more skilfully.

A WOMAN'S LIFE.

SOME THINGS MEN DON'T CONSIDER

Thousands of Women Suffer Daily for Years without Complaining.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Men cannot know the sensibilities hidden in the delicate organisms of women.

Thousands suffer without knowing why, and die the death daily for want of knowledge that relief is so close at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham will forever stand highest in the love of suffering women.

Because she discovered the cause of woman's weakness and suffering, and found the means to remove it.

Diseases of the Uterus and ovarian troubles are most universal; you can see their ravages in pale faces; it is inicated by halting steps, dizziness, faintness, irritability, melancholy, extreme lassitude, nervousness, sleeplessness, and disturbances of the stomach.

You will hear your friends speak of the dreadful "backache," the crushing sense of "bearing down."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for twenty years has saved women from all this. Hear this woman speak:—

"No man ever suffered a single pang like unto woman.

"Women, therefore, gladly turn to a woman for sympathy, counsel, and help in their peculiar troubles.

"Lydia E. Pinkham deserves the confidences showered upon her by thousands. Her Vegetable Compound has done more for women than any other remedy.

"The great cause of woman's misery is in her womb. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes direct to the source of trouble, drives out disease, and cures backache, fainting, despondency, bloating, ovarian troubles, and leucorrhœa.

"I would have been in my grave if I had not taken Mrs. Pinkham's medicines."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

Students Busy with Books and Societies.

THANKS TO THE DAILY PRESS.

Gratitude to Others Also, for Field-Day Favors—Newspaper Work in the Senior Class.

The Senior Class handed in their October essays last Monday and are now preparing another set, due the first Monday in November, on the subject An Ideal Commonwealth. The essays for this month in the Third class are due Monday. Among the subjects from which they may choose are A Day's Outing in 1894, Ships that Pass in the Night, An Original Short Story, The Attractions of Plainfield, Cloudland, Flowers and Foliage of Autumn, and The Courtship of Miles Standish. The Physics class are still examining the air-pump, and they all say that Physics is becoming a more interesting study every day. The Cicero class have received their books on Latin prose, and have begun the study of it, alternating it with Cicero.

Once a week the Senior class give up a period to a newspaper report, in which each pupil brings in some item of news, which is talked over by the class. It has been customary to have these reports Friday morning immediately after chapel exercises, but as Friday morning is the time of Principal Maxson's weekly talk it will probably be changed to Monday.

Principal Maxson gave his regular weekly talk yesterday morning, and told us of Corea and its people. He spoke on the present war and its effect on Corea.

The drill of the Cadet Corps was held as usual on Tuesday morning. The company was divided into squads, and each squad was drilled by one of the officers. The girls are drilling very well now, and unless the boys improve very rapidly the girls will be ahead of them. We miss Captain Bull's ringing voice, but First Lieutenant Green is doing indeed well, and Blair makes a capital First Sergeant.

The French classes are going on as usual, and arrangements have been made with a New York school to send a German professor to the High School if enough pupils are secured.

The P. H. S. A. met Friday afternoon at the close of school. A vote of thanks was given to the Crescent Wheelmen for the use of their track, and another hearty one was given to The Daily Press for its kindness and material aid in making the field-day of October 6 a success. VanEmburgh & Son also were thanked for supplies which they donated. After passing these votes of thanks, the meeting adjourned.

What has become of our football eleven? is the question which no one seems to be able to answer. As the interest in the field-day increased, football enthusiasm seemed to die out, and it has not revived. As there is no High School team, several of our players have been distinguishing themselves on other Plainfield elevens. As the field-day is over, interest in general athletics is slowly decreasing, bicycle riding and the news of the literary societies taking its place. The bicycle run of last Wednesday was postponed on account of the rain, and will take place next Wednesday instead. The destination will be Bound Brook and Somerville. The proposed all-day ride among the Oranges planned for today is off until later in the month.

Literary enthusiasm is rising, and the roll-call of both the Kappa Delta Phi and the Lyceum sensibly increases. The regular meeting of the Kappa Delta Phi was held Friday afternoon at 2:30. The programme consisted of five-minute readings by the members. Among the readers and their selections were A. B. Crane, '97, Pretty Pearlina's Passion; C. B. Morse, '95, The Deadly Double Track; Lewis Rand, '96, Exchanges; Henry Eggerding, '96, Cycling at Sea; J. H. Craig, '96, Taming the Sea.

The regular meeting of the Lyceum was given up to allow the members to attend the football game and the road race.

HIS HAT SAVED HIM.

Object Lesson Given on Where Not to Stand in a Game of Quoits.

Thomas Brantingham and Thomas Terrill were throwing quoits in South Plainfield by lamplight last evening at 8 when a serious accident occurred. The two made a wager as to which could send the weight the fathest, and when Brantingham's turn came he threw it with all his might.

His aim was not straight, and the quoit struck one of his best friends, Wm. Manning, on the head. Had it not been for his derby hat Manning would surely have been killed. He fortunately escaped with an ugly cut. Dr. J. T. Fritts of Park avenue was summoned and attended him.

CAHILL-VICTORY.

ANOTHER BRILLIANT WEDDING IN OLD ST. PETER'S.

A Popular Plainfield Young Man Wins a New Brunswick Bride—This City to Be Their Home.

The New Brunswick papers tell of the wedding of Thomas J. Cahill of this city and Margaret M. Victory of New Brunswick as one of great brilliancy.

The ceremony was performed in St. Peter's Church, which was crowded to the doors with a noteworthy assembly of prominent people, for both the contracting parties are well and widely known in that city. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Catharine Victory of New Brunswick, and a sister of Frank Victory, proprietor of the Palmer House. All her life she has been a resident of New Brunswick. The groom, Thomas J. Cahill, is the eldest son of Francis Cahill of Paterson street. He is a skillful telegraph operator and holds a responsible position with the Prudential Insurance Company of Plainfield.

The wedding was one of the grandest ever held in old St. Peter's. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and ferns and hung with ivy and smilax

The bride's gown was a beautiful creation in white satin brocade, made en demi train. The corsage was very slightly decollete and was trimmed with pearl passementeries and point-lace. The sleeves were elaborately puffed and were clasped at the wrists by tight cuffs. She carried a superb bouquet of bride roses and lillies of the valley.

The bride was attended by a maid of honor and four bridesmaids. The maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Mary O'Donnell, of Philadelphia. She wore a large white hat with white ostrich plumes, and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

There were four bridemaids, Miss Katherine F. Victory, of New Brunswick, sister of the bride, who wore white organdie, lace and ribbons and carried pink roses; Miss Alice Cahill, of New Brunswick, sister of the groom, in light blue silk, carrying marchenell roses; Miss Regina O'Donnell, cousin of the bride, of Philadelphia, who wore white silk and carried pink roses, and Miss Carrie Zeiss, of Philadelphia, in light blue silk.

Charles VanDerGraff, of Philadelphia, was best man, and the ushers were Michael F. Daly, Edward Fearon, of New Brunswick; James Cahill, of Washington, D. C., and Thomas Hughes, of Plainfield.

The entrance of the bridal party to the church was very pretty though simple. The ushers preceded the bridesmaids, who were followed by the maid of honor, after whom came the bride, leaning on the arm of her brother, Frank Victory. At the altar they were met by the groom and best man, the bridemaids and ushers falling out and going to either side, while the contracting parties took their stand at the altar.

During the entrance of the bridal party the organist of the church played the wedding march from Lohengrin. On leaving the church Mendelssohn's march was played.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Very Reverent Dean John A O'Grady, pastor of the church.

After the church ceremony a reception was held at the Palmer House, at which the relatives of bride and groom were present.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of exceedingly valuable and beautiful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Cahill left for Niagara Falls where they will spend a short honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Plainfield.

The following were the Plainfield guests at the reception: Mr. and Mrs. Canfield, Mr. and Mrs. Baldt, Mr and Mrs. Hadley, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.

At the ecclesiastical council of ministers and delegates of Congregational Churches of New Jersey held in Warrenville to take action on the reinstatement of Rev. George Bowers as pastor of the Warrenville Church, Mr. Bowers was called before the council and made a statement, after which Judge W A Coddington of Plainfield spoke in the interest of the church He made a strong plea in Mr. Bowers's behalf and his address had much weight with the council, as he had known Mr. Bowers from boyhood. Mr. Bowers was re-instated

DRAMA AND OPERA.

CRITICS ARE KIND AND THE THEATRES ARE WELL FILLED.

Many Popular Plays on the Boards. The Great Singers Coming America-ward. Lillian Russell Sings Where She Pleases. Hope Booth's Diamonds and Gowns.

The theatrical season continues to be a successful one in New York, and many of the theatres are full every night. The performances, unless the critics are much kinder than they have been during the previous seasons, are of exceptionally high character. There seems to be a practical concensus of commendation for all the leading performances, and some of them have been greeted with praise that is remarkable. One of the performances that has attracted no little attention is the revival of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," by Robson; this has been staged with unusual magnificence, and his rendition of the role of the Fat Knight has received many compliments. There is a fair percentage of theatre-goers who cling to legitimate drama, and are always pleased when one of Shakespeare's plays is produced even if it be one that is not of the highest class. The popularity of "The Bauble Shop," "The Gaiety Girls," "Dr. Syntax," "The Devil's Deputy" and "The Little Trooper" continues, and the outlook for a good season for theatrical managers seems very bright. Coming after the disasters of last year, the situation is especially gratifying to the proprietors of the play-houses and to the actors whose performances are received with such favor.

The great songbirds are already beginning their flight back to America, Mme. Melba, Mme. Scalchi, MM. Plancon and Maugiere being among the first. They are the first contingent of the extraordinary group of artists with which Abbey & Grau intend to make the winter memorable. Prior to the opening of the Metropolitan, Abbey & Grau have planned a Melba concert season, assisted by the great French basso, the famous Italian contralto, the light French tenor and a competent company. Her concert tour will be in the way of public rehearsals to keep her delicate throat in good condition for the opera season, during which, if reports be true, Mme. Melba intends to overshadow Mme. Eames and everybody else by the sweetness of her tones and the splendor of her art. Signor Tamagno, the only tenor whom Jean de Reszke considers his rival, has planned a brief starring tour in Mexico under special arrangements with Abbey & Grau. He will be supported by the Italian Opera Company, which sings annually in the Mexican capital.

Lillian Russell seems to have come out ahead in her contest with Canary and Lederer over their right to her services. The courts decided against the fair Lillian, but she will sing for Abbey, Schoeffel and Grau just the same. Canary and Lederer, however, are not without consolation, for they have a very handsome sum to compensate for the loss of Miss Russell's services.

Mr. Abbey astonished musical circles last year by paying $20,000 to the Paris Opera for the release of Mme. Calve. He now agrees to pay $17,500 for the release of Lillian Russell. Our plump, portly and fickle prima donna may have destroyed her value by too much marrying, but she is still a person of importance in musical circles.

"I've brought back frocks that will astonish the toads. I played one consecutive night at the Royalty Theatre in London and then shut down, because I wasn't going to give the critics there any more chances to say mean things about America. The receipts weren't great, but I've got $30,000 worth of diamonds that I didn't have when I left New York." That is what Miss Hope Booth had to say upon her recent return from Europe where her appearance was greeted with dispraise that was severe and universal. Miss Booth was not much disturbed by this, nor by the story, that she denies, of her alleged elopement with Lord Kay. She denied that this English nobleman, who is old, the possessor of the most vapid stare in London, and who is perfect in the use of the single eyeglass, gave her all her diamonds. When asked if he gave her any of them, she said: "That I refuse to answer. English noblemen are very much more liberal than Americans. I've got enough jewelry to start a store with." In further conversation, describing her play, she said, with fine appreciation of her own talents: "In 'Little Miss Cute' I change my dress six times, and wear all my diamonds at each and every performance."

And she has the name of America's greatest actor!

If somebody should ask: Who are the hardest working women in New York? they would be surprised to learn that half a dozen actresses who are leading ladies in prominent theatres belong in the category of regular untiring workers who labor sixteen hours out of the twenty-four and are only resting when they sleep. One of these is the very much admired first lady of a Fourth avenue theatre whose dressing room—a bit of a nook tucked away under the stage—is her workshop, to which she drives down matinee days from her Harlem house with her dinner packed in her bucket. It is warmed for her over a little gas stove, and once disposed of she is working steadily on the stage until 5 or 5:30. Then the bucket supplies a sort of tea, she rests a bit till the evening performance, and it's 12 o'clock before she gets back to her house and a good supper. All days are not so hard as this, except that every day brings a rehearsal, heaps of letters, business interviews, the duty of reading plays, confabs with dressmakers; and this progressive actress gives hours to study, without which, she says, a woman in her profession becomes a commonplace person.

LINWARD.

MONEY IN WRITING PLAYS.

The Successful Play Writer Makes Great Profits.

The attention of most of the literary men of New York has been recently directed to the great profits of the successful playwrights. That there are immense sums to be made out of any stage production that achieves a run is more than demonstrated by the royalties now being paid to Bronson Howard, who to-day receives a fortune annually for the work he has done in this line. Hence the other workers in the field of authorship have stopped writing stories and poems and have gone in for plays.

William Dean Howells is now at work upon a play. Hitherto he has been producing farces, and these were so successful from a literary standpoint that he was asked by a well-known manager to produce a play. Mr. Howells frankly replied that he could not, but it was suggested to him that he work in collaboration with a practiced writer for the stage, and this he is said to be doing.

EVENTS IN NEW YORK.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN A NATION'S CHIEF TOWN.

How the Churches Stand in the Metropolis. Fair Bicyclists in Trousers. Some Notable Old Homes. The Question of Garbage.

People who study statistics and work everything out on the percentage plan will not be wholly satisfied with the showing that New York makes in the matter of churches.

In 1871, the date of the last detailed enumeration of the statistics of churches, there were 340 church edifices in New York, having a seating capacity of 292,700, and valued collectively at $41,103,000. There are now 522 churches in New York city, having a seating capacity of 400,000, and valued collectively at $54,670,000. The population of New York in 1871 was 1,000,000. It now exceeds 1,800,000, having increased over 80 per cent. in twenty-three years, while the value of church structures has increased 30 per cent.

The greatest relative increase has been in Catholic churches, from 40 to 84, with Baptist standing next with a gain of 30 to 50. The Protestant Episcopal church has the most edifices, 103, with Catholic next, 84, and then Presbyterian, 70, Methodist, 65, Baptist, 50, Jewish, 46.

Of the many women bicycle riders of New York, not a few are getting into trousers. They still attract attention when riding down the Boulevard, but they do not all object to this. A pretty young wheelwoman was seen the other evening in a suit that consisted of a shirt waist, rather narrow fawn-colored divided skirts reaching a few inches below her knees, and a pair of fawn-colored leggings buttoning up on the outside. Her shoes were of fawn-colored leather. She emerged from a riding academy near the Fifty-ninth street and Eighth avenue entrance to the park. With perfect ease and self-possession she mounted her two-wheeled Bucephalus sidewise and shot up the avenue, leaving but one straight line in the dust of the pavement.

Soon two other young women in similar uniforms came from the riding academy, and joined the bicyclist in fawn. The three bicycle reformers could give a great majority of the men points in the art of gracefully riding "the wheel," and the verdict on the outfits was favorable.

One of the most striking costumes so far seen was made up of a white yachting cap, pink waist, a pair of light gray divided skirts, one leg of which was very much fuller than the other, white duck leggings, and white shoes.

While the divided skirt and knickerbockers are now startling and regarded as freaks of fashion, there is no doubt that under the growing influences of woman's rights, woman suffrage, and dress reform the picturesque female bicyclist will soon be one of the staple sights of our streets.

It will interest many to know that the old house at Fourth avenue and Twenty eighth street, in which Peter Cooper lived once, is to be carefully taken down, removed, and rebuilt on the property of Abram S. Hewitt, at Ringwood, N. J. It is a long, narrow building, and originally stood on the site of the present Cooper Institute, which Peter Cooper erected as a temple of free speech, and a college of the artisan.

Another old house, not so very ancient either, being but three score and ten, was torn down a short time ago, on Waverly Place, because it was far behind the modern times. John Pearsall, a fruit dealer, built it, and in its youth it was considered almost magnificent. Gen. Winfield Scott used to visit there, and old Commodore played whist in it, always refusing, it is said, to play in a game when a solitary participant uttered a word. For years, and until recently, the old house was occupied by Miss Phœbe Pearsall, a sister of John, still surviving at a ripe old age. She always kept two servants, and no man, not a relative, was ever permitted to cross the threshold of this ancestral mansion during her incumbency.

Miss Phœbe had a reverence for old institutions and customs. She stood resolute against the innovations of these modern days. Fin de siecle had no impression upon her mind. It was the other end, back along the course of years, upon which her memory rested, and her veneration held inviolate. Many a time arguments were used to have her consent to the transformation of the old homestead into a business structure. Her unbroken vow was never shaken that so long as the old New York Hotel stood her residence should not be removed from the time-stained house. It was a quiet spot. True the buzz of Broadway was but a few hundred yards removed, but the hotel was a decorous resort and no scenes of bacchanalia roused the neighbors. The coming of guests and the transfer of baggage were marked with a subdued elegance of manner that made the Southern hotel a home itself. But when it was razed to the ground Miss Phœbe yielded to the importunities and withdrew from the contest against the insatiable demands of trade.

But when she removed but a few months ago, from the place she carried with her the antique mahogany doors that for years had swung back for the entrance of guests from the vestibule. And she took away also the candlesticks in which the tapers of the olden time always burned, no flighty gas nor iconoclastic electricity disturbing the shadows of Miss Phœbe's Adamless home.

The question of what to do with New York's garbage is one that grows in interest and presses for solution. Incalculable damage, naval experts say, has been done to the channel by improvident dumping, and along Coney Island the frequent intrusion of dead cats and defunct goats has filled bathers with sorrow and nausea. There ought to be a better way of disposing of the city refuse, and Comptroller Fitch believes there is. In a recent interview, he said:

"I am opposed to the system of sending street refuse to sea. It fills up the channels leading into the harbor, and enough of the stuff floats ashore at nearby summer resorts to create a nuisance. With proper crematories the stuff can all be burned, and the clean ashes that will remain can be used for filling anywhere in the city."

Cremation seems to be the coming remedy for an evil that grows with the city; and it cannot come too soon.

The death of Elizabeth McNally from lightning, a few days ago, near Kingsbridge, brings up the rarity of this accident in New York city. According to the Board of Health's report, no person was killed by lightning within the city limits between Jan. 1, 1881, and July 14, a record that is certainly remarkable when the city's great population is taken into account.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

FACT AND FANCY AT THE CAPITAL OF THE NATION.

Russia and the Siberian Railroad. Librarian Spofford's Representative Men. The Smileless Senator. A Congressional Prophet. A Long-Winded Congress, Etc.

The war between China and Japan has revived interest among diplomats in the ability of Russia to put an army on the scene of the trouble should she happen to decide to do it. At present she has to depend upon her rivers and caravans for transportation through Siberia, and in order to get troops to Vladivostok, is compelled to send them by way of the Black Sea, the Suez Canal, Red Sea, Indian Ocean and up the Pacific. In the near future—how soon the developments of the trouble in the East alone can indicate—a railroad will be running across Siberia, connecting Vladivostok by iron rails.

How important such communication will be is appreciated not only by the diplomats here, but by the Russians themselves, and in fact the whole world. With a railroad between Moscow and Vladivostock Russia could send thousands and thousands of troops to her seaport on the Pacific in comparatively few days, while other nations, like England, which would most probably be the nation drawn in the trouble with Russia, would have to depend upon the uncertain transports to convey her soldiers to the Orient. It is believed that the whole line along the Amour river can be finished in seven years, and that the line to Irkutsk can be completed in 1898.

The new Congressional Library, which is now nearing completion, is to be decorated with statues of 25 men who have been famous in literary work. Mr. Spofford, the Librarian, was authorized to make the selection. The subjects for the various branches of literary activity, Mr. Spofford has selected as follows:

Poetry—Homer and Shakespeare.
Art—Angelo and Beethoven.
Science—Newton and Henry.
History—Herodotus and Gibbon.
Philosophy—Plato and Bacon.
Law—Solon and Blackstone.
Religion—Moses and St. Paul.
Commerce—Columbus and Fulton.

On the exterior of the building are niches for nine busts, and the subjects selected for these are Franklin, Demosthenes, Dante, Irving, Macaulay, Sir Walter Scott, Emerson, Hawthorne and Goethe. The work of producing these statues and busts has been entrusted to a committee consisting of Mr. J. Q. A. Ward, Mr. Augustus St. Gaudens and Mr. Adams, who are to assign each subject to the sculptor they think will be able to do it best. The committee is responsible for the results, and has power to approve or disapprove the models, and it is hoped that the statues may be a decided improvement upon some of the caricatures that disfigure the nation's public buildings.

Some one who has studied the Senator from Oregon, asks why Mr. Dolph never smiles. No one knows, but in the whole course of his service in the Senate no man ever saw his eye light up or his lips quiver. Why it is, nobody ever had the courage to ask him. Some think that there must be a hidden tragedy in his life which chased the expression of humor from his features years ago, but this is only a guess. He is alway terribly in earnest, and never unbends even for a chat. Once in a while he essays a witticism in his speeches, but it is invariably of the grim, sardonic variety.

Congressman Allen is winning honors as a prophet, for he predicted the action of the House upon the tariff bill with remarkable accuracy. On the 18th of July, when asked if the House would agree to the Senate bill, he said: "Why, of course we will, we are are going to raise—— until our wind gives out, and then we will lie down and let the Senate step on our neck." And it was so.

Governments are slow, but sometimes, at least, they are sure in paying their debts. The Mexican government has just made a settlement of the claim of Mrs. Janet Baldwin, of California, for the murder of her husband by bandits, at Ventanas, Mexico, six years ago. The six assassins who participated in the crime were promptly killed, but it took several years to get one-fifth of the $100,000 indemnity claimed by the murdered man's widow.

Secretary Lamont has been having a hard time with the discharged War Department clerks, especially the women. Some three hundred of these clerks were lately dismissed, and the Secretary took the safe precaution of going out of town at the time but upon his return, letters and verbal protests by the score poured in upon him; an herculean pull and titanic influences were used against him to his great annoyance. He seems, however, to hold the fort, and the clerks are still out.

When the immense storehouse kept by the Knox express burned several weeks ago, nearly 200 horses perished, and, besides this distressing loss, much valuable property was burned which can never be replaced. Col. Henry L. Sword's lost, besides rare pictures and statuary, all of his war papers, and a much prized commission signed by President Lincoln. Another sufferer was Colonel "Billy" Annin, one of the correspondents here, and a Princeton man of '77. He lost 3,500 volumes out of his library, among them a gift of Lowell's works by the author himself, and also a gift of the works of Jonathan Edwards by Aaron Burr, who was Annin's great uncle, as Jonathan Edwards was his great, great grandfather. Many similar losses are recounted, and a big crop of lawsuits is likely to follow the fire.

Whatever may be said for or against the Fifty-third Congress, it has made a sure record as a laster. Only two Congresses have exceeded it in length of session during the 115 years since Congresses were instituted in this country.

Attorney-General Olney is likely to be famous. Over 700 petitions have already been received by Congress for his impeachment because of his work during the strike, and they are coming in at the rate of thirty or forty a day.

Senator Gorman's two daughters are said to be engaged to marry two department officials in Washington, and in this way the rich Senator from Maryland may be said to be doing something to support the Administration.

MARLIN WARD.

Many of the serge dresses are being trimmed with perforated cloth, cut out in rich patterns like lace, which is applied to collars, cuffs, and revers of dresses. The tailor made gowns are still as fashionable as ever, but are smartened up very much by long waistcoats of brocade, with chine flowers on silk, which relieve them of their former severe plainness.

AT THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON EVENTS THAT ARE OF GENERAL INTEREST.

How Senator Gorman and Senator Hill Cited Shakespeare Against Each Other. Pacific People Want Mt. Rainier in a Park. Other News.

During the sharp debate on the tariff in which Senator Gorman and Senator Hill were the chief combatants, William Shakespeare was cited by both, showing that even in political exigencies the Bard of Avon is useful to orators and advocates. Senator Gorman in his impassioned attack upon the President, included Senator Hill in his censure, and asserted that New York's senior representative was playing the part of Iago, and was stabbing the Democracy, an assertion especially hard to be borne by the author of the now famous saying: "I am a Democrat."

When Senator Hill made his defence of the President, he also cited Shakespeare, saying of Senators Gorman, Vest, Harris and the other men who had attacked Mr. Cleveland:—

> What private griefs, they have, alas! I know not.
> That made them do it; they are wise and honorable;
> And will, no doubt, with reasons answer you.

These words, quoted from "Julius Cæsar," were the ending of Senator Hill's speech, and followed a reference to Gorman as "the lean and hungry Cassius," to Jones, as the "honest Marcus Brutus," to Vest, as "Casca, who struck the first blow," to Voorhees as "the testy, yet earnest Senator from Indiana," and to Harris, as the "Metellus Cimber from Tennessee."

It was a clever and effective ending to his speech, this comparison of the Senators, who assailed the President with the old Roman senators, who slew Cæsar, because he grew so great. It was so apt and so unexpected that the galleries roared, particularly at the reference to Gorman, whose face looked stern until he saw that his colleagues in the Cleveland assault were in the same boat, when he permitted the shadow of a smile to play over his features.

While Japan and China were fighting over Corea, Mr. Gozo Tateno, the Japanese minister, was saying good-bye to Washington. His recall by his government was not connected with the war, nor did the diplomatic episode in which Secretary Gresham figured have anything to do with it. The cause was the Japanese policy of rotation in office, and as it was a little past the time for Mr. Tateno to rotate, he was transferred to another post. It is interesting to note just at this time that in its civic policy the Japanese are in square opposition to the Chinese, whose policy of continuing officials in office indefinitely has given a derisive name to the civil service of this country. The minister in his good-bye speech was almost profuse in his expressions of good will to President Cleveland, apparently desiring to prove that nothing had recently occurred to disturb the good relations which have for many years existed between the two countries.

The latest addition to the ranks of royal authors is the Ameer of Afghanistan, who is just now writing his autobiography. The book will deal with the whole of Abdurrahman Khan's career from childhood.

The Senators have been decidedly warlike on the tariff issue lately, and smiting under the fifth rib and in other vulnerable points has been of frequent occurrence. They couldn't agree or even disagree peaceably on the large question which pressed for settlement, and it really looked as if some kind of a mollifier were needed—some peaceful and easy subject for thought on which the disturbed intellectuals of the lawmakers could rest and receive philosophical composure.

The man to bring forward the composer was Senator Squire, of Washington. He brought forward a memorial asking Congress for a National Park on the Pacific coast surrounding the celebrated Mount Rainier, near Puget Sound. A large number of eminent scientists are interested in this proposed park and the project has been quite carefully considered in all its details. It is proposed to make a National Park of what is now known as the Pacific Forest Reserve, and to utilize such portions of this reserve as will include all the natural curiosities of the region surrounding the great mountain, with its eight glacier formations. Mount Ranier is 14,400 feet high. It is superb in its boldness, rising from one canyon 11,000 feet in seven miles. On this mountain there is a colony of Arctic animals and plants as effectually isolated from other animals and plants as are shipwrecked sailors upon an island in mid-ocean separated from the rest of humanity, and it is claimed that a park including these features would be hardly less valuable and instructive than the Great Yellowstone or National Park. But glaciers and Arctic animals were a good field for the heated thoughts of Senators to cool on, whatever may be thought of the park project.

One of the alleged explanations of the Senate's fealty to the Sugar Trust is that the Senatorial poker game is brisker this session than ever before. It takes money to play poker, and money that passes over the poker table does not have to state its pedigree. It may come from coal mines or iron mills or woollen factories or whiskey distilleries or sugar refineries—so long as it is legal tender it will buy "chips." It may be said in this connection, without violating either confidence or truth, that there are some exceedingly good poker players in the Senate.

Delegate Rawlins, of Utah, provided a bimetallic gold pen with a silver handle for Mr. Clevelend to use in signing the bill admitting Utah to statehood, and now that the pen has done its work it is to be deposited in the capitol of the new State.

A few weeks ago the Senate acquired a new amusement, and it still interests the usually sedate members of the upper house. It is called the thirty-four puzzle, and consists of a small card ruled off into sixteen squares, and sixteen little pieces of pasteboard, each bearing a number and running from one to sixteen. The trick is to arrange these numbers on the card so that the result will be thirty-four, no matter which way you add them. It isn't an easy thing to do quickly, and Senators who would think it easy to arrange a tariff bill, perspire in vain over the thirty-four puzzle, which some one brought from Chicago. Senator Davis, of Minnesota, is said to have the best record of any Senator in solving the puzzle, while in the House ex-Speaker Reed leads.

DOBBINS FOUND GUILTY

He Is the United States Senate Postmaster.

Convicted at His Home at Elliott City, Md., of Receiving Money in Excess of His Per Diem as President of the Howard County School Board.

Elliott City, Md., Oct. 15.—Robert A. Dobbin, postmaster of the United States senate, was found guilty Saturday night of receiving $74 in excess of his per diem as president of the Howard county school board.

Counsel for President Dobbin argued that the charges were for traveling expenses while inspecting school buildings and doing other outside work and showed that such was the custom in other counties of the state. After five hours of deliberation the jury returned the verdict as above stated.

The "school board cases" have engaged the attention of the Howard county authorities for several months. Charges that John Emory Hill, the secretary, treasurer and examiner, who has since resigned, was mismanaging the funds of the school board led to an investigation by the grand jury, the upshot of which was the indictment of Mr. Hill, President Dobbin and Dr. John W. Hebb of the board. President Dobbin was indicted for the charge on which he has been convicted and was also indicted jointly with Dr. Hebb and Mr. Hill for conspiring to embezzle $150. Mr. Hill was indicted for negligence in office and failing to account for $2,197.05, and Dr. Hebb for drawing $100 more than his salary and for improperly demanding and receiving $600 for vaccinating school children. The court sustained demurrers against the indictments against Mr. Hill for neglect of duty and against the three officials for conspiracy to embezzle $150 paid out by them for a trip on school business to Richmond. The case against Dr. John W. Hebb for receiving $600 for vaccinating pupils in the public schools was removed to Frederick county for trial on his oath that he could not secure a fair and impartial verdict in this court.

ROBBED AND BEATEN.

Experience of an Old Pennsylvania Man in New York.

New York, Oct. 15.—Edward Moore, 71 years old, of Pitton Ferry, Luzerne county, Pa., walked into the Leonard street police station yesterday in a sad and dilapidated condition. He was bleeding from a scalp wound and said that he had been robbed but by whom he did not know. He said he arrived in Jersey City Saturday night from Pitton Ferry. He crossed the ferry to this city where he made the acquaintance of "two friends." He said he had two drinks and then he knew nothing more until he found himself on the river front in a strange suit of clothes which was decidedly seedy, compared with the one that had been stolen from him.

An ambulance was summoned and the old man was removed to Chambers street hospital where it was learned that several ribs were fractured and his back severely contused besides the scalp wound. Moore said that when he arrived in New York city he had $71 and when he looked for it he found only five cents.

Off on a Long Tramp.

New York, Oct. 15.—G. Petersen, who lives at No. 76 Second place, Brooklyn, proposes to walk from here to Chicago in order to beat the record of the French journalists, George Meyer, who came over last year and walked to the World's fair in forty-five days. Mr. Petersen says he will start from Brooklyn city hall to-day. He will travel on a schedule calling for a thirty days' trip. If he walks the distance in that time he will beat the Meyer record by ten days.

Upon examining the police found that they contained a perfect arsenal of anarchist weapons, including various bombs, explosives, old arms and ammunition, skeleton keys and burglars' tools. The Havre police communicated with the English police who are trying to trace the packages to the sender."

Death of Augustus Dix.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 15.—J. Augustus Dix, superintendent of the Elizabeth public schools, is dead. He was a native of Albany, N. Y., and was 64 years old. He was associated, in the early fifties, with George William Curtis and F. L. Olmsted in the publication of Putnam's magazine, when Charles A. Dana and Parke Godwin were on the editorial staff. During the late war Mr. Dix was New Jersey's fiscal agent.

J., Oct. 15.—The committee of democrats appointed to select a candidate to take the congressional nomination for the Fifth district, Preston Stevenson having declined the honor, met here and decided upon Andrew H. WAS CARTER THE MAN?

Thought To Be the Acquia Creek Train Robber.

He Is a Noted Desperado and an ex-Sing Sing Convict—Lived Near the Spot of the Robbery and Acquainted with the Surroundings—Efforts for His Capture.

Washington, Oct. 15.—There is every reason to suppose that the leader of the gang which perpetrated the bold train robbery at Acquia Creek, Va., on Friday night, has been identified. He is George Carter, a former resident of the neighborhood, an ex-convict of Sing Sing, a railroad engineer and a man who has been associated with many scenes of robbery and bloodshed. Carter is about 31 years old, five feet ten and a half inches high, weighs a little over 160 pounds and in all respects resembles the man who fired the shot through the door at the express messenger and subsequently threw the stick of dynamite which shattered the sides of the Adams express car and made the robbery easy. Carter is described as a man of dark complexion, with high cheek bones, brown hair, deep set eyes, large ears and a sharp and angular face, with two moles on his left cheek and one on the under lid of his right eye. These marks should be sufficient to identify him anywhere, but in addition thereto the thumb and index finger of his right hand have been shot off in one of his many desperate deeds, and altogether these marks would seem to make any Berthillion system of identification in his case quite unnecessary.

Carter's Bad Record.

Carter was sentenced to a seven years' term of imprisonment in Sing Sing in 1893 for robbing the house of the superintendent of Blackwell's island. This was purely a malicious act on his part in revenge for some injuries he considered he had received from the superintendent while confined upon the island. He escaped from Sing Sing as he had previously escaped from one of the Virginia jails where he had been imprisoned awaiting a trial for burglary. Indictments are also pending against him in other parts of Virginia and in Pennsylvania. In short he is known as one of the most desperate of criminals, fully competent to organize and carry out a robbery of the audacious character of that perpetrated on Friday night, and beside had a full knowledge of the locality. The supposition is that he associated with himself some one familiar with the manipulation of matters in the Adams express car. His own experience as a railroad engineer enabled him to do the rest, with the assistance of three or four men to stand on the bank of the selected cutting and go through the usual process of firing Winchesters in the air and terrifying the passengers. Carter had lived for a number of years near the spot where the robbery was committed and was thoroughly familiar with the surroundings, and knew how to adapt them to his purpose. The railroad regulations require the train to come to a dead stop just before crossing the Acquia bridge. It was undoubtedly here that two of the bandits boarded the train just back of the tender, and after the train had crossed the bridge crawled over into the cab and at pistols' point compelled the engineer and fireman to stop the train.

Well-Selected Spot.

Their four associates were already in ambush at the point selected, which was a deep cutting. This was so steep on the side next the river, as practically to enclose the train and on the other side sufficiently steep to shut out the light especially, as it was wooded by a dense growth of pine trees. Consequently, although elsewhere the full light of the moon was shining, in the spot chosen by the robbers absolute darkness prevailed. About a mile from the point where the robbery was committed was a road leading to the Potomac river and affording a ready escape by boat to Maryland. The robbers undoubtedly stopped the engine at this spot, threw open the throttle and turned it loose, expecting it would run into some other train and by a general wreck prevent pursuit, and then at their leisure proceeded by the light of the moon to divide their plunder and to separate in different directions. Some of them, it is thought, may have crossed over by boat to Maryland, but it is not at all certain that this was done. They had ample time to make their escape in any direction they chose before the alarm was given.

Probably Saved Many Lives.

The original report that a signalman saw the flying engine coming along the track and telegraphed to Quantico to look out for it, is incorrect. The engine was rushing into Quantico station unannounced at the rate of a mile a minute when a switchman named O'Leary, by a happy instinct, came to the conclusion that something was wrong, and instantly seized the switch-bar, threw the target over and sent the engine dashing up a steep grade into a coal dump, where it smashed three or four coal cars and up-ended itself in a miraculous and picturesque wreck. But for this promptitude the engine which the robbers had turned loose would have dashed into the Atlantic express, which was then standing at the station with over 300 passengers on board, many of whom would undoubtedly have been killed.

Efforts To Catch the Robbers.

The governor of Virginia has offered rewards for the arrest of the robbers; other rewards have been offered by the express company and by the railroad, and it is understood that the governor of Maryland will co-operate in every way. Application was made by the governor of Virginia to the authorities of the District of Columbia, but inasmuch as the crime was not perpetrated in the district, the commissioners are without power to offer a reward to facilitate the capture, but have assured Gov. O'Ferrell, that in every other way they will co-operate to the fullest extent and the police authorities here have been and are actively on the alert with a view of obtaining some clue to the whereabouts of the desperadoes.

M. DE COIX IN NEW YORK.

The French Journalist Here To Study Our Political Methods.

New York, Oct. 15.—The big French liner La Champagne arrived last night after a slow but pleasant trip. Among the passengers aboard her was M. de Coix, the foreign political correspondent of the Journal des Debats, of Paris. When seen at the Hotel Martin, M. de Coix expressed pleasure at the prospect of being able to study and receive in the United States some idea of American political methods, but added that his present visit was one of pleasure only and that it had no political significance.

Regarding the Japanese-Chinese war and the attitude or intentions of the ruling powers in Europe towards the warring nations, he said: "France is very indifferent in the matter; in fact, absolute indifference would best express the sentiment of the country. Frenchmen look upon the war as you and I look upon a burlesque or a light opera. It amuses them immensely, and is the subject, of course, of a good deal of light comment." He thought that Russia was not now ready to take any action in the matter.

WANT TO SUE STOCKHOLDERS.

Petition of Creditors of the American Casualty Company.

Baltimore, Oct. 15.—Messrs. Bernard Carter & Sons, as counsel for the Boston & Maine Railroad company, the West End Street Railway company of Boston, the New England Telephone & Telegraph company of Massachusetts and others, filed a petition in the city circuit court in the case of Isaac R. Trimble and others against the American Casuality Insurance & Security company, to secure the court's order directing the receivers of the latter corporation to institute suit against certain officers and stockholders of the company. The petition recites that according to the terms of the charter, the Casuality company was to make all investments subject to the laws of Maryland, but that loans were made to Wm. E. Midgeley of New York, the president of the company, and to others to the amount of $300,000 in violation of the charter and the petitioners therefor claim that the directors of the company are responsible for the loss of that sum.

WRECKS PASSED AT SEA.

Further Evidence of the Destructiveness of the Recent Storm.

Edgartown, Mass., Oct. 15.—Fishing smack Emma of New London arrived from Nantucket shoals yesterday and returned. She reports a sunken schooner about eleven miles east by south from Sankaty head, Nantucket, one mast still standing, the other broken off and floating, butt up. She is surrounded by her wreckage. Her booms and gaffs were painted black at the ends and a small raft was made fast to the mast. About fourteen miles off-shore, in the same direction, was found the top of the vessels house, top painted brown and sides white, with a companion-way at each end. The Emma also picked up a ship's long boat about twenty-five feet long, painted white, with a black rib band, evidently new, with tholepins shipped, but no oars. Near the top of the house was picked up a small sea chest containing underwear marked "Leeds" and "J. P. L." It is thought to have belonged to Captain Leeds, of schooner Laura V. Rose.

Warden Durston's Funeral.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 15.—St. Peter's church was crowded yesterday afternoon at the obsequies of Charles Francis Durston, agent and warden of Sing Sing prison. The remains arrived here early in the morning in a special funeral car and were taken to Cameron's undertaking rooms, where they were viewed by thousands of persons. At 3 o'clock they were removed to the church where the Rev. Dr. Brainard conducted the funeral services. The members of the Cayuga county bar attended in a body, as did the officials of the state prison in this city. A special train from Syracuse brought about fifty friends of the deceased.

May Lead to Disfranchisement.

South McAlister, I. T., Oct. 15.—Judge C. B. Stuart has been holding, during the present term of the United States court, that all parties who have heretofore been convicted or pleaded guilty to liquor selling in the Indian country are incompetent to testify, as the law makes selling liquor in the Indian country a felony. This is a very important decision as some of the leading citizens pleaded guilty to this charge and received a small fine. It may lead to total disfranchisement when the country becomes a state.

Bull Fight in France.

Paris, Oct. 15.—During a bullfight in Dax, south of France, an officer, escorted by policemen, went to the arena to stop the sport. He laid before the directors a legal paper forbidding the fight, but was ignored by them. The toreadors continued their work until they killed the bull, amid the cheers and applause of the spectators. After the fight the crowd hustled the policemen and jeered the officer. The town is much excited but no violence has been reported. The government order prohibiting bullfighting was proclaimed late in September.

Gen. Neilson Ill.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Second Assistant Postmaster General Neilson is confined to his bed at St. Denis, Maryland, with malaria. For the past two weeks Gen. Neilson had been ailing but it was not until last Tuesday that he was compelled to leave the department. A telegram from his private secretary said that although Mr. Neilson was a very sick man, no alarm was felt by his physician as to a fatal termination of his illness.

ABANDONS ITS RACING FEATURE

Washington Park Club Says the Sport Is Degenerating.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—At a meeting of its directors the Washington Park club decided to abandon its racing feature and in conformity with this resolution the club's resignation from the Turf congress was prepared and forwarded to the secretary. The reasons for abandoning this feature are based, it is said, upon the popular clamor against pool-selling and the degeneration of racing from a harmless and high class sport to a species of gambling. The club was organized in 1883 and is possessed of grounds covering an area of eighty acres, which have increased in value from $150,000, the purchase price to $1,500,000 or $2,000,000, their estimated present worth.

General Phil Sheridan was the first president of the club and served in that capacity until his death, when the vacancy was filled by the election of the present president, George Henry Wheeler.

Organized as a gentlemans' jockey club, and for the avowed purpose of encouraging the improvement, breeding training and exhibition of horses, the Washington Park club has consistently maintained its high standard and gained a more than national celebrity. It has never permitted a foreign book to operate at its meetings and has always endeavored to conduct its affairs so far as they related to racing, within the proper lines. The feeling has spread rapidly among the directors however, that the club could not retain its ideal character and uphold its own standard. In all parts of the country were racing clubs, conducted as gambling ventures, with which the Washington park was obliged to affiliate under the rules.

THE NEWARK PRESBYTERY.

Rev. Dr. Haley's Charges To Come Up at Trenton This Week.

New York, Oct. 15.—The complaint of the Rev. Dr. Haley, of Newark against the Newark presbytery, will come before the seventy-second annual session of the synod of New Jersey, which meets in the Third church, Trenton, on Tuesday. The complaint revives the Dr. Briggs case. At a recent meeting the Newark presbytery the Rev. Dr. Lampman introduced a resolution expressing the idea that the action of the general assembly in the Briggs case was unjust. The resolution was tabled. Then the Rev. Dr. Sutphen presented a resolution declaring the young men studying for the Presbyterian ministry would be affected, and that the result of boycotting those who studied at the Union seminary might be disastrous. The Rev. Dr. Haley said that Dr. Sutphen's resolution implied that the presbytery did not believe that a judicial decision of the general assembly was binding upon the church and its members. The resolution was adopted. Dr. Haley then gave notice that he would lay the matter before the synod.

Presbyterian Church Anniversary.

Hempstead, L. I., Oct. 15.—The 250th anniversary of the establishment of the first Presbyterian church in America was celebrated at Christ's First Presbyterian church in Hempstead, yesterday. The ceremonies will be continued to-day and to-morrow, morning, afternoon and evening. The aniversary will be a memorable occasion long to be remembered on Long island. The event will be one of the most important that has occurred in religious circles in New York and all the eastern states for many years. Many prominent clergymen and speakers from New York city and Brooklyn and nearly every important village on Long island will participate in the ceremonies.

Death of an Old Dock Builder.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 15.—Eli Young, aged 65 years, is dead at his home here. Mr. Young was one of the most prominent dock builders in the eastern states. He was associated with E. G. Brown in building the New Jersey Central railroad bridge across Newark bay between Elizabeth and Bergen Point. He also built many docks around New York bay, notably those of the National Storage and Standard Oil companies. He came to Elizabeth from Pittston, Me., in 1859. He was vice-president of the Elizabethport Banking company.

The grand total last year was 11,063, nine less than that of 1892. In Rome the number registered to date this year is 2,504 against 2,280 for the same time last year out of a total of 3,183.

Strauss Jubilee Celebration at Vienna.

The Silver Wreath Given by the Composer's Friends in the United States Arrives—The Czar's Old Physician Says the Russian Ruler May Recover To Live an Invalid's Life.

Vienna, Oct. 15.—The Strauss jubilee was celebrated Sunday in every concert hall in Vienna. The principal fete of the day took place in the grand hall of the Musical society. The room was crowded. Conspicuous among the hundreds of Viennese and foreigners were Brahms, the composer; Chevalier de Madeyski, the minister of public instruction; many members of the reichsrath, high officers of the army and celebrated artists and actors from all parts of the world. Fraeulein Hohenfels, the actress, recited Baron Berger's prologue in verse, and was heartily applauded. The concert which was given by the orchestra from the imperial opera, consisted of pieces by Strauss. Two songs were given by the famous Men's Singing society, accompanied by the orchestra. The pianist, Gruenfeld, played a paraphrase of Strauss waltzes. Every piece was received with uproarious demonstrations of enthusiasm, and Strauss, who sat with his wife and daughter in a box, was kept busy bowing his thanks to his friends. In response to vigorous calls he eventually came forward to the podium. He was surrounded by admirers and congratulated for nearly half an hour. Despite the fatigue of the last three days he looked fresh and cheerful.

No member of the imperial family attended the concert, and the Imperial Gazette has not named Strauss for any decoration, although it is hoped that an announcement in behalf of the emperor will be made to-day.

Rudolph Aronson of New York arrived here with the magnificent silver wreath given by the composer's friends in the United States. He will present the wreath to Strauss to-day.

Congratulatory telegrams and letters, addresses and gifts still come by the hundred from all civilized countries.

The Czar May Recover.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—Dr. Schweninger, who has returned from Varzin, says that Prince and Princess Bismarck are in good health, although the princess was deeply grieved by the loss of the Baroness Reckow, a friend of her youth, who died in Varzin a week ago.

Letters from Livadia agree with the semi-official statement made in Vienna that the czar's condition is more hopeful. Prof. Leyden reached Livadia early in the week. On his way he consulted with the Vienna specialist, Prof. Nothnagel, whose opinion, based on Leyden's diagnosis, is that the czar may recover or at least live an invalid's life for many years. The czar's old body physician, Dr. Hirsch, who was summoned from Meran to Livadia, said to a reporter in Vienna that the czar's illness was not at all hopeless as long as a change of climate was possible, and this was the case at present. Hirsch will accompany the czar to Corfu. The Tageblatt's report that the czar has cancer of the kidneys originated in his family history, as the Empress Alexandra, wife of Emperor Nicholas, died of cancerous disease and several other members of his house suffered from the same illness.

Who Will Be the Next Pope?

The Tageblatt's Rome correspondent has had an interview with Cardinal Galimberti concerning the election of the next pope. The cardinal said he thought the conclave would choose Cardinal Amilcare Malagola, archbishop of Fermo, who belonged to a rich and noble family and had the liberal ideas which distinguished the present pope.

The emperor and empress occupied the royal box at the opera Saturday night. The occasion was the first production of Humperdinck's "Haensel und Gratel." The piece was very successful. The emperor congratulated the composer with the words: "Even our children must enjoy such a work."

German Sugar Interests.

The representative of Germany's sugar interests have been appeased somewhat by learning that the New York customs authorities have decided to levy the extra sugar tax equally upon imports from all countries. The fears of discrimination against the German producers have been dispelled and the threats of retaliation have ceased.

The Women's club, intended to aid English and American girls who come to Berlin to study, opened rooms on Wednesday in the Kurfurestern strasse.

The Proposed Chinese Loan.

London, Oct. 15.—The Central News correspondent in Shanghai cables: "It is reported that in consequence of the projected £10,000,000 10-perpentage loan, to be guaranteed by the imperial customs, Chinese agents abroad have been instructed to put the best face possible on the recent Chinese reverses and to represent the fleet as bing active and efficient. The outbreak of the Kulaowhei society in Hankow has spread rapidly. Troops were sent out to quell it, but they were resisted savagely and eventually were put to flight. Two mandarins were killed."

At His Father's Funeral Handcuffed.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 15.—James Fitzgerald, awaiting sentence for murder in the first degree, yesterday took part in his father's funeral while handcuffed and guarded by two deputies. When the prisoner was convicted of murdering his sweetheart, his father fainted in court and never recovered, dying Friday evening.

HOWARD IS FAVORED

Has Annual Passes Over Forty Railroads.

The A. R. U. Secretary Says the Railroads Are Not Only Considerate But Benevolent—Held in Great Esteem by the Officials—Debs Says He Never Has Had a Pass.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—George W. Howard, vice president of the American Railway union, has not yet signified an intention to return any of the annual passes furnished him over forty railroads and the Pullman Sleeping Car company. He said that all the old men of the Americn Railway union have annual passes and declared there is only one well-known railroad, the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, over which he cannot get one. The late John Newell, president of the Lake Shore road, he said, was an inveterate foe of the pass business and the road has not changed in its objection to passes even since the death of its president.

Mr. Howard gave as a reason for the furnishing of passes to him, that if the railroad companies did not furnish them the switchmen, brakemen and other employes would have to put their hands in their pockets to pay for the railroad trips of Mr. Howard. In other words, the railroad companies are not only considerate, but benevolent. Mr. Howard said this was not the only reason he had annual passes. He boasted of the great esteem in which he is held by the heads of big railroad companies throughout the country and named several, among them being the presidents of some of the roads that suffered damage during the strike. He named Mr. Wickes, vice president of the Pullman company, as one who would give him indorsements of an irreproachable character. Mr. Wickes said it was customary to issue passes to heads of organizations of railroad men.

"Mr Howard first received his pass," said Mr. Wickes, "when he was at the head of the conductors' organization. It has been renewed yearly since. The trouble is all over now and there is no reason why we should be uncharitable. Mr. Howard had not been asked to return his pass."

Debs Not Favored.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 15.—Mr. Debs says he has no passes over roads that are in the General Managers association. He was informed that the general managers decided at the time the American Railway union was formed, that no passes should be issued to its officers. Officers of the old brotherhoods have passes over nearly all the roads in the country, and Mr. Debs believes that they have sleeping car passes issued by the Pullman and Wagner companies. He is certain that they used to have them. The railroads have furnished passes to the officers of the brotherhoods because they are employes of the roads, so to speak, just as the officers of the accident insurance companies have passes over roads whose employes are insured in the accident companies. As for himself, Mr. Debs says he never had a sleeping car pass. Mr. Debs will leave for the east next Tuesday to organize the American Railway union in that section of the country. He will have a meeting in Cooper union, New York, Nov. 19 under the auspices of the Central Labor union, of New York city.

He will also make ten speeches in Missouri on the 22d and 23d, crossing the state on a private train. He will make a similar tour in New York on the 26th and 27th. On the 29th he will speak in Detroit; on the 31st in Peoria, Ill.; on the 1st of November in Joliet, Ill.; on the 2d in Chicago, and on the 3d in Springfield, Ill., and Decatur.

For Attempted Train Wrecking.

Ogden, Utah, Oct. 15.—Severe sentences were pronounced in the district court on Decamp, McConnell and King, found guilty of attempted train wrecking during the American Railway union strike. After a lecture by the judge the three men were sentenced to imprisonment as follows: King four years and Decamp and McConnell to twelve years each in the penitentiary.

Break in Lancaster's Reservoir.

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 15.—A break occurred in the west bank of the new reservoir in the western part of this city last night and nearly all its contents, about 10,000,000 gallons, escaped. The damage to the reservoir is serious and the loss to the city will be heavy. Advices are that the roads and fields are badly washed, but no damage to buildings is reported.

Snow Squalls in Pennsylvania.

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 15.—Heavy snow squalls prevailed here all day. The thermometer registered 40 degrees. At Wopsononock it is 10 degrees colder and the mountains are white with snow. Near Hollidaysburg the peaks of the Allegheny mountains are covered to the depth of three inches.

COULD HARDLY BREATHE.

Catarrh of the Nose, Throat, and Stomach—Life Made Miserable by Headaches, Pain and Cough.

Lida McCandless, No. 1230 South Thirtyfifth street, Philadelphia, in conversation with a reporter, said: "I had a very bad case of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach, with frequent headaches, pain under the shoulder blades and a horrible cough. I had to keep my mouth constantly open day and night to breathe, and felt as miserable as one possibly could. I was advised to try Munyon's Catarrh Cure. I am happy to say that from the beginning I felt relieved and continued to grow better until now I am entirely well. I am so thankful that this remarkable remedy was ever discovered, and hope others will take advantage of my experience."

Have you Catarrh? Are you willing to investigate a treatment that cures Catarrh by removing the cause? If so ask your druggist for a 25c bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The Catarrh Cure will eradicate the disease from the system, and the Tablets will cleanse and heal the affected parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

GEORGE E. PACE,
Chairman County Ex. Com.

SIX PAGES TODAY.

Winfield S. Angleman is a likely Republican candidate for City Judge.

Go to your poll tomorrow and see that your name is registered. Don't lose your vote.

The Thanksgiving turkeys will be big in Plainfield this year, since the price of gas goes down.

Mayor Gilbert positively declines renomination. He will rest on laurels squarely won and honorably worn.

The Daily Press's Page for Women was accepted with so much popular approval that it will be continued a permanent feature.

Did you know election was over? Already the Elizabeth Republican bosses have slated Editor H. B. Rollinson of the Rahway Advocate for Deputy County Clerk.

In this era of wholesale tapping of our undeground ocean, the few who are not consumers of the Netherwood water supply may very truly be said to be not in the swim.

The announcement in another paper of a mail choir at the Y. M. C. A. rooms does not mean that the letter carriers have formed a singing school, but only that the spelling-book up on the corner has been mislaid.

The Bayonne Herald is displeased with the conduct of the representatives from this city in the Dunn congressional convention, and says:

> The Plainfield delegation, disgruntled by the postoffice appointment in that city, did not join in the general enthusiasm, their countenances bearing the impress of intolerant and persistent billiousness.

The brand-new facts and figures given in The Daily Press and in no other paper last Saturday concerning the Netherwood water-supply were official from Frank Bergen, President of the Plainfield Water Supply Company. They are particularly surprising in the enormous total of water consumed in the three months past. Two hundred million gallons is pretty long for a drink and pretty deep for a bath. That Netherwood water is a mighty good thing, and like all such we can't get too much.

The Daily Press of six pages and 48 full-length columns is the biggest newspaper ever published in Plainfield, and contains more and better reading than any of its contemporaries.

The New Brunswick Home News picked up the diary of a Christian Endeavor delegate from Bridgeton which said:

> Arrived Wednesday morning and met a young man at headquarters from Plainfield. He had a cute mustache and was good looking, but stuttered.
>
> Now who is he? Name his name.

Ex-County Attorney McClure, of Plainfield, is booked to receive the Assembly nomination in Union County this Fall.

So said The Herald of Sunday. This is welcome tidings for John T. Dunn, who will be glad to have so valorous a champion working in harness with him on the ticket of this campaign. But what does Mr. Mac say!

Seldom can the charge of being up to date be justifiably made against that stalwart organ but sleepy newspaper, the New York Tribune. For instance, its Jersey page Saturdays is culled entirely from local papers only up to the preceding Thursday. Yet Saturday The Tribune achieved a wonderful triumph of exclusiveness, in announcing as having already taken place the particulars of a wedding which is still to come.

Because George W. Grant adorns the office of Chief of Police with the personality of a respected gentleman, that office is being coveted by various citizens. Probably the most prominent candidate for next year's appointment is Councilman F. B. Millington, whose friends are persistently pushing his cause. And there are others. But inasmuch as Mr. Grant's conduct of the office has been satisfactory to the controlling powers, the competent and reliable Chief is likely to be retained in the position he has so satisfactorily filled.

An admirable trio for Members of Assembly on the Union County Democratic ticket would be ex-Sheriff Wm. H. Hicks of Elizabeth, Hobart Sayre of Union, and Alfred D. Cook of Rahway. Mr. Hicks is known to all the county as a rugged, honest man who while Sheriff made a stanch friend of everyone who had dealings with him. Mr. Sayre was formerly Chosen Freeholder, and is largely identified with the real-estate and farming interests of the county. Mr. Cook would make an exceptionally good run, and deserves recognition for his pluck and loyalty in being a willing candidate in the old hopelessly Republican district.

Various Democratic journals are pleading the cause of their respective personal friends, in the candidacy for United States Senator. Some of the names suggested are comparatively new, and their possessors untried. The Press would at this time urge that it is an ill season to grope after new goods; and it points out and emphasizes the wisdom of choosing for this high office such a tried, true, wise and faithful advocate and statesman as Union County's own son, who as Representative, Governor, Judge and Vice Chancellor served the Commonwealth with loyalty and satisfaction to his constituents and brought signal credit to the dignified and honored personality of Robert S. Green.

The paper which has for weeks been feasting on the crow dish of renouncing all the ugly things it said of Mr. Spangenberg three years ago, has evidently been engaged as advance manager for Mr. Spangenberg's coming political candidacy, for yesterday's New York Herald, whose Plainfield representative is the editor of the local Republican organ, contained the following:

> Plainfield Democrats are likely to name ex-Councilman Leonard Spangenberg from the Second ward this Fall. Mr. Spangenberg was a member of the Democratic-Republican "combine" which ruled the Common Council of 1890 and 1891 with a high hand. He was turned down with other members of the "Big Six" at the elections of 1891. Since then, however, he has been assiduous in every good municipal work, and there are large numbers of his former political enemies who would like to vote for him. If he is named on the ticket the chances are he will be elected.
>
> It is pleasant to see a Republican organ-grinder so cheerfully predicting the success of a Democrat; and the announcement that the aforesaid organ-grinder would like to amend his past bitterness by voting for Mr. Spangenberg, is very delicately put.

ARRESTED ON THE PARIS.

NICHOLAS COUNDOURIS ACCUSED OF BIG FRAUDS.

By False Bills of Lading He Secured Nearly $8,000 in Letters of Credit.

New York, October 15.—Through papers filed in the Sheriff's office this morning it came out that the first person to board the big steamship Paris when she arrived on Saturday last, was Deputy Sheriff Gearity, who made one of the passengers, Nicholas Coundouris, a wealthy Turk, his prisoner. A cab took the new arrival to Ludlow Street Jail, where the man was today in default of $8,200 bail.

The man was accused by Oscar L. Richard and Edwin A. Richard, composing the firm of C. B. Richard & Co., of fraudulently obtaining two letters of credit from them, on false bills of lading, and they sued for $8,500.

Coundouris alleged that he was worth $5,000, had a big cigarette factory at New Brunswick, N. J., and did a large business in importing tobacco.

His Brother Was Murdered.

Patrick Nugent of 922 West Third street returned Saturday from Boston where he was called by the death of his brother, a truck driver in that city, who was found murdered in the street. Two holes in his head evidently inflicted with some sharp instrument, showed how death had been caused.

—Street Commissioner Meeker began this morning with a force of men at the corner of Park avenue to lower the grade of West Fourth street.

Freehold, Oct. 15.—The Democrats of the Third Congressional District, which includes Somerset County, held a rousing and enthusiastic convention here today.

James H. Deshler of New Brunswick was chairman, and David J. Carney of North Plainfield secretary.

Hon. Jacob A. Geissenhainer was renominated for Congress by acclamation.

Stirring addresses were made by District Attorney John H. Fellows of New York and ex-Speaker James J. Bergen of Somerville.

CYCLING COMMENT.

A name-plate was stolen from a wheel which was left in Fairchild's alley this morning.

E. T. Hand will receive a gold watch from the Crescents for winning the road-race Friday. Rydell's prize has not been selected.

Not knowing of any better riding, Monte Scott claims as world's records the 15 miles in 39:30 2-5 and the 20 in 52:51 3-5 which he made in his great race Friday. The Chicago Cycle Club has been asked for a decision.

Monte Scott's riding in the last Irvington-Millburn was nearly as good as his work Friday. Luck was against him and accidents made him ride four different wheels. Yet he rode in 1:15. President Rogers has cause to say that Monte is the best in the country for 25 miles.

A CAMPAIGN LIE.

Malicious Revival of a False Political Story.

ALL CONCERNED, DENY IT IN TOTO.

No $1,000 Check Was Ever Passed in the Plainfield Postoffice Matter—Completely Repudiated by Those Who Know.

The Newark Evening News of Friday published the following:

Elizabeth, Oct. 12—Ugly rumors, started long ago, to the effect that there was a bargain whereby John M. Hetfield was appointed Postmaster of Plainfield against the wishes of nearly all the Democratic leaders in that city, is the secret of the determined opposition shown at the convention in Orange yesterday by the Plainfield delegation to Congressman John T. Dunn's renomination.

When Mr. Hetfield was named for Postmaster it was alleged that it was largely due to the influence of Judge Coddington of Plainfield, and that there was a deal whereby Hetfield had agreed to pay a certain proportion of his salary if he got the place. One report put the consideration at $1,000, and another at one-third of the income he derived from the position.

Reference was made in the resolutions adopted by the Republican convention held here yesterday to postmasters being sold for cash.

Congressman Dunn was not in town today, but his son and partner, Lawyer Frank H. Dunn, said to the News reporter this afternoon that the allusion in the Republican platform undoubtedly had reference to the Plainfield Postoffice.

"Some disgruntled Democrats"—said Mr. Dunn—"circulated an absurd story that Judge Coddington got $1,000 as a retainer from Postmaster Hetfield for using his influence with my father to secure the berth for him. They alleged that a check for $1,000, made payable by Mr. Hetfield to Judge Coddington, had passed through the Plainfield Bank, of which Elias R. Pope is president, and that the latter had given the thing away.

"My father emphatically denies that monetary considerations had anything whatever to do with his advocacy of Mr. Hetfield's appointment, and challenges the production of any proofs to this effect. Of course there were several disappointed aspirants for the Postoffice, and some of them and their friends felt very sore, and helped to circulate this ridiculous story that the Postmastership had been sold for money."

To a Daily Press reporter this afternoon E. R. Pope stated that he was not the president of the City National Bank, but vice-president. He had seen no such check, and to his knowledge none had passed through the bank. He knew nothing of such a transaction.

City Judge Coddington said in regard to the matter: "There is no truth whatever in any of the statements of the article."

DON'T starve yourself if you have dyspepsia, indigestion, or a weak stomach, as you cannot build up the system on a low diet, but eat generously, then take one of

Dr. Deane's
Dyspepsia Pills

Immediately after meals until cured. These pills cause the flow of bile and pancreatic fluid to occur as the food leaves the stomach—nature's method; and it is wise to observe natural laws, for in this way only can we expect perfect cures. Dr. E. R. Mackey, one of New York's most celebrated physicians, and hundreds of other noted physicians, vouch for the pills. If you are constipated, get bottle with white label, otherwise with yellow. At druggists', 25 cents, or send to us for free sample.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

FURNES' QUAINT CEREMONY.

A Little Flemish Town's Atonement for an Ancient Sacrilege.

The quaint little Flemish town of Furnes, situated twelve miles from Dunkirk, has just celebrated its annual procession with the fervor of the middle ages. This procession, which in reality is a Passion play, enacted by groups, was instituted many centuries ago, in atonement for the sacrilegious act of two soldiers, and has since undergone no change. The town becomes for this single day in the year the rendezvous for devotees and pilgrims from all parts of Belgium. The procession consists of forty groups, and the costumes—many of which are provided by the inhabitants of the town, who regard it as a privilege to figure among the actors—are of the richest description. The sacrifice of Abraham, the Prophets, St. John leading a lamb, the stable of Bethlehem with Mary and child, the shepherds, the kings of the East, the flight into Egypt, and all the episodes of the Saviour's life. His entry into Jerusalem with the Apostles, the Last Supper, the Garden of Olives, the betrayal by Judas, and the scenes of the Crucifixion are the groups which constitute this panorama of the Passion. Each group is preceded by penitents wearing long robes, with head and face concealed by a cowl, and walking barefooted. As soon as the "Passion play" is over the public houses are besieged and dancing begins in the numerous booths set up for the occasion.

When the Queen Invites You, Go.

During her recent stay at Windsor Castle, Queen Victoria entertained an unusually large number of guests. The customary invitation was to dine with her Majesty, and spend the night at the Castle. The guests arrived in the evening, just before dinner and departed next morning immediately after breakfast. Sir John Cowell, the master of the household, sends out the invitations, and they are regarded by the recipients in the light of a command, as it is not customary to refuse them. Often the invitation will arrive on the same afternoon that the guest is expected. Any previous engagement the guest may have he readily cancels without offence, the royal custom being generally understood. The guests enter the visitors' entrance to the castle, where they are received by the pages of the chamber, who have a list of the people expected, and conduct them to their respective apartments. After dinner the Queen converses with each visitor for a few moments, and then bows and retires for the night. This is the only personal intercourse a visitor has with her Majesty. As soon as the Queen has departed the visitors go into one of the drawing rooms, of which there are three at the Windsor, the red, white and green, and there amuse themselves at their leisure.

A Boy Ruler Who Cries.

The new Sultan of Morocco is a mere child, being only 13 years old, although he is declared to be sixteen. His father was bronze of color, but he is like his mother, white; when he is on horseback (a beautiful black mare) he shakes about like a sick child; and one day when it was obligatory for him to make his first appearance on horseback, under the enormous parasol embroidered with gold, the new monarch cried bitterly for two hours! His mother, a beautiful Circassian, was obliged to scold him well before he would consent to take part in this ceremony. This woman is named Lalla R. Kia, which means "beautiful charmer." She is about 35, and was bought in Constantinople, and brought to the Sultan by a rich Arab named Brahcha, who brought four others at the same time, one for himself and the others as presents for his friends.

Rosa Bonheur's Home.

The home of Rosa Bonheur is in historical Fontainebleau, a two hours' journey from Paris. She keeps house with her "little brother," as she calls him, who would be a great animal painter if his sister were not the greatest one living. There are two valuable possessions on the estate, wild animals and works of the old masters. It is not a fact that these "live studies" are "gift horses." Mlle. Bonheur is not the woman to be patronized by circus people; instead of accepting the sick lions, scurvy cattle and decrepit brutes that continually are offered by animal dealers and amusement companies, she declines with thanks by telegraph post. When she sees a good study she buys it. She dearly loves a tiger in good health.

Royal Christening Cake.

The cake used at the ceremony of the christening of the infant Prince at White Lodge was pure white, ornamented in relief with the royal, the Duke of York's and the city of Edinburgh arms, entwined with delicate wreaths of York roses, and surrounded at the base by flowers, satin ribbon and delicate lace. On the top of the cake stood a cradle, with satin coverlet draped with lace and surmounted by a crown, while at the head of the cradle were crossed two silk banners, the royal arms and the Union Jack. The whole was mounted on a silver stand, and measured thirty inches in height and sixty-two inches in circumference.

Mrs. Carnegie's Handsome Flag.

One of the prettiest flags that floats from the main truck of any yacht in this country is the one adopted by Mrs. Lucy Carnegie for her steamer Dungeness. On a square ground of pure white is a crimson spread eagle. In the bird's beak is a sprig of thistle. One claw holds a fleur de lis, the other a rose. Beneath it is a bar with a triple stripe of red. Mrs. Carnegie is the only lady member of the New York Yacht Club.

Bernhardt's Summer Eccentricity.

Sarah Bernhardt has not lost all her eccentricities, though she no longer sleeps in a coffin. She appeared at a London afternoon reception not very long ago—a very warm afternoon it was, too—in a sealskin coat down to her heels, with high puffed sleeves by way of additional fur.

Ohio Women Get Recognition.

A court in Toledo has appointed three women to act as appraisers of a decedent's estate, probably the first time women have been thus officially recognized. As the estate is that of a woman, their special knowledge may prove valuable before they get through.

"How do you sell your music?" asked a prospective customer.

"It depends on what kind you want to buy," replied the dealer. "Organ music I sell by the choir, and piano music by the pound."

A Moral.

There was a man in a faraway town
Who thought his wondrous wise.
He swore by all the fabled gods
He'd never advertise.

His goods were advertised at last,
And thereby hangs a tale.
The ad was set in nonpareil
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

Steamer Falcon Overdue.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 15.—The steamer Falcon, which brought the Peary expedition to Philadelphia, has not arrived back at this port yet, although eleven days out from Philadelphia. She made the passage from this port to Philadelphia in seven days. It is supposed, however, that the delay is caused by bad weather.

Funds for the Prohibition Cause.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 15.—Gen. John P. St. John, who is touring the country in search of funds for the prohibition campaign, made an eloquent appeal to an audience of 2,000 people in W. C. T. U. hall yesterday. He was well received and secured a generous response to his appeal for funds.

To Join Japan's Army.

New York, Oct. 15.—S. Iditti, a Japanese captain of artillery, attached to the legation at Paris, was a passenger on board the steamer La Champagne, which arriver from Havre today. He is en route to Japan, under orders to join the fighting forces against China.

Three Were Drowned.

Brooklyn, Oct. 15.—A catboat containing four men was capsized in the lower bay opposite McPherson's pavilion at Coney Island last evening. Frank McIntyre, James Ford and Frank Britton, all of New Brighton, S. I., were drowned.

Banker Wins Honors in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 15.—George Banker, the American wheelman, won the grand prize of Paris at the bicycle races here. The prize is a work of art valued at 3,000 francs, to which the city council add 750 francs and a gold medal.

Will Not Deal with Strikers.

New York, Oct. 15.—All the leading cloak and cloth manufacturers (sixty-three firms) in this city held a meeting at the Fifth Avenue hotel at which they discussed the strikes and resolved not to take any action towards a compromise or to sign any agreement, or to confer with the strikers. The demands of the strikers, they claim, are unreasonable.

Registration at Albany.

Albany, Oct. 15.—Saturday, the third day of registration, 6,215 names were enrolled in this city making a total of 18,163 for the three days as against 17,041 for the three days last year, an increase this year of 1,122.

"There is Danger in Delay."

Since 1861 I have been a great sufferer from catarrh. I tried Ely's Cream Balm and to all appearances am cured. Terrible headaches from which I had long suffered are gone.—W. J. Hitchcock, late Major U. S. Vol. and A. A. Gen., Buffalo, N. Y.

Ely's Cream Balm has completely cured me of catarrh when everything else failed. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Alfred W. Stevens, Caldwell, Ohio.

It is plainly to their interest to make and keep it what it is to-day—the most popular shortening in the world. But when you come To accept any Counterfeits for Cottolene these guarantees all disappear, and the housekeeper is at the mercy of an imitator who deals on others' reputation and who profits only by others' loss.

To ensure having good cooking and healthful food stick right to COTTOLENE and let all imitations severely alone.

AN INDIAN'S WIFE.

ELAINE GOODALE, THE POETESS, WEDDED TO A CULTURED SIOUX.

The Child Poetess of the Berkshire Hills Happy With Her Indian Husband. Her Child Named After Her Sister, Dora Goodale.

There are several excellent reasons why the world is interested in Elaine Goodale, once the child poetess of the Berkshire Hills, now the wife of a typical Indian of the Sioux race. The red man had been her only lover, and she followed the promptings of her heart, defied conventional usage, and overcame by earnest pleadings and arguments the objections that at first naturally arose among the members of her family to such a union.
